"ROCK ISLAND YARD MASTER TESTIFIES"

Wife Gains Twenty Pounds Taking Tanlac—"Wouldn't Be Without It," He Says.

Still another widely known and popular railroad man comes forward with his unqualified endorsement for Tanlac. This time, it is O. D. Blatherwick, yard master for the C. P. I. & P. in Kansas City, Kansas, who resides at 341 South 11th Street, that city.

"My wife has actually gained twenty pounds in weight since she began taking Tanlac," said Mr. Blatherwick, in an interview recently, "and has been benefited so much in every way that I am glad to make this statement, which I hope will be the cause of others who may be suffering as she did getting relief.

"She has been in such a nervous, run-down condition for the past two years that she was confined to her bed a great deal of the time. She was subject to frequent attacks of sick headaches and often had spells of dizziness. She also suffered intense pain from the gas on her stomach, pains in her back and what seemed to be a complete nervous breakdown. She also had a severe attack of influenza, which left her so weak she could hardly stand up.

"She has been wonderfully benefited by Tanlac. In fact, I consider it remarkable the way she has been built up, for she is almost like a different person. She has been relieved entirely of stomach trouble, headache and backache. I am delighted more than I can tell with what Tanlac has done for her and we would not be without it now for anything. It is by far the best medicine she had ever taken."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

Returned Men Tell Stories Of Brutality

Only 48 Left Out of 1,500 in One German Compound.

Three trains, with over 950 prisoners returning from Germany, steamed into a London station a few days ago.

Many stories of hardship and cruelty were told by the men. One soldier captured last May, said that out of 1,500 men originally in his camp, only 48 were left, the remainder having died or been removed to hospital in various stages of starvation.

One Canadian soldier was anxious to give publicity to the treatment of a private in the Essex Regiment. This man, he said, had only the use of one arm, and as his work did not give satisfaction the guard felled him with a rifle. This happened in the 1638th Field Labour Company.

Among the men were four of the Collingwood Battalion, who were captured at Antwerp. They had worked in coal mines for the greater part of four years at a daily wage of less than eightpence. They said they had been "treated like pigs" all the way through. There had been innumerable cases of cruelty in the mines, prisoners being struck down for no reason whatever.

A Clapton soldier in the Welsh regiment said he was captured in October, 1914. "I was constantly being arrested for not working," he said. "The reason was that orders were given in the German language, which none of us understood. Afterwards I was several times placed under arrest for not being able to do the work I was ordered, because of weakness due to lack of food. In the first eighteen months, life in a German prison camp was at least as dangerous as in the trenches."

"I've had enough of war; but I'm a soldier, and if any other trouble came I'd go at once."

"When the armistice was signed, I walked away," he continued. "I climbed on to the buffer of a train, but after a long journey I found I was being taken in the wrong direction. With much difficulty I rode back again on the buffers of another train, and ultimately reached safety and comfort."

NEW IMPLEMENT PLANT LIKELY TO MOVE TO WINGHAM

WINGHAM, Jan. 5.—A new industry is expected to locate in this town in the near future. Arrangements are being made at present with the council. The new plant will manufacture implements, and will be operated in connection with the Western Foundry Company. If a large staff is employed it will also mean the building of many new houses, as they are scarce at present here.

HAVE $11,000,000 CREDIT.

This Amount Proceeds From Victory Loan Now With Imperial Authorities.

OTTAWA, Jan. 25.—The Minister of Finance stated in answer to an enquiry as to what wheat credits that the Dominion Government had authorized to date from the proceeds of the Victory Loan, credits of over sixty million dollars, of which eleven million had not yet been expended and was at the credit of the Imperial Government for the purpose of buying wheat. In addition to this assistance arrangements had been made with the Canadian banks for the financing of the wheat in elevators pending the delivery and sale to the Wheat Export Co. If the wheat has not gone forward as rapidly as in former years it has not been due to lack of financial facilities, but owing to causes arising out of difficulties of the trade in forwarding the wheat to the seaboard.

DONT BE DYSPEPTIC.

The dyspeptic has thought only of the stomach when the real source of trouble is the Liver, Kidneys and Bowels. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills thoroughly cleanse and purify the digestive and excretory system and in this way put the organs of digestion into splendid working condition. A little patient urging on of the organs when sluggish will restore the habit of healthful digestion.

GROWING OLD.

A little less anxious to have our way;
A little less ready to scold and blame,
A little more care for a brother's name.
And so we are nearing the journey's end,
Where time and eternity meet and blend.

A little less care for bonds and gold,
A broader view and a saner mind
And a little more love for all mankind;
And so we are faring adown the way
That leads to the gates of a better day,
A little more leisure to sit and dream,
A little more real the things unseen,
A little nearer to those ahead,
With visions of those long loved and dead;
And so we are going where all must go—
To the place the living may never know.

A little more laughter, a few more tears,
And we shall have told our increasing years;
The book is closed and the prayers are said,
And we are part of the countless dead;
Thrice happy if then some soul can say—
"I love because he has passed my way."

THE WIFE

BY JANE PHELPS

Brian Receives a Mysterious Telephone Message.

CHAPTER CIII

That night Ruth found herself comparing Brian with Mr. Mandel in a far different spirit than ever before. She had carried a hurt in her heart so long( because of Brian's intimacy with Mollie King, and his seeming determination to belittle her work, to find fault with her because of it—while he reaped as many of the benefits as did she) that Mandel's actions stood out in relief. And she now knew he cared for her.

As her employer's thoughtfulness, his kindness, appeared before her, so did Brian's seeming selfishness, his thoughtfulness also stand out. Was she losing her love for Brian, and in its place learning to love Mandel.

For the first time she wavered. She was not certain. "What an awful thing," she thought, "for me, for any woman, not to know whether she loves her husband or another man!" Why it was almost as if already she had been unfaithful, when in reality she never before had allowed a thought of loving anyone save her husband to enter her mind.

Brian was late in coming home. When he did come he was absorbed not talkative; evidently there was something on his mind.

"Shall we ask Kenyon and Cara in to play cards?" she asked, not entirely to please him, but because it would make her stop thinking.

"No! I don't want to play to-night I'm not in the mood."

"Anything gone wrong?"

"No—why?"

"You are usually keen enough to play."

"That's no sign I am to-night."

"What shall we do, go to the movies?"

"No."

"To a play?"

"No."

"What is the matter, Brian? I know something has gone wrong."

"Can't a man want to stay quietly at home without something being wrong?"

"Not you. I never knew you to act like this. Do tell me what ails you."

"I told you—nothing! Now please let me read."

Ruth said nothing more, but she was watching Brian's face and saw that he was not reading; or if he was, that he had no interest in what he read. Suddenly the telephone shrilled. She answered it before Brian could do so.

"Is Mr. Hackett there?" it was a woman's voice.

"Yes, would you like to speak to him—this is Mrs. Hackett."

"What is it?" Brian had taken the receiver from Ruth.

"Hello, this is Hackett.—Oh, hello —no, not to-night.—No—I said next Friday—oh, yes—I won't forget — good night."

"Who was it, Brian?"

"A business call," he had resumed reading.

"But it was a woman."

"Women have business which has to be attended to occasionally."

There was nothing convincing about Brian's answer. Ruth was sure he was hiding something. What had he meant about next Friday — just a week hence. She was going on a short trip just until Saturday on that day; could it be possible that Brian had made an engagement for next Friday, and whoever he had made it with had made the mistake, and had called him up to find fault because he had not kept his engagement.

The voice, too, she imagined sounded like Mollie King's. Yet she would be foolish to say so if it turned out not to be Mollie who had called him. No, she would say nothing. It was the same decision at which she invariably arrived. To say nothing because she might hurt Brian,— or hurt herself in his eyes.

He had promised he wouldn't forget. That meant he would see whoever had called him, next Friday. Was there any way she could be sure that it was Mollie King?

Mandel's kindness recurred to her; all the more plainly because of this episode. Would he neglect her for another woman? Would he be as careless of her happiness as was Brian?

"Brian, aren't you going to tell me who telephoned? I am getting horribly jealous thinking about her." She tried to speak carelessly, even laughed a little. Not yet would she let him know to what an extent her jealousy of Mollie King had driven her thoughts.

"What's that?" she knew he was sparring for time, that he had heard her.

"I asked if you weren't going to tell me who telephoned?"

To-morrow—Suspicion Becomes Certainty.

Yank Surprises French Men.

Lieut. J. Wray Chase of Eugene, Ore., is probably regarded as a cowboy proficient in throwing the lariat, in the opinion of one French officer. Lieutenant Chase, in a letter to his wife, tells of an incident in connection with the moving of a gun.

"Yesterday we were taking a gun through a bad place," he writes. "There was about twenty feet of water, and after the gun was across I still had the brake rope on my side, so I gave it a swing and hung it nicely over the gun out of the water and mud.

"A French captain stood there and said: 'That's pretty good.'

"'Oh, I am from the West, you know,' I replied, just as if I had intended to throw the rope that way. He said he knew that place and that it was a fine place. I never let on that I couldn't do the same thing again, and not one asked me to try, so everything went along without argument or explanation."

DRESS WARM AND KEEP FEET DRY

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat less meat, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure and, above all, drink lots of pure water.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joint and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

Lose Your Fat, Keep Your Health

Superfluous flesh is not healthy, neither is it healthy to diet or exercise too much for its removal. The simplest method known for reducing the overfat body two, three or four pounds a week is the Marmola Method, tried and endorsed by thousands. Marmola Prescription Tabelts, containing exact doses of the famous prescription, are sold by druggists at 75 cents for a large case, or if you prefer you can obtain them by sending direct to the Marmola Company, 864 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. They are harmless and leave no wrinkles or flabbiness. They are popular because effective and convenient.

The Committee Meets

By ALICE KILLIAN

The committee on furnishing the new building at a girls' home has been called to order by the chairman and is prepared to rush the business through. Indeed, the lady in green on entering the room has stated breathlessly that she must be eight miles away on the North side in one hour.

Chairman—"We have $2,000 to spend and we shall have to be most economical—"

Lady in Blue—"My goodness! Two thousand dollars for furniture is simply an awful amount! Why, you read advertisements every day of four-room flats furnished complete for $78 or something like that—and when my cousin Julia was married in Boston you should have seen the simply gorgeous house effects she got out of the most ridiculously small sum!

Lady in Green—"I don't care in the least how they furnish the building just so it looks substantial and has an air. I think when visitors come in their first impression is what counts and you never can tell when one of them will be a millionaire and hand out a fat check for the work if he is pleased! Why not let it go at that and adjourn, for I really must be over on the North side—"

Lady in Brown—"I shall never forget a small home for girls in the East I visited two years ago when I was motoring with the Hampstends—no, it was three years! How time flies, doesn't it? It was simply darling—all rustic furniture and lace woven curtains—that's the way they supported themselves, weaving things—"

Chairman—"But our girls don't weave things and the place is too big for rustic furniture! I have figured out plain, good furniture for the whole place, within the $2,000 limit. It would have to be of ordinary light oak—"

Lady in Plaid—"I simply detest light oak! I think we should consider esthetic values and things like that; it would be a shame to surround those girls with light oak! It would ruin their taste!"

Lady in Blue—"I think we ought to do the parlors in cheerful things like wicker and cretonne—"

Chairman—"Wicker is entirely too expensive to consider. It—"

Lady in Brown—"There was a sale of wicker three weeks ago in the papers! What a pity we weren't buying then! Things were awfully cheap! I remember you could get a $30 wicker bird cage and standard for $10.50 and I came near spending my birthday money—"

Lady in Green—"Can't we hurry up? I've simply got to be over on the North side—"

Lady in Brown—"I think it would be perfectly lovely to furnish all the eighty bedrooms differently, no two alike! That would do away with the institution effect and the girls could choose—"

Lady in Plaid (tartly)—"But there aren't eighty different colors or kinds of wood! I think the plan entirely unfeasible!"

Chairman—"If you don't like light oak why not a plain Flemish design—"

Lady in Plaid—"Oh, my goodness I'm so sick of Flemish oak I could cry when I see it! We might as well have a good-looking place while we're about it!"

Chairman (wearily)—"Will someone kindly make a suggestion of something that will do?"

Lady in Green—"I do think you might have decided something before now when I told you to start with that I had to be over on the North side in an hour! Why doesn't somebody DO something?"

Lady in Plaid—"Anyhow, I don't see any sense of our planning things when sensible suggestions like mine are derided! What is a chairman for if not to take the responsibility? I move that the chairman buy the furniture and we can tell better whether we like it after it is all in—and we can sort of change things then!"

All the Others—"Splendid! Second the motion! So glad we're settled the question!"

Chairman (desperately to their backs as they rush out of the door) —"Ladies! Ladies! Why, I simply won't do anything of the kind! Oh, if women aren't the limit!"

All Uphold Red Cross.

The Red Cross organization is the result of an international treaty entered into by most of the leading nations at a convention held at Geneva, Switzerland, in August, 1864. The treaty sustains the neutrality of Red Cross societies in all countries and on all waters covered by the compact, and insures to it the protection of all conflicting forces in time of war. The nations that are parties to this treaty are the United States, Venezuela, Bolivia, Chile, Peru, Argentina, Great Britain, Germany, France, Belgium, Russia, Austria, Sweden, Norway, Turkey, Greece, Spain, Italy, Serbia, Persia, the Roman states, Switzerland, Japan and other governments to the number of 40 or more.

Stomach So Bad

THOUGHT HE WOULD DIE.

CAN EAT ANYTHING NOW.

But for indigestion and dyspepsia, many a life might be a pleasant one.

The misery which stomach troubles cause the sufferer knows only too well and any one who has suffered knows what joy it would give to be able to eat three good meals a day and not be punished for it after.

Nearly everything that enters a weak stomach acts as an irritant, and even the little that is eaten causes such torture and is digested so imperfectly that it does little good.

Before you can eat heartily, and not pick and choose your food, you must put your stomach right, so that it will manufacture its own digestive ferments.

For forty years now Burdock Blood Bitters has been making weak stomachs strong, and permanently curing severe cases of indigestion and dyspepsia that other remedies were powerless to reach.

Mr. H. L. Fairweather, Cumberland Bay, N. B., writes:—"I was troubled with my stomach for two years, and sometimes was so bad I thought I would die. I tried everything I ever heard tell of, and had medicine from three doctors, but continued to grow worse. One day I read of some wonderful cures made with Burdock Blood Bitters. After taking two bottles I could eat any kind of food without any bad effects and by the time I had taken four I was in perfect health."

ATTACKS BANK SYSTEM

Former Governor of Kansas Leader of Battle Before Alberta Farmers' Convention.

EDMONTON, Jan. 25.—The Canadian banking system was, figuratively, placed on the table at the U.F.A. convention, and almost the entire day was taken up in its defence and opposition. Following the attack on the system by Delegate Leddy, of Gleichen, ex-Governor of Kansas, during the forenoon, the discussion was resumed in the afternoon by V. Brown, superintendent of western branches of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. Mr. Brown defended the Canadian banking system as one of the safest, being an adaptation of the Scotch system. It has been vastly improved in 30 years.

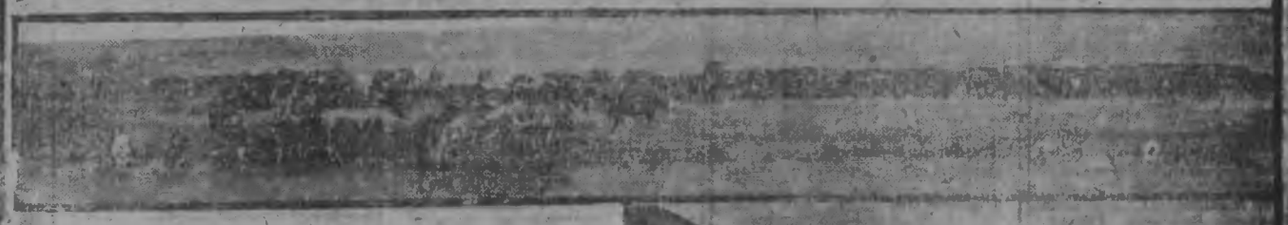
Maintaining Beef Cattle a Public Service



FARMERS who developed their cattle business yesterday are reaping large profits to-day; those who are developing it to-day will be well remunerated in the future. Because there more money in cattle in the next few years than ever there has been in the past, far sighted men are buying stock and holding them. The enormous depletion that has been going on in Europe for the last four years, and which is now taking place on this continent, has already placed good cattle at a premium. The demand will not be modified by the termination of the war. Then will be the time when the herds will have to be built up again. And the building up process will require years. All this points to high prices for a long while to come, which will benefit the man who is devoting himself to the cattle business now.

More than in any other country, perhaps, is there room for the expansion of the live stock industry in Western Canada. Here are still enormous areas of pasture lands practically unused. Here can the most nutritious fodders be grown in sufficient quantity to support many times the number of cattle now being supported. For a number of years the raising of cattle has been an important feature of the efforts of comparatively few farmers, who have found it a very paying business. That more and more farmers are going into it to realize how favorable [illegible] the Canadian [illegible] to the increase of cattle [illegible] by the increase in the numbers of animals brought to maturity. The figures of Saskatchewan, which are now available, convey an idea of what is going on throughout the prairie west of Canada. In 1916, farmers of this province purchased 9,280 head of immature live stock at the Union stock yards at Winnipeg for the purpose of finishing; in 1916, 23,218 head were imported; while in 1917 the number increased to 36,323. During this period, from 1915 to 1917 the number of live stock exported from the province rose from 60,118 to 137,337. Despite this doubling of the number of cattle exported in a period of two years a steady increase in the number of cattle remaining on the farms is being maintained.

Two recent instances will show how remunerative the finishing of cattle is proving to Western Canadian farmers. On March 4th last, James Tully, a Manitoba farmer, purchased twenty-five head of cattle weighing on an average 1,040 pounds each at $10.10 a hundred pounds. Six months later these steers went over the scales showing an average weight of 1,443½ pounds, and were sold for $14.65. The animals had no special care. When taken to Mr. Tully's farm they were allowed to help themselves to the remnants until the grass began to grow. No grain was given to them. They were practically grass fed steers. An average gain of four hundred and two pounds per head was made, and with the increase in price of $4.55 a hundred pounds the gross profit on the transaction was $1[illegible] a head, the purchase price being $105.04 a head, and the selling price $210.99. The total expenses, including commission at the time of buying, freight to the farm here on the range, freight to market, feed and care in the market and commission on the sale, was less than $50, so that the net profit was almost one hundred per cent.

W. R. Davidson, of Senlac, Saskatchewan, has even better results to show on forty head of cattle which he purchased at the Union Stock Yards at Winnipeg a little over a year ago. On these steers he claims to have made a net profit of hundred per cent. Their total cost, including the freight from Winnipeg to Senlac, a distance of more than two hundred miles, was just over $62 a head, or nearly $2,500 for the lot. They were sold last month for $5,000 at the local station. As was the case with Mr. Tully's cattle these animals were given no grain. During the winter they were fed on bran and straw, and from the spring onwards finished on grass.

Mr. Davidson showed his faith in the business by immediately buying seventy head of two year old steers at Winnipeg. The price he paid worked out at an average of $69.10 a head, but he expects that his percentage of profit on these [illegible] equally as great, if not greater, on the cattle he has sold this

Maintaining Beef Cattle a Public Service

FARMERS who developed their cattle business yesterday are reaping large profits to-day; those who are developing it to-day will be well remunerated in the future. Because there is more money in cattle in the next few years than ever there has been in the past, far-sighted men are buying stock and holding them. The enormous depletion that has been going on in Europe for the last four years, and which is now taking place on this continent, has already placed good cattle at a premium. The demand will not be modified by the termination of the war. Then will be the time when the herds will have to be built up again. And the building up process will require years. All this points to high prices for a long while to come, which will benefit the man who is devoting himself to the cattle business now.

More than in any other country, perhaps, is there room for the expansion of the live stock industry in Western Canada. Here are still enormous areas of pasture lands practically unused. Here can the most nutritious fodders be grown in sufficient quantity to support many times the number of cattle now being supported. For a number of years the raising of cattle has been an important object on the efforts of a comparatively few farmers, who have found it a very paying business. Many farmers are [illegible] to realize how favorable [illegible] the Canadian [illegible] to the raising of cattle is evidenced by the increase in the numbers of animals brought to maturity. The figures of Saskatchewan, which are now available, convey an idea of what is going on throughout the prairie west of Canada. In 1915, farmers of this province purchased 9,380 head of immature live stock at the Union Stock Yards at Winnipeg for the purpose of finishing; in 1916, 20,246 head were imported; while in 1917 the number increased to 36,323. During this period, from 1915 to 1917 the number of live stock exported from the province rose from 60,378 to 137,377. Despite this doubling of the number of cattle exported in a period of two years a steady increase in the number of cattle remaining on the farms is being maintained.

The total expenses, including continuation at the time of buying, freight to the farm [illegible] on the range, freight to market, feed and care in the market and commission on the sale, was less than $70, so that the net profit was almost one hundred per cent.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

On Wings!

By RALPH HAMILTON

"I don't believe in new-fangled contraptions," said Isaac Reid. "These skates—what do you call them, now?"

"Roller skates, papa," explained timid Myrtle.

"Yes, roller skates. They're a nuisance. I've seen children roll into people on the town sidewalks and all but tip them over. What did you bring them home with you for?

"Why, papa," Myrtle hastened to advise, "they are quite the thing in the city. The Wares took me several times to a fine, pretty rink, with a floor as smooth as glass, and music, and I spent many pleasant hours there. You see, Alice Ware made me a present of the skates, and I value them as a gift from a real friend."

"That's all right, Myrtle," nodded Mr. Reid, "but you're getting to be a big girl now, and I don't think it just the thing for a young lady. And that ring you're wearing," proceeded her father with a foxy twinkle in his ey... "did Alice Ware give that to you, too?"

Myrtle blushed scarlet. "No, papa," she answered. "Her brother, Lawrence, gave me that. It is only a friendship ring."

"H'm! Don't get scared, Myrtle. Girls must have beaux, I suppose, and the Wares are good people. Well, daughter, I wouldn't try any roller skating here."

Myrtle took the roller skates and stowed them way up on a pantry shelf. She sighed a trifle. The most glorious time of her life had been spent in the lively city rink. She had no idea of using these skates at home.

Longingly, however, Myrtle had viewed a branch of the magnificent Union highway, approaching completion, and had realized what a splendid surface it offered for the exercise of her favorite amusement. She counted greatly on the long spins she and the Wares could take when the concrete floorway part of a system reaching across three states approached completion. It had very nearly arrived at that stage now, but there were some intersections to finish, and the road was not yet open to automobiles.

The new highway brought fortune to Isaac ... the old farmhouse was situ... than two hundred feet off its ... A speculator appeared, planning to establish a roadside hotel, and had offered Mr. Reid double the value of his house and a grove surrounding it. The farmer had only that day received a large sum in ready cash on the sale.

Myrtle was so glad that the treasured ring was not laboosed that she went to sleep with the hand it graced under her cheek and fondly dreamed of its handsome, manly bestower. It must have been midnight when she was awakened rudely. In frantic accents her mother's voice was calling her. Myrtle hurried on a dress and ran down the stairs to the room where her father slept. She paused appalled as she viewed him tied hand and foot to the bed, her mother striving to release the ropes that bound him.

"They took the money—all of it!" gasped Mr. Reid. "They went away in an automobile. I heard them plan how they'd take the cut around the dirt road, as the highway wasn't open. They'd stolen the auto, and were going to dump it in the ditch near Afton and catch the early milk train there for the city."

Myrtle ran upstairs, impelled by a sudden idea. She dressed fully for the street, and did it in a jiffy. She reappeared in the room below, flushed and excited.

"Papa," she spoke, "those men can't make Afton on the dirt road under an hour. I can do it in forty minutes."

"No, no—it's ten miles—"

"With the roller skates! Oh, mamma! Tell him to let me go, quick! I'm sure I can get to Afton ahead of the robbers, rouse the watchman and get back our stolen money. Please—please!"

Myrtle needed no second bidding. She was out of the house and across an intervening stretch in sixty seconds. She lost no time in adjusting the skates. Then with an exhilarating thrill she seemed to dance with joy as her feet sped across the set concrete, smooth as a ballroom floor.

How fortunate her training in the city, she reflected. What a blow to her father's antiquated ideas if she succeeded! The miles seemed to fly past her. She was not one bit wearied, and her eyes glowed sparkling as ever as she whirled into the main street of Afton, and straight through the open doorway of the town police station and hose-cart outfit combined.

A sleepy watchman roused at her thrilling story and set the telephone into immediate action. Half a dozen men, sent for, appeared. There was a hurried confab, and twenty minutes later, as two men appeared at the railway station, they were promptly nabbed.

Myrtle next day wrote the Wares to be sure to bring their roller skates with them on their anticipated visit, for her father had lifted his veto and given her unlimited permission to indulge in her favorite exercise when the guests arrived.

Which led to Myrtle and Lawrence Ware coming to a full understanding, and in the fullness of a grateful heart Mr. Reid made the happy pair a fitting present on their wedding day.

MRS. MAY COULD NOT WORK

Made Well and Strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Columbia, Pa.—"I was very weak and run down and had dragging-down pains and pains in my back. I could not get around to do my work and had to sit down and rest often during the day. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the papers and read the testimonials, so I thought I would try it. Now I am healthier than I ever was in my life, and can recommend it to any woman who suffers as I did." —Mrs. ELIZABETH MAY, R.F.D. No. 1, Columbia, Pa.

The reason Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills is, because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, curative influence, and the letters which we are constantly publishing from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of this famous root and herb medicine.

Hurry and Health.

Hurry tears out the nerves and the body tissues rapidly, puts lines in the face, interferes with digestion and other intestinal action, and in time may produce permanent palpitation of the heart.

Loss of both physical and mental control and a number of varieties of nervous disorders may also result from chronic "hurrying up."

Hurry exhausts twice the energies in a given time that would be required to accomplish twice the work if undertaken in a leisurely manner.

Reported by a Vacationist.

"Josiar, do you mean to say you come home without havin' that tooth out?"

"I do. The dentist warn't there."

"Why in the world didn't you wait for him?"

"Gosh darn it, I did for two hours. I don't mind waitin' a reasonable length o' time fer a man, but I don't purpose to intern for nobuddy."

SPOT ON NAPOLEON'S RECORD

Ultimate Failure Dimmed the Glory of Great Soldier's Early Wonderful Successes in the Field.

The military genius of Bonaparte is still a fruitful theme for discussion. In the early part of his career he achieved such successes as made his name a terror to Europe, and gained for him a prestige which a series of continuous and overwhelming defeats in the latter part of his history was unable to destroy. But in the game of war, results alone can form the criterion, and the victories of Marengo, Austerlitz and Wagram can scarcely be admitted in compensation for the blunders of the Russian campaign and the overthrow at Waterloo.

One qualification of a great general was conspicuous in his character, the capacity of recognizing and rewarding merit in whatever position it might be found. Favoritism was almost unknown in his army. He was of a cold-blooded temperament, engrossed exclusively by the master-passion, ambition, and the very cause which kept his moral purity inviolate made him almost insensible to the promptings of love and affection.

Scorpio.

Scorpio is a constellation and the eighth sign of the zodiac. The constellation is conspicuous in early summer in the skies of the southern United States, where the whole of the magnificent tail clears the horizon. With the Chaldeans and Greeks it extended over one-sixth of the planetary circle, the Scorpion being represented with exaggerated claws embracing a circular space where Libra is now placed. From this irregularity it may be inferred that the constellation is older than the zodiac, which was formed before 2000 B. C. Libra, though later, is of no small antiquity, since it appears in the Egyptian zodiacs. Its adoption by Julius Caesar in his calendar made it familiar. Ptolemy, however, though living in Egypt nearly two centuries later, follows Babylonian and Greek astronomers in covering the place of Libra with the Scorpion's claws.

Tecumseh's Bones Unearthed.

A discovery recalling early Canadian history has been made at a farm in the village of Thamesville, Ont., where bones were dug up which may be those of the Indian Chief Tecumseh, who fell fighting for the British in 1813. With the skeleton were metal military buttons and a pistol of the type then used. There are most trustworthy reports that the chief had been buried close to this place.

Tecumseh, a Shawnee chief, fought with the British during the invasion of Canada by the Americans in 1812 and 1813. A man of great energy and decision, he was entrusted with many minor enterprises, and was finally killed in battle, when his body was treated with great indignity.

HOLD ALL WISDOM IN KORAN

Arabs of the Desert Place Implicit Faith in the Teachings of Their Prophet Mahomet.

An Arab of the desert, one of the Bedawi. What are these Arabs of the desert? Today they look across thousands upon their droves of sheep and camels and peaceful are their nights. But in the olden days, the days of which they dream and chant their songs as they lie before their tents at nightfall, they were not men of pastoral tasks, but they looked upon their lances brilliant in the sunlight, horses charging into battle, men with keen dark faces filled with lust for blood and booty. They bear their women close behind them, women like these sitting now beside me, shrieking blame or telling them that death upon the battlefield was only opening wide for them the gates of paradise. They bore their flag around the eastern world, their flag that is founded on a book. The men of other nations have many books, but the Beduin of the desert, the follower of the prophet, has but one, eternal, uncreated, written in the language they will hear in paradise. Within their book, the Koran, is the wisdom of the ages, and no one can add to it nor make its teachings less divine. It came from Allah's lips straight to the great Mohammed, and holds for all true followers the sum and substance of God's laws to men. That book has conquered half the world, and the Bedawi believe that the time is coming when the men of Islam shall possess the earth as their inheritance from God on high. It is written on their foreheads. These Arabs of the desert, these keen-eyed men sitting so quietly in the white moonlight, are proud with a pride we do not understand. They are proud of their lineage, of the purity of their blood, of their unbroken traditions. They are the real adventurers of the world, and their nervous, high-strung, daring characteristics have become the permanent marks of their race. One finds them ready to do and dare everything that appeals to their imagination. A cause must appeal to their emotions—must appeal to the heart, not the head—those same riotous emotions which never produce, but always ruin

Live on Fowl and Eggs.

The chief occupation of the St. Kilda men is fowling. The St. Kildans eat vast numbers of the eggs of the sea-birds which frequent their islands, in addition to the birds themselves, which are not only eaten fresh but, dried and salted for the winter supplies. The cliffs are equally divided among the inhabitants, and a man seldom or never poaches on his neighbor's property. St. Kilda is off the west coast of Scotland.

Canadians Doubly Taxed.

Protesting that because they are paying income taxes in Canada American residents of Fort William and Port Arthur, states a Washington despatch, have asked Uncle Sam to cancel the American taxes, which have also been levied upon them.

Americans resident in Canada are not the only ones who have to pay double income taxes. Canadians who have been resident in Great Britain more than six months are liable to British income taxes, despite the fact that they pay Canadian income taxes, too. Temporary residence gives no exemption, and many of the host of Canadian women relatives of soldiers who have been sojourning in the Old Country since the war have been obliged to pay both Canadian and British income taxes on any private incomes they possessed. Army pay of Canadian soldiers overseas is exempted from British taxation, but private incomes over $600 a year accruing to the wives of these soldiers from any source whatever in Canada are mulcted their due from the recipients in England. The English tax ranges from about 11 per cent. for the smallest taxable income upwards to 25 per cent. Numerous protests have been made, but so far the tax stands.

History Is Contradictory.

With obvious desire to intensify the interest of its story, a Saskatchewan newspaper asserts that the largest hailstones known to history fell in a recent visitation of that province. If so they must have been some hailstones. Hailstones weighing from six to eight pounds fell in Namur in 1719; and the missionary priest, Fr. Hue, records the fall in Tartary in 1843 of a block of ice as large as a millstone which took three days to melt. In 1802 also an Hungarian village reported the fall of a hailstone weighing half a ton and a hundredweight over, which required eight men to move it.

Scholarship for Soldiers.

J. B. Carruthers, of Kingston, has presented $5,000 to Queen's University to found a science scholarship for the special benefit of returned soldiers and in memory of his second hero son; Major Kenneth Burpee Carruthers, O.C., 20th Battalion, 5th Brigade, C.E.F., killed in action at Passchendaele. Mr. J. B. Carruthers' father, the late John Carruthers, gave Queen's its Science Building, known as Carruthers Hall.

Fined for Infractions of Food Act.

Over fifty-five cases of fines and closing-up orders as penalties for infractions of food regulations are set forth in the Canadian Food Bulletin just issued. All eating houses and boarding houses are again warned to secure sugar certificates as soon as possible.

WHERE TAXES ARE UNKNOWN

Some Few Places on Earth's Surface That Would Seem Ideal Spots in Which to Locate.

In these days of expensive living what a boon to live in a city without taxes! But there are such places.

There is Orsoi in Sweden. This municipality has its ordinary city expenses, but it imposes no taxes. Moreover, the local railway is free to every citizen and there is no charge for telephone service, schools, libraries and the like.

All this is due to the wisdom of a former generation, who planted trees on all the available ground, with the result that during the past thirty years the town authorities have sold $6,000,000 worth of young trees and timber, while judicious replantings have provided for a similar income in the future.

Then there is Mourmalon, in the Midi, France. Here not only are there no taxes, but the timbers on the communal lands are sufficient to grant each person a small annuity.

Nearer home we have the island of Innishmurray, off the west coast of Ireland. Here there are no taxes, simply because the fourteen families who live on the island resolutely refuse to pay. In a report to the local government board a rate collector stated that he could not get a boat on the mainland to take him to the island on such an errand as collecting rates.—London Mail.

Smallest Dog Every Known.

The smallest dog ever known was "Tiny," a black-and-tan terrier, belonging to an army officer in England. He was thus described by a writer in St. Nicholas. Tiny was less than four inches long, and could comfortably curl up and take a nap in a common glass tumbler. An ordinary finger-ring was large enough for his collar; and when he sat up, a baby's hand would almost have made a broad and safe resting place for him. Of course he could not fight against a rat, but he had courage enough to bark at one—when it was dead.

Was Pulled Through THE TRYING TIME IN A WOMAN'S LIFE

Mrs. H. Membury, 325 Seaton St., Toronto, Ont., writes: "I have used Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and found them to be of great benefit to me, in fact, I consider they saved my life, and I have told many of my neighbours about them.

Two years ago last November I was in poor health. The doctor said it was change of life, as I was over forty years old, and that I would have to be very careful of myself. Shortly after that I received an awful shock that nearly killed me. The doctor my husband sent for said I would soon be all right, and sent up some medicine, but it only seemed to increase the trouble. I was then taken to the hospital. The doctors examined me, but could not understand my case.

Then they sent for a specialist, as they began to think it was my mind.

When the specialist came he was baffled, for I answered his questions all right. Every day I was getting weaker, and when my husband came he could see that I was going, as I could read his thoughts, but said nothing.

Next day a friend came with a cab and took me to their home. They got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I started taking them and began to get better, and at the end of two weeks, I could walk around the room. I am now well and able to do my own work."

THE ALLIED SOCIETIES

This is The Name of Body Organized to Support the League of Nations.

"ACTUAL REVOLT"

By Lowell Mellett.
(United Press.)

PARIS, Jan. 27.—The Supreme War Council was understood to-day to be considering the disposition of the German colonies and other territorial questions.

PARIS, Jan. 27.—The League of Nations to-day was the chief subject under consideration by the peace delegates.

The principal development was the selection by the smaller nations of their five delegates on each of the special committees created Saturday. The League of Nations Commission was generally accepted as the most important of these.

Working alongside this Commission will be an unofficial organization, the Allied Societies for the League of Nations. It held its first meeting last night and intends to continue in session throughout the peace conference, with the object of furnishing a clearing house for information to assist the official committee.

State of Revolt.

James Thomas, head of the British Railwaymen, made a striking speech at the first meeting of the Allied Societies, warning that there is a "state of revolt" throughout the world, which will not end until a "right and just peace" is established. He recalled President Wilson's statement that "if the contribution of the government to peace equals the contribution of the peoples to war, there is no doubt about the result," and declared that no British statement ever more fittingly described the prospects of the League of Nations.

"I hope to meet the Germans in a few days," declared Thomas, referring to the fact that he will go to the International Labour and Socialist Conference in Berlin. Noting the effect of this statement, Thomas turned directly to Lord Cecil, British representative on the League of Nations committee, and repeated: "I hope to meet the Germans in a few days." Cecil smiled, and Thomas continued: "I want to tell them: We Allies saved you; you may not know it, but we did. Now it is up to you to save yourselves, and help save the world."

Cecil also addressed the meeting and asked those present to keep before the public the fact that the League of Nations will not be successful unless each nation is prepared to sacrifice something.

A resolution was presented by Thomas and was adopted, calling upon the peace delegates to concentrate their efforts on the formation of the League.

The United Press was recently informed by one of the British delegates that the British government favors placing the German colonies under the control of the League of Nations, with Great Britain as trustee for their administration. It is known that practically all the allied nations are averse to returning the colonies to Germany under the antebellum conditions.

MERCHANTS' PRIZE ON DOLLAR DAY HAS BEEN INCREASED

This year the merchants' prize in the Dollar Day contest has been increased from twenty-five to thirty-five dollars. This will make this particular feature of the occasion more attractive than ever. 2d-21

FRANK JENNE says:

During the last two years we all have got the habit of talking about the high prices of clothing, in fact so much so that we refuse to even consider a moderate priced suit. We have suits made from good tweeds, serges, and worsteds on sale at $17.75 and $19.50 which are worth $25.00 and $30.00 and in a great many cases these suits look better than some of our new stock of much higher price. "Come to me for real values in clothes.

Fate of German Colonies to Be Discussed To-day By the Supreme Council

Under No Consideration Will the Colonies Revert to Germany—The Reasons Advanced.

BELGIUM'S CLAIM

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, Jan. 27. — One of the questions which it was expected the Supreme Council would take up to-day, was the ultimate fate of the German Colonies. France and Great Britain, it is declared, are agreed upon at least one feature of the solution of the problem, which is that under no consideration shall the colonies revert to Germany.

Reasons advanced for such decision are various, but prominent among them is that it would render it impossible for Germany to establish submarine bases in her colonial possessions. The American attitude is not yet revealed.

A prominent official declared to the Associated Press to-day that should Franco-British view points prevail, the German Kamerun would be taken over by the French in accordance an agreement reached by Great Britain and France.

Belgium lays claim to that part of Conger which she conquered by force of arms. Belgian troops have conquered Tabora and the territory lying beyond the western slopes of Lake Nyanza. Belgium also desires a strip of territory along the left bank of the Congo delimitation, of course, to be settled amicably with Portugal, territorial compensation being given later.

INVESTIGATION OF THE "BIG FIVE"

Special to The Examiner:

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Development of charges of conspiracy among the big packers was expected at to-day's cross-examination of J. Ogden Armour before the Senate Agricultural committee.

Francis J. Heney is leading the examination.

Will Form a New Cabinet

Revolution in Portugal is Dying Out—Republicans Win

(United Press.)

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Manuel II, former King of Portugal, is now in that country, according to advices received from Spanish sources to-day.

A Vigo message said he crossed the Mino river in the region of Camina Saturday morning. Persons close to Manuel in England denied he had ever left his home here to join the monarchist rebels.

A despatch from Lisbon stated that Premier Barbosa had called upon Republican political leaders to assist in forming a new coalition cabinet.

Many Killed.

The situation in the Portuguese capital was said to have turned in favour of the Republicans. Although many persons were killed and wounded on both sides before order was restored. More than 300 officers have been imprisoned. Direct communication with Lisbon is still cut off.

Another report was that the monarchist forces were dominating Lisbon and had revoked all the Republican laws. Troops had been sent from there, it was said, to Aveiro, Villureal and other points remaining faithful to the Republicans.

Under Arrest.

Ornelas and other Portuguese monarchist leaders were reported to-day to be under arrest at Monsanto. They were captured, according to a Lisbon despatch, after a battle in which the insurgents lost fifty killed and 130 wounded. The Portuguese War Minister has ordered the disarming of all civilians. The Republican government has been restored in Vizeu, which was one of the Royalist strongholds.

In Control.

Canadian Press:

PARIS, Jan. 27.—Portuguese Royalists are completely in control of the provinces of Minho and Tras os Montes, according to wireless despatches from Madrid to the Journal des Debats. Advices to the same newspaper say that it is reported the Republican troops, which were defeated by the Monarchists at Coimbra, are about to go over to the cause of Monarchy.

Blind Soldier Loses His Home

Nine Months Old Boy Had a Narrow Escape.

Blinded by wounds received at the front about eighteen months ago, Mr. D. J. McIntosh, who has been residing at Nassau, experienced further ill luck on Saturday when his home was totally destroyed by fire from some mysterious origin. The flames originated in the driving shed where neither stoves or fires were going.

But for the prompt action of Mr. G. Chatton who resides on an adjoining farm Mr. McIntosh's little nine months old baby boy would undoubtedly have perished in the flames.

Mr. McIntosh, who is a member of the G.W.V.A. is left practically destitute and would gratefully receive any assistance in re-establishing his home for his wife and three little children. He is at present at 513 Romaine street.

BASLE, Jan. 26.—King Peter of Serbia, who has been ill, has suffered a new attack, and is said to be in a serious condition, according to advices from Laibach.

Will Exclude the Immigrant

United States Congress Will be Asked to Pass Measure.

WASHINGTON, Jan 27. — A bill, temporarily closing the door against the immigrant will be reported to the House to-day with the hope of getting favorable action before March 3rd, when the Congress adjourns.

The House Immigration Committee settled all features of the measure, except the period of years during which the immigration bars will be kept up. It is understood when the committee went into session to-day that a majority of the members favored fixing this at four years.

The framers of the bill say that it is designed to allow this country to get back to a sound industrial basis without the burden of absorbing a million or more immigrants annually, and to guard against foreign agitators attempting to inject Bolshevism into American labor.

Socialists to Make a Choice

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, Jan. 27. — The Socialists of France must make a choice between following President Wilson or Premier Lenine of Russia. This declaration was made at an agitated Socialist meeting in Paris on Sunday, by M. Loriot, after Socialist leaders Albert Thomas, Pierre Renauden and M. Longuet, were shouted down as they tried to speak.

M. Loriot declared, "President Wilson is an able man who is seeking to save the Bourgeoise, but he must not be followed. The moment has come to choose between him and Lenine."

OFFICERS RELEASED

Many American Divisions Ordered Home—Germans Fined For Violation of Regulations.

By Webb Miller.
(United Press.)

AMERICAN HEADQUARTERS IN GERMANY, Jan. 27.—The unemployment problem in the occupied portion of Germany is expected to be largely solved by new import regulations announced to-day. Under these rules German factories will be allowed to import raw materials from other parts of Germany. Manufactured products which can be used in rebuilding France and Belgium, however, may be exported only to these countries.

A number of Germans have been prosecuted as the result of American soldiers selling and trading foodstuffs to them. Five were fined $1,500 each.

A large number of officers who signified their desire for immediate discharge are being withdrawn from the Third Army and placed in divisions already ordered home. One hundred and fifty have thus been transferred from the Third and 250 from the Fourth Division.

FRENCH SPOKEN AT THE CONFERENCE.

(Special to The Examiner.)

PARIS, Jan. 27. — Despite the solemn decision of the peace conference that English should be the official language of the sessions, the the American and British delegates, and the eloquent, gestureful interpreters, are the only ones able to abide by the ruling. All the others, including the Chinese and the Siamese, speak French.

The latest open meeting of the peace congress drew speechs but few gestures from the world's leaders. Premier Orlando was the one consistent exception. During his address he fanned the air with a gold pen, after the manner of a fly-swatter.

President Wilson, however, emphasized the final phrase of the last sentence of his speech—"The very pulse of the world seems to beat"—with short, slow jerks of his outstretched arm, as though marking time for the pulse beats. The effectiveness of this gesture was commented upon later by many. One delegate said "He timed my pulse exactly."

ROSE ASSUMES BLAME FOR WHOLE BUNCH; IS FINED ONE THOUSAND

Prussia May Dominate New Germany at the Coming National Assembly

Political Turmoil in Germany Obscures the Future—A Very Important Issue.

THE PARTY LINES

(By Frank J. Taylor.)
(United Press.)

BERNE, Switzerland, Jan. 27th. — Fear that Prussia may be able to put through a form of government for New Germany, at the coming National Assembly at Weimar, which will enable her to dominate the new nation as she dominated the old Empire, may lead to a serious division between the delegates from north and south Germany.

The possibility was indicated in the despatches received here to-day.

Latest reports from Berlin showed the Majority Socialists will not have enough seats to control the convention, even if the Independent Socialists return to the Ebert-Scheideman fold as expected.

Both majority Socialists and the Centrists are bidding strongly for support of the Democratic delegates. Many of the Berlin Democrat leaders are said to be protesting against a coalition with any Socialist party.

BALANCE OF POWER.

Inasmuch as it is probable three Conservative groups—the Centrists, Nationalists and Conservatives—will form a working agreement, giving them a block of 145 votes, the Democrats will hold the balance of power in the Assembly's deliberations. The Democratic platform is almost identical with that of the Majority Socialists, and party lines between the two are not very sharply drawn.

The principal difference between the various groups are opinion on the extent to which the socialization of utilities should go and the details of the form of government it is desired to adopt. Prussia wants a united state, while the rest of Germany favors a confederation of self-governing units. The fear of the smaller units that Prussia might attempt to dominate is significant, inasmuch as it may cause divisions which will make delegates forget actual party lines, and take sides on this issue.

CHANGE OF CAPITAL.

BERLIN, January 26. — The struggle between Prussia and Bavaria for the leadership of the new German Republic was growing in intensity and scope to-day.

Despatches received here to-day indicated that as soon as representatives of the various German states went into conference yesterday to prepare a constitution to submit to the national assembly, the Bavarian ministers attempted to form a coalition against Prussia.

The Bavarians apparently have already succeeded in lining up Baden, Wurtemburg and Hesse. Anhalt and other duchies have demanded their independence from Prussia.

The chance of Berlin becoming the capital of the new republic also appears to be waning. Sporadic demonstrations by the Spartacans continue there, giving rise to the belief that the selection of another city would be more politic for reason of safety even if no other element were taken into consideration.

The Bavarian constituent assembly has decided to await the action of nationalist assembly, Weimar, before deciding upon Bavaria's form of government.

The sailors at Hamburg are reported to have refused to allow a single ship to leave until working conditions are improved.

Bolsheviki May Accept

Russian Soviet Government Will be Advised to Accept Proposal.

(United Press.)

PARIS, Jan. 27.— The Russian Soviet government will be advised by its unofficial representatives here to accept the proposal for a joint conference with the Associated Powers on the Island of Prinkipos, it was learned to-day.

Jean Longuet, editor of the radical newspaper Populier, whom the Soviets asked to investigate the proposal, declared in an interview that the Bolsheviki have more to gain than to lose by conversation with the Associated Powers, which would permit them to establish their claims and answer their enemies. Foreign Minister Pichon, who bitterly opposed any form of recognition of the Soviets before the Supreme War Council made its proposal, received the foreign press representatives at the Qua D'Orsay yesterday. "We have heard nothing from the Bolsheviki regarding the proposed conference," he said.

SLIGHT REVERSE ON SIBERIAN FRONT

Americans and Russians Are Forced to Withdraw on Account of Bolshevik Pressure.

Canadian Press:

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Allied forces on the fronth south of Archangel, mainly American and Russian troops, have evacuated the town of Shenkursk, under Bolshevik pressure and withdrawn to a shorter line north of the town, according to an official statement from the British War Office to-day on operations in Northern Russia.

"The Bolsheviks continued pressure on the Sponkurst front Wednesday and Thursday," the statement said, "and attacked in considerable force after three days' bombardment. Our forces, consisting principally of Americans and Russians, were first withdrawn to the Sponkurst defences to prevent the town being outflanked. Later the town and defences were successfully evacuated and a shorter line take n up to the northward."

Jugo-Slavs Will Resist the Italians

Slav President Makes a Declaration—Relations Between Two Countries Are Strained.

Special to The Examiner:

FIUME, Jan. 27.—President Pogatschnig, of the Slovene government at Laibach, declared in an interview that "all Jugo-Slav territories will be defended against the Italians to the last man."

He said that relations with Italy are greatly strained and that five classes of Jugo-Slav soldiers are now under arms.

NOTES OF THE CAMPAIGN

The officials of the Army wish it made plain that the entire funds realised from the canvas are for purely war purposes. None of it is used, nor will come into use for purposes of the local branches throughout the Dominion. Such are sustained by local contributions, entirely distinct from the objects of the drive.

Substantial amounts are coming in throughout the days. This morning several good subscriptions have been received. Additional amounts are being received from teams captains and workers. When all is in and the subscriptions from the county and city realised on the total amount will be enlarged to a fairly creditable sum.

The men at the C.G.E. Co. are asked to prepare the subscription cards and deposit them in the box at the gate. From which they will be collected.

On Wednesday a deputation will wait on the County Council in the interests of the campaign and it is expected that the members of the Council will realize the deserving character of the appeal for a substantial subscription.

One lady, who said she was unable to make a cash contribution to the Army Drive, contributed a pair of canaries, to be sold and the proceeds to go to the drive. Mr. Fred Tuppey, 867 Harvey street, has the birds. Any one interested may communicate

MACHINE GUNS AT FUNERAL

Liebknecht and Thirty-one Other Spartacans Finally Disposed of.

PASSED OFF QUIETLY

By John Grandeman.
(United Press.)

BERLIN, Jan. 27.—Although military officials were prepared for any eventuality, the funerals of Karl Liebknecht and thirty-one other Spartacans passed off quietly. More than 50,000 persons marched with the procession, which was five miles long. Fully twenty per cent. of these bore wreaths. There was no shouting or cheering.

The Government had field guns and machine guns at frequent intervals along the route of the procession, and signs were posted warning citizens to remain orderly. The cortege was headed by a band. Liebknecht's coffin was on a separate waggon and was followed by eight waggons bearing 31 other coffins.

2,000 Seek to Dine With Premier Ace

FETE FOR CAPTAIN E. V. RICKENBACKER BY AUTOMOBILE ASSOCIATION BIDS FAIR TO TAX WALDORF CAPACITY

New York, Jan. 25.—An interesting development has come with the announcement that a dinner will be tendered to Captain Edward V. Rickenbacker, America's leading ace, at the Waldorf-Astoria, February 3. The dinner was arranged by the American Automobile Association. More than five hundred invitations have been sent out when the avalanche of requests for an opportunity to be present began. More than two thousand persons, including business men, automobile authorities, aviation promoters and friends of Eddie Rickenbacker have asked for recognition and the dinner promises to be one of the largest ever held in the Waldorf.

Many men who have written to the officials of the American Automobile Association frankly state that they do not know he officially credited conqueror of at least twenty-six German airmen, but, as one man expressed it:—"I'd rather hear that boy say a few words than hear the Crown Prince sing "Yankee Doodle" with an anvil."

Shipbuilding Strikes Are On

English, Irish and Scotch Shipbuilders Are Out Demanding Shorter Hours and Increased Wages.

Special to the Examiner:

LONDON, Jan. 27. — Nation-wide shipbuilding strikes were under way in Great Britain and Ireland to-day. Other industries were being rapidly tied up by sympathetic strikes. The city of Belfast was practically paralyzed by a general strike, called in sympathy with the walkout of 40,000 shipyard employees, who demanded a forty-four-hour week.

A partial strike was on in the Glasgow yards and threatened to become complete before night. Shipbuilders and engineers in the Leith and Edinburgh yards also quit work and threatened a sympathetic walk-out of all allied trades unless their demands were granted.

MAY MEAN DELAY.

The announcement that the Imperial authorities have decided to retain the three large steamers, Olympic, Aquitania and Mauretania, from the North Atlantic route, and use them for other purposes, will not be welcome news for the relatives of Canadian soldiers still overseas, for it will mean delay in the home coming of many of our troops. These three ocean monsters are each capable of carrying at least 5,000 soldiers on a single voyage and of transporting them under more comfortable conditions than can possibly be provided on the smaller ships. Withdrawal from the service of bringing home the Canadian troops is to be regretted, and if the report is true that they are henceforth to be employed in carrying home United States' soldiers, the feeling of regret will probably be changed into something approaching indignation. Great Britain, of course, carried over 50 per cent. of the American soldiers who went to France, and has a responsibility to discharge in assisting in bringing them home again, but at the same time it is hardly fair that Canadian soldiers, some of whom have been away from home for over four years, should have their homecoming delayed because the ships and men that have been used to transport them, are employed on similar service for the troops of an army whose overseas record is not nearly as long as that of our own corps.

COUNCIL'S RESPONSIBILITY

The Examiner has on several occasions recently urged the organization of a local Repatriation Committee to assist in solving the problems in connection with the return of our soldiers and the finding of employment for them, and for other citizens to meet the suspension of war industries that means distress and suffering. The Repatriation Committee of the Dominion Government through its municipal representative, Mr. Harry Bragg, is now making the same appeal to the municipal councils of Canada, asking that in each community a "Welcome Home" committee of local citizens be formed not only to extend a warm greeting to our soldiers and their dependents on their arrival from overseas, but also to take an interest in the re-establishment of the soldier to civilian life, and in his progress and welfare generally.

The functions of the "Welcome Home" committee, as set forth in the circular sent out by Mr. Bragg, should be as follows:

(1) To welcome all returned soldiers and their dependents on their arrival in your locality.

(2) To receive any complaints from returned soldiers and to forward them to the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, Ottawa, for investigation.

(3) To help the returned soldiers to find employment.

(4) If at any time employment cannot be found in your locality for a returned soldier, to report particulars to the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment.

(5) If positions exist in your locality for which returned soldiers are not available, to notify the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, so that men can be sent from the nearest demobilization centre to occupy them.

(6) To co-operate with voluntary organizations.

(7) To keep a general oversight over the interests of returned soldiers and their families.

These objects are all ones that the city council should be eager to endorse and assist. All the problems of repatriation cannot be thrown upon the shoulders of the government—even though it is primarily responsible for their solution. Municipal councils have a share of the responsibility, and the suggestion of the Repatration Committee seems to be a practicable manner in which the council's duty in this respect can be discharged. So far, the only part of the process of repatriation that has been assumed by the local Board of Aldermen is to meet the returning soldiers at the station and to provide means of transporting them to their homes. But the duty of the Council is not completed in doing this. Aldermen should use every means to find employment for the men who are coming home, and the formation of a committee along the lines suggested is a promising plan that might well be adopted.

THE COST OF LIVING.

Although unemployment is daily increasing, the cost of living remains stationary. Are the prices that are being charged in Peterborough at the present time fair and reasonable? The question is being asked daily by hundreds of citizens, many of whom are beginning to find the problem of buying the necessities of life an increasingly difficult one. It is being answered by some of these citizens in the negative, and they talk of profiteering and graft. Such talk is not fair to the man in business if his spread of profit is not unreasonable, and yet he is not given a chance to clear himself of the charges that are being brought against him.

For this reason the Examiner believes that the local City Council should take advantage of the order passed last year by which municipal councils are empowered to appoint Fair Price committees to investigate the cost of living and to publish fair price schedules. The operation of this plan appears, on the surface at least, to be promising. At least there could be no harm done and the suspicion and distrust of the man on the street would be set at rest. The average citizen, who under present conditions is ready to believe that he is the victim of profiteering, would be satisfied if the whole matter of prices were to be investigated by a local committee, familiar with the conditions here. If the prices are unreasonable, the consumer has a right to know it; if the charges are fair, it is the just due of the merchant that he be acquitted of the charge of unduly profiting by conditions caused by the war. The man who is a profiteer will be shown in his real light; the dealer who is making only an honest profit should welcome the inquiry. In any case the Council has no logical ground for refusing to take advantage of the power that has been given it.

There is much truth in the following article from the Canadian Municipal Journal, which covers the situation admirably in the current issue:

If his Municipal Council declines to act in the premises, the consumer has reasonable grounds to suppose that the welfare of the consumer is not the first consideration on the part of the Municipal Council. Some Municipal Councils have criticized the Order-in-Council saying that it would do no good. Such a criticism is an expression of opinion and is not in the nature of a judicial utterance. How does any Municipal Council know that the appointment of a Fair Price committee would do no good, until such a committee is appointed, its report presented to the Council, and its fair price schedule published in the newspapers? "By their fruits ye shall know them," and in this day and generation an Order-in-Council is tested by its results.

Another criticism offered is that Municipal Fair Price committees cannot cover the whole ground. No Municipal Council need worry about this for it is an obvious truth. But wherever the range of cost of a food product does go outside of a municipality, means are provided in the Order-in-Council that will furnish the Municipal Fair Price committee with the necessary facts to assist them in their investigation and their judgment.

The fact of the matter appears to be that any Municipal Council that does not take action under the recent Order-in-Council to appoint a Fair Price committee is afraid of the task that is reasonably its own. It knows that the consumers are exercised about the high cost of living and it also knows that it now has a means of ascertaining whether the disturbance in the public mind is due to unfair and unreasonable prices for foodstuffs, but looking into the water it fears to take the plunge lest it may antagonize some sections of the community in which it places its trust for re-election. The remedy for this state of affairs is in the hands of the consumers and they will be well advised if they do not allow the Municipal Council to camouflage the situation and keep them in doubt as to whether the high cost of living is due to excessive profits on somebody's part or merely to the action of the necessity of war.

When it comes to a real question of local importance absolutely within the purview of the Municipality, Municipal Councils have a strange way of acting like crabs and can only be brought up to the mark by agitation on the part of the consumers who are vitally interested in the cost of food. If the consumers desire action from their Municipal Councils they must agitate and force them to take advantage of the provision of the recent Order-in-Council that authorizes Municipalities to appoint Fair Price committees, investigate the cost of living, and publish fair price schedules.

AN AMERICAN TRIBUTE

Methods of civilization are sharply contrasted with those of barbarism even in war time as shown by the difference between British and German armies in their invasion of foreign lands. While the latter are ruthless destroyers, ruining the homes and devastating the countries they occupy, the former are constructive even in hostile territory, respecting private property and benefiting the districts they overrun. This was shown especially by General Allenby's command in the regions around Jerusalem, where railroads have been built, high ways improved and new outlets for commerce established.

Mesopotamia, once the seat of great empires, filled with flourishing cities teeming with life, is also about to be reclaimed, thanks to the British occupation. This country was once the most fertile in the world. Great canals connected the Tigris and the Euphrates and the ruins of vast irrigation works testify the magnitude of its former resources. The products of the region found their way to the most distant parts of the known world. Egypt envied Mesopotamia and Rome exploited her. Then the stagnation of Turkish rule settled down over the region and blotted out its prosperity.

Now this man-made desert is about to bloom again. Within the last few months under British administration the country has made more progress than in the last thousand years of its history. Haroun-al-Raschid would find it hard to recognize his capital in the clean streets and electric lights of Bagdad. The British on January 10 opened a new canal on Diala, which empties into the Tigris a few miles below Bagdad, coming down from the mountains on the Persian border. They are widening the channel of the river and providing irrigation for 300,000 acres of land. The country is especially adapted to wheat growing and the production of food thus made possible will go far to relieve the necessities of the famished populations of Mesopotamia, Syria and Arabia. Thus does British kultur excel in German variety—New York Herald.

Statement Soon On Enemy Aliens

2,217 In Camps, $1,595 on Parole, of Whom 4,860 Are Germans.

OTTAWA, Jan. 24.— The Government has had under consideration the course it will pursue in dealing with the enemy aliens now detained at the four internment camps in Canada, and will, it is understood, shortly issue a statement on the subject. There were recently 2,217 enemy aliens interned in the Dominion, of whom 1,698 were Germans, 496 Austro-Hungarians and 18 Turks and Bulgarians. At the same time there were 1,595 released on parole to accept employment, of whom 4,600 were Germans and 70,6988 were Austro-Hungarians. Among those interned in Canada are a few combatants, chiefly German sailors held as prisoners of war. These will doubtless be sent back to their own country when the treaty of peace is concluded. Others who were residents of Canada, but were not naturalized citizens, were detained in internment camps because they were considered of too dangerous a character to be left at large. It is believed that men of this type may be deported from Canada. Other aliens who were interned and later paroled were of a kind not likely to do mischief. Many of these, it is reported, are now anxious to return to their own countries, where now conditions have arisen as a result of the war and doubtless will not be prevented from doing so.

NEUSTADT FARMER FINED $1,000 FOR EVADING SERVICE

Magistrate Kingsford Imposes Heavy Penalty On E. F. Plautz.

TORONTO, Jan. 27.—Magistrate Kingsford, in the police court, fined E. F. Plautz, a young farmer of Neustadt, Ont., $1,000 for failing to report under the military service act. Public Prosecutor W. R. Smyth said it had cost $500 to apprehend Plautz, as he received word every time the officers were coming and hid in the bush.

The public prosecutor asked for an exemplary sentence as the district had made a bad record. Recently Reeve Weber had been convicted on a charge of aiding young men to evade military service.

SIX CANADIANS WILL BRING HOME GERMAN WIVES, SAYS SIR SAM.

TORONTO, Jan. 27. — Six of the Canadian soldiers who crossed the Rhine with the army of occupation, have already married German girls.

General Sir Sam Hughes, M.P., the former Minister of Militia, is the authority for this interesting bit of news.

"Love finds a way and laughs at locksmiths," quoted Sir Sam, who was in the city en route to Galt where he addressed the Burns club.

CLAIMS PROHIBITION FAILURE IN NORWAY

Populace Would Not Stand For It—British System Gives Best Results.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24. — An account of how Norway settled the "bone-dry" question was given here by Frederic Lyndsig, who returned to the United States after six months' sojourn in that country, on the Norwegian Line steamship Stavengerfjord, which left Christiania on January 11 and docked at the foot of Thirtieth street, Brooklyn.

"Norway went bone-dry in 1915," he said. "In 1917, after almost a state of revolution caused by the scarcity of red liquor, the people threw out the Storthing Congress bodily and elected a new set of delegates, who were pledged to reinstate the liquor traffic." Speaking of the scarcity of food and other necessities of life, Mr. Lyndsig said that no one more than 10 years old in that country was permitted to drink milk, and that last winter no fuel of any kind was available. There is no gasoline, and motor cars are driven by carbide gas, the manufacture of which requires little fuel.

MODERATION THE BEST WAY

LONDON, Jan. 25.—"I constantly am receiving reports from British Columbia of the splendid results of prohibition," writes Bishop Perrin, formerly Bishop of British Columbia, and now working here.

A great deal is appearing here just now also concerning prohibition in the United States. The Times, however, editorially remarks: "It seems hardly to be understood here that prohibition in America has not yet actually taken place. Meanwhile in this country, where we have followed a more moderate policy, there has been wrought the greatest change in the habits of the people ever recorded, and the greatest reduction in drunkenness ever accomplished in any country. This is the one belligerent country that can show such records. Others have been held up to our admiration as patterns to follow, but when enquiry is made as to results, there are none worth showing. When any of our neighbours can show a positive record that will compare with ours, it will be time enough to admire their achievements."

Early History of Cobourg and Northumberland County

Old settlers in Northumberland used to tell of a severe storm that swept over this district some time before the year 1850. Trees were felled and in some places houses were carried away. To the west and north of us in Reap Township a farmer was boiling something in a big pot-ash kettle swung over a fire in the yard. The kettle along with fences barn and stacks was carried away. The following day a hunt was instituted for a lamb that was heard bleating and it was discovered safe beneath the big kettle in a neighbouring field.

When the Indians Ate the Bannocks.

A writer in the Orillia Packet in telling of pioneer days graphically gives "Grandmother's story" of a momentous day when Indians visited her home and ate her bannocks. A visit from some dozen or so Indians was by no means unusual in the pioneers days.

Later they continued their visitations bringing articles of their craft for sale, such as baskets, both fancy and useful, and even doll cradles and toys for the children. But the occasion upon which Indians visited "grandmother" was a nerve-racking one for her, for now could she know whether they were kindly disposed or not? This is how the story is told in the Packet:

"You tale aboot the pot o' gold," he remarked suddenly; "I'm thinking 'twill set folks a wondering aboot the early days."

"Aye,' grandmother answered, following his thought: "but they willna ken what the early settlers went through, nor what we weemen put up with."

"So long as I live," she went on, "I'll not forget the day you'd gang to Orillia for flour, and the Indians came and ate up all our bannocks."

Grandmother had often told us the story. It happened in the fall, on a day when grandfather, driving his oxen tandem-fashion because of the narrow blazed trail, some sacks of fall-threshed wheat slung across their backs, was plodding through the bush over the ten mile journey to the Orillia settlement. Grandmother, a young woman then—kept the children close to the little log cabin. A solid wall of trees came to within a few rods of the front door, while a mile of tangled underbrush lay between them and their nearest neighbour. The busy housekeeper was baking bannocks from the scrapings of the flour bin when suddenly, without the slightest warning, a band of Indians stalked through the door and squatted in a semi-circle before the open fireplace. The isolated mother was terrified. Resistance or flight was out of question. Diplomacy seemed to be the best move. Taking the piping hot bannocks, though hindered by the whimpering children who clung to her skirts, the courageous woman began to break them into portions and hand to her unbidden guests. The bannocks disappeared instantly. Her visitors made signs that a further supply would be appreciated. There was nothing more to give. A pan of milk was therefore brought out and it began to share the fate of the buttermilk cakes. Then a young brave, the only one of the party wearing a feathered headdress—whose eager eyes had been taking in every detail of the room, jumped to his feet, stepped over to the fireplace and took down from the wall grandfather's flintlock.

"I thought surely our end had come," grandmother declares.

But the young warrior, evidently proud of his knowledge of firearms, took the gun out of its case, looked it over, and then passed it along the row of squatting redskins. Amid grunts and gestures the gun went from hand to hand, each member of the group, in turn squinting along the sights and snapping the old fashioned hammer on the flint. The examination over, the young man hung the gun in its place. One of the older men, looking at grandmother and her speechless brood, grunted a few times, made signs that evidently conveyed their thanks, and the party filed out as silently as they had come, and disappeared in the woods. The most welcome sight for the frightened household that day was the vision of the leading ox as he plodded up to the home door at dusk.

"We were so overjoyed," said grandmother, "that we didna properly appreciate the pound o' fourshilling tea from Athenius King's, or the old country letters on which daddy paid a shilling postage, frae old man Rice's post office on the Couchiching shore."

The First Settlers in Brighton.

Miss L. E. Singleton died in Brighton some little time ago at the age of 88 years. Her grandfather, the late Capt. John Singleton, came to Thurlow in 1786 accompanied by a brother officer, Lieut. Perguson, to engage in the fur trade with the Indians. They built a log house at the mouth of the Moira River, which for a time bore the name of Singleton River. The Indian name of the river was Sagonaska. At that time no other human habitation existed nearer to them than the Mohawk Settlement.

After making many trips with batteaux to take in the necessary supplies the two men completed their plans for taking in their families. In September, 1789, Captain Singleton, his wife and child, the latter being not yet two years old, Lieut. Ferguson and his wife and a man who worked for them named Johnston with his wife, set out from the pioneer home in a batteaux for Ernesttown and Kingston. The women were to visit at Ernesttown, while the men went on to Kingston to purchase necesary supplies. Soon after they left on their trip Captain Singleton was taken ill. The party stopped at the Mohawk Settlement where an Indian doctor gave him some medicine, but he continued to grow worse and when they reached Ernesttown, where there was a U. E. L. settlement he was very ill. Captain Singleton died nine days later. Johnston, the servant, contracted the disease and also died.

Lieutenant Ferguson went on to Kingston, exchanged the furs which they had procured in trade with the Indians, for a barrel of flour and the party returned to Thurlow. The young officer's days were, however, also numbered, and in a few weeks' time he passed away also. The three widowed women and little child were then left unprotected in a vast wilderness of woods, with but scanty means of subsistence. It was not long before it was found necessary to measure out the barrel of flour by cupfuls. Captain Singleton's little son grew to manhood, and married Margaret Canniff, daughter of James Canniff, a U. E. loyalist of Adolphustown, and they were the first settlers in what is now the village of Brighton.

One Presiding Elder for Upper Canada.

Two of the earliest ministers in Upper Canada were Elder Ryan and Andrew Pringle. They travelled over roads indescribable to visit the homes of the early settlers. Elder Ryan was in 1810 a presiding Elder in the whole of Upper Canada, and later for the Bay of Quinte district. He travelled, it is estimated, 4,000 miles each year, and received, it is stated, $80 for himself and $60 for his wife and provisions for his family.

The First Ferry Boats.

As is well known the Second Battalion of the King's Royal Regiment, which was famous in the rebellion of 1773, had allotted to it the Township of Ernesttown. In the year 1802 Samuel Corn, a resident of Wolfe Island, presented a requested to the Court of Quarter Sessions, which by the way met in Paul Huff's barn, to be allowed to run a ferry between Wolfe Island and the American shore. A ferry was ready in operation between Wolfe Island and Kingston. These boats were of rude construction.

They were made of pine, put together with wooden spikes and ran by the wind or oar. Often when there was but a single passenger, a log canoe constituted the ferry. The fare, which was regulated by the Quarter Sessions, was fixed at five shillings a passenger, and the manager of the ferry was expected to be equally attentive at all hours to the call of a single passenger or a great number, and was required to be ready at short notice to ferry passengers, cattle or goods. This ferry was the early means of communication between the eastern part of Upper Canada and the friends whom the U. E. Loyalists had left in the United States.

The Children of Peace.

In 1801 there came from New York State to Canada David Wilson, the founder of a religious sect called "The Children of Peace." He was accompanied by his wife and two small children. They had a stormy voyage and suffered shipwreck, and the only thing saved of their cherished belongings is said to have been the rim of a spinning-wheel. They finally reached a point near Toronto, and found themselves in a settlement of the Society of Friends or Quakers. The arrival of Wilson was the nucleus of a new cult, called "The Children of Peace," and derisively by some the "Davidites." This sect isolated themselves in a settlement in what is now York county and surrounded by woods, wolves and Red men, reared their families in the fear and admonition of the Lord. At first meetings were held in Mr. Wilson's log house, but later a log building was procured to be used as a place for meetings and later a more pretentious building was built. After Mr. Wilson's death in 1865 the organization was gradually absorbed by other religious bodies. Mr. Wilson, however, left behind him a little volume entitled "The Children of Peace," which in some respects anticipated some of our more modern thought. In it he states that he believes that "a union of sects to be nearer the design of Omnipotence than when they are one against another."

The Earliest Observance of Decoration Day.

Whether our observance of Decoration Day is a custom that has been handed down from this pioneer denomination is not known, but certain it is that they had a memorial service for their departed members, which was held at midsummer in the burying ground adjacent to their place of worship, and no other religious body is known to have followed such a custom. They also had two "Feasts," the one held at Easter and the other corresponding to our harvest home festivals, and a service of song on Christmas morning. Their memorial service, however, the prototype of our Decoration service, was featured by a procession and led by some form of a musical band.

Barber 20 Years In Sing Sing to "Begin Life Over"

Henry Dorsch Had Shaved Such Slayers as Patrick, Molineux, Dr. Waite and Charles Becker.

SING SING, N. Y., Jan. 25.—After serving twenty years in Sing Sing, Henry Dorsch, of Brooklyn, aged fifty-five, who for several years has been the death house barber, was discharged from the prison and returned to New York city to "begin life over again," as he expressed it.

More than twenty years ago he shot and killed his wife, Annie Dorsch, in a quarrel at their home, at No. 472 Marcy avenue, Brooklyn. Then he turned the revolver upon himself, but recovered from the wound. He was indicted for first degree murder. The jury returned a second degree verdict, and he was sentenced to life imprisonment. A law passed later changed life terms to a minimum of twenty years.

Before the discovery of safety razors shaving a murderer was a hazardous task. Two guards stood beside Dorsch while he worked, to prevent the condemned men from grabbing the razor and cutting their own throat or attacking the guards to try to cheat the law. Albert T. Patrick, Roland B. Molineaux, Dr. Arthur Warren White, Charles Becker, Joe Cohen and other famous condemned prisoners had their hair or beards trimmed by Dorsch. The trusted sartorial artist also had a morbid task for years. He was obliged to shave the hair off the top of the head of a prisoner about to die in the electric chair, so the electrodes could rest tight against the flesh.

Al Adams, David A. Sullivan, William J. Cummins, Burton T. Gibson and Herbert Reeves were among the so-called "big criminals" who managed to get into the prison hospital in Dorsch's time, and he administered to their tonsorial needs, too, for, in addition to caring for condemned men, he also had to do the barbering for hospital patients.

"I'm going right back to New York," said Dorsch on leaving. "It's changed a lot since I saw it last, with all these sky-scrapers, bridges, electrical displays and the like." Dorsch told his keepers. "I have lots of sights in the city to see for a while. Then I'll go and look for a job."

NEW YORK ASSEMBLY VOTES TO GO "DRY."

ALBANY, N.Y., Jan. 24.—After a debate lasting nearly five hours, which was preceded by a Republican caucus, in which it was made a party measure, a resolution to ratify the Federal prohibition amendment was adopted by the assembly of the New York Legislature. The vote was 81 to 66. Eleven Republicans declined to be bound by the caucus action and joined with the Democratic and Socialist minorities in voting against adoption.

Action on the resolution probably will be taken by the Senate early next week. A caucus of Republican Senators has been called for Monday night.

C.P.R. OFFICIAL HONORED

THE appointment of Lt.-Col. G. McLaren Brown as Knight Commander of the Order of the British Empire is the result of the very fine services rendered by the European Manager of the C. P. R. to the British Government, for whom he acted as Assistant Director of Transport during the last three years of the war. "G. McL.," as he is popularly known, both in Canada and the Old Country, is the son of Adam Brown of Hamilton, Ontario, and was born in 1865. In 1887 he was appointed agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Vancouver, promoted five years later to be Asst. General Passenger Agent, Western Division, and subsequently became in turn Executive Agent, Superintendent of Hotels, and Dining and Sleeping Car Dept., and General Passenger Agent C. P. R. Atlantic Steamship Lines. In 1908 he was appointed General European Traffic Agent, and in 1916 General European Manager, with head offices at 62-5 Charing Cross, London, S.W.

Sir George McL. Brown.

Col. George McLaren Brown, says a friend writing in the "Montreal Gazette," is one of those rare men whose friendships are equal to the number of their acquaintances. To all in that wide circle the announcement of the new honor which has been conferred upon him comes as pleasant and very welcome news. It is a recognition of qualities and services which they all know him to possess and to have rendered. The reputation which he enjoyed in Canada, not alone in the railway world, has been enhanced in proportion to his larger opportunities as European Manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway in London, and the value of his service in the organization and direction of troop transportation during the war can hardly be overstated. It was as successful as it was onerous, and although given with no other thought than that of duty, was none the less deserving of recognition now accorded. It was but one, if the chief of his war activities, which were in fact as varied as were the demands upon his help and counsel. In all this McLaren Brown has been true in both impulse and action to the stock of which he comes. Similar impulses, finding similar expression having regard to place and circumstances, have characterized the long and honorable career of Adam Brown, his father, now and for many years postmaster at Hamilton. Active and successful in commercial life, a pioneer in railway development, and one of the fathers of the National Policy, Adam Brown at ninety-six, is still young in spirit, giving largely of his time and substance in philanthropy, and to the support of war relief organizations. As is the father, so is the son, strong in his undertakings and, withal, a thoughtful, kindly gentleman.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

A CREED FOR INDUSTRY

(BY JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR.)

From an address delivered before the War Emergency and Reconstruction Conference, U. S. Chamber of Commerce, Atlantic City.

To-day we stand at the threshold of the period of reconstruction, and as we turn from the problems of war to the problems of peace we may look for such success in solving the latter as has been obtained in dealing with the former only as we are animated by the same spirit of co-operation and brotherhood.

Perpetuation of the Spirit

The hope of the future lies in the perpetuation of the spirit and its application to the great problems which confront us nationally as well as internationally.

Obviously the day has passed when the conception of industry as primarily a matter of private interest can be maintained. To cling to it is only to lay up trouble for the future and to arouse antagonism. In the light of the present, every thinking man must adopt the view that the purpose of industry is to advance social well-being, rather than primarily to afford a means for the accumulation of individual wealth. It must be borne in the mind, however, that industry cannot be successfully carried on unless not only the community and the workers are adequately served, but those whose money is invested are enabled to realize a just return.

Who are the parties to industry? They are four in number—Capital Management, Labor and the Community. Capital is represented by the stockholders and is usually regarded as embracing Management. Management is, however, an entirely separate and distinct party to industry—it consists of the executive officers, who are the administrators of the industry and who bring to it a technical skill and managerial experience. Labor is represented by the employees, but its contribution, unlike that of capital, is not detachable from the one who makes it, for it is his physical effort, his strength, his life. Here the list usually ends, for the fourth party, namely the community, whose interest is vital and in the last analysis controlling, is too often ignored. The community's right to representation in the control of industry and in the shaping of industrial policies is similar to that of labor. But for the community's contribution in the maintenance of law and order, of agencies of transportation and communication, of systems of money and credit and of other services, all involving continuous outlays, the operation of capital, management, and labor would be enormously hampered if not rendered well nigh impossible. Furthermore, the community is the consumer of the product of industry and the money which it pays for the product provides the wages, salaries and profits that are distributed among the other parties.

An Industrial Creed

Might not the four parties to industry subscribe to an industrial creed somewhat as follows:

1. I believe that Labor and Capital are partners, not enemies; that their interests are common interests, not opposed, and that neither can attain the fullest measure of prosperity at the expense of the other, but only in association with the other.

2. I believe that the community is an essential party to industry and that it should have adequate representation with the other parties.

3. I believe that the purpose of industry is quite as much to advance social well-being and that in the pursuit of that purpose the interests of the community should be carefully considered, the well-being of the employees as respects living and working conditions should be fully guarded, management should be adequately recognized and capital should be justly compensated and that failure in any of these particulars means loss to all four.

4. I believe that every man is entitled to an opportunity to earn a living, to fair wages, to reasonable hours of work and proper home, to the opportunity to play, to learn, to worship and to love, as well as to toil, and that the responsibility rests as heavily upon industry as upon government or society, to see that these conditions and opportunities prevail.

5. I believe that industry, efficiency and initiative, wherever found, should be encouraged and adequately rewarded, and that indolence, indifference and restriction of production should be discountenanced.

6. I believe that the provision of adequate means of uncovering grievances and promptly adjusting them is of fundamental importance to the successful conduct of industry.

7. I believe that the most potent measure in bringing about industrial harmony and prosperity is adequate representation of the parties in interest; that existing forms of representation should be carefully studied and availed of in so far as they may be found to have merit and are adaptable to the peculiar conditions in the various industries.

8. I believe that the most effective structure of representation is that which is built from the bottom up, which includes all employees, and, starting with the election of representatives in each industrial plant, the formation of joint work's committees of joint district councils and annual joint conferences of all the parties in interest in a single industrial corporation, can be extended to include all plants in the same industry, all industries in a community, in a nation, and in the various nations.

9. I believe that the application of right principles never fails to effect right relations; that the letter killeth and the spirit maketh alive; that forms are wholly secondary while attitude and spirit are all important, and that only as the parties in industry are animated by the spirit of fair play, justice to all and brotherhood, will any plans which they may mutually work out succeed.

10. I believe that man renders the greatest social service who co-operates in the organization of industry as to afford to the largest number of men the greatest opportunity for self- development and the enjoyment by every man of those benefits which his own work adds to the wealth of civilization.

The New Era

Never was there such an opportunity as exists to-day for the industrial leader with clear vision and broad sympathy permanently to bridge the chasm that is daily gaping wider between the parties in interest and to establish a solid foundation for industrial prosperity, social improvement and national solidarity. Further generations will rise up and call those men blessed who have the courage of their convictions, a proper appreciation of the value of human life as contrasted with material gain, and who, imbued with the spirit of brotherhood, will lay hold of the great opportunity for leadership, which is open to them to-day.

WHAT OTHER COUNCILS AND BOARDS OF TRADE ARE DOING

Sarnia has organized a Chamber of Commerce with a pledged membership of 413, and is now searching for a capable director or commissioner to secure new industries and generally to further the recently inspired movement to-ward a "Greater Sarnia." The membership dues are $25 a year. C. W. Otto of the American City Bureau, New York, who had charge of the campaign, has gone to Pontiac, Mich., to undertake a similar work. Even the Sarnia High school boys are indirectly associated in the work of the Chamber of Commerce.

Oshawa, Too.

Oshawa's Board of Trade has been overhauled and reformed with ambitions of securing 400 members with an fee of only $2. The Board has already set itself to work on housing, town-planning and other civic problems.

CITY COUNCIL'S DUTY.

"Last evening's council meeting proved conclusively that Mayor MacBride this year intends to act solely as presiding officer of the council; instead of principal initiator and carrier of civic burdens. In this he is carrying out a policy which it was the expressed wish of some of last year's aldermen that he should do.

The aldermen have their desire. It is theirs to place themselves in a position of much value to initiate matters, however. The housing problem, the future of the health department of the city, the fitting remembrances of those devoted ones who gave their lives in the fight against the influenza epidemic, proper reception to returned heroes, are matters too vital to ignore by lack of action. The aldermen of the city are they to whom the citizens look for guidance, for foresighted treatment of the questions and problems of the day. They must buckle down to their duties. The city council is not merely a debating club, with the citizens of Brantford as audience through the columns of the press. The responsibility for civic government is placed squarely on the City Council as the senior governing board of the city. Action, not words; deals, not debates, are what the citizens want when they elect their civic representatives. Mayor MacBride intends this year to act as presiding officer only. The power of initiative is thrown back on the council, where it belongs.

All Canada's Mills May Have to Close, Miller's Assertion

Sees Possibility in Fixed Price System and Wheat Embargo.

MONTREAL, Jan. 27.—The possibility of the closing down of all the mills in Canada on account of the retention of the fixed price system on wheat and the embargo which cuts off the Old Country market was discussed here by Robert Neilson, manager of a large milling concern. Mr. Neilson said there was no alternative for the millers at the present time except to close their mills. The Canadian mills have a certain amount of the manufactured product in reserve. This had to be in order to be ready for extraordinary demands that might arise in the Mother Country. The question of the basis upon which the Allies may undertake the feeding of the hungry Millions in Europe has not yet been settled, and until it is there is no outlet for reserve stocks in this direction. The millers hope, however, that it will not be long before the War Purchasing Commission becomes active in placing orders again, as it is not likely that the fixed price of wheat will be removed before the new crop is harvested.

Strike Epidemic Getting Worse

Public Works Employees Now Demand a Six-Hour Day.

BERLIN, Jan. 27.—The strike epidemic in Berlin and particularly the strikes of the electric, gas and other municipal workers whose position enables them to extort compliance with their demands from public or private employers, is beginning to disquiet even the Socialist leaders. In common with the Bourgeoise press the Socialist Vorwaerts points out the dislocation of the strike of the electric workers, of whom hundreds of thousands suffered great hardships.

The aldermen of Charlottenburg, a working-class district of Berlin, at a common council meeting, criticized the attitude of the workers. The criticism came from members of all parties.

The employees of the city gasworks who were granted an eight-hour day only recently, have now, under a threat to paralyze the gas supply, compelled the granting of a six-hour day and an increase in wages amounting to 12,500,000 marks annually.

The Vossische Zeitung refers to the strikes as "the sabotage of Socialism," and calls on the Government to counteract this terrorization of the municipality by furnishing men to take the places of the strikers if necessary. This action, the paper adds, could not in the circumstances be regarded as strike breaking. The paper concludes:

"If this economic terror is permitted to rage further, it will undermine our vital forces, weaken the labour movement and strengthen the counter revolutionary forces."

PEACE CONFERENCE MEETS

This Morning at 10.30 O'clock — All Members Attended.

Ban Silk Stockings and Advise Wearing Business Uniforms

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 20.—The suggestion for putting uniforms on all girls who work in public places, and recommendations that stenographers wear less transparent waists, made recently by the Syracuse Council of Women's Clubs, has caused a furore among working girls here.

The women's clubs declared that girls working in public places should be designated by a uniform cut along much more simple lines than the clothes many of them wear. This was recommended as a matter of health. The club women also said that stenographers wore their waists cut too low and their skirts cut too short, and that silk stockings were absolutely unnecessary for typists. They suggested that silk hose be forbidden.

The girls say the proper way to better the condition of the working girl is to help her materially instead of finding fault because she tries to dress like club women.

HOW THIS LITLTE BOY

Recovered Strength After Sickness.

Garrett, Texas.—"The measles left my little boy aged nine years in a very weak, run-down condition —he coughed a good deal, and as medicines did not seem to help him, we finally took him out of school, and thought he would never be strong again. One day I read about the cod liver and iron tonic known as Vinol, and such a change as it has made in my little boy—it stopped his cough, he is now back in school, strong and well."—Mrs. E. A. Wright.

There is nothing like Vinol to restore strength, appetite and vim to pale, sickly children. We strongly recommend Vinol for this purpose.

Riots in Hamburg Were Suppressed

Czecho Forces Have Captured Oderberg on the German Border.

Special to The Examiner:

BERLIN, Jan. 27.— The Spartacan riots in Hamburg were suppressed by placing the city under martial law on Saturday.

Special to The Examiner:

BERLIN, Jan. 27. — The German Cabinet, it was announced Saturday, will reside in Weimar during the sittings of the National Assembly.

An important financial conference will be held in Berlin on Tuesday.

The Prussian government has ordered municipal elections throughout the State under the same system employed in the recent national elections. The only requirement for suffrage is a residence of six months in the town or city.

Deserting the Former Emperor

Bill Hohenzollern Rarely Speaks to His Guards.

Canadian Press:

LONDON, Jan. 27.—William Hohenzollern, former German emperor, has grown very surly and rarely speaks a word to his men servants and guards, according to the Mail's correspondent at Amerongen. His latest recorded remark was made a few days ago, when he said that his "time at Amerongen was nearly up," it is said. His wife, on the other hand, maintains a cheerful disposition and shows an interest in the welfare of the people living near the castle where she is living. A correspondent says: "Former emperor is being gradually deserted by everyone. He receives practically no visitors and his formerly voluminous correspondence has become very small."

SAYS LAUDER BROKE LAW

MONTREAL, Jan. 25. — Harry Lauder broke a Federal law when he signed his name on a dollar bill in Toronto, declares La Patrie, directing attention to artcile 137 of the Bank Act which decrees that, "Any person who disfigures a Dominion or bank bill, by writing, printing, designing or stamping on it or by attaching something of the nature of advertising is liable to a fine of $20 or more."

"Lauder's signature," continues La Patrie, "is to all intents and purposes an advertisement. We warn the Minister of Finance whose duty it is to make money laws respected."

Only Tenth of Crop Moved From Canada

Saskatchewan Minister Charges Government as Responsible for This Condition.

REGINA, Jan. 27.—Not more than ten per cent. of the 1918 wheat crop of Western Canada has been moved out of the country and the Eastern Canada transfer elevators at the head of the lakes are choked full with American wheat, making it very doubtful when the Canadian crop can be moved forward, it was announced by Hon. George Langley, acting Minister of Agriculture, in the Saskatchewan Legislature.

This condition of affairs, he said, has been brought about as the result of the Canadian Governmen making use of the borrowed American money for the transportation of the 1917 wheat crop, giving as a quid pro quo to the American Government the use of Canada's transportation channels for moving the United States' crop. The money was borrowed from the source despite the fact that one of the inducements held out to the Canadian people to subscribe to the 1917 and 1918 Victory Loans was that a portion of the proceeds of these loans was required to move the grain crop.

Mr. Langley informed the assembly moreover, he stated, not one dollar of either loan had been used for the removal of the Western farmers' grain. The Minister of Municipal Affairs made this announcement during the debate on the amended resolution of W. T. Badger, Conservative, Rosetown, calling on the Federal officials to fix the price of the 1919 wheat crop.

The City Council Went to Park Street Church Yesterday

Rev. Dougald Brown Preached on "His Coming Again"—The Great Problem.

Peterboro City Council chaperoned by City Clerk Armstrong attended divine service last night at Park Street Baptist Church. The pastor, Rev. Dougald Brown took for his subject "His Coming Again," from second Peter, the fourth verse of the third chapter.

"Where is the promise of His coming for since the fathers fell asleep? All things continue as they were from the beginning of the creation."

Mr. Brown said that he did not know when He was coming. It might be to-morrow, it might be in this century but nobody knew when He is coming.

The Great Problem

"I believe that nearly all Christian people believe that He is coming. The great problem is when. This no person can answer. The Gospel is an invitation to eternal life and any man that refuses this invitation abuses his great privilege. The repeated invitation proves God's love. The reason why Jesus Christ is not here now is because God's delay is for your sake. One of the saddest things is the misjudgment of the world of Jesus Christ and another sad thing is the misjudgment of the Church of the mission of Jesus Christ. These people accuse Jesus Christ of being unfaithful to his promise. The unsaved man puts himself outside the pale of love of God, so does the world and in many cases the Church puts itself outside of the power to save them. Do we look on the mass of society as outside God's power. But we must never limit His love.

Do Not Limit Power

Never let this town limit His power to save the world from sin. When the Bible says "God so loved the world that He . . . ." what world does it mean? Does it mean this great wonderful world of trees, great plains, and wandering herds? No it does not. Is it the social sect that is meant as the world? The man degraded, the sin-cursed person that is the world referred to. There is no man too far gone, no man too sin-cursed or steeped in crime that cannot be saved. If we say there is we put a limitation on His power. There will be great surprises on the judgment day when perhaps we have misjudged our brothers. We not only have misjudged Christ but we have misjudged our own brother and the whole world.

Looking For Proof

Men to-day are flying in the face of His truth and mercy. They are putting their ignorance above His infinite wisdom saying, "Where is proof of His coming?" Must the infinite be limited by the finite? The whole thing is a misjudgment and most people are willingly ignorant that Jesus Christ is the only Saviour and that through Him we must be saved.

Stands True

God's promise stands true both in redemption and in judgment. Peter met the old argument by saying that God was long suffering to the old world, that is the world before the flood, but there was a day of judgment. Noah and his family were the only ones saved. The Lord saved only those that believed Two thousand years later God established the covenant and 2000 years later Jesus Christ came. Did Jesus fail in His mission on earth? We have we not see judgment day this century not see the judgment day in this century. It seems God measures in great periods of 2000 years. In the olden days men sold, bought and sinned right up to the end and isn't it true that they do the same now without a thought of the great day.

COAL SHOULD GO DOWN WITH COATS

Frank Jenne Says He Would Then Stock Up For a Year.

"The mild weather we had in January brought effective savings in coal and in over coats.

"If the coal dealers," said Frank Jenne "would but reduce their price per ton of coal as I have reduced the price of Semi-ready tailored overcoats I would put in my stock of coal for the winter of 1920 right now."

"That is the logical action which every householder would at once think of. Here are overcoats worth up to $28 for $19.50. If I could buy at $10 ton of coal for $7 I would not be getting any better bargain.

"My January Sale is an annual event, looked forward to and waited for by many of my customers. This year, with prices abnormally high, I just took the bit in my teeth and determined to lose a little money and make a lot of friends for my Semi-ready store.

"All the week I will close out lines of Semi-ready suits and other lines in my Men's Furnishings stock at less than present wholesale cost.

"I do not indulge in comparative superlatives when I talk of Semi-ready tailoring,—but I do emphasize the fact that for 25 years they have engaged a reputation for tailoring, 'something better' in men's clothes and that their trade has steadily grown in all the cities and towns were they are not improved by the camouflage of putting cheap ready made with them, so that a customer would infer that every garment is a Semi-ready when it's not. Every suit and overcoat in any shop is genuine Semi-ready tailoring."

Mr. Jenne's Peace Benefit Sale continues up to and including Saturday night.

Maze of Traps Bares Victim's Fear of Slayers

Mystery Grows in Philhower Case as Police Follow False Clews.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Efforts of the police to solve the mystery surrounding the murder of Winfield Scott Philhower, electric expert and art dilettante who was found slain in his apartments at No. 143 East Thirtieth street, the victim of thrusts from an old sword taken from his own collection, have only served to make the puzzle more baffling. Clews followed thus far have led to greater mystery. It seems now that neither robbery nor a quarrel, the two theories which not first seemed most plausible, as reponsible for the crime

A close investigation of Mr. Philhower's habits and the curiously furnished apartment in which he lived seem to indicate that the art collector was haunted by a constant dread of being attacked or murdered. When this fear first came upon him cannot be learned, but it is known that for more than a year at least he had sought to safeguard himself by every means known to science.

Being an electrical expert, he had installed in his apartment a system of electrical burglar alarms so sensitive and intricate that it is doubtful if the most vivid imagination of a writer of detective stories could have improved on it in his fancy. The doors, the windows, even desks, tables and rungs were connected with the alarm system so that, as George Herzog, the janitor who discovered the body, put it: "You couldn't touch a thing without starting the bells to going."

A Precaution

At first it would seem that this precaution was as a guard against burglars, but Mr. Philhower, from all indications and the testimony of his relatives, was a well balanced man. It is thought highly probable, therefore, that a man who went to such extraordinary pains to guard his place against roberby would not go about continually talking of his jewels and money and displaying both without reserve. If he had been afraid of robbers he would have taken the simpler course of keeping quiet about his possessions. It is thought therefore that it was not his money and jewels or art collection that he feared to lose, but his life.

This supposition is further strengthened by what Mr. Philhower's cousin, Mrs. Elizabeth Morrow, of East Orange, N.J., told the police, that on one occasion when she visited him he took down one of the swords and demonstrated how he would protect himself in the event of being attacked.

That the murderer did not force his way into the apartment has been established by the fact that the burglar alarms were not disturbed. Did Mr. Philhower, then, inadvertently let in the person in dread of whom he had lived for so many months? That was easily possible since the light in the hall is dim. Mr. Philhower might have mistaken the intruder for one of his numerous friends. Realizing his mistake too late he might have torn the sword from the wall to protect himself, but the intruder warding off the first blow with the slungshot he carried, overpowered Mr. Philhower, who was fifty-eight years old and not particularly muscular, and then slew him with his own sword.

A deep gash in the slungshot found beside the body shows that at least one sword thrust was warded off with it. That the slungshot did not belong to Mr. Philhower also is possible since he had no others in his collection of weapons. Meanwhile the police have not entirely given up hope, although they admit they are working completely in the dark.

Interesting Sermon Delivered By Rev. F. E. Malott of Trinity Church

"The Witch of Endor," Formed the Subject of the Speaker's Remarks.

A service of unusual interest was held in Trinity Methodist Church yesterday evening. The theme of the pastor's sermon was "The Witch of Eudor," a timely topic in view of the recent recrudescence of spiritualism in Toronto in which two prominent men of that city are playing a leading part. Rev. Mr. Malott took his text from 1 Samuel, 28 11-12, the passage in which Saul asks the Witch to call him up Samuel. He sketched the career of Saul from the time of his call to be king of Israel. Saul comes before us at first as a kingly man, tall broad-shouldered, brave, fearless and strong. "The spirit of the Lord came upon him," says the historian of his reign. Samuel the prophet acts as his advisor and, so long as Saul is obedient to the voice of God given through his prophet, all goes well. But as William Hohenzollern dropped Bismarck when he wanted to be his own advisor, so Saul dropped Samuel when he grew restive under the prophet's counsel and the spirit of the Lord departed from Saul, we are told. Saul's downward course was now as rapid as had been his rise. Success was no longer his in battle. The Philistines, his strongest foes, knowing of the discredit into which Saul had fallen and hearing of the death of Samuel, planned an invasion of Israel with the greatest army they had ever put in the field. Saul, filled with consternation at the sight of the Philistine host and knowing he cannot hope for God's help, turns in desperation to sorcery for assistance. Earlier in his reign he had prohibited the practice of witchcraft. Now he hears, through his servents, of one survivor of the craft living at Endor and to her he goes secretly by night. In her cave a supposed interview with the shade of Samuel takes place. The story is graphically told by the historian.

What Took Place

After reviewing the scene, Mr. Malott said "The question naturally arises, What did actually take place?" He then gave four explanations which Biblical scholars have suggested. These are in brief, Fertullian's view, that Samuel's appearance was a diabolical delusion. Jerome followed him and the theologians of the 16th and 17th centuries, led by Luther and Calvin held the same opinion. Dean Milman, the historian, thinks the whole scene was a deception on the part of the woman who played the same role as a modern professional "medium" and, that, by means of ventriloquism, she contrived to make Saul believe that her voice was the voice of Samuel. The King's exhausted and unnerved condition (he had eaten no food in 24 hours) would make this comparatively easy. Others think that a direct miracle was wrought and that God, and not the woman was the cause of it; that a real appearance of Samuel took place to give the impenitent Saul the fatal announcement of his doom. The most radical view of all is that of Prof. Henry P. Smith, who says "The chapter is of the utmost value as showing popular ideas concerning intercourse with the dead. The writer, no doubt, believed in the actual raising of Samuel's shade. But the difficulty disappears when we discover that the chapter is only the dramatic embodiment of an idea. His poetic consistency to make Samuel dead repeat the rejection pronounced by Samuel "living." "Between these four you may choose," said Mr. Malott, "but no scholar has advanced the opinion that the poor witch had any real power to recall the dead."

The speaker then gave a sketch of the history of magic, necromancy, divination and witch craft, showing how wide spread they were in ancient times and how the Jews in spite of the laws against these things and in spite of their religious teachers continued to practice them. He then showed how from time to time there was a recrudescence of these superstitions through the Christian centuries until we come to the modern spiritualism, which is the same old superstition in a new dress. He gave a brief account of history of spiritualism beginning with the Fox family of New York State in 1848. He spoke of its assumption of the title of a "Science," but he declared that not even the names of Sir Oliver Lodge Alfred Russell Wallace or W. T. Stead could give it standing sufficient to raise it above the rank of a superstition. The conscious and unconscious fraud practised by mediums, the childish methods of its so-called experiments and the utterly valueless results it professes to reach make one wonder how sane men can be satisfied with such teaching.

In Conclusion

In conclusion the speaker drew three lessons that are for all, viz:—The rapidity with which men may fall from the highest eminence; the credulity of the sceptic, the ease with which men who reject God's Word and reject Jesus Christ, will accept the most absurd teaching; and finally the serious nature of sin as seen in the hardening of the heart, the darkening of the intellect and the degrading of the highest manhood.

The church was filled to capacity with an audience that followed with intense interest the entire service. The music on this occasion was of a very high order.—"The Gloria" from Mozart's Twelfth Mass was especially fine. Miss Logan and Mr. Whitehouse, violinists, assisted the choir.

Principal O'Meara Conducted the Services at All Saints' Church

Anniversary Services Were Largely Attended—Instructive and Inspiring Address.

"In many churches, not so much our own happily, there are all sorts of things being preached about, except Jesus Christ Himself," said Rev. Dr. O'Meara, Principal of Wycliffe College, Toronto, who conducted the anniversary services at All Saints' church yesterday. At the evening service Principal O'Meara gave an inspiring address urging an active campaign to bring others into the church and for all to realize the actual presence of Christ in the Church.

Taking as his text, Matthew, chap. 28, verse 20, "Lo, I am always with you," the speaker told of the great crisis in the ministry of Dr. A. J. Gordon of Boston, who from the year 1869 to 1895, was one of the greatest instructive forces in the interests of spiritual religion all over the world. In the early part of his ministry he had attractiveness and a measure of success. His church was the church of the fashionable and was well attended.

THE CHANGE.

The change in his ministry came when in a dream he saw Jesus come unrecognized to his church. On awakening from his dream he found himself looking at the text, "Lo, I am with you always." From the time of the dream his life and ministry were revolutionized and in the succeeding years he lived with the truth contained in the text ever before his eyes.

ACTUAL PRESENCE.

"Jesus is actually present, and does not go back on His promise," said the speaker. "I venture to bring to you this truth, on the anniversary which means so much to you all—that the pledged promise of God still stands good and He is with you. I ask that not only the preacehr, but every soul (especially the leaders) shall realize during these few quiet minutes that Christ is actually with us," said the speaker.

Dr. O'Meara emphasized the fact that Jesus, who is ever present, "when we are gathered together," knows when each member is present, and not only knows when you are absent—but why. "The reasons which you give to your clergyman for your absence you would not dare to give to your God," he commented.

CHURCH MEMBERSHIP.

The opportunities of membership are great in Peterboro, he said. In this city to-night there are far more outside the churches than at the services. When Jesus comes to church He knows not only that you are there but that there are many you have touched during the week and yet you have not given them an invitation to come to church. If everyone makes an honest effort to get some one who doesn't attend church to come with him, the churches would not be large enough to hold the congregations. That is the way to make a church grow—not to leave it all to the clergyman. The effort may be great, but God has promised victory in the end.

God is interested in the worship in the church and the standard that He takes is not only that of hearty and successful worship but reality. The influence of reality is most noticed with the rising generation who if they see worship undertaken with the lips while the eyes wander, realize that reality is missing and gradually drift away. If the young people could come and find Christian people in earnest they could not stay away.

THE OFFERTORY.

Again Christ knows what the offertory is. He knows not only what you give but what you could give. If only the church people could realize that Christ knows this very soon they would have to be asked to stop giving so much. When Christ comes to church He listens to the sermon, and is listening not for something intellectual or elaborate, but rather for His own name. The minister is not preaching to man but to God to whom he is accountable for his stewardship.

GREETINGS FROM ST. JOHN'S

At the conclusion of the sermon, Canon Davidson brought the greetings of St. John's church to All Saints, and outlined the history of the church from his first connection with it, when with a congregation of thirty the services were held in the south end of the city.

"My Honolulu Girl"

A Breezy Musical Comedy With Hawaiian Singers and Dancers.

When Norman Friedenwald conceived the idea of the great musical comedy success, "My Honolulu Girl," which comes to the Grand Saturday, matinee and night, February 1st, he vowed he would have the prettiest, most nimble and graceful and the "peppiest" chorus in the United States and stage experts concede that he has won. The chorus with "My Honolulu Girl" is known from coast to coast, and from Canada to Mexico, and some of them are drawing salaries equal to those paid stars several seasons ago.

These girls are possessed of remarkable voices and they have been schooled in dancing by Signor Arcalli, an Italian dancer of note. In the interpolation of Hawaiian music, the native dances have been taught by "Babe" Lopez, who heads the Hawaiian dancers Mr. Friedenwald recently imported.

The scenes in "My Honolulu Girl" are laid in Honolulu and in Hilo, where the famous volcano Kilauea is ever rumbling, ready to belch forth death dealing lava and rushing fire. In order that the scenic vesture be absolutely correct Mr. Friedenwald sent artists to the Islands to study the flowers, the foliage, the valleys, the natives and the mountains. It was a case of going after local colour and the various scenes presented in the show clearly demonstrate the sagacity of the producer.

Canadian Press:

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Sir David Beatty, receiving the freedom of the city of Edinburgh on Saturday, announced that the Grand Fleet was being dispersed.

Archibald Hurd, discussing the effects of the dispersal of the Grand Fleet, says that the flag must again be shown in Canada, the Pacific, China, Indian Ocean, and the Persian Gulf. Whatever the Admiralty plans, they must fit in with the Dominion plans, which certainly desire to bear a larger share in the naval defence of the Empire.

Wounded Were Removed on Sleds — Town Evacuated.

Canadian Press:

ARCHANGEL, Jan. 27.—The town of Shenkursk, 100 miles south of Archangel, was exacuated Saturday afternoon by the American and Allied forces in order to avoid unnecessary casualties. The Allied forces moved north-ward to a line along the Vaga River. The withdrawal from Shenkursk was carried out successfully. A number of wounded in American hospital were removed in sleds. There was little or no interference from the Bolshevik.

A union has been formed by the women machine shop workers at Rockford, Ill.

U. S. WOODEN SHIPS CALLED "LAME DUCKS."

In shipping quarters there has been considerable discussion recently regarding the wooden ships constructed by the Government during the war period. It is hoped that some way will be found to salvage these vessels which have become known among shipowners as "lame ducks," and it is has been suggested more than once that they can be converted into sailing ships. This, it was said, would mean the ripping out of engines at prohibitive cost, and would not be practical. In marine circles there is every hope that the ships will suvive, and not go to the junk pile.—New York Times.

Letter From Local Soldier Now in Siberia

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Murdock, 20 James street, have received the following letter from their son, Sadler J. A. Murdock, who is at present in Siberia with the 75th Canadian Battery. His comparision of the Japanese and the Russians is amusing.

Siberia, Dec. 18, 1918

Dear Mother,—Just a line to let you know I am well and hope to find you all the same. We are having fine weather here and hope it continues till after Christmas. I was in hopes of receiving a letter before Christmas but I guess there is nothing doing judging from the rumours that are around the fatigue column. They do not expect our next mail till some time in February. I am having a great time over here taking to the Russians and the Czechs. The Czechs are a fine body of men and are very friendly with us. But for the Russians we don't know when we have them, some of them like us fellows like a dose of salts. The people we have been rooming with for the last three or four days are very kind to us and welcome us like the flowers of May.

The Japs they give us the salute when they meet us. They seem a good bunch of lads but they are not as sanitary as they might be, the Russians class them with the lice race they may think the same of us fellows behind our backs. (but we should worry). Well since the fight has stopped on the Western front I expect father will be home again. Tell him he can get busy and make me a new canoe for I may be home in time to have a few sails in it next summer and if not he can take care of it till I come. I suppose the material will cost a small fortune. Money is no object to me, why I have five roubles in my pocket it is worth about half of a Canadian cent, I think I will send it to you and call myself broke.

I suppose Frank has his discharge by now. I hope so anyway for he must be sick of the army. Tell him to drop me a line once in a while or I will shoot a line at him like the one he shot when he was in France, and tell him I hope we will be able to have another sail next summer.

Well as news is scarce I will have to close hoping to see or hear from you soon, I remain

Your loving son,
Alec. Murdock.

EARLY CLOSING BY-LAW DECLARED ULTRA VIRES.

Niagara Falls Exceeded Its Powers in Shutting Shops at 6 p.m.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 26.—Niagara Falls early closing by-law, passed last May to help out in view of the electrical shortage, is ultra vires, according to a decision made by Magistrate Fraser yesterday. Frank Mango was charged with having his store open for business after 6 o'clock one night, contrary to the provision of the early closing by-law. F. W. Griffiths, his counsel, pointed out that the statutes only allowed municipalities to pass by-laws to close shops between 7 o'clock in the evening and 5 in the morning.

The Magistrate admitted this was correct, and dismissed the case. Now there is no more an early closing by-law in Niagara Falls, and stores may keep open all night if they wish, any night but Sunday.

It's easier to become a hero than to live up to it.

In France women are working twelve hours a day, with two hours' recess at noon.

THE WORLD OF SPORT

Baseball's Unsung Hero Passes to Great Beyond

Silk O'Loughlin Leaves Mark on National Pastime Far More Permanent Than Stars of Diamond Ever Will—Character Study of Picturesque Arbiter.

M. W. Bingay writes in the Detroit News:

Silk O'Loughlin's famous voice will never again whip the air in Navin Field.

Silk O'Loughlin was never one of the worshipped heroes of the playing field, and yet he leaves his mark on the national pastime, a mark far more permanent than even the thrilling play of Ty Cobb, a Lajoie, a Wagner. For it was as the unsung hero of the diamond that Silk played his role in a remarkable fight which saved the game to the nation as a clean and wholesome sport.

It was the great American habit to throw pop bottles, literal and verbal at the head of the umpire. Such was the nature of O'Loughlin that he usually got more than his share. Few men have ever faced more menacing mobs than did Silk, and few men had less tremor at their threatening. His story is the story of the American Leagues' fight for clean baseball.

When Ban Johnson organized his league, he dreamed of placing baseball on a higher plane. He wanted to save it from himself. He wanted to eliminate all ruffian spirit, to make it truly popular, so all classes would attend to enjoy the sport, safe in the knowledge that there would be no rowdyism. Baltimore was in the league then.

Fighting Rowdyism

That remnant of the once famous Baltimore Orioles had won fame across the country as scrappy players, but their fighting ardor had done much to put baseball in ill-repute. There were constant wrangles and umpire baiting. Mobs felt privileged to attack the officials of the game, and "home umpiring" had grown to be a menace to the sport in the National League. Umpires were intimidated to favor the home club.

Mr. Johnson felt this condition keenly in Baltimore. Of his umpires he chose Silk to fight the battle against Baltimore rowdyism. Silk stuck on the job most of one summer. His remarkable courage in fighting Muggsy McGraw and his followers disposed of the theory that rowdyism pays and led eventually to McGraw jumping from the American League to the National as head of the New York club.

Apostle of Pep

Aside from the battle for clean play, Silk was a leader in the campaign to get action into the contest. He was the great apostle of pep. No player could lag while he was officiating in a game. His "Batter up! come on boys; whose the hitter?" became as familiar as his "strike two!" which has become as much a part of baseball as the mask and glove. Ban Johnson once wired his umpires for suggestion on how to shorten the game. Tim Hurst wired right back: "Play seven innings." But with Silk it was no joke. He had a horror of a lagging ball player.

Through several generation of players who came and passed while Silk held the indicator, his character came to be judged and few men were more highly respecter on the field. They knew that Silk was imperturbable; that when he ordered a man from the game he did it without personal feeling; and that he never knew what a grudge was. When the game was over it was over for Silk. What had been said or done was merely a matter of impersonal record with him.

"The athletes," he was wont to remark after a tough day, "bother me—not at all."

An Eloquent Thumb

His little mannerisms on the field made him stand out among the field officials. His remarkable voice, which snapped through the stands like the crack of a whip, is familiar wherever baseball is known, and his constant hurrying and driving of the players became such an institution that wilful players would very often loaf just to se him dise in his wrath. While behind the plate he had a trick of wiggling his thumb toward the bench that spoke volumes. In fact, Hugh Jennings once remarked that it was the most eloquent thumb on earth. If the players were boisterous on the bench or talking overly loud that thumb would wiggle a stern warning. He would never look around; just the wiggle of the thumb did the trick.

That wiggle meant: "Unless you fellows cut out that talking on the bench, some of you will go to the club house." An especially sharp wiggle meant: "You GO to the club house." The players grew so they could almost tell his mood by that famous thumb.

In Two Scenes

Silk stands out in Detroit base ball for two famous scenes; one, years ago when the league was young, when he was mobbed at old Bennett park, and again at Philadelphia in the now historic 17-inning game which broke the back of the Athletics and paved the way to the pennant for Hughie's Tigers.

The first instance was in the day of Kid Elberfield. The scrappy shortstop had been having trouble with Silk all day and finally was ordered from the game. A big crowd was on hand because the kid was a favorite, the wrath of the mob was visited on the umpire's head.

At the close of the game he went to the club house with a wild mob following his footsteps. The writer can still remember the serenely calm tilt of Silk's blond head as he walked along so contemptuous of the howling crowd as if it didn't exist. The club house door was barred to him. The players would not let him in. Quietly he sat on the doorstep and began changing his cleated field shoes for his street footgear. He was in his stocking feet, with heavy cinders all around him, when the mob, made bold by his disregard of its jeers hedged him.

None Responded

A leather seat sailed through the air and caught him squarely under the chin. A bottle shattered against the wall. Silk jumped to his feet and the cinders hurt him so that he danced.

"You pack of rats!" he whipped out "You cowards! I could whip any two of you in the whole crowd. Any two of you. Is there two in the whole crowd willing to step up here and get what's coming to you?"

Apparently there was not two.

"The next man who throws anything at me, I'll make it my business to walk through the whole gang of ye and I'll slaughter him."

Nothing else was thrown. Calmly he finished lacing his boots. He elbowed his way through the crowd to the street, stepped on their toes and swung his elbows and glared as though hoping somebody would start something. But like sheep they walk before him.

Sheer Cold Nerve

His other exhibition of sheer cold nerve was at Philadelphia in that fall of 1907. Silk was behind the plate that day, and Tommy Connolly was officiating on the bases.

The score was tied in the after-inning play. Socks Seybold hit one to the flag pole in centre field and it appeared that the game was Philadelphia's with the pennant cinched. Sam Crawford tried for the ball, but the crowd ran out either to interfere with him or to get out of his way, which nobody to this day knows. He didn't get it and the winning run was coming over the plate.

Perhaps baseball never saw such a crowd before or since that one. The Tiger's terrific pace through the East when they shot up the league standing had set the whole sport element of the country on fire. Thousands had poured into Philadelphia for the crucial struggle. Correspondents had come as far a way as San Francisco. The mounted constabulary of Pennsylvania circled the field to maintain order with their long sticks and their perfectly trained horses.

Terrifying Stillness

When Seybold hit the ball and Crawford didn't get it, there was a panic of joy. Every conceivable kind of noise making instrument had been brought to the park by the Philadelphia fans. They figured the pennant in with that hit. The crowds poured from the stands and swarmed over the field. The game was over—the pennant was theirs. But above the tumult rose the hoarse voice of Herman Schaefer. Like on insane man he raced to Silk, standing calmly at the plate.

"The crowd interfered with Sam, the crowd pushed him. The crowd wouldn't let him catch it," shrieked Herman.

A stillness fell over the park. The terrific roar died as quickly as it had started. All eyes were on silk. Charlie O'Leary was seen dashing to the outfield to bring Crawford in.

Then—"You're Out!"

"I'll leave it to Tommy," yelled Schaefer to O'Loughlin. The Tigers had been fighting O'Loughlin all that summer. They dreamed of him in their sleep as their bitterest enemy. Silk walked to Schafer to where Connolly stood.

"Tommy," he said, "did the crowd interfere with Crawford?"

"It looked that way to me, "Silk," said Tommy.

Back to the pole stalked the energetic Silk. He swung his right arm high and in that Klaxon voice sent horror to the hearts of the Philadelphians with his rolling cry:

"You—re OUT!"

A hundred motion picture cameras could not have gotten what followed. Just a steady sea of faces, mad with insane passion, swarming toward the plate, with the mounted police their arms raising and falling like machinery on the heads of the infuriated mob, roaring for the umpire's life.

During the Wrangle

And through it all Silk stood with his bowed legs set squarely over the plate, his arms folded and his mask in his hands, gazing at it all as though he were an interested spectator. During the tidal wave, Bill Donovan took the opportunity to swing on Monte Cross' jaw and knocked him flat. Poor Claud Rossman was accused of being the one who did the hitting when a police officer asked Schaefer who hit Cross, because Herman felt that old Bill's arm was necessary to the game. Silk imperturbably urged the police to clear the field so that they could get on with the game.

And the game did go on until the sun dropped below the house tops and darkness ended the struggle with the score tied. The only man on that field who even seemed to lose his reason at some time in the hectic afternoon was Silk. A squad of police surrounded him to protect him from the mob as he felt it.

Quick On Decision

Silk was the first man in baseball umpiring to insist on the quick and immediate decision. Few umpires can do this as there is a fraction of time in which the player can justifiably charge that the official is making the decision before the play is over. That, in fact, was one of the faults of Bobbie Wallace and other famous players who failed as umpires. They anticipated the decisions second too soon. But Silk had an uncanny trick of deciding with a quick movement of his arm the very half second the play was ended.

"There are no close ones in baseball," he used to say, "they are either safe or they are out."

To the players who would essay to argue with him he would answer:

Voice Affects Stomach

Silk's famous voice may have been partly to blame for his death. For years doctors warned him that the terrible strain on his vocal cords were affecting his stomach. Very often after a long game he would be accutely ill. He often complained in later years of this sense of sickness. His digestive system was so disarranged that at one time he though it would be necessary to quit baseball.

Silk O'Loughlin aside from his sterling qualities as an official and his matchless courage, endeared himself to thousands of men around the country off the field. He had a twinkling blue eye and a merry smile and loved better than anything else congenial company where he might tell with his quaint philosophy the little human interest stories of the diamond stars.

He was the Homer, the Boswell, the Dr. Watson of the late Tim Hurst. He loved that famous old character as a son. And many the story that he told to add to the legend of Tim was an experience of his own, cast in the more picturesque mold in the telling of the mighty Tim.

Tim was gone to his rest, and now silk passes. The winter will soon be gone and the crowds, with the war over, will swarm in the spring once more to the seats of the fans.

But no longer will they be thrilled by the mighty voice, no longer will the players be fascinated by the eloquent thumb.

District Cup Games Postponed Until Cold Weather Returns

J. W. Flavelle of Lindsay, notified the local club this afternoon that the District Cup games have been postponed indefinitely. This cancels the trip to Lindsay that was scheduled for tomorrow.

To-day's probabilities indicate continued mildness to-morrow, and the Tankard games may also have to be deferred. They were ordered by R. M. Waddell to be played here on Wednesday. By that time the ice may be hard. Under the present conditions, it is "dead," that is it lacks the life of keen, hard ice.

Jess Willard Signs For $100,000 Purse

Agrees to Box Any Opponent Up to 40 Rounds for That Sum, Win, Lose, or Draw.

The Probable Opponent

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier were most frequently mentioned here as possible opponents for Jess Willard in July, Tex Rickard, who tied up Jess' future activities with a prize of $100,000, will decide in March who will meet the champion. Around May 1 he will pick the place of the battle and determine the number of rounds.

Warned by the fate of Col. Chas. Miller who last spring had a Willard all dressed up and couldn't find a place to go, Rickard made no predictions whatever. He and Willard were together Saturday and will leave for Oklahoma and Texas points. Willard appeared even heavier than when here last, but says he will easily reduce.

Tex Rickard, promoter of the Joe Gans-Battling Nelson fight and the heavyweight championship battle between Jeffries and Johnson, after two days of conference, obtained Willard's signature to a set of articles to fight any opponent selected for him. He agreed to box any number of rounds up to forty. The match will be decided next July, probably on the fourth. Willard will receive $100,000, win, lose, or draw.

Rickard said that either Georges Carpentier, the French heavyweight or Jack Dempsey, who have been clamoring for a match with the champion, would be Willard's opponent. Rickard reserved the right to wait until March 25 before making the selection. The place for holding the battle will be named sixty days before the contest.

The contest will be the first that Willard has fought since he met Frank Moran, of Pittsburg, in New York in March, 1916. Rickard was the promoter of that match.

Under the terms of the agreement the champion agreed to deposit $10,000 with a Chicago bank at once, this sum to be forfeited to Rickard if Willard fails to carry out his promises. Rickard agreed to deposit $10,000 in Chicago at once, $15,000 sixty days before the date of the contest, and $75,000 forty-eight hours before the day of the battle.

Provided Rickard fails to make the second deposit of $15000 he agreed to forfeit the first $10,000 to Willard, and if he fails to post the $75,000, Willard will receive $25,000.

The Kansas "cowboy" agreed not to make any other engagements or to appear in any exhibition contests, and also agreed to be at the place designated for the battle 60 days in advance to finish his training.

It was decided that Rickard should name the referee, and that his selection would be final.

"I haven't any idea where the contest will be decided," said Rickard "The laws of the State in which the battle will be staged will, of course govern the situation. I hope to stage the contest in a State allowing bouts of 20 to 30 rounds.

"Whenever the battle is fought it will not be in a baseball park. I plan to build an arena with a seating capacity of 50,000. This will cost close to $35,000. The prices of admission probably will be from $10 to $50, although these details have not been worked out."

Frank C. Flournoy, of Memphis, Tenn., Rickard's business partner, will be associated with Rickard in promoting the battle.

Willard left his oil business in Texas to come to Chicago at Rickard's request. The champion said he weighed close to 275 pounds, but that he probably would enter the ring weighing about 245 pounds.

"I presume some people will think that I demanded the earth to box," Willard said. "Rickard met my terms and I accepted. I want to say that I did not get a cent for fighting Johnson in Havana. In fact I had to borrow money to get back to the United States. The man who meets me, if he wins, will have the same opportunity that I did to make money. I am making money in the oil business, and do not care whether I ever fight again.

"I don't care who is selected to meet me. The purse is the thing. I am not boxing for fun. It's business with me."

Austrian General Airs His Views

Says Defeat of Italy Would Have Meant End of War—Is a Cast-Off of Austrian Higher Command.

Special to the Examiner:

VIENNA, Jan. 27.—General Hoetzendorff, former Austrian Chief of Staff, said in an interview to-day that he was forced to relinquish his command because he insisted that all military efforts be concentrated against Italy.

"The defeat of Italy would have meant the collapse of the Entente," he declared.

Mr. G. N. Gordon Addresses the Men's Brotherhood

Several Matters of Public Interest Discussed by the Speaker.

The Men's Brotherhood of the Trinity Methodist Church was addressed yesterday afternoon by Mr. G. N. Gordon, upon the different items of the memorial presented to the Federal and Provincial Governments at the last general conference of the Methodist Church, urging social, political and economical form.

Mr. Gordon dealt throughout with all the planks in this platform and gave his interpretation to the Brotherhood, who will discuss the matter in detail next Sunday afternoon.

Some of the subjects of the address were as follows:

The resettlement and distribution of land to the soldiers.

Mothers' and wives' pensions.

National Resources.

Preservation of the national resources of the people and development by the Government.

Nationalization of railways and other lines of communication, and the relationship of capital and labour.

Mr. Gordon claimed in his address that there should be fair dealing between capital and labour, and that every toiler was entitled to live comfortably, happily, and have healthful surroundings, by care and frugal living, and that if the wages of the present standard were materially reduced it means the reduction of the standard of living and the bringing of many families near the line of poverty. By maintaining the present standard of living, it means the merchants receive more money for their goods purchased by the workingman, and in turn the merchants pay more money for goods they buy from the manufacturers who employ the workingmen, so that in fact while it means a greater expenditure by the employer, yet the money is kept into circulation again and others benefit, and even the employer must benefit indirectly.

The Brotherhood are giving addresses upon the different themes each Sunday, and have developed a very large attendance, and expect during the rest of the winter to have many interesting addresses given by the representative men of the city.

Soldiers Who Have Returned

A Number Reached Peterboro on a Freight Train Yesterday.

Yesterday a number of soldiers reached Peterboro on a freight train after an uneventful but roundabout trip, via Lindsay. Among the arrivals were Sergt. Douglas Eldred who has been overseas for about four years. Prior to enlisting he was a member of the choir of St. John's church.

Another arrival yesterday was Private John H. Jenkinson, whose home is at 635 Union street. Pte. Jenkinson went overseas with the 93rd Battalion and was wounded at Vimy Ridge. After several months in the hospital Pte. Jenkinson was transferred to a Forestry Battalion in England, where he remained until his return to Canada.

Other arrivals were George Allan and V. McCabe.

Among the soldiers who returned to the city this morning on the early morning train were Lance-Corporal H. Clark, M.M., a former member of the 93rd, Sergt. A. High of Indian River, who went overseas with the 57th Battalion and Lance-Corporal C. W. Jeffries, one of the "original firsts". Corporal Jeffries left Peterboro in 1914 with the late Major Bennett's company and was wounded three times. His home is at Indian River.

AFTERNOON LIST.

WANTS TURKS ELIMINATED

Canadian Press:

PARIS, Jan. 27. —The Associated Powers were asked by the Greece Turkish Orthodox church to-day to eliminate the Turks from Europe, restore Constantinople to Greece, and establish self-government for the Greeks, Jews, Armenians and Arabs who have been under the Turkish yoke.

These recommendations were included in a memorial presented to President Wilson, Premier Lloyd George, Premier Clemenceau, Premier Orlando and Viscount Chinda, by a special messenger of Monsignor Dorotheos, Patriarch of the Church, who signed it in behalf of the Holy Synod.

Dorotheos pointed out that the country adjacent to Constantinpole, including the city itself, contained 16,000,000 Greeks, only 3,000 of whom remain to-day because of the systematic extermination by the Turks. He said that for centuries the Turks have annually forced thousands of Greek boys to accept Mohammedism and take up a course in the Turkish army, while thousands of Greek girls have been forced into Turkish harems. Zuen Patriarches of the Greeco-Turkish church have been murdered, he said, while more than a hundred archbishops and bishops have been drowned, hanged or assassinated and their bodies turned over to the rabble and dragged through the streets.

Reinforcement of the police contingent has been demanded by Brig.-Gen. Wm. W. Harts, the newspaper asserts, and with this new organizations effected police operations have been carried out on the wholesale, especially in Mont Martre section, resulting in the arrest of many American deserters. Another of the Paris newspapers, "Intransigeant," welcomes the reinforcement of the American police service in these days when, it says, attacks by armed men were becoming over-common, and jewellery stores were being robbed in full daylight on the main streets.

MUSIC IS ESSENTIAL IN LIVES OF BUSINESS MEN.

That music benefits the business man is as true as that maxim practiced by the late Right Honorable William Ewart Gladstone that change of occupation is a rest alike to body and soul and so, after a strenuous period in the House of Commons he would revel in a novel or if time permitted, would retire to the country and fell a tree. It would be no exaggeration to go farther and say that music is essential to the business man, for, speaking broadly, there is amongst the arts none which is immediately so appealing, so gripping or so restful as music. That he who concentrates for many consecutive hours on the accomplishment of the task he has set himself, needs a rest, a change of occupation for his mind as well as his body, cannot be gainsaid.

Recognizing that the world is three parts governed by sentiment, the man of affairs in his effort to avoid being dominated thereby, is apt to become the slave of his business and material interests. In recreation he seeks to check this narrowing influence by the stimulation of nobler thoughts and ambitions.

As in the days of the Roman Empire, Oratory was the great recreative art, so in the world today in Music.

Packers' Lobbyist Travelled at United States' Expense

T. F. Logan Tells How "Labour of Love" Was Rewarded by Hurley and Hoover—Activities in Washington.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Thomas F. Logan, packers' "lobyist," told the Senate Agriculture Commission here how he went abroad last November in company with Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the Shipping Board, and Herbert C. Hoover, Food Administrator, and sat with them in the inter-allied conferences held for the purpose of supplying Europe with food from America.

Mr. Logan admitted that his regular salary from the various interests which employ him aggregated $3,700 a month, and that this was paid to him while he was abroad with Mr. Hurley and Mr. Hoover. At the same time the government of the United States was paying his expenses abroad, he stated. Mr. Hurley knew about his connection with the packers, he testified, but, possessing this knowledge, urged him to make the trip to Europe, and regretted his return to the United States a few days ago.

Senators questioned Mr. Logan closely in an effort to establish a connection between packers' products and the movement to feed Europe. Mr. Logan vigorously denied that he ever communicated with the packers while he was abroad, but admitted that it was generally conceded in the conferences he attended that America would have to supply the food needed in Europe.

Activities in Washington.

Members of the committee directed many searching questions at Mr. Logan to bring out his activities among government officials in Washington on behalf of big business interests which he represents. Mr. Logan, formerly a newspaperman, said he had given up active newspaper work some time ago to devote all of his attention to the interests he represents. He is still retained however, as the technical head of the Washington bureau of the Philadelphia Inquirer, he stated, but the money he receives from this source he pays out to other men who do the real work.

Mr. Logan stated his income as follows: From Swift & Co., $500 a month, from the Atlantic Refining Company, $700 a month; from the General Electric Company, $800 a month; from the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, $500, and from the Freeport Sulphur Company, $500 a month. In addition, he testified, he receives a regular salary at the rate of $500 a month from the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Members of the committee wanted to know if Mr. Logan did not have advance notice of Mr. Hoover's appointment as Food Administrator. It was shown that he gave the packers a tip on this appointment several days ahead of the official announcement from the White House. He also was questioned about his association with members of the Federal Trade Commission. Mr. Logan denied that he knew the members.

"That's all camouflage," interrupted Senator Kenyon, of Iowa, impatiently. The Senator proceeded to show that he was intimately associated with Mr. Hurley while he was chairman of the Federal Trade Commission and with Joseph E. Davies, who recently resigned from the commission to make an unsuccessful race for the Senate in Wisconsin.

"Will you deny that you wrote the packers a letter telling them things Mr. Davies told you?" asked Senator Kenyon.

Mr. Logan admitted that there "might be such a letter."

"Then why do you sit there and try to tell this committee that you didn't know members of the Federal Trade Commission" asked Senator Kenyon.

Mr. Logan stated he had known Mr. Hurley about four years and that he had helped the Shipping Board in every possible way during the war, even to the extent of "suggesting thoughts" for Mr. Hurley's speeches.

Reward for Labour of Love.

In response to a request from the committee for light on the purpose of his visit abroad, Mr. Logan explained that "out of friendship for Mr. Hurley," he had directed the preparation of data in the offices of the Shipping Board, bearing on German and Austrian merchant shipping. Mr. Hurley, he said, thought he ought to be paid for it, but he had declined to regard the work as other than a labour of love for the government. He added, however, that the Shipping Board paid his expenses abroad.

"What did these corporations do without you in Washington?" asked the Senator.

"That's why I came back," replied Mr. Logan.

"Yes, he knew I was an adviser," said the witness.

Senator Gore, of Oklahoma, chairman of the committee, factiously referred to the trip of Mr. Hurley, Mr. Hoover and Mr. Logan as "a sort of John the Baptist mission." Mr. Logan thought he could be better described as "a Paul Revere mission."

Although he admitted he was retained by the Standard Oil Company, Mr. Logan vigorously denied he was using his friendship with Mr. Hurley to promote the adoption of an oil burning boiler system for America's great merchant fleet.

AMATEURS SHOULD BE ENCOURAGED.

With every pupil you should determine the purpose of study. A course of study may need to be modified by this. A student that aims for high musicianship coupled with a desire to enter the profession, should receive different treatment from one who only wishes to use music as an accomplishment. The professional aspirant should take up every sort of study, and should, for future use, be made familiar with various standard etudes. Although this is also the best training to give an earnest amateur student, yet many of them do not desire it, and the attempt of many teachers to force it upon them is not always advisable. The amateur should be urged to do his or her work thoroughly, however, but there are even cases where this will not work, but only result in losing your pupil. The contention made by many, that they love art and wish to make themselves familiar with its fundamental principles, and be able to practice it in a humble way for their own pleasure, and sometimes that of their more intimate friends, is a thoroughly laudable one. The answer made to this by many teachers that in these days reverses often come with great suddenness, and that every pupil should do his or her work with sufficient thoroughness to be able to fall back on it as a means of livelihood in case of necessity, is also perfectly true, but no teacher can dictate to any pupil what shall be his conduct. Getting ready for future emergency rests entirely with the pupil. Hence amateur study from its own standpoint deserves every encouragement and consideration as regards outline of instruction and work.

MADE IN CANADA

ANOTHER BOUNDARY DISPUTE.

Newfoundland Differs With the Province of Quebec.

The task of determining the boundary line between Ungava, now a portion of the Province of Quebec, and that part of the Labrador coast belonging to Newfoundland, may be referred to the judicial committee of the Imperial Privy Council very shortly. Since Ungava was added to Quebec in 1912 the government of that province has been anxious that the line between its territory and that of the ancient colony should be defined. Several practical issues, moreover, have arisen to make a decision desirable. For instance, the Canadian and Newfoundland Governments clashed when a Canadian customs officer proposed to collect duties at Port Burwell, which he asserted was Canadian territory. Again, the Quebec and Newfoundland authorities differed when the latter undertook to grant concessions on Hamilton Inlet.

For some years past there have been at intervals negotiations between the Dominion Government and the Quebec Government on the one hand and the Newfoundland Government on the other looking to a reference of the case to the Privy Council. Canada and Quebec proposed that a question based upon the statutes, orders-in-council, and proclamations upon which were founded the respective claims of the parties should be propounded for the consideration of the Imperial court. Newfoundland expressed the opinion that no orders-in-council existed which could be evidence of a claim. Copies of certain orders were thereupon sent from Canada to the Government of the ancient colony. Negotiations have since then been suspended. Quebec however, is now pressing for a settlement of the dispute, and, it is said, that if a reply is not received within a reasonable time from Newfoundland will join with the Dominion of Canada in submitting the whole question to the Privy Council.

The western and southern limit of the Newfoundland territory has been fixed at 64 degrees west longitude and 52 degrees north latitude. From that point is to be run northward, a line which, according to the Newfoundland claim, would give the Dominion a strip of coast all the way north to Hudson Strait, but which, in the Canadian and Quebec view, would reach the sea shore at a much more southerly point. The documents in the case go as far back as the proclamation of the King of Great Britain, dated Oct. 7, 1763, which first set forth the boundaries of Quebec.

Had a Strong Back.

Sir Charles Davidson, Chief Justice of Quebec, at a luncheon given in his honor by fellow-Canadians told this one: In the Country Club at Ottawa there was a woman who assisted the cook by peeling potatoes. She had a son who was at the front. For extraordinary gallantry he was personally decorated by King George with the Military Cross. A self-appointed committee of women members of the club went out into the kitchen to inform the mother of the event and to congratulate her upon her son's valor. "Isn't it wonderful!" said one of them. "Three times your son went out into No Man's Land under heavy fire and brought in wounded men." The answer of the mother shows that in Canada they seem to take heroism very much for granted. "I always knew Jimmy had a strong back," she remarked, and resumed her task of peeling the potatoes.

Making It All Clear to Him.

"Yes," said a young soldier just returned and anxious to make matters quite clear to his friend, "you see it was this way. I went out with the T.M.B. At the C.C.S. they soon packed me off with the help of the R.A.M.C. When I got out of hospital and left my favorite V.A.D., the M.O. marked me D.I. At the Command Depot the S.M.O. got me a T.M.B. and I became B2; and when a new A.C.I. came out I was shifted again, with an R.S.M. pal of mine. Got on well enough, only the O.C. gave me C.B. once for cheeking a Q.M.S. Now I'm in the A.S.C. and in love with a W.A.A.C. Funny, isn't it, her name's D.O.R.A. She's A1. She's, A1 too, so everything's O.K.

Why the Lambs Cried.

Bobby was having his first experience on his grandfather's farm at sheep-shearing time. The men had the lambs separated from their mothers and turned them back into the flock at night, and there was the usual great commotion. Bobby went to his mother and said: "Mother, do you know what makes the lambs bleat so tonight?" Upon her telling him she did not know, he proceeded to explain: "The lambs are crying because grandfather skinned their mothers today and they cannot tell which one they belong to."

Hotel Man Dies of Wound After Wife Is Slain By Band

Fourth Murder in Queen's in Three Weeks Recorded in Killing of Couple at Jamaica.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—The total of murders for the last three weeks in the southern section of Queens was increased to four when Joseph Holbach, sixty-two years old, a hotel proprietor, succumbed to bullet wounds inflicted the previous night by men who killed his wife. Holbach died at St. Mary's Hospital, Jamaica. His wife had died the night before, after a bullet pierced her right breast, when she ran to her husband's rescue at the first sound of shots.

From the first theory that the murders were the result of an altercation that arose when Holbach asked the four men to leave his saloon at Leahy Avenue and Rockaway Boulevard, the police now are inclining to the belief the men wanted the money in Holbach's cash register.

This affair, coming close upon the Riddell and Southland murders of a short time ago, has aroused the unrest of the residents of this section and they are organizing to obtain increased police protection. Following two meetings Saturday and Sunday, a committee of three from the Glen Morris Civic Club, the district in which Mary Elizabeth Riddell lived, called on Edgar F. Hazelton, Assistant District Attorney, to ask his aid. They told him that the twenty policemen assigned to that district were too few to efficiently protect an area of twelve miles.

Expected to Use Police Dogs.

It was expected police dogs from the Parkville precinct, where Sergeant Hickey is training them, would be used in Queens.

The police have good descriptions of the men who killed Mr. and Mrs. Holbach. Miss Littie Guth, of No. 68 Presberger Avenue, South Ozone Park, who was in a party of dancers, in the hall, in the rear of Holbach's place, says she noticed the men particularly and can identify them. They were Italians, and before he died Holbach said he had known one of them seven or eight years ago in Astoria.

The men, who were about twenty-five years old and well dressed, came into Holbach's place shortly before the dance broke up, and ordered beer. They sat there quietly until Holbach prepared to close, when he asked them to leave. One went outside, apparently to look for a car, really, the police think, to see if the coast was clear.

"Nothing in sight," he announced as he re-entered, whereupon the three others covered Holbach with revolvers and ordered him to hold up his hands. Holbach charged at one of the band, and succeeded in knocking him down. The others fired, and Holbach fell. Previously Mrs. Holbach was upstairs preparing to retire, when she remembered a stove she had neglected to attend to. She came down in time to see her husband attacked, and ran to his assistance. She was struck by one of the bullets and died before surgical aid reached her.

Frightened Band Flees.

Apparently frightened, the men left without touching the cash register. Holbach took $860 he had hidden in a safe and staggered to a friend's home across the way for help. This man, James McInerney, of No. 12 Leahy Avenue, brought Holbach back to his saloon, and notified the police. Holbach recovered sufficiently before he died to give the police a fairly clear account of the crime.

The story he told seemed to indicate the scheme of the four men to rob him was upset by his unexpected resistance and the shooting followed.

The police telegraphed to Washington for information concerning Mr. and Mrs. Holbach's son, Dominicus, who is in the Marine Corps. A daughter is said to live in Rochester.

The four men were all swarthy and wore dark coats and suits. One wore a derby, the others soft hats. Three were about five feet seven inches tall, and the fourth about five feet four.

Convinced Patrick O'Donnell is trying to fasten on himself a crime he never committed, detectives are continuing their efforts to run down the murderer of Mary Elizabeth Riddell, of Richmond Hill, last Wednesday.

After spending the day investigating details of O'Donnell's story, while O'Donnell raved in a cell in a Long Island county jail, the detectives at work on the case announced themselves practically convinced of his innocence. William F. Ryan, Assistant District Attorney, and Captain Graham, of the Richmond Hill station, declined to discuss what they had discovered that led them to this conclusion and likewise declined to state whether any new clews to the real murderer had been discovered.

O'Donnell to be Arraigned.

O'Donnell is to be arraigned in Jamaica Court on the charge of homicide, and if found not guilty action probably will be taken to shut him up in an asylum for observation.

A separate check on O'Donnell's stories was made under direction of First Deputy Police Commissioner John A. Leach, Captain Arthur Carey, head of the Homicide Bureau, and Acting Captain John Coughlin, head of the Brooklyn Detective Bureau. The police thought two new ten dollar bills found on O'Donnell might have been part of the wages Miss Riddell received the night she was murdered, but it was found that O'Donnell also was paid $20 by the Waterman Pen Company on January 11. The Globe Indemnity Company was asked to ascertain the serial numbers of the new bills that were in their pay-roll last week.

Michael O'Donnell, father of the prisoner, at his home, No. 100½ De Kalb Avenue, Brooklyn, censured the police for placing any credence in his son's admissions.

Mr. O'Donnell said that Patrick, about four years ago, had eight epileptic fits in one night. He was sent to Randall's Island and in a week's time recovered and was discharged.

A LIVELY SOCIAL SEASON.

With the deep shadows of the war overhanging Canada for the past four years it was right that the social dance and other festivities should be kept in the background. Anything and everything in dance records can be had at the Victrola Parlors of Heintzman & Co., Ltd., George and Hunter Sts. # THE WIFE

BY JANE PHELPS

Suspicion Becomes Certainty.

CHAPTER CIV.

The night before, it had hurt Ruth to keep what had happened at the shop away from Brian. The next morning that feeling had entirely disappeared. He would tell her nothing lately; not even who had telephoned her at the house—"the apartment for which she paid the rent," she thought, with unusual bitterness. Rarely did Ruth ever think of what she did as her share toward making them comfortable. It was the price she paid for immunity from disagreeable house work which he loathed, and which Brian would have her do rather than work outside.

At breakfast Brian remarked:

"I have asked a couple of fellows to dine with me to-night—at the Lafayette. I expected to get in some money yesterday. It didn't show up. I expect it will come all right this morning, but I can't be sure. How much have you about you?"

"About eighteen dollars and a little change."

"Give me the eighteen."

Heretofore when he had asked her for money Brian had been almost shame-faced, nearly bashful about it. Now his voice had a different tone. It was as though he had said: "I let you leave me to earn money; now hand it over."

It was Ruth who flushed instead of Brian, as without another word she emptied her purse upon the table.

"Thanks!" was all he said as he picked up the bills, leaving the silver untouched.

"Shall you be late? I wish you had asked them home, instead of taking them down there," she felt like adding that it would have been cheaper as well, and she would not then have been obliged to spend the evening all alone. His answer made her glad she had said neither:

"I don't care to have these fellows see that my wife works outside. They wouldn't understand it."

So that was it. Brian still felt the embarrassment of her work. She might have said they needn't know it, but she would not so demean herself, her position, so she said nothing.

"Are they anyone I know?" she asked presently.

"No—but they are real fellows."

What did he mean by accenting that word? That because they were real, they would disapprove of her working? No, that couldn't be it; that would only mean that they were snobs. It must be that it was because Brian disapproved, and they believe in a wife doing as her husband wished her to do in such matters. Brian wanted her to stay at home. He could not hide that fact from whoever they were with. He feared these men would discover she was going against his wishes; and rather than have them do so, he would dine them outside of their home.

Did they know of her position, they might also guess the truth—that she earned more than Brian.

Brian was putting on his coat.

"Shall you be late?" she asked again, "If you are, I believe I will go to a show. I hate so to remain alone."

"Why don't you? Mandel would probably be delighted to escort you."

The reply was so unexpected, so undeserved, that Ruth quivered with anger. She opened her lips, then closed them tightly. Was Brian so untrue, himself, that he took it for granted she was also?

"No, I shan't be late. So if you go out I'll probably be home first," and Brian, without a kiss or even a backward look, left her.

"He didn't forget to take the money," she said with a bitter smile. "Neither did he forget to say unpleasant things. The only thing he forgot to do was to be kind, to kiss me good-bye."

Sore at heart, unhappy, disturbed in her mind, Ruth started for work. It seemed to her she couldn't face Mandel without letting him see she was miserably unhappy; that she longed for understanding and some of the joy she deemed hers by right. But, when she reached the shop she found he was to be away for the day.

"He will be here to-morrow," La Monte told her.

All her life Ruth was grateful that Mandel had not been in his usual place that morning. All her life she wondered if, had he been there, she would have been able to have repulsed him as she had the day before. Fortunately she was not called upon to make any decision. And when she arrived home at night, she ate her dinner alone, then went almost immediately to bed.

Emotion is often more tiring than work. Ruth had both that day.

MAMMA, DON'T YOU SEE YOUR CHILD IS SICK, CONSTIPATED

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels, need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, does not eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach ache, diarrhoea, remember a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All the children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages, and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look and see if it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

PRESIDENT WILSON TO GO TO BRUSSELS ON MONDAY.

PARIS, Jan. 25.—President Wilson, according to present arrangements, will go to Brussels on Monday, January 27.

Better Ports in Europe.

The beautiful harbor of Naples is to be much improved by the extension of docks and a general broadening of its immense natural capacity. More than one French port has been raised from minor usefulness to first-rate importance. Even Bordeaux has profited greatly. And all these immense new utilities will remain as a monument in part at least, to American engineering efficiency and a liberal use of American money. We shall get full value from them all, and it is pleasant to think that they will also become a lasting benefit to our friends. Our own home ports, both Atlantic and Pacific, have already felt the stimulus, and will continue to grow under it. New York must inevitably be the greatest shipping point of all the world without exception, as time goes on. And the enormous new American tonnage now being launched will not go into the scrap-heap when peace comes.

Vegetable Seed Survey.

Total production of vegetable seed, with the exception of cabbage, lettuce, salsify, and turnip, will be ample for the needs of the coming year, according to the preliminary returns from the seed-production survey of July 1, 1918, and crop reports from important commercial seed growers. In some cases where the condition of crops is not satisfactory increased acreages are expected to bring the total production up to normal, while more than normal production of seed is indicated for some kinds of vegetables. This condition, it is pointed out, does not necessarily mean a large surplus, for it is known that large orders have been placed for certain vegetable seeds by foreign concerns for export to countries in Europe which formerly have been exporters of these seeds to the United States.

COUGHED, COUGHED ALL NIGHT LONG

Terribly wearing on the system is the cough that comes at night and prevents sleep. Sometimes it is a constant cough, cough that will not be quieted.

Sometimes it is a choked-up, stuffed-up feeling that makes breathing difficult, and sleep impossible.

Whatever kind of a cold or cough you have, Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is the remedy you need to cure it; for the simple reason that this valuable preparation combines all the lung healing virtues of the Norway pine tree with which is combined wild cherry bark, and the soothing, healing and expectorant properties of other excellent herbs and barks.

Miss Margaret Landly, Bristol, P.E.I., writes: "I am writing to tell you the benefit I have received from Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

Last fall I took a severe cough and cold in my head. I was unable to do anything. At night I could not sleep, but cough, cough, all night long. A friend advised me to use Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and before the second bottle was used, I was entirely cured, and I have found this the best cough medicine I can buy."

Do not accept any other "pine" preparations when you ask for "Dr. Wood's." This remedy has been on the market for a quarter of a century. It is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 25c. and 50c. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

The Socialists of Germany

THE present German Government is dominated entirely by the Socialists because the various sections of the Socialist party accomplished the revolution. The liberal German bourgeoisie is politically not as strong as it was in Russia before the second revolution a year ago. Twenty years ago the elder Liebknecht, in his great speech on "No Compromise," declared that the various German liberal parties "lacked the courage of rabbits" or they would have long since won a measure of freedom for the German people.

There are to-day three branches of the Socialist party in Germany. Out of a total of a hundred and eleven members in the Reichstag the "majority," or old Socialist organization, includes between sixty and seventy members. The Independent Socialist party, which, before its reorganization, was known as the "minority" of the Social-Democratic party, claims between forty and fifty deputies. With Liebknecht there were always two or three and sometimes half a dozen. The leaders of the majority, Scheidemann, Suedekum, David and Ebert, have been until now bitterly hated by the leaders of the Independents. From the first day of the war Scheidman and his group supported the Government loyally. A section of this majority group, led by Lensch, and including mostly younger men, have been among the most fanatical pro-Kaiserites in Germany. Lensch it was who wrote probably the most remarkable book which the war has brought forth. In this book the author declared that Germany, as it was, represented the ideal Socialist society and would conquer the world. The western democracies in America were merely capitalistic and "reactionary." Thus Lensch and his school stood at the extreme right of the German Socialists. Their ideas were a mighty danger to the thought of the world. The bitterest conflicts in the international Socialist movement before the war were, in reality, contests between the Democratic Socialists and the German state Socialists of the Lensch school. Scheidemann and his followers accepted these theories for the period of the war even if they never publicly stated their own position.

The Independent Socialists have a record which deserves much approbation among the democratic nations. Its leadership includes Ledebour and Ditmann, who were among the fourteen who refused to vote for the budget on Aug. 4, 1914. Haase and the venerable Bernstein, who voted for this budget, soon repented their misconduct. Bernstein has since said that he felt like Peter after he denied his Master. Bernstein, again like Peter, has most courageously defended his earlier principles during the past four years of war. This group refused to vote either for or against the first budget. For a year they acted in silent opposition and then grew bolder. They now represent a large actual majority among the rank and file of the party.

Finally, there is Karl Liebknecht and his group. For a year he stood alone in outright opposition. Liebknecht said in 1915 that he had been trying for many months to secure the help of one more deputy, but found it impossible. With him was the heroic Rosa Luxemburg, who has now been liberated from the prison where she was thrust at the beginning of the war. This remarkable woman is the strongest personality, morally and intellectually, among the Socialists in Germany. She has been professor of economics in the Socialist College at Berlin and an author of distinction.

All these groups are now united in support of the republic. Let me emphasize the fact that if Liebknecht and his group had not joined the Socialist Government it would have meant the growth of a form of Bolshevism. We may now expect an intelligent and orderly development of the German democracy. Yet our optimism should be tempered by caution. An outbreak of Bolshevism would ruin the new German Republic and make all democratic progress impossible. Liebknecht, the leader of the most radical wing of the German Socialists, is not likely to permit his emotions to get the upper hand of his intellect.

Let me here define Bolshevism. Bolshevism is not a philosophy. It is a method. It is not a form of government. It is a passionate outburst of blind rage. Its organization of the soldiery as the basis of its power proves that it proposes no regular form for industrial society. It demands and seizes and holds the means of physical power, and that alone. The parent of Bolshevism is Tzarism and Kaiserism, and the offspring is bred with hatred as its life motive. Fools despise Bolshevism: the wise understand it.

In 1915 I saw German Bolshevism in its incipiency among the disillusioned working people of Berlin and Leipsic, Vienna and Budapest. Today I feel that it will not prove the danger in Germany that it has been in Russia. The supreme danger is that the Junker element, enormously powerful so long as it keeps possession of its lands, will finance and secretly direct German Bolshevism. Russia will quickly furnish the shrieking propagandists. This would be the natural, logical and much the cheapest method which the Junkers could adopt both to destroy the republic and revenge themselves upon us, their late enemies, by making it impossible for the German people to meet their rightful obligations.

A Climbing Railroad.

"What's wrong?"

"Just as the hero was kissing his sweetheart, the film stopped and held them in that position for over ten minutes."—Film Fun.

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigour and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are usually due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and sold by McDermid & Jury in Peterboro and most all druggists under a guarantee of entire satisfaction or your money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate quickly produces a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, soon disappear, dull eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION:—Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

FRENCH SHY AT WORLD-WIDE IDEA OF PROHIBITION

PARIS, Jan. 25.—South Dakota's world-wide prohibition idea found France in anything but a "receptive mood" recently.

News that a proposal had been made in the South Dakota legislature that world prohibition be decreed by the League of Nations, failed to find favour here.

A large proportion of the French people have been dependent for centuries, in one way or another, upon the wine and brandy crops. The remainder have been brought up to consider wine as much the staff of life as bread. French physicians do not oppose this view.

French opinion apparently favours regulation of the liquor industry, however. Absinthe, which formerly was used in France as a whiskey, is used in the United States, and which was banned at the beginning of the war, has been permanently prohibited.

Chopped blanched almonds, pickles chutney, cream cheese, salt and paprika make a savory sandwich filling.

Rubber bands and pieces of oiled paper are both handy in the kitchen for covering left-over food which has been put into cups and jars.

The woolly waistcoat is very popular.

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS WITH ECZEMA.

Mrs. Link, 12 Walker Street, Halifax, N.S., states: — "After three years of miserable torture and sleepless nights with terrible eczema, and after trying over a dozen remedies without obtaining anything but slight temporary relief, I have been perfectly and entirely cured by using Dr Chase's Ointment. After the third of fourth application of this grand Ointment I obtained relief and a few boxes were sufficient to make a thorough cure.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

A Freak of Fate

By VICTOR REDCLIFFE

"Pretty hard luck, Peyton?"

"Yes, it's a clean sweep. I've lost all I have in the world. There's one ray of sunshine, though."

"And what's that?"

"I have paid for everything I had. I don't owe a cent."

"My brave optimist, you deserve the very best! If you want to rebuild and start over again I'll finance you to the limit."

"Thank you, Mr. Rogers," said Peyton, "but I'm through experimenting, for a time, anyway."

He was a splendid specimen of humanity, not yet twenty-five, tall, erect, clear-eyed and open-faced. He and his would-be patron viewed a scene of wide desolation. For as far as the eye could reach was water, the roaring Miami river, and every estuary swollen beyond its banks and shattered houses and barns and great heaps of wreckage where the valley dipped. A flood, followed by a bursting dam, had swept to wreck and ruin half a town and its environs.

It came just as Clyde Peyton had perfected his dream of business felicity.

He had his fall. It was chicken Falsing. He had saved up nearly $3,000. A poultry fancier and importer had just introduced into this country a rare species of what were called cochin pheasants. They were wonderful layers, they were a sport fowl, they were incomparable broilers. Peyton bought the entire outfit. Then he had leased a few acres of land and had put up some buildings. The chicken quarters were palatial. There was one large shed so comfortably built that it had two stories and held over 400 of the blooded fowl. This had been bodily wrenched from its moorings and mingled with other wreckage.

"Yes, parts of it strewn here and there, and such a body of fowls, even live stock, massed up where the river branches ran that I hadn't the heart to look. Poor things!"

So Clyde Peyton started out on the road, as of yore, as a traveling salesman. He did not even leave an address behind him. He tried to forget his misguided speculation. It was during his vacation month that the old love for animate farm nature came back to him. There was a state fair, and he visited it.

His whole interest was centered one day on a poultry annex where a full line of cochin pheasants was on exhibition. At once Peyton was in his element. He engaged in conversation with the man in charge of the collection.

Peyton turned to proceed on his way, he faced a bright eyed, handsome young lady who evidently had been an interested listener to all he had said and showed it in her intelligent eyes.

Peyton strolled around to the same place the next day. He found the exhibitor glad to see him. The young lady was there also.

They became very well acquainted and it was a rapturous week for Clyde Peyton. Together they went the rounds of the fair again and again. One day Clyde narrated his former business venture and the circumstances of the flood that had beggared him. Miss Barnett gave him a strange glance that he did not observe. Her breath came quickly. It seemed to Clyde as though she was very indulgent and considerate with him after that. His heart beat high whenever he recalled all her little kindnesses. The next day his emotions went down below freezing point when, in a casual conversation, the exhibitor remarked incidentally:

"Yes, Miss Barnett is heiress to a very large fortune."

"That settles it," soliloquized Clyde cuefully, alone with himself. "The chances of a poor commercial traveler for winning a peerless creature like that would be decidedly slim."

He decided to end his vacation and told the exhibiter so the next day.

"Mr. Peyton is going away in the morning, Miss Barnett," he told the young lady who owned the poultry collection. "I happened to refer to your being wealthy and it seemed to displrit him."

Ina looked conscious and her cheeks reddened.

"I must see Mr. Peyton before he goes away," she spoke, almost anxiously. "There she is coming now. Won't you please leave me in charge here? I have some important business with Mr. Peyton."

Important indeed, and when disclosed to Clyde he was staggered. It seemed that over 75 miles from their old home his cochin pheasant had escaped from their wrecked house, and to the number of over 150 had one morning wandered into John Barnett's chicken farm.

They had formed the nucleus of the fortune he had left to his daughter. He had sought everywhere, but vainly, to locate their original owner.

"And always," said Ina, "father insisted that if ever that owner was discovered, he could be given an equal share of the business that his brood had built up." So, Clyde was no longer poor. He was no longer hopeless, either. It was when he visited the Barnett farm, and with Ina by his side, viewed the great broods of beautiful cochin pheasants that his love found utterance, and Ina welcomed his words as life's sweetest music.

RIGID RULES OF POLITENESS

Continental Countries Carry Forms of Salutation and Courtesy to What We Consider Extremes.

In all continental countries men lift their hats when saluting one another. It is also customary for them to uncover their heads on entering any kind of private premises, including offices, and in some parts even banks.

It was, until recently, considered extremely rude for a man in Poland to enter even a shop without removing his hat, and it was not unusual for a customer who omitted this formality to be told that he would be attended to when compliance with the demands of politeness should entitle him to the shopkeeper's consideration. It was only a few years before the war that this practice came gradually to be abandoned. The reform was largely due to the action of the more important tradespeople in the principal towns, who exhibited notices in their shops saying, "Gentlemen are requested not to remove their hats."

In Poland and Russia visitors are expected to leave in the hall not only their goloshes, but hat, coat, and stick as well, no matter how short their stay. Clients calling on professional men are expected to do the same.

Important Scientific Discovery.

The use of water holding fine sand in suspension is a novel plan for separating materials of different specific gravity. A chemical solution of a density somewhat greater than that of the lighter material has served in the laboratory, but this has been commercially unsatisfactory on account of the cost of the chemicals and the difficulty of removing them from the substances separated. The mechanical mixture containing sand held up in water by agitation has been found to take the place of the true solution of the same density. It is stated that with quartz sand and water, coal may be freed from its ordinary impurities, and magnetic iron ore sand gives a fluid of sufficiently high specific gravity to float quartz, limestone and feldspar, while such heavy particles as those of galena ore or metallic copper may be used for fluids to float off still heavier solids.

Fair Exchange.

United States troops in France have found two short cuts to the friendship of the French Poilu when he happens to be their neighbor in camp or in the line. They are flour and tobacco. The United States soldiers, it should be explained, are supplied with excellent white flour, from which they make a palatable bread almost as good as cake. Yet, curiously enough, they prefer the darker and very much coarser article served out to the Frenchmen, to which the latter apply the descriptive name of "bran ball." There is, it need hardly be said, no difficulty in arranging an exchange. As to tobacco, the Yanks enjoy an unfailing supply of it—"United States tobacco that smells of honey," as a French soldier puts it—but he is willing to swap any amount of it with his French comrades.

Remember.

When the war is over, no excuse will go.

Either you were in it or you were not.

Either you shouldered your gun, served in the trenches or the navy, or the Young Men's Christian association, the Red Cross or in some place where the door was opened, or else you did nothing.

If you could not yet serve, you could send your boys with a Godspeed, as they marched out to the front. To hold them back stamped them as slackers.

Either you strained your resources to buy Liberty bonds or you forgot your obligation to those who fought and died for your flag.

Disqualification for active service is no justification for forgetting the boys behind the guns who sacrificed all thought of gain and were willing to sacrifice their lives at their country's call.

The war will be fought to the bitter end. The Hun will be crushed. Peace will come. The flag will fly and freedom will win. If you do your part, however small, you will share in the glory. If you fail to do your little bit, nothing but remorse will be in store for you

Held High Rank as Physician.

Dr. Philip S. Physick, often called "the Father of American Surgery," was one of the most eminent physicians of his day, ranked very high as a practical surgeon and was exceedingly popular as a lecturer. His father, an Englishman, had charge of the estate of the Penn family. The son was born in Philadelphia July 7, 1768, was educated for the medical profession partly in that city and partly in Edinburgh, Scotland, where he was graduated with high honors. On his return to the United States he began to practice in Philadelphia and soon won professional honors. In 1831 Doctor Physick won a national reputation by the successful performance of a surgical operation on Chief Justice Marshall, followed by a perfect cure. He died in Philadelphia December 16, 1837.

Bomb-proof Theaters.

One of the most enterprising of Parisian theater managers has opened two cellar theaters, one for each of his two houses. The regular performance begins in the upstairs auditorium. One of the cellars dates from the days of the revolution and is under the Palais Royal.

DRINK A GLASS OF REAL HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST.

Says we will both look and feel clean, sweet and fresh and avoid illness.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

WHERE CATS ARE POPULAR

Shops and Restaurants Need Pussy's Assistance to Keep the Rats and Mice Away.

"Cats as commercial assets are seldom heard of," said the Sidewalk Tourist; "but tabby is quite an important fixture with some shopkeepers and restaurant proprietors. Roaming around the city, I've often been impressed by the frequency with which cats appeared in fruiterers' windows, and the other day I entered a shop and under cover of buying an apple asked about the three cats I saw perched in the store.

"The salesman told me that cats were indispensable in his line because of rats and mice. He pointed out that, if one of the rodents took so much as a tiny nip at an apple or pear, the value of the fruit was impaired; for no one would buy an apple that appeared to have been nibbled. He declared that rats or mice would not eat fruit if they could get something else, but when their hunger became great enough they would attack his stock in trade.

"Everyone has noticed the cats that wander with faint 'meows' about restaurants and sit patiently at one's feet waiting for a titbit. These animals aren't there simply to give a 'homey' touch; they are working and waiting for the rats that come for blocks to get at the food. Many restaurants have a galvanized iron sheet tacked in at the junction of their kitchen's floor and walls to prevent the animals from gnawing a way into that department. After the dining places close at night and the chairs are stacked on the tables, the mice or rats come out to forage. It is then that the 'watch cats' are alert hunters.

"Many hotels, especially of small, side-street type, maintain a staff of cats to patrol the corridors. Women guests and the feminine fear of mice keep these retainers on the 'pay roll.' The cat battalions start out after midnight, and many times that doleful wail that strikes your ears is not from the rear yard, as you sleepily fancy, but from the hall outside, where one cat mournfully tells another how poor the hunting is that night. While, of course, it is easy enough to keep cats in apartments, the task of training them to consider a shop or restaurant as a permanent home is more difficult."—New York Times.

Esprit de Corps Works Wonders.

Esprit de corps makes every French soldier feel proud to belong to his unit, for he proclaims that his unit is the best of all in the French armies and that all men of this unit are a fine lot. That esprit de corps will make them perform wonderful achievements in order to outdo neighboring units. But the exaltation of the morale is really the work of the officers; they are in close touch with the men and have their confidence. They will point out to them the reasons why they fight; they will tell them why they must be confident of success; they will give them some indications as to how the next battle will be fought and the reasons why a success is expected—namely, the great superiority in guns, in ammunition, in infantry and in morale that we shall have in this particular sector. Then, as the training goes on, the men will feel and realize their superiority over the enemy.

Another sentiment which must be inculcated into every fighter is a strong hate for the Boche, a strong desire to meet him, to fight him and to beat him.

DIVIDED FOOD WITH INDIANS

The day of adventure, romance and sentiment in the wilds, is recalled by the arrival at Quebec a couple of days ago of two men and a woman, the wife of one of the men, after a 900-mile drive by dog sledge across Ungava in 50 days. When the party arrived at the first outpost on the brim of civilization the first act was to replenish food supplies which were completely exhausted, and all hands with an appetite. Then the trio pushed forward again after the first meal in almost a month, because halfway across the white wastes the party discovered ten Indian families slowly starving, with no one to go for food and no one to bring any to them.

The sledge party was provisioned to the ounce for its trip of almost two months but could not leave without doing something—although pitifully little—for the starving Indians. Another careful calculation was made and each of the three consented to live on the least possible ration and take a chance on accident or loss of supplies by storm or other means. All except what the party believed would sustain life against the cold was left with the Indians and when the travelers reached the first outpost they had been some time without food and were strenuously hungry. The food supply of the dogs could not be reduced, as the only hope of safety for the party was in the "huskies," so the humans ate practically nothing while the dogs got their regular allowance. The story of the long drives across the northern snow fields is familiar in modern fiction but occasionally a narrative of fact as in this case presents reading that maintains the essence of adventure and romance quite as well. The spirit that surrenders food to starving savages or barbarians, midway of a 900-miles journey over endless snow with no surer guarantee of safety than the willingness of a team of dogs is that which underlies the world struggle in Europe.

SOLACE THAT NEVER FAILS

Best Antidote for Cares and Worries Found in the Solitude of the Wilderness.

What medicine in the quietude of nature! After a day of feverish struggle to make the discords of human endeavor harmonize with the soul's aspirations for tranquillity and peace go into a bit of natural woods bordering a calm, shadow-tinted lake and in the twilight silence listen to the innumerable whisperings of the leaves. Stretch your weary body on the green sward and with an ear to the earth note the quick bursting of the roots of those tiny blades through the compressed ground. Catch the quick changes in light and shadow of the breeze-stirred branches overhead. High over the water a swallow darts and sails, emblem of faith, against a tender sky. The waters lap the shore with accents of pure joy. Cool, soft winds steal through your hair and caress your cheek like the fingers of dear companions gone before.

In such sweet solitude all cares and worries fall into forgetfulness and their places are filled with gentle thoughts and fond remembrances. The harsh sounds of the busy day no longer assail the ear with their disturbing sequence. Nature is the only actor in this lovely scene and all her movements are full of gentle grace, all her sounds accord, one with the other, making a pleasant chorus, a "concord of sweet sounds," that win your whole being to their melodious flow.

Here you become one with the expanding sky, the reflecting water, the calm trees, the playful grasses. Something liberal takes possession of your heart and brain and soul and a great kindliness grows within. Humanity is softly transmuted into an essence of brotherhood. No longer is your sight material, your senses go. The eye of the mind beholds a universe of quiet cheer, peopled with lovers of truth. Nature has wrought a miracle. You are translated with all the hitherto distracted earth into a land of pure delight where no fault lies and all eyes look unclouded into other eyes that look and beam again.

The glory of that dreamed-of heaven lies in that little lonely nook beside the placid lake.

GARMENT BADGE OF IDLENESS

Real Significance of Joseph's "Coat of Many Colors" May Not Be Generally Understood.

Do you know the real reason why Joseph's brethren hated him and sold him to a band of Ishmaelites and into slavery, and after first deciding to slay him?

You remember the story in Genesis—which, by the way, is the most interesting book in the Bible—that Joseph's father gave him a "coat of many colors."

The father did not give the other brothers coats of many colors, for, as stated in the story, he loved him more than the others.

Now here is the real reason Joseph was hated:

"A coat of many colors" of that time, in the land of Canaan and adjoining civilizations, was a badge of idleness.

The sleeves of a coat of many colors came down almost to the finger tips to indicate that the wearer did no manual labor.

As late as the French revolution in Europe, and even in our Colonial time here in America, certain gentlemen wore lace on their coat sleeves that covered their hands, thereby indicating that so far as they were concerned there was "nothing doing" in the way of actual work.—Cottrell's Magazine.

Dandruffy Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

Why Turks Are Confident.

Amid the many menacing perils that threaten his thorny throne the new sultan of Turkey can find consolation for all Moslem disasters by contemplating the "Shining Stone" in the mosque of St. Sophia. This is a slab of translucent marble, brought from Persia, which has been fixed to the western side of the gallery. It emits rays of dazzling brilliancy during periods of Turkish prosperity or of religious triumphs for Islam, but becomes black and opaque, however cloudless the skies, whenever some calamity is about to befall the Ottoman empire or the faith. It has not hitherto been darkened during the present war, though the sultan's armies have so frequently been defeated and the power of Islam seemed to suffer eclipse. Thus the mystic stone, ever shining, proves to believing Moslems that, however fate may frown, the real victory remains with them.

When your liver becomes sluggish and inactive, the bowels become constipated, the tongue becomes coated, the breath bad, and the stomach all out of order.

Then come those terrible sick headaches. They take out every bit of life and ambition, bring on depression, and often end in complete mental and physical prostration.

To keep the liver active, and your bowels moving regularly, is the only way to get rid of the constipation and the distressing sick headaches. Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills will do this for you by stimulating the sluggish liver into manufacturing sufficient bile to act properly on the bowels, thus making them active and regular.

Mrs. Winslow McKay, Jordan Branch, N.S., writes: "I have been sick for a number of years with sick headache and constipation. I tried all kinds of doctors' medicines, but none did me any good. I tried Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and after using four vials I am completely cured. I would heartily recommend them to all sufferers."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are small and easy to take; and do not gripe, weaken or sicken as so many pills do. Price 25c a vial as all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

ACETYLENE LIGHT PAYS

It Gives Safe and Efficient Service at Reasonable Cost.

To Ensure Strong and Healthy Foals Pregnant Mares Must Be Given Exercise, Be Properly Fed and Have Careful Stable Attendance.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

ACETYLENE lighting is not by any means a new thing in this country as there are homes here and there in village and countryside in which this system of lightning has been in use for many years. Many improvements have been made in the mechanism of the plant, so that now this system is considered to be absolutely safe and reliable if it receives reasonable care and attention. The cost, of course, is rather more since the war, but even at the present price it is an investment that will return high dividends, probably not always directly in dollars and cents, but in better health, more comfort, less labor and genuine satisfaction for those living in the home, because acetylene gas in burning produces less heat, consumes less oxygen and forms less carbon dioxide than kerosene, for example, and makes a far more brilliant light than even electricity, and it is easier on the eyes. It may also be used for cooking in the house and it is also well adapted for street lighting of villages and small towns.

The acetylene lighting plant consists of a gas generator, gas service piping, and gas jets or chandeliers. The generators vary in size according to amount of gas required, one for the home being, of course, much smaller than that required for a large institution or village. The chief parts of the generator are: Water chamber, carbide holder, gas holder, gas filter, gas washer, gas intake pipe, feed pipe, safety vent, sludge agitator and automatic carbide feeder device. The generator for a home requires only a few square feet of space, as it is very compactly constructed. It is usually placed in the basement, and it is very important that it be kept safe from frost.

The operation of the plant is as follows: The chemical substance used for making the gas is calcium carbide, the same material that is used in bicycle lamps, for instance. Automatically this chemical is fed into the water chamber as fast as the gas is used in lights. In contact with the water it forms a gas known as acetylene gas, which collects in the gas holder from which is passes through small iron pipes to the lights. In the most modern plants no gas can possibly be generated except as it is required, hence there is no chance, as was true of earlier types of plants, for the gas to accumulate under pressure in the plant and leak out, and become ignited by a raw flame, resulting in an explosion. The automatic feed should be examined occasionally and every care taken to keep it in first-class working order. The directions that come with the plant should be followed accurately and religiously. The writer knows of several plants owned by farmers for many years, and in all cases under proper care the results have been very satisfactory. What does it cost? This question can be answered very generally as costs vary with size of plant, etc. In general I would say the initial cost would be about $200, including generator, pipes, chandeliers and the work of installation for the average-sized farm home. The carbide for a year will cost in the neighborhood of $12 to $15. Detailed information regarding installation, etc., will be answered upon request by the writer.—R. R. Graham, B.S.A., O. A. College, Guelph.

Winter Care of Pregnant Mares.

Those who have had experience in horse breeding have noticed that a considerable percentage of the spring colts, especially those born before the mares are on pasture, are weakly, often not able to stand, and sometimes without sufficient ambition to nurse when held up and the teat introduced into the mouth. It will also be observed that foals of this description are usually those of dams that have been pampered during the winter months—those that have been well fed, and kept in the stable most of the time without exercise.

The pregnant mare should be well fed and given regular exercise or light work. The idea that she should not be well fed is all uncommon. The foetus is daily increasing in size. This growth does not take place without nutriment. The nutriment must be supplied by the blood of the dam, and, as nutriment is not a normal product of the blood, but is supplied by the food the animal eats, we can readily see that the pregnant animal has not only her own tissues to nourish, but also those of a growing foetus, which, in the latter months of gestation is no small matter. Hence we see that the pregnant mare requires more food than her non-pregnant sister of the same size that is doing the same work. Good hay and oats are the foods to be relied upon to provide nourishment, and these should be fed in quantities proportionate to the size of the animal and the grain in proportion to the amount of work or exercise given. In addition she should be given a few raw roots daily, and a feed of bran with a cupful of linseed meal at least twice weekly. She should also be given all the good water she will drink at least three times daily.

A pregnant mare should, where possible, be provided with a large, comfortable box stall when in the stable. This, we may say, is necessary after the ninth month of gestation, as parturition may take place at any time after this.—J. H. H., O. A. College, Guelph.

FAMOUS OLD MIDDLE TEMPLE

Historic London Edifice Contains Actual Stage on Which Shakespeare Acted Before Queen Elizabeth.

The top is 30 feet long and 3 inches thick and forms "the high table" for the Benchers of the Inn. The dais on which it stands is at the western end of the hall, and on the actual floor boards of this platform Shakespeare performed "Twelfth Night" for the entertainment of "the Virgin Queen," who opened the hall in 1572.

The eastern end of the hall is occupied by a magnificent carved screen, finished in 1574, the upper part of which forms the Minstrels' gallery.

The walls of the hall are paneled to a great height, and both the panels and windows above are richly emblazoned with the coats of arms, dating from the sixteenth century, of legal luminaries, members of the Inn. Among them may be observed the arms of Sir Walter Raleigh, Pepys and of the present lord chancellor and the present lord chief justice of England. Portraits by Vandyk, Lely, Kneller and Murray, together with suits of well-preserved armor, greatly add to the mural adornment of this historic edifice.

SPECIFIC FOR BRONCHITIS.

The turpentine used in Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is not the ordinary commercial article, which is little used because of the unpleasantness of taste, but is specially extracted from tamarac and spruce gum and so combined with other valuable ingredients as to be at the same time pleasant to use and wonderfully effective in the cure of affections of the throat, bronchial tubes and lungs.

ROME, Jan. 26.—An important feature of the project for a League of Nations formulated by authorities on international law, councillors of state and judges of the Supreme Court announced here, is that from the Central Council of the League there will be dependent three committees, which will devote their attention to economics, labour and military affairs. These committees will conduct inquiries and each will seek to adjust controversies subject to its special jurisdiction. The plan will be supported by Senator Scripioni, who has gone to Paris as a supplementary Italian delegate.

Farmers and Packers Must Unite While Markets Are Extended

Herbert Hoover Discusses the Problem of Excess Surplus Created Through War Effort—Contention That Allies Should Continue Buying Pork Despite Accumulated Stock and Lack of Need.

PUTS UNITED STATES FIRST

Paris, Jan. 28.—Herbert Hoover, Director-General of the International Relief Organization, gave out the following statement.

"The dominating food problem in the U.S. at this moment is a very much begger problem than the Chicago packers. It is a problem of the American Farmer.

"If the packer's profit of two or three per cent on his turnover is too high, it is the duty of Congress to tax it out of him. If the farmer's level of a fair return, it behooves the country to do some quick, clear thinking.

"The perplexities arising out of inability to demobilize totally the food situation of the world in the period between the armistice and peace make the farmers' position in the matter of much more immediate concern than the future of the Chicago packers.

PATRIOTIC EFFORT

"Taking it broadly, beforee the European war began we exported about five million tons of food a year. This year we are prepared to export at the rate of from fifteen-to twenty millions of tons. The increase represents the patriotic service of the American farmer, plus the voluntary sacrifice of the average American under the stimulation of the pleas from the Allied Governments that without an enormous increase in our food supply the very lives would be menaced.

"The submarine had so shortened the world's shipping that the Allies were unable to reach the distant markets of the southern hemisphere, and we were bound to create in America sufficient food to carry Europe. If the war had gone on every pound of it and more would have been required by the Allies before the next harvest.

"The armistice came suddenly, freeing shipping from military use and reopening to the Allies the cheaper southern hemisphere and the colonial market, where, in addition, they could have more liberal credits and markets.

FACE SERIOUS PROBLEM

"We are thus faced with a serious problem with respect to our own great supplies, patriotically accumulated. If an early peace is signed and the markets of Europe are opened freely to trade there will be a greater demand for food from the new months than even this surplus could supply. But in the period between the armistice and peace we have a very different situation.

One of the most critical food shortages in the world was that of fats, and the only help lay in an increase in the American hog. Our agricultural department and the food administration spared no efforts to stimulate this production. Our farmers were assured that in the general shortage, subject only to the uncertainties of war, they would experience no difficulty in marketing their products. Due to the savings of our people and the gradual increased production of our farmers, we have lifted our ability to export, from 70,000,000 pounds of fats per month in the summer of 1917 to 400,000,000 pounds per month in this January.

PACKERS MOBILIZED

"To achieve this mobilization of fats it was necessary to mobilize the packers, as well as the farmers. There is no doubt that the vast volume of business brought profit to the packers, although at a less percentage than before the food administration took charge of it.

"The Allied nations in order to effect regular supplies to their people in the face of short shipping and to provide for Government rationing, were compelled to take over the entire purchase of these food supplies and thereby abandon the ordinary flow of trade and commerce. In consequence they concentrated their buying through agencies was so great of these buying agencies was so great that they controlled the price.

"The business of the food administration was to bring these buying agents, the representatives of the farmers, who are predominantly interested, and the great and small packers together and to see to it that a square deal was obtained all round. The prices were settled in a joint conference of the farmers, the representatives of the Allies' buyers, and the great and small packers under the general arrangement that packer was allowed but a quarter of a cent a pound over and above the price to the farmer and the cost of raw material and labor for packing. The Allies took the entire surplus.

CHANGED OVERNIGHT

"The situation changed overnight with the armistice. The Allies are not only seeking the southern hemisphere markets, but they have also fately accumulated large stocks of fats as an insurance against the submarine menace. Freed from this menace, and with the shortage of finance experienced by all governments, together with a loss on the shortage of accommoditiies by deterioration, there is a natural desire on their part to reduce their stocks.

"Other factors have entered into the situation. For instance, the inaotive armies and munition workers are consuming less fats, and the vegetable is freed for human consumption. This came upon us immediately with the armistice in early November, in the midst of our heaviest hog marketing season, which lasts from October until March. When I lef. home for Europe in November this problem was already facing me as one among many others for which assistance had to be found, in the protection of our American farmers, lest from failure to find a market for his products during the wider markets of peace his prices might fall below his cost of production, entailing great waste of surplus commodities.

PROTECTING FARMER

We have found it possible to protect the American farmer in the two and one-half months since the armistice. This we have done by cooperating with the allies, in opening wider markets to neutral countries, and by relief shipments into the liberated territories. The next and last two weeks of the high fat production season will be still more difficult to manage, as peace conditions cannot be expected in that time, restoring extended markets.

SHORTAGE OF FATS

On the other hand five-sixths of this problem is already completed and by next May if we have peace and freedom any surplus that accumulates now will be turned into another world shortage of fats Indeed if the entire consuming population of the world were able to obtain fats to-day there would be a shortage at this moment, even with our great surplus production.

Numerous solutions have been proposed. It has been considered that the Allied Governments should continue to purchase the surplus production of pork products, despite the accumulated stocks and lack of immediate need, and thus protect the American farmer against the surplus provided especially for them. It has been contended that they are under moral obligations to execute the forecasts for the requirements given from time to time through their various agencies.

EXCESS PRODUCTION

"The allies can, however, contend that they also have great problems of excess production in commoditiies, such as munitions, which they have likewise produced under war pressure. They con contend that we have jointly fought and won the war; that this is sudden, and catches us all with a vast production, which must be faced and liquidated by each of us without undue pressure; one against the other; that they, like ourselves, are entering a period of large employment during the readjustment, and that their people, like ours, need lower food prices.

"The real solution lies in the hope of early peace, and in the meantime, the steady demobilization for all restrictions on free marketing of surplus foods, except in enemy territory, thus re-establishing the law of supply and demand.

RESTRICTIONS REMOVED

"Practically all restrictions on American food exports have been removed. Progress has been made in lifting neutral blockade restrictions, and further relaxations of blockade measures are under earnest consideration. The readjustment of buying agencies is hoped for, in order that merchants may enter on trade freely on both sides and thus secure a normal basis of price determining without any dominating influences.

"It is, however, no more possible to demobilize in a week the whole of these intricate forces set up during the war, than it is to demobilize our army by dismissing it on the field. And, pending these solutions, our American farmers, merchants, packers and banks simply must stand together for two or three months to carry our excess surplus over until the markets of the world have been more extended and finally liberated by peace. The meeting of farmers and packers' representatives called at Chicago on Tuesday has to consider these problems."

Press Agents Running Wild on Both Sides of the Ocean

They Make Our Statesmen Do Funny Stunts, But Add a Little to the Gaiety of Nations.

Ottawa, Jan. 28.—This plethora of press agents may yet prove the Government's undoing. At present its province appears to be to add to the gaiety of nations. But laughter improperly directed is sometimes more deadly than dynamite. And the laughter just now now is drifting to a quarter just now is drifting to a quarthan one after-war industry. For there is keen competition among the various branches of the Press Agents Department, and the thin sharp line between the sublime and the ridiculous is more and more in danger of being broken, even if it has not already been pierced at a point or two.

HE GRABBED NAPOLEON

It was a press agent's inspiration that made H. J. Daly, another Napoleon, and proceeded to endow the Director of Repatriation with all the attributes of a world conqueror. Trouble was it roused th e publicists attached to other minor personages to greater efforts. The possibilities of comparison were perhaps exhausted, but there remained great deeds for great men to do. And a publicist who can't make his hero do an occasional stunt is only an apprentice to the trade.

So the publicists attached to the train and person of Sir. Robert Borden got busy. They were giving their native land the absent treatment and possibly thought at such a long range they could afford to be a trifle careless.

TOO MUCH ICE

Anyway under the ocean's cruel waves was flashed the glad tidings that the Premier's statesmanship was to secure Greenland as Canada's share of the war indemnity. It was a long shot in more ways than one. But it hit Canada on the funny bone. It is a mild winter all right, but the idea that the Dominion wished to add to her northern stores of ice was such a huge joke that it brought gales of laughter. That idea "got the hook."

THINKING STATESMANSHIP

But, the overseas publicists were not discouraged. I took them days to think up more statesmanship for our esteemed premier. But they're prolific thinkers. And in a day or two again the cables started to talk. This time Sir Robert was turning the lining out of his pocketbook to lend the Roumanians a trifle of $25,000,000 in order that they might buy Canadian goods. This looked like a triumph. Then it occurred to someone to ask who was going to collect the $25,000,000 when it fell due. This was a detail that the publicist hadn't thought of. But after Roumania had been looked up in Bradstreet's official Ottawa got busy and a domestic brand of press agent gleefully announced "There's nothing to it"

These two setbacks held the overseas bunch for a while and they kept comparatively quiet. They confined themselves in fact to a couple of thousand words of cable telling how our rPemier was making the Peace Conference sit up and bark and do other little tricks that none other than a well-trained and thoroughly influenced conference could be expected to do. You were not a bit surprised when Sir Robert sat out and let Sir George Foster, Hon. Al. Sifton and even Premier Lloyd, of Newfoundland, have seats around the table. Why should he bother about a mere seat at a conference that was swinging to the dictates of his master mind?

JOHN W. GOT BUSY

Of course, there has been a certain lack of detailed evidence to prove that all this was happening. But it is coming in at last—coming from the mighty pen of Chief Press Agent John W. Dafoe. And as John W. doesn't trouble with minor matters it is not surprising that the European menace, the Bolshevki is the first to receive his attention. John W. tells us that it was the Borden statesmanship that furnished the solution of Bolshevism, the Bordan force of eloquence that swayed the Allies to accept this solution.

And how simple it all was to the master mind. All that was necessary was to call the Bolsheviats into the conference and talk to them as men and brothers; to tell them quietly and sincerely that riot and robbery and murder were not mile posts on the road to liberty; to advise them to take a bath and a shave and hie themselves back to the forge and the plow, or if necessary, to editing the Bolshevist sheets in dingy offices up dark stairways.

WASN'T IT EASY?

Simple, isn't it? But all problems are simple to press minds. And even if Sir Robert Borden hasn't one of these great minds his press agent has. Anyway we are assured that the idea "got over" and the Bolsheviki are to be gathered within the compass of Sir Robert Borden's eloquence. If you've ever been there you'll know what that means.

Now some people have been inclined to take sinister meanings out of all this. They have been tracing connections between police courts that sentenced disturbers in Toronto, cabinet councils that sat as higher police courts and reduced sentences at Ottawa, and a Premier in Europe who urged "a good talking to" as the best means of restoring Russia and putting the Bolshevik back where it belonged—at work.

BLESSED ARE THE P.A.'s

But don't blame the Premier. He may not have been as busy as on his former visit to Europe. The banquets have not been so numerous. But his press agents, urged on by competition in the home market, have been working overtime. And even as no man is a hero to his valet, so every man must necessarily be a hero to his press agent. They may make him do funny stunts at times, but they never let him quit "heroing." And as the ancients were wont to remark "Blessed are the peace-makers," so we moderns echo "But yet more blessed are the press agents."—Toronto Telegram.

Live Stock in Canada Must Be Increased

That the live stock herds of Canada must be increased, and backyard activities encouraged is evident from reports of conditions in Europe. In their withdrawal from Belgium the Germans tried to take away all the remaining hogs from the Western part of the country except those hidden by the peasants in underground caves. It can be said almost literally that horses have disappeared out of Belgium, only about 15 per cent. of the original number of animals now being left. The French Government is endeavouring to obtain some cattle from Switzerland and horses from the various armies, which, together with the meagre supply of agricultural implements, may enable the population to get in some portion of next year's crops in such of these areas as are not too badly destroyed by battle.

THE VICTIMS OF LA GRIPPE

Every winter la grippe sweeps over Canada like a scourge, leaving behind hundreds of health-wrecked victims. Ask any of those who have been attacked by la grippe what their present condition of health is and most of them will answer: "Since I had the grip I have never been well." This trouble leaves behind a persistent weakness of the limbs, bad digestion, shortness of breath, and palpitation of the heart, caused by the thin-blooded condition in which grippe almost always leaves its victims after the fever and influenza have subsided. They are at the mercy of relapses and complications, often very serious. This condition will continue until the blood is built up again, and for this purpose nothing can equal a course of treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. From first to last these wonderful pills make new, rich red blood, which reaches every organ and every nerve in the body. Thus the disease germs are driven from the body, and the weak, despondent victims of grippe are transformed into strong, well, happy men and women.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ADVERTISING CHURCHES

In the United States the question of larger congregations is by no means dead, but very much alive. It is being recognized more and more as an effective and legitimate means of extending their good work. Thus The Tampa Tribune draws attention to the following quotation from a Chicago paper:

"The Chicago Church Federation will spend $12,000 in a church advertising campaign in newspapers, on posters and by electric signs. It will establish a permanent commission on church advertising and publicity, having as its members business men who are used to advertising on a large scale. Part of the campaign will be along the line of an effort to win 25,000 new church members by Easter. Six hundred churches are represented in the Federation."

The people of Chicago are usually considered to be level-headed, enterprising and capable of finding out the best methods of attaining any particular objects. It is therefore a plain hint to the churches of Canada that are so constantly crying out to increase in members when these people are seen forming "a permanent commission on church advertising" to obtain this. The Tampa Tribune puts it neatly when it says that they are prepared to pay fifty cents in advertising for each member, and it has not the slightest doubt as to the result.

The value of advertising is becoming appreciated rapidly; this can be seen by the manner in which it was used to obtain recruits in Great Britain at the commencement of the war, by its use in finding the war loans there, and the Liberty and Victory ones on this side and by the Dominion Government's advertisements as to the methods and progress of its reconstruction work. Other examples could be quoted, but these are given as examples of what the authorities handling vast and important matters have now come to think of the value of advertising. It should follow that churches should recognise this, too; it has been said that "Promise, large promise is the soul of an advertisement," what larger, grander, and more sublime promise has any one to offer than the churches.—Kingston Standard.

CANADA'S UNKNOWN HEROES.

The announcement a short time ago that Major Barker, of New Brunswick, had been presented with the Victoria Cross by the King was probably read by thousands of Canadians who did not know that the gallant airman from the Maritime Provinces had been the central figure in one of the most astounding exploits in the history of the war. The story of his adventure was published just before the armistice was signed, but owing to the censorship, the identity of the hero was not given—in fact it was not even stated that he was a Canadian. Here is the recital of the amazing battle against great odds fought by Major Barker, as told by Philip Gibbs, the famous English war correspondent:

One exploit is now the talk of the army, and it seems to be as wonderful as anything that has been done by these knights-errant of the air. It happened over the Forest of Mormal, in British hands since yesterday, and there, over those dense woods with a queer kind of Eiffel Tower in the centre of them, flew a Major of one of the British flying squadrons, searching for the whereabouts of the British troops and for any German fighting plane which he might challenge to a duel.

He saw a two-seater, flying at 1,000 feet to escape the "Archies" and any other trouble, and the Major climbed up to it in a wide spiral and then from below fired at it. The German pilot and observer fell, their machine breaking in the air, and one man dropping in a parachute. Immediately a Fokker biplane came into view, and the Major heard the whistling of bullets through his plane, and then felt a hammer stroke on his left thigh. He had been hit, and for the moment was stunned.

His airplane began to spin out of control, but the Major became conscious of his danger, and, instinctively touching his levers, again got his grip on the engine. Then he saw that he was surrounded by fifteen Fokkers, crowding about him for the death shot. His defence was by attack, and by a marvellous manoeuvre he got his shots in first, and three enemies fell, but machine guns were chattering about him and bullets singing past his wires.

Another hammer blow struck him, this time shattering his left thighbone. He fainted clean away and his machine dived helplessly, but once again the spirit of the man awakened to the instinct of self-preservation and anger against those who were out to kill him. He handled his machine again, mastered it, and looked out for the Germans.

From twelve to fifteen enemy scouts were in his sky, taking up the hunt for him. He flew at one, and saw his burst of fire set it alight, so that it began falling in flame. At the same time bullets were about him like wasps. One of them smashed his left elbow, and his arm dropped and hung loose and useless.

With one hand he managed now to steer and shoot against a new swarm of enemies that came like midges. He dived steeply to escape them, but eight more scouts chased him down. He could not avoid them, so he fought them. He fought by manoeuvring for position with every stunt known to airmen with a little morning wildness in their hearts, but this was cold, deadly skill. It was watched by ground observers, who held their breath at the sight of that one British airplane, banking, nose diving, looping, with the flock of Germans about it.

For ten or twelve minutes he juggled with his airplane to get his target among the vultures. He hit two and put them out of action, and then they had had enough, and he landed successfully. But when his machine came to a rest he did not jump out. He sat all crumpled up, with his head drooping, and it was on a stretcher that he went away. He is now in a hospital, gravely wounded, and every man out here who knows how he fought between fifty and sixty hostile aircraft and destroyed four and drove down six hopes with all his heart that this air knight will recover from his wounds.

This is only one among hundreds of stories of the gallantry of Canada's fighting men, of which nothing is known by the people at home. The rigid censorship would not permit the details of their exploits to be published while the conflict was still raging. It is to be hoped that the stories have not been lost for ever, but will now be given publicity. Did you ever realize how little you really know of the glorious deeds that Canadians have accomplished over there? How many Examiner readers could name off-hand even five of the sixty-two Canadians who have been awarded the Victoria Cross? And how many could tell any of the details of the deeds which earned the decorations?

It is true that in connection with the granting of the coveted Cross, the terse official recital of the exploits were given, but the story mentioned neither place nor date. Even the name of the battalion of which the hero was a member was suppressed, and the bald narrative gave little idea of the splendor of the feats performed.

Of the adventures of our airmen we have heard something, but the whole story has not been told. We have been allowed to learn a little of the exploits of Bishop, but of Barker and Colinshaw, and of all the other knights of the air, the people of Canada have very small knowledge. And about our heroes who fought with rifle and bayonet and bomb we know less.

The stories of all these gallant deeds should not be lost. Canadians should know all about the exploits of her sons in France. Our school readers should contain descriptions of some of the most noteworthy of these adventures so that future generations will know how heroically the sons of Canada fought in the greatest of all wars. It is but justice to the heroes that the tale of their bravery should now be given to the world.

German Secrets Exposed At Last

Discoveries made by the Allied Naval Commission, when they visited the German ports in the North Sea and Baltic to secure the carrying out of the armistice terms are now revealed.

A piquet boat flying the Imperial naval ensign of Germany came along side half an hour after the Hercules had anchored, and the short, heavy-set officer who was first up to the gang-way turned out to be Rear-Admiral Goette, who headed the German commission which met that of the Allies at both Wilhelmshaven and Kiel.

There were a number of terms of the armistice which Admiral Goette or his advisers, when first they were seated at the long table in Admiral Browning's cabin, declared they were absolutely incapable of fulfilling, but one by one these were reduced as the inflexible purpose of the Allied Commission brought home to them the utter futility of tactics even remotely bordering on bluff.

Slow Progress.

The search of warships continued the following day, and parties were also despatched for the inspection of airship and seaplane stations. These latter involved journeys of considerable distance, and although special trains were provided the condition of the rolling stock and engines made progress very slow.

It may be stated that no members of the commission report having observed any evidence of under-feeding in even such industrial centres as Hamburg and Bremen, and that through most of the country traversed the people appeared to be as well fed and dressed as in England and France. Such stock as was seen was also in good condition, land generally was carefully cultivated and highly fertilized, and those winter crops already in were making fine growth as a consequence of unusually mild weather.

Warship and merchant ship inspections were over at Wilhelmshaven in a couple of days, but the visits to air stations on the North Sea side took some time longer. The Norderney seaplane station was reported as comparing most favorably with any other of the kind in France or England, while the great Nordholz Zeppelin station is beyond comparison the finest in the world. It was from here that practically all the England-bound raiders started, and not the least interesting sight observed there by the sub-commission was the famous L 14, with twenty-four visits to England to its credit. It was practically the only survivor of the first raiders.

Through the Canal

The passage by the Hercules of the Kiel Canal was an occasion as memorable as historic. British light cruisers had made the passage in 1914, just before the war, but the Hercules was the first British battleship to ruffle its brown-black waters, just as were the Verdun and Viceroy the first destroyers. The people along the canal banks were for the most part indifferently curious, but hand-waving and smiles from women and children were by no means infrequent.

The most interesting of other places visited was the great experimental station at Warnemunde, where all the new types which the Germans have had in process of development were seen and inspected. Permission to visit this under protest.

The submarine commission under, Lieut.-Commander Bower, pushed its investigations assiduously at Hamburg, Bremen, and other points with the results that some scores of U-boats—mostly nearing completion—hitherto undeclared by the Germans were found and reported Admiral Goette protested to the last against the giving up of these, but at the final conference the Allied Commission carried their point, and these potential pirates will be delivered in British ports as fast as they become ready for towing.

With Other Councils

Monthly Welcome Dinner.

Mayor Hammond of Chatham is in favour of having a civic dinner once a month for soldiers coming home during the month instead of trying to extend the welcome to each party coming home. Confusion of relatives claiming the soldiers is one of the reasons for the proposal, which seems to meet with approval.

Londoners Want It Now.

A petition signed by several thousand citizens in favour of the two-platoon system for the London Fire Brigade was placed in the hands of the City Clerk, S. Baker, on Wednesday. There has been an agitation for the adoption of this plan for some time, since Toronto and other larger cities considered it for their departments.

An Electric Welcome Sign.

A huge electric sign bearing the word "welcome" has been erected at Owen Sound across 2nd avenue street east, between posts in front of Oak Hall and the Brunswick Cigar store by the Utilities Commission, as a greeting to returned soldiers. The sign is about five feet in height with a wooden frame on which is stretched a wire netting, and to this netting are attached the large wooden letters illuminated with about fifty or sixty electric bulbs. At the end of the sign is a large figure of a woman, backed by crossed British flags with the words "Owen Sound." On her helmet and with a huge shield in front bearing the emblem, "Welcome to Our Soldiers From France." On the other end of this welcome sign is a huge figure of a soldier with a steel helmet and rifle and kit complete, and with his face denoting happiness at returning home

Dancing in the School.

The question of allowing the High school pupils to use the auditorium of the Alexandra school for dancing, occasionally, in the evening, has been brought before the School Board by a deputation of students. Frankly, the News favours such an indulgence being granted to the pupils. The young people are going to dance, anyway, and it is hard to conceive of a place where they could follow this form of where they could follow this form of auspices.—Medicine Hat News.

A City Hall Dance.

An atmosphere of subdued excitement pervades the city hall to-day, and every one of the staff seems to be charged with electric energy. The reason is not far to seek; to-night is the night when the girls of the city hall staff give their annual dance to their friends and to the male staff of the city service. This is not a public dance, but the title to admission is an invitation extended by one of the girls of the city hall, and, as usual, a bid to this select dance is a thing to be mighty proud of. It means that the recipient has been admitted as a friend to the select circle that graces the civic offices, than which there is no higher seal of worthiness and excellence. As hostesses, the girls have proved their capabilities several times and the bidden guests can be assured that they will spend as enjoyable an evening as they ever did at any dance in the city.— Fort William Times.

MEN WHO ARE COMING HOME

The men who come back will want to "come back" industrially, and it is the duty of every Canadian to see to it that they da have every opportunity to come back into civilion life, without handicaps, and without friction.

The Government some time ago organized a department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment to handle these problems, and to that end it is devoting its energies.

This committee sees to it that the sick are made well, the wounded healed. The men who have lost limbs or sight, or suffer other physical handicaps are provided with limbs, and other equipment to overcome so far as can be done the difficulties of their positions. The discharged soldie ris followed up by the pension board, and the medical department to see that his condition and his circumstances are satisfactory.

New Limbs.

When he is well, and equipped with his new limbs, he is given a course in vocational training, if he so desires. Many do. They are taught how to make themselves self supporting, in fact, many unskilled labourers have been given trades, and their efficiency and earning powers have been greatly enhanced.

The Repatriation committee is now engaged in looking after the uninjured soldiers who will come back to Canada by the hundreds of thousands in the next year. The men want jobs, not sympathy. They want work, not speeches.

In this work every man, every citizen of Canada will give his assistance. If you know of a good job, which a returned soldier can fill, notify the soldier. That's all that is needed just now.

A job for every soldier and every soldier in a job—that's the idea.

NIAGARA FALLS' POLICE APPROPRIATION

Chief of Police Laing of Niagara Falls, has received an increase of $200 in his salary which is now $1,600. Two other officers are paid $1,400 and three others $1,320. Each got an increase of $300. The department's estimates for the year are $15,045 as compared with last year's expenditure of slightly more than $8,000.

ZUCKER SENTENCED TO 15 YEARS IN PRISON FOR DISLOYAL SPEECH

Judge Garvin Calls Talk by Socialist Before Labor Lyceum in Brownsville "Vile."

New York, Jan. 28.—Morris Zucker who was convicted in Federal Court Brooklyn of violation of the Espionage law, was sentenced to fifteen years on each of the four counts by Judge Garvin. The terms are to run concurrently. Zucker will go to the Maryland State Penitentiary. Louis Boudin, counsel for Zucker, filed notice of appeal.

The court room was packed with socialists, and Marshall Power had all of his available deputies distributed about the room, but there was no demonstration.

Zucker received the sentence without much apparent concern. His attorney had previously spoken for an hour, asking that the verdict be set aside on the grounds that the war was over when Zucker made the inflamatory speech before the Labor Lyceum in Brownsville, Brooklyn, on Thanksgiving Day. After he had finished Judge Garvin said:

"We cannot tolerate such talk as this man used in his speech. We will not tolerate any man who ridicules our soldiers and seamen. The speech was vile in its ridicule of the men who fought for this country."

For your guidance in estimating, we might say that The Examiner is printing and distributing to the Merchants, for use on Dollar Day, 25,000 blanks, and it is only necessary to estimate what number each purchaser thinks will be used on the great day. Should any store run short of blanks, The Examiner will print more, so that the number printed might reach as high as 40,000. The number of estimates put in the last Dollar Day Campaign was in the neighbourhood of 10,000. With this information, an estimate can be made before doing your shopping. Of course as many estimates can be made as the purchaser has blanks, and they will get one with every Dollar purchase they make.

Make up your mind what and where you want to buy and come to Peterborough on Wednesday, January 29th, expecting the greatest economy shopping event of your lives.

Man Sought As Girl's Slayer Is Not Necessarily Insane

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The man sought by the entire police force of the city for the brutal murder of Mary Elizabeth Riddell, Richmond Hill girl, on Wednesday night last, was not necessarily a maniac, in the opinion of Dr. Herman C. Evarts, alienist, and assistant superintendent of the Manhattan State Hospital at Ward's Island.

"The perpetrator of such a crime must of course be a brute, but it does not follow that he was necessarily insane in the technical sense," said Dr. Evarts.

The police have undertaken, as a part of their sweeping investigation of the crime, to trace all persons recently released or parolled from hospitals for the insane in this section. They think the murder was committed by a man recently from an institution.

Many clews were followed up but none led to the identity of or arrest of Miss Riddell's slayer. The search is being continued vigorously by the police. Several persons who were questioned by the police were released afterward.

Car Transfer a Clew.

The detectives believed a street car transfer which was found in the lot where the murder was committed may help in the search. It was issued Wednesday, the day of the murder, on the De Kalb street line of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company and bore the number 1A 07499.

Through information given by two girl friends of Miss Riddell the police were able to trace her movements almost to the moment she was attacked. Miss Anna Ehlers, of Richmond Hill, saw Miss Riddell board a train in Manhattan, and missing that one, she followed on the next, ten minutes later. She passed along Brigg-Avenue about a quatrer of an hour after her friend, but neither saw nor heard anything that would indicate what had happened.

Whether the assailant had noticed Miss Riddell in Manhattan and followed her home or whether he had stationed himself near the scene of the murder with the intention of attacking the first woman to approach is a question. If he used the transfer found in the lot, he must have gone to the vicinity earlier in the afternoon.

Two Girls Followed by Man.

The reports of the two girls, however, have definitely established the fact that the murder was committed about twenty minutes after six. At that time the families in the houses nearby were at dinner. Miss Riddell and the other girls of the neighbourhood were accustomed to walking the half mile from the "L" terminal every night alone. It was learned that Miss Ehlers and another young woman had been followed and frightened by a man a few nights ago.

Several days ago a neighbour, who had been reading of the murder of Mrs. Helma Southland, in Brooklyn, last week, met Miss Riddell and asked her if she never felt afraid at walking to her home alone after dark.

"Oh, nobody ever bothers me," the girl replied. "I can take care of myself if they do."

The similarity of the Riddell case and the case of Mrs. Southland, who was attacked in an open lot near her home and left with her skull crushed, led Captain Herbert Graham, of Queens, to request Detective Lieutenand John Sullivan, investigator of the Southland murder, to compare the two cases.

The route taken by the murderer in leaving the lot was established by the finding of a ribbon from Miss Riddell's hat about fifty feet away from the spot where the body lay. He avoided the street and escaped through the fields leading toward the "L" station.

Actress Complains Broker Jilted Her; Sues for $50,000

Mrs. Alice Maud Vogt, Divorcee, Pained to Find Oliver Humphrey Had Wed Marjorie Phillips.

New York, Jan. 25.—Instead of becoming the bride of Oliver Humphrey, a stock broker, of No. 115 Broadway, on December 9 last, Mrs. Alice Maud Vogt, an actress, of No. 647 West 147th street, was pained when she discovered he had wed another two weeks previous. She therefore sued for heart balm of $50,000 and asked in addition $3,500, which she asserted was expended for a trousseau, furnishing an apartment and loans advanced to the broker.

Her complaint accusing the broker with being a jilt was submitted to Justice Hendrick, of the Supreme Court, and led to the arrest of Mr. Humphrey. He was taken to the Ludlow Street Jail, where he remained until a bond was furnished for his appearance in court when the action comes to trial.

Mrs. Vogt's tale of marital disappointment revealed that both she and Mr. Humphrey have passed through the "divorce mill" in less than two years. Mrs. Vogt's freedom was won the more recently, she having divorced William Phillip Vogt, on October 7, 1918, while Mr. Humphrey obtained his decree on August 27, 1917.

Their previous matrimonial failures left them with a willingness to consort with Cupid again, for Mrs. Vogt declares the broker ardently courted her and, three weeks after her divorce, she accompanied him to the Marriage License Bureau, but fate unkindly intervened in the failure of Mr. Humphrey to have with him his divorce decree. Regulations forbade the issuance of a license and Mr. Humphrey promised to call the next day.

On November 1 Mr. Humphrey was summoned to his mother's home in Utica, N.Y., where word had been received of his brother George having been killed abroad. Mrs. Vogt says she followed the broker to Utica and received from him a written promise of marriage, which was set for December 9.

Before that date Mrs. Vogt learned that her admirer had become the husband of Majorie White Phillips on November 25. She then began her breach of promise action. During the courtship Mrs. Vogt asserts she loaned $1,500 to Mr. Humphrey and turned over to him some Liberty bonds.

FOUGHT WAY THROUGH REDS.

German Soldiers from Ukraine Reach Germany on Armed Train.

COBLENZ, Jan. 27. — After being three weeks on a train fighting their way through bands of Bolsheviki in Russia, several German soldiers have arrived here from the Ukraine. Four hundred Germans of the Bavarian heavy cavalry left Kharkov on December 26, after manning and arming a special train with one-pounders, machine guns and rifles.

A non-commissioned officer of the German First Corps, with headquarters at Kharkov, was among the arrivals at Coblenz. He estimates that there are 80,000 German soldiers remaining in the Ukraine. Between Kharkov and Kiev the German train had frequent encounters with bands of Bolsheviki, numbering from 200 to 2,000. In one of these encounters the Germans suffered sixty casualties.

The officer said the train was frequently stopped by Bolsheviki and it was necessary for the Germans to fight their way day after day. Sometimes the Germans bribed the Bolsheviki to allow them to pass, but in most cases they fought their way through, using machine guns from the train windows. The itinerary of the Germans included Poltava and Krementchug, the train making several detours because of destroyed bridges.

The Bolsheviki had officers, but they maintained little order and fought as disorganized units. A large proportion of them appeared to be former Russian prisoners. Many wore Russian uniforms, while some had uniforms stolen from German soldiers.

Are Going After Foreign Trade

New Records Made by the Gillette Company.

The Gillette Safety Razor Company of Canada are going to be first in the foreign field, according to plans reported at the annual meeting of the Company held on the 14th instant. At the annual meeting of shareholders of the Gillette Safety Razor Company of Canada announcement was made that the Company proposes invading such countries as Mexico, British West Indies, Cuba and the various South American countries as well as Central America, while their salesmen have already started for England, France, Italy, Russia, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, China and Japan, where they will establish sales organizations and distributing stations.

According to a report made at the annual meeting by Managing Director A. A. Bittues, the year 1918 was the best in the Company's history, sales increasing 209 p.c. over the figures for the previous year, while the blade production in Canada gained 160 p.c. and razor production 301 p.c. in the same period. It was also announced that the Company's steel plant in Sweden was now able to supply steel in unusual quantities, while shipping facilities, which were approaching normal, permitted them to ship goods to foreign countries and go after business in a more energetic manner than had been possible during the four years of war.

Possibly the most interesting announcement made was in connection with the Company's export business. Our Government and our various financial institutions have been urging the manufacturers of the Dominion to go after an export business. This the Gillette Company is doing in a most thorough going manner. It is interesting to note that the soldiers from British and allied countries who used the Gillette razor during the war are asking for the same article now that they have returned to their former homes and it is largely to meet this demand that the firm are launching on a big overseas campaign. To take care of this increased foreign trade and at the same time to handle their growing Canadian business will mean a boom in the production of blades and razors.

The directors for the current year are: J. E. Aldred, chairman; King C. Gillette; Frank J. Fahey, Howard Murray of the Imperial Munitions Board; Thomas W. Pelham, Sir Herbert S. Holt, President Royal Bank, and A. A. Bittues. The election of officers resulted as follows: Chairman of the Board, J. E. Aldred, President of the Shawinigan Water and Power Co., President of the J. E. Aldred Co., Bond Dealers; President King C. Gillette; Vice-President, Thomas W. Pelham; Treasurer, Frank J. Fahey; Secretary and Managing Director, A. A. Bittues.

A New Blood-Food Has Been Discovered That Works Wonders

SAID TO PUT NEW LIFE INTO PEOPLE THAT ARE RUN-DOWN

For years doctors have been searching for a combination that would enable them to inject into thin blood the elements it lacked. This can now be done, and any weak-blooded person can quickly be made strong and well.

Already a small army of ailing people has proved the merit of taking after each meal with a sip or two of water, two chocolate-coated Ferrozone Tablets. This is easily done, and even one week's use of this wonderful blood-food will prove how nourishing and strengthening and flesh-building the treatment is.

Just think of it—Ferrozone uplifts the entire nervous system, removes the blood, makes it rich and red—gives the sort of aid that's needed in throwing off weakness and languor.

Tens of thousands enjoy the advantages of renewed health through Ferrozone;—if you'll only use it, you'll surely grow strong, too; its beneficial action is noticed even in a week. You see it goes right to work, removes the causes of the trouble and then quickly makes a cure.

For those who sleep poorly and have nervous apprehensions, Ferrozone is a boon; it is a specialist in such cases.

Where there is paleness, poor appetite and languor, Ferrozone makes the patient feel like new in a few days.

In tiredness, nerve exhaustion, spring fever and debility, the power of Ferrozone is known from coast to coast and universally used with grand results.

Let Ferrozone build you up, let it win you back to robust health,—it will do so quickly if you give it the chance. Sold by all dealers. 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50. Remember the name Ferrozone.

Voice of The People

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—In reading announcement of All Saints' church anniversary services in Saturday's issue of your paper, it came to me that there are few persons left in the city who know anything of the history of that parish. Your statement of the fact of the Mission Sunday school, having been started in 1875, under the leadership of Rev. J. W. R. Beck, conveys very little to the public of all the work—real manual work—as well as other, that was put into the mission by Mr. Beck's successors. About 1890 Rev. J. C. Davidson and his then assistants, Rev. C. B. Kenrick and Rev. Walter Loucks, began regular services in the then mission of St. John's church. After pulling down, with their own hands, the old frame dwelling then used, the building now used as All Saints' church, was erected and used for many years, by a steadily growing congregation, still as a mission of St. John's, and under the able leadership of Revs. Pickford, Carl, Smith, Andrews and Armitage. During the latter's term of office the mission became a separate parish 17 years ago, known as "All Saints." During all the years from 1890 to 1902 the mission was fostered and worked up by Rev. J. C. Davidson, ably aided by Revs. Kenrick and Loucks, and by very many faithful, loving workers since gone to their reward.

Amongst these standout prominently, Miss Lily Harlee and Mrs. Beck and Messrs. Sheffield and Yokome.

And amongst those still living, who were pioneers, there are Miss Chamberlain and Mrs. Wm. Buller, Sr., now of Vancouver, B.C., who still takes a delight in talking over the old days at All Saints', Peterborough.

It does not seem right or fitting that those who laid the foundations of any work should be overlooked by those who are now reaping where they sowed.

Yours,
"HISTORY."

You Can be Cured of Catarrh

Catarrhozone is certain to cure because its healing vapor is carried with the breath direct to the seat of the chest, nose or throat trouble. Being composed of the purest balsams and pine essences, it immediately allays irritations, facilitates the ejection of mucus, soothes and stimulates the lungs and bronchial tubes. The marvel of the age in curing nose throat and bronchial troubles, that's what thousands say about Catarrhozone. There is nothing so sure to cure, and to those in fear of changeable weather—those who easily catch cold—those who work among lung-chilling surroundings, or where dust, impure air, fog or damp can affect them—let them get Catarrhozone and use it several times daily—it will cure every time.

JAPAN'S SMALL RICE GARDENS

Almost one-half of the land capable of cultivation in Japan is planted in rice. Handkerchief gardens would perhaps best describe the little rice fields, many of which, are no larger than a tennis court, are equally flat and are surrounded by rims of earth to hold the water when the fields are flooded.

The average rice field in Japan is about one acre and a half in size; but large or small, each field must be leveled and each must have its rim or dike. There must be a system of canals to bring water to the fields and another system of ditches to take it away when it is no longer needed.

It is said that there are 12,000 square miles of rice land in Japan, the greater part of which has been prepared with an almost infinite amount of labor. That area of land cultivated in rice virtually feeds a nation of 50,000,000 people.

OUR LIGNITE DEPOSITS.

Immediate Steps Will Be Taken to Utilize Them.

The order-in-council by which is created a Lignite Utilization Board for the Dominion of Canada will interest many citizens of our country. For many years past, it has been one of the anomalies of Canadian economics that whilst the Dominion has fuel resources second only to those of the United States, the greatest coal-producing country in the world, it imports, and always has imported, about fifty per cent. of its fuel. Most of this fuel is brought into the country over immense distances, unnecessarily absorbing labor and transport facilities urgently needed in other directions, and adding enormously to the cost of the fuel itself.

Long before the war, the absurdities of such a system were apparent to anyone who stopped to consider the matter, but the necessity for conservation in all directions imposed by the war has emphasized the need of a change, and has brought under the consideration of the authorities many schemes for the development of Canada's own fuel resources. Amongst the questions which have thus been forced to the front is the much discussed matter of the utilization of the Dominion's vast lignite deposits. In the original state, these deposits can be used only when freshly mined, and, even then, the lignite as it comes from the mines is not suited for household purposes. By a process of carbonizing, however, the material may be converted into a kind of coke or charcoal, which is readily briquetted. When thus treated, the resultant product is a fuel equal in heating value to anthracite, with the additional advantage that it may be sold at $7 a ton, and a just profit obtained from it at that price.

Some time ago, the committee appointed by the Government to inquire into the matter reported that the art of producing these carbonized briquettes had passed the laboratory stage; that no further information could be obtained from laboratory methods, and that the producer must face the question, often a very different one, of working out the results obtained in the laboratory on a large commercial scale, in other words putting theories to a practical test.

This is the great task which the Canadian Government has now undertaken, and the matter is to be pushed forward with energy. The Province of Saskatchewan, the balancing point for the fuel from the east and the west, has been chosen as the scene for the initial enterprise. After full investigation has been made of all the machines and processes at present available, the board will construct, or contract for, a plant of commercial size adjacent to the great lignite mines of Southern Saskatchewan, and will, at the earliest possible moment, begin to distribute the output through the ordinary channels of trade.

The whole question is, of course, very much a matter for the expert, but it cannot be doubted, by those who have given the matter any study, that a great future lies before such an industry. If the board can foresee the possibility of retailing the new fuel to-day at $7 a ton, before the great question of by-products has been fully studied, there is every prospect that the price in the future, when this has been done, will tend to be reduced rather than increased. The enormous value of the by-products from the manufacture of coal gas is, of course, largely responsible for the comparatively cheap rate at which coal gas may be sold, when municipally owned; and the same will, no doubt, apply to the briquetting of lignite.

This service is provided by the Medical Branch of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment.

An ex-soldier or ex-sailor who has a recurrence of a war disability should, if he is not too ill, go at once to the local medical officer of this Department.

If he is too ill he should have that medical officer notified at once.

Should he be taken ill in a place where there is no representative of the Department, he should call in a local physician to give him the necessary immediate treatment and ask him to communicate immediately all details of the case to the nearest medical officer of the Department.

The name of the authorized medical representative of this Department for each locality is given alongside.

Treatment at the expense of this Department can only be secured through these representatives. The Department cannot pay any bills for treatment which have not been authorized by the Department.

If the medical officers recommend it, pay is given to patients, and allowances are granted to their dependents by the Department, during the period of treatment.

The established scale of pay and allowances that may be granted depends upon the extent to which the treatment recommended by the medical officer of the Department prevents the patient from doing his regular work.

Arrangements for special care of patients of the Department have been made with hospitals in all the larger towns and cities from coast to coast.

Sanatoria for treating tuberculosis under most favorable conditions are operated in every Province under the direct supervision of the Department.

Shows Spirit of Allies.

Among the cheering anecdotes Elisabeth Shepley Sergeant reports in an article on the French-American offensive, none raise more sanguine hopes of allied victory than this:

Somewhat over a month ago a French general encountered an American colonel of infantry below Chateau-Thierry.

"How long have your men been on the march?" asked the general.

"Thirty-six hours."

"Then of course they are too tired to go in."

"Not at all—they'll go right in."

"Can you stop the Germans?"

"Certainly we can stop them."

It was thus that an American infantry regiment and five batteries of artillery were thrown straight across the road from Metz to Paris. The Germans not only did not advance one step further along that road, they were immediately driven back by the Americans and their re-enforcements at Bourscheres, Ft-Chateau-Thierry, at the Bois de Belleau.

NEW ZEALAND'S KILLED.

No Trouble to Remove Superfluous Hair

(Toilet Tips)

It is an easy matter to rid the skin of objectionable hair or fuzz, if you proceed as follows: Mix a paste with some water and a little powdered delatone, apply to hairy surface, and in two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This method of banishing hairy growths is painless and does not mar the skin, but to avoid disappointment, be certain to get real delatone.

No starch should be used in washing except that which is thoroughly cooked.

YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

On Friday evening the Young Women's Christian Association was the scene of a very jolly party, when the Normal Students and the Y.W.C.A. House girls were entertained. The girls all came in children's dresses and youthful spirits, and it was a pretty sight to see them all romping in the gymnasium with all their bright colors and happy faces. The fun in the gymnasium consisted of children's dances and nursery rhyme games, and refreshments were served in the Green room. Vocal numbers by Mrs. Widdess and Miss Ruth Murray, and readings by Miss Parker were interspersed through the evening. The hostesses of the evening were the members of the Social and House Committees and over one hundred girls were present at the party.

20-Year Convict Invents New Gun

Austrian at Portsmouth Devises Machine Gun to Shoot Nails.

KINGSTON.—A machine gun was recently manufactured in the Provincial penitentiary at Portsmouth. The genius was an Austrian Pole named Simondski, serving practically a life term. He was assisted by another Austrian. Before the gun was actually completed the prison authorities discovered the handiwork of the pair. When tested the gun fired nails.

Simondski was sentenced at Toronto for burglary, and in August, 1914, he escaped from the Prison Farm by felling two guards and riding off on the sentry's horse. An additional sentence of twenty years was imposed upon him after he was caught at North Bay.

GRAIN MARKET

The grain markets were very lively and very erratic yesterday. Corn opened high at Chicago, but was speedily followed by a sensational run of about 6 cents down. The grain was followed by a sudden reaction, and the markets went up again and passed the opening quotations. Oats followed an equally erratic course. The cause of the whole disturbance was the question of the price to be fixed today by the Food Commission for Febrauray hogs. Even Bolshevism came into the calculation, as it was argued that lower food prices would be the cure for the Russian malady. The feeling of the market, however, was that present prices will be maintained, and this conviction sent the corn shorts to cover.

CATTLE MARKET

Except for a few lots of extra choice heavy and butcher steers, bought for export to the States there was practically no market for the general run of butcher cattle yesterday. At all events, with the exception just noted, there was scarcely a half dozen loads of butcher sold up to the noon hour. Packers' buyer were, in fact, practically out of the market for the time being, and awaiting developments, or for further instructions from headquarters.

There was a light run of sheep and lambs and prices were about steady.

The hog market was steady, mostly on contract at last week's prices. No quotations were given out for to-day's market.

Union Stock Yards—Receipts were 124 cars, with 2,436 cattle, 97 calves, 1,121 hogs, and 230 sheep and lambs.

MRS. BLOCK SAYS HUSBAND HURLED CANTILOUP AT HER

New. York, Jan. 28.—In her eleven years of married life, Mrs. Rose Block told Justice Pendleton in Supreme Court she successively withstood a bombardment of a paper weight, chisel, rule and kitchen utensil but failed to dodge a cantiloupe hurled by her husband, Dr. Alexander Block, from whom she wants a separation.

An unusual feature of the trial, which began here was the appearance of Dr. Block as his own attorney. He conducted the cross-examination of Mrs. Block.

Mrs. Block said that although her husband's income is between $300 and $400 a week, she received from him about forty cents a day to maintain the household being a dependent on her father for clothing. On occasions when her parents were invited to dinner, according to Mrs. Block, her mother had to purchase the foods which were served.

Letter From Pte. W. Simmons

Mrs. William Simmons, Orpington Road, has received the following letter from her husband, Pte. William Simmons, who is at present in Germany:

Germany, Dec. 22, 1919.

Dear Wife,—Just a line to let you know that I am well and hope you are the same. Well dear, we have been on the march since the twelfth of November, 1918. We marched over 300 miles: from Mons to Seiberg, the place we are at now. We are stationed in barracks, and it seems a very nice place. I was in a place called Bohn yesterday, and had a good time. Well dear, I have a new job at present. I am regimental barber and like it fine. I was visiting at Dicks in Essex on my last leave. I was also in Enfield, London, at cousins. I had a good time. I was through the Tower of London, Hyde Park; it is a grand place; but there is no place like Canada and its people. You were asking me when I thought I would be home. Well, I think it will be March or April. We don't get any news till the very last minute. I have not seen Ned for a long time, but I think he is somewhere in Germany. I got the parcels you sent me, but I don't think it is safe to send any more. Well, how is Dad and all the folks. Tell the little ones I got their card, and I will soon be home. Well dear, I think I have told you all for now. Give my best wishes to all at home.—From your loving husband.

Will, 195201, 21st Batt.

PARIS REMEMBERS HOSPITAL BOMBINGS

PARIS, Jan. 25.—An interesting report brought to the attention of the Paris municipal council gives the names of nine Paris hospitals which were hit by German bombs or shells between January 31 and September 15. The report concludes with the words "People of Paris Never Forget."

Mohammedanism and Christianity comes back to a comparison of Mohammed and Christ. To them who follow Mohammed He is their example and teacher. While I was in Egypt I visited the Presbyterian Missions and noted the change Christianity brought to these children of darkness. We sometimes sing "Thou Oh Christ art all I want." As I think of them I cannot help but see and believe that Thou, oh Christ art indeed all they want.

Major H. A. Frost Addressed Epworth League Meeting

At the annual convention of the Peterborough District Epworth League, which opened this afternoon in the George Street Church, Major H. A. Frost, B.A., B. D. gave an interesting address on "Comparison of Mohammedanism with Christianity as observed in Egypt and Gallipoli."

The faith and practice are so closely related, he said, that one cannot compare Mohammedism with Christianity except by considering both. The Mohammedan faith is sixfold: in God, in angels, in the Koran, in Prophets, in resurrection and judgment, in predestination. Mohammedan practice includes prayer, charity, fasting and pilgrimmage. Their conception of God is unity; the old testament colored by Eastern mythology. Mohammed is the last and greatest of prophets even surpassing Jesus Christ. He wrote the Koran as it was revealed to him from Heaven by the angel Gabriel. Most accommodating passages came at the most opportune moments. His followers pray five times a day always bathing the face, hands and feet before each prayer. This outward form is closely observed. Their paradise is the sensuous paradise of ease and gratification of all desires.

More Form.

Such religion lends itself to mere form; the Mohammedan is commanded to drink one drop of wine; I have seen them put their finger in the cup take out a drop and then drink the remainder.

Their school system is simply to memorize the Koran, all sitting tribe fashion around the teacher and all talking aloud. They learn nothing else. Their women are mere chattels which can be bought as wives and divorced at will.

Each man may have as many wives as he can support. I have known girls of twelve years of age to be sold for forty pounds. The comparison of

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS AN ESTABLISHED FACT

The Organization is a Hundred Per Cent. Further Advanced Than It Was Thought Possible Six Months Ago—A Great Political Event.

A DANGER POINT PRESENTS ITSELF

The following despatch sets forth clearly the views of a recognized authority on international affairs concerning the functions and objects of the League of Nations. The writer is the editor of the "Independent," and is a member of the American Society of International Law, the American Association for Labour Legislation and kindred organizations. He is one of the founders of the league to enforce peace:

(By Hamilton Holt—Written for the United Press—Copyright).

PARIS Jan. 28.—The League of Nations is now a fact.

We who have been working consistently to bring such a body into being feel it is a hundred per cent. further advanced than we dared to hope possible six months ago.

A GREAT EVENT.

The meeting of the general Peace Congress Saturday was, in my opinion, the greatest political event since the birth of the United States. It was the birth of the United States of Nations. There were two outstanding things. First, the resolution setting forth the purpose of the League made clear that its initial purpose was the promition of international co-operation. That is the vital spirit in which the League should be conceived; and, second, there was evidence everywhere we investigated—and we have been privileged to talk with the men upon whom the burden of this peace settlement is actually resting; the men doing the work, that the formation of the League will be quickly accomplished and that its results will be sure and far-reaching.

Just one point of danger presents itself, that is, the possibility of the League of Nations being made a League of Governments rather than a League of Peoples. In order to assure the latter, an organization must be devised that will truly and continuously be representative of the peoples of the various countries.

MEET IN PARIS.

It is not a new thing for diplomats to reach decisions by conference or telegraph. What is wanted is an organization by which the direct representatives of the people will meet in Parliamentary session. This must be achieved on the legislative side of the League. For the executive side, Prime Ministers or similar officials are competent to function satisfactorily.

SPARTACANS ARE STILL IN REVOLT.

Armenian Atrocities

Large Bodies of Turkish Jela Tartar Bands in Massacre.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Jan. 28. — Intense anxiety is felt by the Armenians here over reports that large bodies of Turkish troops have joined the Tartar bands and are attacking the Armenian villages. It is feared that still another chapter of atrocities will be added to the Turkish record before the allies are able to relieve the beleaguered Armenian towns. Details are still lacking of the massacre at Baku after the Turks, reinforced by Tartar and German troops had captured the city. Unofficial reports to the Armenian bureau here indicate that about 20,000 people, including a considerable number of Armenian soldiers, were slaughtered in Baku and in the surrounding region.

Superlatives That Are Amusing

Frank L. Jenne Takes His Stand on Real Facts.

Frank L. Jenne says: "Like myself, folks must be amused by the preponderance of superlatives during a sale period.

"Look along any city street in January, or read the paper advertisements and you see 'biggest,' 'finest,' 'best,' most economical,' 'most popular,' 'the greatest.'

"Of course there must be a best, a greatest, a finest of everything, but the mere iteration and reiteration of a superlatives claim will never confer it.

"I sell semi-ready clothes and nothing but semi-ready.

"They have enjoyed a high reputation for 24 years, and their popularity seems to grow each year. One reason for this is that the firm which makes semi-ready is never satisfied unless each successive year shows improvement in quality and value over the preceeding year.

The pdice label in the pocket has been tried by other manufacturers, but given up by them because it enforces upon the maker a uniform standard of quality.

"At my Peace Benefit Sale, which continues all this week ,I am offering semi-ready suits and overcoats at less than their present wholesale value. Naturally it is my intention to hold off buying for next fall in the hope that present costs will sag a bit. And I want to create an impression among cloth manufacturers by acquainting them with a hope that has no present basis of fact.

"My sale of men's furnishings is a sympathetic sale. I do not want to disappoint a single customer. Even though he wanted only a collar button," concluded Mr. Jenne.

THE STRIKE SITUATION

Labour Men Say Present Strike in Britain is in Interests of Demobilized Soldiers.

INDUSTRIAL WAR

Special to the Examiner:

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The industrial war which has broken out in Great Britain and Ireland is the beginning of a fight in the interests of demobilized soldiers. Labour officials declared to-day. They denied that the strikes are in any way connected with Bolshevism.

The strike situation, which resulted in paralysing of shipbuilding and seriously affected other industries, was unchanged early to-day, though it was believed that the trouble would be extended later through a sympathetic walk-out. Nearly two hundred thousand men were on strike in various parts of the country.

The Beginning.

"The strikes are the beginning of British Labour's battle to force capital to provide for demobilized soldiers by shortening the working week," Fred. Bramley, assistant secretary of the British Trade Union Congress, told the United Press.

"Demobilized soldiers will flood the country with idle men, consequently great numbers of jobs must be created. The signing of the armistice abrogated the truce between Labour and the Government. Labour is now free to use force to back up its demands."

100,000 INVOLVED.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Jan. 28. — There are 100,000 people involved in the strike at Belfast and 26 trades are involved. Rioting and destruction are rampant. "This strike is the most serious ever experienced in this city of strikes," a correspondent writes. "Belfast is like a dead city. Its entire social life is paralyzed; theatres and saloons are closed; tram cars are not running; the bakeries and laundries are closing, and there were no afternoon papers on Monday. Only two small editions of the morning newspapers appeared yesterday."

A Later Despatch.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—It is estimated that nearly 200,000 men and women are idle in the United Kingdom and Ireland because of strikes in various trades, creating one of the most serious situations, industrially, that the country has had to face in many years. Half of the strikers are in Belfast, where the strike movement is continuing to spread. The city of Belfast by night is now in virtually total darkness, hospitals being the only places where lights can be shown without danger of attacks by strikers. Everywhere else the display of lights has caused either stoning or storming of premises. In cases where such drastic action was not taken, people were forced by threats to screen their lights. Even in private houses it is not considered safe to use more than one candle, and the supply of candles is rapidly diminishing. There is no change in the situation on the Clyde, where 20,000 shipyard workers are out, nor in other places. Except in London, where the question at stake is one of wages, all these strikes are due to a demand for shorter hours, with the same privileges and wages as prevailed when longer hours were worked.

City Solicitor Is Resigning

Aldermen Report That Mr. G. N. Gordon Has Announced Intention to Retire.

The resignation of Mr. G. N. Gordon as City Solicitor will be presented to the Council at the regular meeting in February according to information received from several Aldermen who stated that he had announced to them his intention of retiring from the city's service. Mr. Gordon succeeded Mr. E. H. D. Hall and during a period of the war had to attend to the entire practice of his office, including the city's legal affairs, single handed. This was due to the enlistment of his partner Mr. C. R. Widdifield and his law student, Mr. John New. Latterly he has been assisted by Mr. J. A. O'Brien and in the meantime Capt. Widdifield has returned home and resumed practice.

In the casual survey of the local field for the choice of his successor the aldermen have mentioned the names of Mr. Widdifield, Mr. S. T. Medd and Mr. Joseph Wearing as possible candidates, but the whole question is in the air, and has not been officially submitted to the Council.

LOST AVIATORS HAVE TURNED UP.

(United Press.)

PARIS, Jan. 28.—Capain Ceori and Lieut. Roget, two French aviators, were forced to land at Mosah, Spain, in an attempted flight from Algiers to Marseilles, according to advices received here to-day. They made the flight across the Mediterranean to Algiers in five hours. They were unreported for more than twelve hours on their return flight and were believed to have been lost.

Lytle Was Sentenced

Accused Pleaded Guilty to Charge of Keeping a Still on His Premises.

The East Peterborough distillery is broken up on account of prohibitory measures.

Matthew Lytle, decrepit and 55 years of age, pleaded guilty to the charge of keeping a still on his premises suitable for the manufacture of spirits.

Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for the defence and Mr. J. Edmund Goodwill conducted the prosecution.

The Crown laid a second charge on the prisoner much to the surprise of the defence. It read: 'You are charged with allowing a still to be on your premises without a license, contrary to the Inland Revenue Act.'

The Last Drop.

"What amazes me is the hunger and thirst of some Crown officials to get the last drop of blood," said Mr. Gordon addressing Magistrate Langley.

On the second charge, the Crown asked for a week's remand which was allowed.

"A man's liberty is something in these days even under Union Government," said Mr. Gordon, remonstrating against the week's remand sought by the Crown.

On the second charge the defence refused to elect, but informed the Court he would have it brought before a jury on February 19th.

A Crude Affair.

On the first charge of having a still in his possession Lytle was fined $200 and $16.99 costs and one month in jail, or in default of payment 6 months in jail which, with the extra month attached, would mean imprisonment for 7 months.

The still produced in court was a crude affair, and consisted of a gasoline can, which was used to hold the mash and was put over the fire; the worm or lead pipe, which carried the vapour which rises from the mash into a condensor which held cold water. The alcohol came out through the end of the worm at the bottom of the "condensor."

The Raid.

Mr. Joseph Stewart, liquor inspector, County Constable Archie Moore and Constable Dixon at Asphodel, made a descent on the Lytle homestead, which is 30 miles from Peterborough in Dummer township. The still was found in the house, and together with the mash was brought to the city. The mash contains ingredients for several kinds of whiskey and it at present being kept under lock and key by Governor Nesbitt, although its pleasing aroma is allowed to tickle the nostrils of the few prisoners.

Bank Tellers Will Count Rug Money

Two Bank tellers from leading Peterborough banks have kindly consented to make official count of the coppers in the big glass jar of the Elliot Store in connection with their Rug Contest which comes to an end Saturday evening coming. It is pleasing to the Elliot management to have such careful and accurate count placed in the hands of bankers accustomed daily to handle huge sums of money and in such manner as they no doubt will use in checking up mistakes will be an impossibility.

Here the Elliot Store Manager stated how enthusiastically the Rug Estimating Contest was received. Never in the history of the store has interest been so great. The very idea of it is good. If you are a shrewd estimator and know coppers and the space they will take up, why, with thirty or forty of those estimates you are practically assured of locating the right amount.

There are four days of it yet, and if the number of estimates increase correspondingly these next few days as they have up to date, the recording office will be literally afloat with estimates. To-morrow will be an extra heavy day as both our own estimates on the big rug and the usual Dollar Day estimates will be given out by the store. Be sure you receive both estimates with your tomorrow's purchases. Dollar Day estimates are white, and those for the rug are green.

RETIREMENT IS ORDERLY

Allies Face Superior Numbers on the Siberian Front.

WEATHER COLD

(Special to Examiner.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. — Further official reports from the Shenkbrak front, where a small force of Americans, British and Russians is fighting a superior number of Bolsheviki, were expected by the officials here to-day. The troops on the Shenkursk front, 5 6th of Archangel, have the situation well in hand, according to the latest information received by Chief of staff March.

Orderly Retirement.

An orderly retirement towardr Archangel is apparently under way. Official despatches from London reported that the American and allied soldiers were driven out of the town of Shenkursk; however, they appeared to be able to hold off the Bolsheviki assaults while slowly falling back. The weather is very cold.

BECOMING CONVINCED.

Officers here are becoming more and more convinced of the futility of maintaining the Archangel expedition. Harkening to the opinion of the people in this country and abroad (particularly the working classes) they are beginning to believe that the Allies and the United States would do well to withdraw unless they intend real intervention.

NO HALTING MEASURES AT HEINTZMAN HALL

What Will be Done on Dollar Day Will Dim Past Performances.

What has been done during the past two years, in volume of business, by Peterborough's popular Heintzman Hall, is an achievement in Piano and Musical Instrument sales, never before recorded in this district. It counts among the biggest, in dollars and cents, and dwarfs all previous efforts to establish a first-class retail musical emporium in our midst. An organization has been perfected which ranks with the largest city retail musical agencies. All of this success is definite, tangible—success that can readily be accounted for. What will be done in the next few years, under the present organization, is confidently predicted to overshadow even past performances. With the strength, reputation, and guarantees of Ye Olde Firme of Heintzman and Co. at its back, there does not appear to be anything to hamper a still larger increased volume of business.

To-morrow, Dollar Day, at Heintzman Hall, will furnish splendid opportunities for wise shoppers. The stock of new Pianos and Organs is an educational study to the musically inclined. Besides, there are the handsome displays of the newest Victor Victrolas and Victor Records and allied supplies. And dollars will have a chance to do double duty in the purchase of second-hand Pianos and Organs, all in good condition.

A liberal discount on all new Upright Pianos with easy terms on Dollar Day sales. Any person buying a $350 Piano will be entitled to 350 Estimating Blanks to Compete for the $175 Purse of Merchants' Prizes.

Note.—For every dollar received in Heintzman Hall on Dollar Day for new or old accounts, One Estimating Blank will be given for competition in the $175 purse of Merchant Prizes.

Heintzman Hall, Royal Bank Bldg., Cor. George and Hunter. B. H. Britton, Manager.

Young Woman Ends Her Life With Bullet

BROCKVILLE, Jan. 28.—The body of Miss Marjorie Hamilton, 35 years of age, a stenographer in the Bank of Montreal, was found yesterday afternoon in a boathouse on the river front, the property of Mrs. Crawford, of Peterborough, half a mile west of town. She was lying face downwards, her right hand clutching a 38-calibre revolver, and with a bullet hole through the right temple.

The young woman while at work Saturday appeared nervous and abstracted and disappeared during the afternoon. As she did not return, search was instituted. She had spent the summer months with Mrs. Crawford, an aunt. She was a daughter of the late William Hamilton, of Belleville, where her mother and two married sisters, Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Thomson, reside. One brother is overseas.

An inquest was opened by Coroner Harding and adjourned until Thursday night. No motive is given for her rash act.

Territorial Questions To Be Disposed of By Supreme War Council

Speedy Solution to Outstanding Questions Necessary for Drawing Up the Preliminary Peace Treaty—French Government Officials Deny Claims to Saar Valley.

(By Fred. S. Ferguson—United Press)

PARIS, Jan. 28. — The Supreme War Council, continuing its sessions to-day, was expected again to take up the disposition of the German Colonies. The "Bureau," as the Council is now officially designated, is understood to feel that early decision on territorial questions is necessary for drawing up the preliminary peace treaty, which will permit demobilization.

Whatever action is taken, however, will conform with the broad principles of the League of Nations, including self-determination. In case any of the contemplated settlements leave controversies and irritations, they will be subject to reconsideration by the League.

TERRITORIAL QUESTIONS.

Territorial questions which may receive early consideration include the adjustment of the boundaries of Poland and the Czecho-Slovak Republic, and the disposition of the German Colonies, both in Africa and the Pacific.

Denials by French Government officials regarding alleged claims to the Saar Valley have taken the form of a declaration that no claims have been presented. There has been no official enlightenment yet on France's position in the matter, but it was asserted in some quarters to-day that the French proposition, as it will be presented to the peace delegates, will provide for the control of the Saar Valley during the period the Lens coal district remains useless because of German vandalism.

ENTIRELY GERMAN.

The French, it is indicated, also plan to have the benefit of certain agricultural lands within the present German border, pending the restoration of the Somme Valley, which was rendered barren by the Germans. All who have seen the Lens district and the Somme Valley sympathize instantly with such a proposal, yet there is a marked hesitation against placing any foreign population under the rule of another, as would be the case, since the Saar Valley is entirely German.

Another question which will have an important bearing on restoring actual peace conditions, is that international banking establishment of credits has become one of the biggest problems before the delegates, as the distribution of food supplies and other relief work is based on this solution. The significance of this work was revealed by the Bureau action yesterday in constituting a new committee for economic and financial questions.

Chinese demands for representation of the special committees have been met through appointments on the League of Nations and Control of Ports, Waterways and Railways Committees. Belgium's success in obtaining representation on all the committees possibly will satisfy her demands, but it is learned that other of the smaller nations will again bring up the subject of fuller representation.

NEW CRISIS BREWING

(By John Grandenz—United Press).

BERLIN, Jan. 28.—A new political crisis was brewing yesterday over the future status of the Workmen's and Soldiers' Councils, in which administrative power has centered since the beginning of the revolution.

Leaders of the Majority Socialists and Democrats—a coalition of whom is expected to dominate the new German Republic — were advocating a programme for abolition, or at least modification, of the Soviets. Meanwhile the Government would be run by the present Cabinet until the National Assembly could establish new governmental machinery.

The Spartacans were throwing what power they still possessed on the side of the Workmen's and Soldiers' Councils.

MASS MEETING.

A mass meeting of Spartacans in Braunschweig yesterday passed a resolution in favour of the continuation of the Soviets until the Socialist revolution is firmly established, regardless of the sitting of the National Assembly.

The majority of the German people apparently are determined that the National Assembly's work shall be absolute, and that the Soviets and present Cabinet alike must bow to its will. In view of this feeling it is believed that the meeting at Weimar may ultimately resolve itself into the first congress of the German Republic.

The Prussian elections yesterday were conducted without enthusiasm. Only a few pamphlets were distributed, and there was no agitation. Unlike the national elections, in which the women elected thirty delegates and gave the Conservatives an unexpected strength, there were few women voting yesterday. The snow kept most of them from the polls. The State elections are not generally considered important naturally.

"AT HOME"

Kulture at the Royal Theatre

Last Chance to See This Wonderful Picture.

Do not fail to take advantage of the opportunity to see 'Kultur' as presented by William Fox, starring Gladys Brockwell. This great photo play is being shown at the Royal Theatre tonight only and will be the last chance to see it. "Kultur" is different from any picture you have ever seen. It is no a "war play" and yet it is based on the stirring events that led up to the world conflict. It goes deep into the workings of the courts of Berlin and Vienna. It is a fascinating picture and one of the best that has been shown in Peterborough for some time. Do not fail to see it this evening at the Royal Theatre.

"Sunny France" at the Grand

Greeted by a capacity house the initial performance in the Grand Opera House last evening, of "Sunny France" a new two act musical comedy written and produced by Mr. Wilson Macdonald and presented under the auspices of the Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E., proved to be a charming play full of real musical merit. Mr. Macdonald is a versatile writer and the tuneful airs of Sunny France will long linger with all who heard "Look out for the Taxi Girl," "Tennis", "My Word," and "Y.O.U." In "Legerdemain" Mr. McDonald displayed his marked ability for sleight of hand work.

The Play.

The first act opens in a cafe in gay Paris before the war. Groups of pretty girls and handsome young men are enjoying all the privileges and pleasures offered by such a resort in the Latin Quarter. Practically every personality identified with Bohemian life is on hand from the charming little mademoiselle to the artist and a hypnotist. The plot, so far as there ever is a plot in a musical comedy, centres round the gift of each girl to her intended of a watch which registers his actions exactly for a year. As the play develops all manner of ridiculous situations arise and the aud is kept convulsed with laughter from from the rising of the curtain to the end.

The Cast

The cast most of whom had never appeared behind the footlights before demonstrated their ability to act in no uncertain manner and had the composure and confidence seldom found in amateurs. To begin with the chorus girls of which there were about one hundred and twenty varying from three years of age to years of more discretion were not only fair to look upon but possessed the ability to act. Of the principals it may truly be said many gave evidence of surprising histrionic power. Miss Meta Richardson in the role of the Fairy Queen was superbly handsome Miss Helen MacLaren made a charming Babette and delighted the audience is kept convulsed with laughter several solos. Mr. Herbert Webb as Fullerton who "no mattr how full any one else was was always a little bit fullet" made a glorious toper and fitted the role with capital effect. Mr. Ed. Hanrahan as the Hypnotist was most realistic while the balance of the cast composed a stage full of beauty of face and figure.

Special Features

The Dance of the Seasons by Miss Esmee Aylmer, in Black, representing the storm, Miss Gladys Mulholland, in Green, representing spring, Miss Marguerite Fanning, in old rose, representing summer, Mrs. Marguerite Birnie, in yellow, representing autumn, and Miss Madge Graham, in white, representing winter, was particularly effective and the different steps were executed without a hitch.

Mr. Mr. Asa Huycke favored the audience with a much appreciated solo.

Repeated To-night.

While last night Mr. MacDonald was hampered to a great extent by several persons attempting to direct the play and countermand his orders this objection has been eliminated and to-night's performance will probably be even better than last night.

The Main Characters.

The cast to-night will be the same as last night:

The Queen of the Fairies Miss Meta Richardson.

Babette, very fashionable and Frenchy—Miss Helen MacLaren.

Maxine, from the city—Miss Ruth Robertson.

Antoinette, from New York—Marquerite Birtlic.

Dr. Shields Will Visit Peterboro

Will Give a Lecture on "The Fall of "Lucifer."

On Saturday evening, January 18th Dr. T. T. Shields gave his lecture on "The Fall of Lucifer" to his own people in Jarvis Street Baptist Church, Toronto. At a quarter to eight the house was packed, and at eight o'clock the doors were closed, leaving almost as many outside the building as were seated in the great auditorium. The chair was taken by Sir Robt. Falconer, the president of Toronto University, who occupied the platform with Dr. Shields in addressing the ocean, and who spoke briefly before introducing the lecturer For over two hours the subject was unfolded by the doctor, and not one person in the house showed any sign of weariness. The pastor of Jarvis Street Church has had the very best opportunity for studying the great war in all of its aspects, and no Canadian has greater talent for imparting in helpful fashion the information in his possession.

So great was the demand for an opportunity to hear this lecture that it was repeated in the same church to another vast audience on Thursday of the following week. Six Toronto churches have since arranged for its repetition at early dates, in spite of the fact that there are terms which cannot be changed in any case. Dr. Shields has used and is using all the proceeds of this work, after his expenses are paid, for the purchase of comforts and conveniences for soldiers who have returned or have come maimed.

It is a pleasure to announce that Dr. Shields will give "The Fall of Lucifer" in Murray Street Baptist Church on Monday evening, February 17th. His Honor Judge Huycke will preside.

American Shot By Spartacans

Was Accused of Interfering in Factional Fight and Usual Consequences Followed.

(United Press.)

BERLIN, Jan 25—(Delayed.)—Lowell Thomas, formerly a Professor at Princeton University, was shot below the heart and dangerously wounded at Bremen last Sunday, it was learned here today. He was saved from the wrath of the Spartacan mob which had attacked him, by Welsh Ashton, of Collier's Weekly. Both had been accused of attempting to cause a split in the Spartacan organization. The trouble during which Thomas was shot, occurred during the National elections and developed into a battle.

MISS PEGGIE O'HARA,

With "My Honolulu Girls," at The Grand Next Saturday.

With "My Honolulu Girl," the musical comedy booked for "The Grand" Saturday, matinee and night February 1st, is Miss Peggy O'Hara, formerly soloist with Mr. Powers' famous Kilties Band. Miss O'Hara is now the prima donna with the musical comedy company and at both performances here, at the request of Manager Turner of the Grand, she will sing "Mother MacCree" and "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling." The young actress is possessed of a wonderfully sweet soprano voice of great power.

During the past three years Miss O'Hara, being loyal to the flag, and with a desire to do her bit, has been singing to the wounded soldiers in the hospitals in Calgary and at Brandon, and for months she drove an ambulance from the trains to the hospitals. Hundreds of Canadian soldiers will remember this patriotic woman. The boys in uniform call her the "Irish Nightingale." Now that the war is over, Miss O'Hara is continuing her good work by caring for three little war orphans at Brandon.

FIREMEN HAVE ORGANIZED A UNION, CHIEF GRANGE REPORTS

The News Was Broken to the Fire, Water and Light Committee Yesday When They Visited the Fire Hall—Platoon System Assured.

ADVANTAGES OF OWN POWER

While the Fire, Water and Light Committee were roaming about the Fire Hall yesterday making their annual inspection of the furnishings and equipment, and incidentally discussing with Chief Grange some of the principal items in his estimates of next year's expenditure, the news was gently broken to the Aldermen that the firemen had organized a Union. It was a sympathetic audience composed of Aldermen Morrison, Gainey and Garside, that received the announcement during a general confab in the backyard. The Chief had been explaining the merits of the electric generating plant which he has recommended as a permanent improvement, when he mentioned the Union, intimating that he had been inclined to dissuade the men from taking this step. Tom Lane, of the Trades and Labour Council, had seen them first, however, according to the Chief's story, and they were proceeding with their plans of affiliating with organized Labour.

The Generating Plant.

Chief Grange's request for a generating plant to operate the department's fire alarm and call systems apparently meets with the approval of the committee. For the current now used in this work the city pays the Bell Telephone Company $150 a year, but with the extension of the alarm system and the overhauling of the call bells in the firemen's houses, the Chief stated that the department should be independent of any private company for its supply of electricity. The Board of Education, he explained, had intimated the need and desirability of installing alarm boxes in all the schools, and otherwise the city was insufficiently protected with boxes. Moreover, with the inauguration of the two-platoon system the number of call bells would be increased, and it was altogether advantageous to equip the station with its own generating plant.

In addition to these reasons, it may be pointed out that the Bell Telephone Company may be forced by its expanding business and consequent demands on its surplus resource of electricity to cancel the present contract with the city. The company, in other words, is approaching the condition in which it will require all its available power for its own business needs, and for that reason alone, it is contended, the city should now procure a generating plant of its own for the Fire Department.

Ald. Morrison, who is chairman of the committee, stated yesterday that the two-platoon system is now practically assured. He expressed the opinion that the estimates should be approved in their entirety, with the exception of several items which the Chief admitted were not absolutely necessary. For example, there is $1,500 in the list for 1,000 feet of hose. The department, however, has 6,000 feet of good hose, and at a previous meeting Mayor Duncan selected this item for erasion.

Chief Grange has not abandoned hope of attending this year's convention in Calgary, only two weeks later than the Chief Constables who will renew old acquaintances in the same town. There was no doubt, he said, that the Police Commission would give Chief Thompson the necessary passports, and, he added, it was surely advisable that the Fire Chief should not be denied the advantage of keeping up with the advances in fire-fighting and other benefits that accrue from these annual assemblies of the Canadian Fire Chiefs. An estimate of $200 has been inserted for the trip.

The Chief has been asking in vain year after year for two smoke helmets and they reappear in the present estimates at $125 each. He said yesterday that he could see no reason why the gas helmets used by the soldiers could not be used by the firemen, but there was no way of securing them from the military authorities. Recent Councils have conceded the need of this protection for the men, but the helmets have always provided a convenient item for "pruning."

It is proposed to make a clean sweep of the department's horses this year, disposing of two of them to the Board of Works, and buying new ones. Other suggestions are under consideration, and will be dealt with at the committee's next meeting at which the estimates will be carefully revised.

Special Meetings At the Temple

In the evening a special meeting will be held commencing at eight o'clock at which Captain Woodley will deliver an address.

Peterboro Juniors Win 8 to 2 In O.H.A. Game at Port Hope

Juniors Victorious After a Hard Fought Game on Soft, Heavy Ice —Score Was Tied at End of First Period, But Petes Outlasted the Ontarios.

RETURN GAME FRIDAY

The Peterborough juniors came through handsomely in their O. H. A. battle at Port Hope last night, beating the Ontarios by 8 goals to 2 in a battle that was staged on very poor ice, soft and full of holes. The conditions favoured the Peterborough gang to a considerable extent as they had the advantage in weight and condition, and the Port Hope aggregation will probably make a much better showing in the return game here on Friday night if the weatherman sends along a fast sheet of ice. The Ontarios have a light, fast team, and on good going will show to much greater advantage than they did on their own rink last night.

While the rotten ice prevented first class hockey, the Peterborough team gave a good account of themselves They took to the heavy going in great style, and although combination was practically out of the question, and accurate shooting was difficult they plugged along at a pace that the Ontarios failed to follow after the first period The Lakeshore bunch got the first goal and held the Petes to a little at the end of the first session, but the maroon and white aggregation drew away in the second period, scoring three goals, while their opponents were blanked, and in the third round they outscored the Ontarios 4 to 1.

All the Petes had a hand in the victory, with Park and Hagerman doing a lot of the work. The two wings were in the battle from start to finish and never stopped trying. Cherrett was marked by the Port Hope gang as the man to be watched, and they succeeded in keeping him from scoring a goal, but at that he tore off some beautiful rushes and kept them so busy that they had no chance to look after the rest of the team Williams was the happiest boy on the ice when he found the nets in the second period for his first goal in an O.H.A. game. The little sub failed to score all last season and he was beginning to think that he was doomed not to get a counter. Girard went out a wild scoring streak in the last period, getting three goals in a row, which established a new record for him as well. The defence pair, Frost and Campbell, both did good work, and Flowers handled himself nicely in the nets. Everybody did well, and if there were any special bouquets to be handed out, they were earned by Hagerman and Park on the consistently good hockey they played.

The Ontarios were light and fast and did not relish the heavy going. At that they made matters worse for themselves. They had evidently been instructed to to try to stop the Petes by body-checking and this against a heavier and better conditioned team was poor tactics, as the Ontarios tired first. They have a nice goal tender in Coupland, and a couple of hard-checking defence men in the persons of Sherry and Irving. Southwell, the little left wing player who played for Oshawa last year, was the best of the forwards. He is fast and did some great back-checking. Hills in centre —you never heard of a Port Hope junior team without a Hills on it— played good hockey all the way.

A regrettable feature of the game, and a feature that had an unpleasant aftermath, was the injury to R. Ware, the right wing player of the Ontarios, in the first period. In attempting to stop Frost with a body check, Ware was knocked out in the collision and had to be carried off the ice. It was feared that he was hurt internally and he was removed to the hospital for observation.

The teams lined up as follows:

Referee—Lou Marsh.

Police Magistrate White, of Port Hope, faced the puck after a brief speech, in which he referred to the number of hockey players who had answered the call of king and country.

The Petes assumed the aggressive at the outset and Coupland had a couple of shots to handle, blocking them nicely. Then Frost and Campbell were benched for tripping, and with the Peterborough defence pair both in the penalty box, the Ontarios opened the scoring, Hills got away, and although Flowers made a nice stop of the first shot, Hills slipped the rebound in to the nets.

Sherry, of the Port team was chased for tripping. The Petes had several chances to score, but could not beat Coupland until Hagerman, taking a pass at centre from Frost, galloped through the Port Hope defence and found the nets with a quick shot. The Petes had a decided edge on the play for the balance of the period, but could not score. Ware was hurt and replaced by Horgan. The period ended with the score unchanged.

The Peterborough gang took the lead early in the second session. They had several chances before Park took Coupland's measure after the Port Hope goalie had blocked the first shot, the puck rolling back to Park, who slammed it into the nets.

It was 3 to 1 a minute after when, following a face-off near the Port Hope nets, Frost passed back to Park, whose shot bulged the nets.

Girard was penalized, but there was no damage done while he was off Cherrett nearly scored twice in succession after rink length rushes, but his shots were blocked. Finally Williams made it 4 to 1. Coupland blocked a shot and Park, following in fast, knocked the rubber out of his hands, and Williams was on the puck in a flash and batted it into the nets.

Frost left his ankle and retired for the rest of the game just before the period ended.

The early part of the last session showed the Petes pressing strongly. Early in the period Girard came down alone, and shooting from outside the defence, followed in fast and netted the rubber before Coupland could clear.

Girard came right back a minute later on a lone rush, going right inside for a nice goal.

Coupland turned aside a close range shot from Park when the latter had beaten the defence. Park got through again a minute later and Coupland blocked again, but Girard was on the job to drive the rebound home. That made it 7 to 1, and then Port Hope rallied and for the next few minutes Flowers had a number of drives to handle. Finally he was chased to the penalty box for slashing, but Port Hope could not score, Girard stopping the only shot they got on the nets. Flowers came back, and shortly afterwards Sherry beat him with an accurate shot from well out.

Shortly before time was called, Hagerman scored the last goal for Peterborough after a nice rush.

A Peculiar Proceeding

Accidental injury to Port Hope Hockey Player Results in Charge Against Local Boy.

Some one in Port Hope, Mayor Burnham, it is stated, was responsible for the pulling off a very peculiar piece of business in connection with the Port Hope-Peterboro Junior O.H.A. game last night. Half was through the first period, when Frost of the Peterboro team, was tearing down the ice with the puck. Ware, the little right wing player of the Ontarios undertook to stop him with a body check. As Frost weighs 175 pounds and is a very speedy skater, the result can be imagined. Ware got all the worst of the collision, and had to be taken out of the game. Similar incidents take place in every hockey game, and in this particular case, Referee Lou Marsh, recognizing that Frost was in no way responsible for the accident, did not even rule him off.

To the surprise of the Peterboro team, however, when the game was over, the Port Hopers' chief of police took Frost in charge on a complaint of assault laid against him, it is said, by the Mayor.

To the credit of the Port Hope Hockey Club officials, it may be said that they did their utmost to prevent this action as did Referee Marsh, who unequivocally informed the authorities that there was not the slightest justification for the move, the injury to Ware being an accident for which the Peterboro player was not responsible.

The report sent out from Port Hope as to the incident is utterly wrong. The version sent to the Toronto papers says that Ware was making a rush when he was hurt. As a matter of fact it was Frost who was carrying the rubber and the Port Hoper was hurt in trying to stop him.

Representatives of the Local E. L. Committee

Chairman—Rev. A. J. Thomas, M. A., B.D.,

Secretary—Mr. N. J Ireland, B.A.

In the afternoon Reverend Mr. F. E. Malott spoke on "The Epworth League as a Training School for Citizenship.

Mr. Malott began his address by speaking of the great privilege of living in Canada and of being a citizen of this land of opportunity. He deplored the fact that so many lack the true spirits of patriotism and deserve the scorn that Sir Walter Scott expressed in his famous lines. The man most to be envied to-day is the youth who has before him a life-time in this great land. He then dwelt upon the responsibilities of citizenship and quoted Bishop Phillips Brooks' description of a good citizen. He is a man of clear convictions, clear conscience, unselfishness and activity. Citizenship means more than residence in a country and more than merely having the right to vote. Citizenship means service and Canada offers one of the finest fields in the world for the investment of influence. "The young people of to-day," said the speaker, "will be the citizens of to-morrow. To be good citizens they will need two things, the unselfish spirit of which Phillips Brooks speaks, and training."

Mr. Malott then spoke of the training that is needed for citizenship and declared that the constitution of the Epworth League provides for that training. The object of the League is according to the constitution, "to increase the usefulness of our young people in the service of God and humanity.' Each department contributes something towards that end, but the fourth or citizenship department aim definitely at the making of good citizens. In closing Mr Malott urged upon all present the study of the problems of citizenship and expressed the hope that the leagues of the district would work the citizenship department better than ever.

Reeve McIntosh Elected Warden For Year 1919

John McIntosh, Reeve of North Monaghan, was elected Warden on the ninth ballot at the opening session of the County Council this afternoon. The contest had swayed with varying fortunes between Mr. McIntosh and Reeve B. W. Squire, of Norwood. Some of the earlier ballots gave Mr. Squire majorities, once they were tied, but the last three ballots were in favour of Mr. McIntosh by votes of 7-6, 8-7 and 9 to 7, respectively.

For election it was necessary that a candidate for the wardenship receive a majority of the votes of the Council whose total membership is eighteen. Hence ten votes for any nominee were required for election. But Reeve Bullied had neglected to bring his qualification papers, and on the ninth ballot Mr. McIntosh had a majority of the seventeen members who had qualified and were entitled to vote. Hence Mr. E. A. Peck, County Solicitor, when asked for an opinion on the seeming stalemate, declared that Mr. McIntosh had the necessary majority in the last vote of 9-7, and the Clerk announced Monaghan's Reeve as Warden for 1919.

Farmers and Packers Must Unite While Markets Are Extended

Herbert Hoover Discusses the Problem of Excess Surplus Created Through War Effort—Contention That Allies Should Continue Buying Pork Despite Accumulated Stock and Lack of Need.

PUTS UNITED STATES FIRST

Paris, Jan. 28.—Herbert Hoover, Director-General of the International Relief Organization, gave out the following statement.

"The dominating food problem in the U.S. at this moment is a very much bigger problem than the Chicago packers. It is a problem of the American Farmer.

"If the packer's profit of two or three per cent on his turnover is too high, it is the duty of Congress to tax it out of him. If the farmer's level of a fair return, it behooves the country to do some quick, clear thinking.

"The perplexities arising out of inability to demobilize totally the food situation of the world in the period between the armistice and peace make the farmers' position in the matter of much more immediate concern than the future of the Chicago packers.

PATRIOTIC EFFORT

"Taking it broadly, beforee the European war began we exported about five million tons of food a year. This year we are prepared to export at the rate of from fifteen to twenty millions of tons. The increase represents the patriotic service of the American farmer, plus the voluntary sacrifice of the average American under the stimulation of the pleas from the Allied Governments that without an enormous increase in our food supply the very lives would be menaced.

"The submarine had so shortened the world's shipping that the Allies were unable to reach the distant markets of the southern hemisphere, and we were bound to create in America sufficient food to carry Europe. If the war had gone on every pound of it and more would have been required by the Allies before the next harvest.

"The armistice came suddenly, freeing shipping from military use and reopening to the Allies the cheapest southern hemisphere and the colonial market, where, in addition, they could have more liberal credits and no bids.

FACE SERIOUS PROBLEM

"We are thus faced with a serious problem with respect to our own great supplies, patriotically accumulated. If an early peace is signed and the markets of Europe are opened freely to trade there will be a greater demand for food from the new mouths than even this surplus could supply. But in the period between the armistice and peace we have a very different situation.

One of the most critical food shortages in the world was that of fats, and the only help lay in an increase in the American hog. Our agricultural department and the food administration spared no efforts to stimulate this production. Our farmers were assured that in the general shortage, subject only to the uncertainties of war, they should experience no difficulty in marketing their products. Due to the savings of our people and the gradual increased production of our farmers, we have lifted our ability to export, from 50,000,000 pounds of fats per month in the summer of 1917 to 400,000,000 pounds per month in this January.

PACKERS MOBILIZED

"To achieve this mobilization of fats it was necessary to mobilize the packers, as well as the farmers. There is no doubt that the vast volume of business brought profit to the packers, although at a less percentage than before the food administration took charge of it.

"The Allied nations in order to effect regular supplies to their people in the face of short shipping and to provide for Government rationing, were compelled to take over the entire purchase of these food supplies and thereby abandon the ordinary flow of trade and commerce. In consequence they concentrated their buying through agencies was so great of these buying agacies was so great that they controlled the price.

"The business of the food administration was to bring these buying agents, the representatives of the farmers, who are predominantly interested, and the great and small packers together and to see to it that a square deal was obtained all round. The prices were settled in a joint conference of the farmers, the representatives of the Allies' buyers, and the great and small packers under the general arrangement that packer was allowed but a quarter of a cent a pound over and above the price to the farmer and the cost of raw material and labor for packing. The Allies took the entire surplus.

CHANGED OVERNIGHT

"The situation changed overnight with the armistice. The Allies are not only seeking the southern hemisphere markets, but they have also lately accumulated large stocks of fats as an insurance against the submarine menace. Freed from this menace, and with the shortage of finance experienced by all governments, together with a loss on the shortage of accommodities by deterioration, there is a natural desire on their part to reduce their stocks.

"Other factors have entered into the situation. For instance, the inactive armies and munition workers are consuming less fats, and the vegetable is freed for human consumption. This came upon us immediately with the armistice in early November, in the midst of our heaviest hog marketing season, which lasts from October until March. When I left home for Europe in November this problem was already facing me as one among many others for which assistance had to be found, in the protection of our American farmers, lest from failure to find a market for his products during the wider markets of peace his prices might fall below his cost of production, entailing great waste of surplus commodities.

PROTECTING FARMER

We have found it possible to protect the American farmer in the two and one-half months since the armistice. This we have done by cooperating with the allies, in opening wider markets to neutral countries, and by relief shipments into the liberated territories. The next and last two weeks of the high fat production season will be still more difficult to manage, as peace conditions cannot be expected in that time, restoring extended markets.

SHORTAGE OF FATS

On the other hand five-sixths of this problem is already completed and by next May if we have peace and freedom any surplus that accumulates now will be turned into another world shortage of fats Indeed if the entire consuming population of the world were able to obtain fats to-day there would be a shortage at this moment, even with our great surplus production.

Numerous solutions have been proposed. It has been considered that the Allied Governments should continue to purchase the surplus production of pork products, despite the accumulated stocks and lack of immediate need, and thus protect the American farmer against the surplus provided especially for them. It has been contended that they are under moral obligations to execute the forecasts for the requirements given from time to time through their various agencies.

EXCESS PRODUCTION

"The allies can, however, contend that they also have great problems of excess production in commoditiies, such as munitions, which they have likewise produced under war pressure. They con contend that we have jointly fought and won the war; that this is sudden, and catches us all with a vast production, which must be faced and liquidated by each of us without undue pressure, one against the other; that they, like ourselves, are entering a period of large employment during the readjustment, and that their people, like ours, need lower food prices.

"The real solution lies in the hope of early peace, and in the meantime, the steady demobilization for all restrictions on free marketing of surplus foods, except in enemy territory, thus re-establishing the law of supply and demand.

RESTRICTIONS REMOVED

"Practically all restrictions on American food exports have been removed. Progress has been made in lifting neutral blockade restrictions, and further relaxations of blockade measures are under earnest consideration. The readjustment of buying agencies is hoped for, in order that merchants may enter on trade freely on both sides and thus secure a normal basis of price determining without any dominating influences.

"It is, however, no more possible to demobilize in a week the whole of these intricate forces set up during the war, than it is to demobilize our army by dismissing it on the field. And, pending these solutions, our American farmers, merchants, packers and banks simply must stand together for two or three months to carry our excess surplus over until the markets of the world have been more extended and finally liberated by peace. The meeting of farmers and packers' representatives called at Chicago on Tuesday has to consider these problems."

Press Agents Running Wild on Both Sides of the Ocean

They Make Our Statesmen Do Funny Stunts, But Add a Little to the Gaiety of Nations.

Ottawa, Jan. 28.—This plethora of press agents may yet prove the Government's undoing. At present its province appears to be to add to the gaiety of nations. But laughter improperly directed is sometimes more deadly than dynamite. And the laughter just now now is drifting to a quarter just now is drifting to a quarter than one after-war industry. For there is keen competition among the various branches of the Press Agents Department, and the thin sharp line between the sublime and the ridiculous is more and more in danger of being broken, even if it has not already been pierced at a point or two.

HE GRABBED NAPOLEON

It was a press agent's inspiration that made H. J. Daly, another Napoleon, and proceeded to endow the Director of Repatriation with all the attributes of a world conqueror. Trouble was it roused th e publicists attached to other minor personages to greater efforts. The possibilities of comparison were perhaps exhausted, but there remained great deeds for great men to do. And a publicist who can't make his hero do an occasional stunt is only an apprentice to the trade.

So the publicists attached to the train and person of Sir. Robert Borden got busy. They were giving their native land the absent treatment and possibly thought at such a long range they could afford to be a trifle careless.

TOO MUCH ICE

Anyway under the ocean's cruel waves was flashed the glad tidings that the Premier's statesmanship was to secure Greenland as Canada's share of the war indemnity. It was a long shot in more ways than one. But it hit Canada on the funny bone. It is a mild winter all right, but the idea that the Dominion wished to add to her northern stores of ice was such a huge joke that it brought gales of laughter. That idea "got the hook."

THINKING STATESMANSHIP

But the overseas publicists were not discouraged. I took them days to think up more statesmanship for our esteemed premier. But they're prolific thinkers. And in a day or two again the cables started to talk. This time Sir Robert was turning the lining out of his pocketbook to lend the Roumanians a trifle of $25,000,000 in order that they might buy Canadian goods. This looked like a triumph. Then it occurred to someone to ask who was going to collect the $25,000,000 when it fell due. This was a detail that the publicist hadn't thought of. But after Roumania had been looked up in Bradstreet's official Ottawa got busy and a domestic brand of press agent gleefully announced "There's nothing to it"

These two setbacks held the overseas bunch for a while and they kept comparatively quiet. They confined themselves in fact to a couple of thousand words of cable telling how our rPemier was making the Peace Conference sit up and bark and do other little tricks that none other than a well-trained and thoroughly influenced conference could be expected to do. You were not a bit surprised when Sir Robert sat out and let Sir George Foster, Hon. Al. Sifton and even Premier Lloyd, of Newfoundland, have seats around the table. Why should he bother about a mere seat at a conference that was swinging to the dictates of his master mind?

JOHN W. GOT BUSY

Of course, there has been a certain lack of detailed evidence to prove that all this was happening. But it is coming in at last—coming from the mighty pen of Chief Press Agent John W. Dafoe. And as John W. doesn't trouble with minor matters it is not surprising that the European menace, the Bolsheviki is the first to receive his attention. John W. tells us that it was the Borden statesmanship that furnished the solution of Bolshevism, the Borden force of eloquence that swayed the Allies to accept this solution.

And how simple it all was to the master mind. All that was necessary was to call the Bolshevists into the conference and talk to them as men and brothers; to tell them quietly and sincerely that riot and robbery and murder were not mile posts on the road to liberty; to advise them to take a bath and a shave and hie themselves back to the forge and the plow, or if necessary, to editing the Bolshevist sheets in dingy offices up dark stairways.

WASN'T IT EASY?

Simple, isn't it? But all problems are simple to great minds. And even if Sir Robert Borden hasn't one of these great minds his press agent has. Anyway we are assured that the idea "got over" and the Bolsheviki are to be gathered within the compass of Sir Robert Borden's eloquence. If you've ever been there you'll know what that means.

Now some people have been inclined to take sinister meanings out of all this. They have been tracing connections between police courts that sentenced disturbers in Toronto, cabinet councils that sat as higher police courts and reduced sentences at Ottawa, and a Premier in Europe who urged "a good talking to" as the best means of restoring Russia and putting the Bolshevik back where it belonged—at work.

BLESSED ARE THE P.A.'s

But don't blame the Premier. He may not have been as busy as on his former visit to Europe. The banquets have not been so numerous. But his press agents, urged on by competition in the home market, have been working overtime. And even as no man is a hero to his valet, so every man must necessarily be a hero to his press agent. They may make him do funny stunts at times, but they never let him quit "heroing." And as the ancients were wont to remark "Blessed are the peace-makers," so we moderns echo "But yet more blessed are the press agents."—Toronto Telegram.

Live Stock in Canada Must Be Increased

That the live stock herds of Canada must be increased, and backyard activities encouraged is evident from reports of conditions in Europe. In their withdrawal from Belgium the Germans tried to take away all the remaining hogs from the Western part of the country except those hidden by the peasants in underground caves. It can be said almost literally that horses have disappeared out of Belgium, only about 15 per cent. of the original number of animals now being left. The French Government is endeavouring to obtain some cattle from Switzerland and horses from the various armies, which, together with the meagre supply of agricultural implements, may enable the population to get in some portion of next year's crops in such of these areas as are not too badly destroyed by battle.

THE VICTIMS OF LA GRIPPE

Every winter la grippe sweeps over Canada like a scourge, leaving behind hundreds of health-wrecked victims. Ask any of those who have been attacked by la grippe what their present condition of health is and most of them will answer: "Since I had the grip I have never been well." This trouble leaves behind a persistent weakness of the limbs, bad digestion, shortness of breath, and palpitation of the heart, caused by the thin-blooded condition in which grip almost always leaves its victims after the fever and influenza have subsided. They are at the mercy of relapses and complications, often very serious. This condition will continue until the blood is built up again, and for this purpose nothing can equal a fair treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. From first to last does these pills make new, rich red blood, which reaches every organ and every nerve in the body. Thus the lingering germs are driven from the body, and the weak, despondent victims of la grippe are transformed into cheerful, healthy happy men and women.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills may be had by all [illegible] dealers, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ADVERTISING CHURCHES

In the United States the question of larger congregations is by no means dead, but very much alive. It is being recognized more and more as an effective and legitimate means of extending their good work. Thus The Tampa Tribune draws attention to the following quotation from a Chicago paper:

"The Chicago Church Federation will spend $18,000 in a church adertising campaign in newspapers, on posters and by electric signs. It will establish a permanent commission on church advertising andpublicity, having as its members business men who are used to advertising on a large scale. Part of the campaign will be along the line of an effort to win 25,000 new church members by Easter. Six hundred churches are represented in the Federation."

The people of Chicago are usually considered to be level-headed, enterprising and capable of finding out the best methods of attaining any particular objects. It is therefore a plain hint to the churches of Canada that are so constantly crying out for increase in members when these people are seen forming "a permanen commission on church advertising. to obtain this. The Tampa Tribune puts it neatly when it says that they are prepared to pay fifty cents in advertising for each member, and it has not the slightest doubt as to the result.

The value of advertising is becoming appreciated rapidly; this can be seen by the manner in which it was used to obtain recruits in Great Britain at the commencement of the war. by its use in finding the war loans there, and the Liberty and Victory ones on this side and by the Dominion Government's advertisements as to the methods and progress of its reconstruction work. Other examples could be quoted, but these are given as examples of what the authorities handling vast and important matters have now come to think of the value of advertising. It should follow that churches should recognise this, too; it has been said that "Promise, large promise is the soul ofean advertisement," what larger, grander, and more sublime promise has any one to offer than the churches.—Kingston Standard.

CANADA'S UNKNOWN HEROES.

The announcement a short time ago that Major Barker, of New Brunswick, had been presented with the Victoria Cross by the King was probably read by thousands of Canadians who did not know that the gallant airman from the Maritime Provinces had been the central figure in one of the most astounding exploits in the history of the war. The story of his adventure was published just before the armistice was signed. but owing to the censorship the identity of the hero was not given—in fact it was not even stated that he was a Canadian. Here is the recital of the amazing battle against great odds fought by Major Barker, as told by Philip Gibbs, the famous English war correspondent:

One exploit is now known of the army, and it seems to me as wonderful as anything that has been done by these knights-errant of the air. It happened over the Forest of Mormal, in British hands since yesterday, and there, over those dense woods with a queer kind of Eiffel Tower in the centre of them, flew a Major of one of the British flying squadrons, searching for the whereabouts of the British troops and for any German fighting plane which he might challenge to a duel.

He saw a two-seater, flying at 1,000 feet to escape the "Archies" and any other trouble, and the Major climbed up to it in a wide spiral and then from below fired at it. The German pilot and observer fell, their machine breaking in the air, and one man dropping in a parachute. Immediately a Fokker biplane came into view, and the Major heard the whistling of bullets through his plane, and then felt a hammer stroke on his left thigh. He had been hit, and for the moment was stunned.

His airplane began to spin out of control, but the Major became conscious of his danger, and, instinctively touching his levers, again got his grip on the engine. Then he saw that he was surrounded by fifteen Fokkers, crowding about him for the death shot. His defence was by attack, and by a marvellous manoeuvre he got his shots in first, and three enemies fell, but machine guns were chattering about him and bullets singing past his wires.

Another hammer blow struck him, this time shattering his left thighbone. He fainted clean away and his machine dived helplessly but once again the spirit of the man awakened to the instinct of self-preservation and anger against those who were out to kill him. He handled his machine again, mastered it, and looked out for the Germans.

From twelve to fifteen enemy scouts were in his sky, taking up the hunt for him. He flew at one, and saw his burst of fire set it alight, so that it began falling in flame. At the same time bullets were about him like wasps. One of them smashed his left elbow, and his arm dropped and hung loose and useless.

With one hand he managed now to steer and shoot against a new swarm of enemies that came like midges. He dived steeply to escape them, but eight more scouts chased him down. He could not avoid them, so he fought them. He fought by manoeuvring for position with every stunt known to airmen with a little morning wildness in their hearts, but this was cold, deadly skill. It was watched by ground observers, who held their breath at the sight of that one British airplane, banking, nose diving, looping, with the flock of Germans about it.

For ten or twelve minutes he juggled with his airplane to get his target among the vultures. He hit two and put them out of action, and then they had had enough, and he landed successfully. But when his machine came to a rest he did not jump out. He sat all crumpled up, with his head drooping, and it was on a stretcher that he went away. He is now in a hospital, gravely wounded, and every man out here who knows how he fought between fifty and sixty hostile aircraft and destroyed four and drove down six hopes with all his heart that this air knight will recover from his wounds.

This is only one among hundreds of stories of the gallantry of Canada's fighting men, of which nothing is known by the people at home. The rigid censorship would not permit the details of their exploits to be published while the conflict was still raging. It is to be hoped that the stories have not been lost for ever, but will now be given publicity. Did you ever realize how little you really know of the glorious deeds that Canadians have accomplished over there? How many Examiner readers could name off-hand even five of the sixty-two Canadians who have been awarded the Victoria Cross? And how many could tell any of the details of the deeds which earned the decorations?

It is true that in connection with the granting of the coveted Cross, the terse official recital of the exploits were given, but the story mentioned neither place nor date. Even the name of the battalion of which the hero was a member was suppressed, and the bald narrative gave little idea of the splendor of the feats performed.

Of the adventures of our airmen we have heard something, but the whole story has not been told. We have been allowed to learn a little of the exploits of Bishop, but of Barker and Colmshaw, and of all the other knights of the air, the people of Canada have very small knowledge. And about our heroes who fought with rifle and bayonet and bomb we know less.

The stories of all these gallant deeds should not be lost. Canadians should know all about the exploits of her sons in France. Our school readers should contain descriptions of some of the most noteworthy of these adventures so that future generations will know how heroically the sons of Canada fought in the greatest of all wars. It is but justice to the heroes that the tale of their bravery should now be given to the world.

German Secrets Exposed At Last

Discoveries made by the Allied Naval Commission, when they visited the German ports in the North Sea and Baltic to secure the carrying out of the armistice terms are now revealed.

A piquet boat flying the Imperial naval ensign of Germany came along side half an hour after the Hercules had anchored, and the short, heavy-set officer who was first up to the gang-way turned out to be Rear-Admiral Goette, who headed the German commission which met that of the Allies at both Wilhelmshaven and Kiel.

There were a number of terms of the armistice which Admiral Goette or his advisers, when first they were seated at the long table in Admiral Browning's cabin, declared they were absolutely incapable of fulfilling, but one by one these were reduced as the inflexible purpose of the Allied Commission brought home to them the utter futility of tactics even remotely bordering on bluff.

Slow Progress.

The search of warships continued the following day, and parties were also despatched for the inspection of airship and seaplane stations. These latter involved journeys of considerable distance, and although special trains were provided the condition of the rolling stock and engines made progress very slow.

It may be stated that no members of the commission report having observed any evidence of under-feeding in even such industrial centres as Hamburg and Bremen, and that through most of the country traversed the people appeared to be as well fed and dressed as in England and France. Such stock as was seen was also in good condition, land generally was carefully cultivated and highly fertilized, and those winter crops already in were making fine growth as a consequence of unusually mild weather.

Warship and merchant ship inspections were over at Wilhelmshaven in a couple of days, but the visits to air stations on the North Sea side took some time longer. The Norderney seaplane station was reported by comparing most favorably with any other of the kind in France or England, while the great Nordholz Zeppelin station is beyond comparison the finest in the world. It was from here that practically all the England-bound raiders started, and not the least interesting sight observed there by the sub-commission was the famous L 14, with twenty-four visits to England to its credit. It was practically the only survivor of the first raiders.

Through the Canal

The passage by the Hercules of the Kiel Canal was an occasion as memorable as historic. British light cruisers had made the passage in 1914, just before the war, but the Hercules was the first British battleship to ruffle its brown-black waters, just as were the Verdun and Viceroy the first destroyers. The people along the canal banks were for the most part indifferently curious, but hand-waving and smiles from women and children were by no means infrequent.

The most interesting of other places visited was the great experimental station at Warnemunde, where all the new types which the Germans have had in process of development were seen and inspected. Permission to visit this under protest.

The submarine commission under, Lieut.-Commander Bower, pushed its investigations assiduously at Hamburg, Bremen, and other points with the results that some scores of U-boats—mostly nearing completion—hitherto undeclared by the Germans were found and reported Admiral Goette protested to the last against the giving up of these, but at the final conference the Allied Commission carried their point, and these potential pirates will be delivered in British ports as fast as they become ready for towing.

With Other Councils

Monthly Welcome Dinner.

Mayor Hammond of Chatham is in favour of having a civic dinner once a month for soldiers coming home during the month instead of trying to extend the welcome to each party coming home. Confusion of relatives claiming the soldiers is one of the reasons for the proposal, which seems to meet with approval.

Londoners Want It Now.

A petition signed by several thousand citizens in favour of the two-platoon system for the London Fire Brigade was placed in the hands of the City Clerk, S. Baker, on Wednesday. There has been an agitation for the adoption of this plan for some time, since Toronto and other larger cities considered it for their departments.

An Electric Welcome Sign.

A huge electric sign bearing the word "welcome" has been erected at Owen Sound at the 2nd Avenue street east, between posts in front of Oak Hall and the Brunswick Cigar store by the Utilities Commission, as a greeting to returned soldiers. The sign is about five feet in height with a wooden frame on which is stretched a wire netting, and to this netting are attached the large wooden letters illuminated with about fifty or sixty electric bulbs. At the end of the sign is a large figure of a woman, backed by crossed British flags with the words "Owen Sound." On her helmet and with a huge shield in front bearing the emblem. "Welcome to Our Soldiers From France." On the other end of this welcome sign is a huge figure of a soldier with a steel helmet and rifle and kit complete and with his face denoting happiness at returning home.

Dancing in the School.

The question of allowing the High school pupils to use the auditorium of the Alexandra school for dancing, occasionally, in the evening, has been brought before the School Board by a deputation of students. Frankly, the News favours such an indulgence being granted to the pupils. The young people are going to dance, anyway, and it is hard to conceive of a place where they could follow this form of where they could follow this form of auspices.—Medicine Hat News.

A City Hall Dance.

An atmosphere of subdued excitement pervades the city hall to-day, and every one of the staff seems to be charged with electric energy. The reason is not far to seek; to-night is the night when the girls of the city hall staff give their annual dance to their friends and to the male staff of the city service. This is not a public dance, but the title to a invitation as an invitation extended by one of the girls of the city hall, and, as usual, a bid to this select dance is a thing to be mighty proud of. It means that the recipient has been admitted as a friend to the select circle that graces the civic offices, than which there is no higher seat of worthiness and excellence. As hostesses, the girls have proved their capabilities several times and the bidden guests can be assured that they will spend as enjoyable an evening as they ever did at any dance in the city.—Fort William Times.

MEN WHO ARE COMING HOME

The men who come back will want to "come back" industrially, and it is the duty of every Canadian to see to it that they do have every opportunity to come back into civilion life, without handicaps, and without friction.

The Government some time ago organized a department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment to handle these problems, and to that end it is devoting its energies.

This committee sees to it that the sick are made well, the wounded healed. The men who have lost limbs or sight, or suffer other physical handicaps are provided with limbs, and other equipment to overcome so far as can be done the difficulties of their positions. The discharged soldie ris followed up by the pension board, and the medical department to see that his condition and his circumstances are satisfactory.

New Limbs.

When he is well, and equipped with his new limbs, he is given a course in vocational training, if he so desires. Many do. They are taught how to make themselves self supporting, in fact, many unskilled labourers have been given trades, and their efficiency and earning powers have been greatly enhanced.

The Repatriation committee is now engaged in looking after the uninjured soldiers who will come back to Canada by the hundreds of thousands in the next year. The men want jobs, not sympathy. They want work, not speeches.

In this work every man, every citizen of Canada will give his assistance. If you know of a good job, which a returned soldier can fill, notify the soldier. That's all that is needed just now.

A job for every soldier and every soldier in a job—that's the idea.

NIAGARA FALLS' POLICE APPROPRIATION

Chief of Police Laing of Niagara Falls, has received an increase of $200 in his salary which is now $1,600. Two other officers are paid $1,400 on three others $1,320. Each got an increase of $300. The department's estimates for the year are $15,045 as compared with last year's expenditure of slightly more than $8,000.

ZUCKER SENTENCED TO 15 YEARS IN PRISON FOR DISLOYAL SPEECH

Judge Garvin Calls Talk by Socialist Before Labor Lyceum in Brownsville "Vile."

New York, Jan. 28.—Morris Zucker who was convicted in Federal Court Brooklyn of violation of the Espionage law, was sentenced to fifteen years on each of the four counts by Judge Garvin. The terms are to run concurrently. Zucker will go to the Maryland State Penitentiary. Louis Boudin, counsel for Zucker, filed notice of appeal.

The court room was packed with socialists, and Marshall Power had all of his available deputies distributed about the room, but there was no demonstration.

Zucker received the sentence without much apparent concern. His attorney had previously spoken for an hour, asking that the verdict be set aside on the grounds that the war was over when Zucker made the inflamatory speech before the Labor Lyceum in Brownsville, Brooklyn, on Thanksgiving Day. After he had finished Judge Garvin said:

"We cannot tolerate such talk as this man used in his speech. We will not tolerate any man who ridicules our soldiers and seamen. The speech was vile in its ridicule of the men who fought for this country."

For your guidance in estimating, we might say that The Examiner is printing and distributing to the Merchants, for use on Dollar Day, 25,000 blanks, and it is only necessary to estimate what number each purchaser thinks will be used on the great day. Should any store run short of blanks, The Examiner will print more, so that the number printed might reach as high as 40,000. The number of estimates put in the last Dollar Day Campaign was in the neighbourhood of 10,000. With this information, an estimate can be made before doing your shopping. Of course as many estimates can be made as the purchaser has blanks, and they will get one with every Dollar purchase they make.

Make up your mind what and where you want to buy and come to Peterborough on Wednesday, January 29th, expecting the greatest economy shopping event of your lives.

Man Sought As Girl's Slayer Is Not Necessarily Insane

NEW YORK, Jan. 23—The man sought by the entire police force of the city for the brutal murder of Mary Elizabeth Riddell, Richmond Hill girl, on Wednesday night last, was not necessarily a maniac, in the opinion of Dr. Herman C. Evarts, alienist, and assistant superintendent of the Manhattan State Hospital at Ward's Island.

"The perpetrator of such a crime must of course be a brute, but it does not follow that he was necessarily insane in the technical sense," said Dr. Evarts.

The police have undertaken, as a part of their sweeping investigation of the crime, to trace all persons recently released or paroled from hospitals for the insane in this section. They think the murder was committed by a man recently from an institution.

Many clews were followed up but none led to the identity of or arrest of Miss Riddell's slayer. The search is being continued vigorously by the police. Several persons who were questioned by the police were released afterward.

Car Transfer a Clew.

The detectives believed a street car transfer which was found in the lot where the murder was committed may help in the search. It was issued Wednesday, the day of the murder, on the De Kalb street line of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company and bore the number 1A 07490.

Through information given by two girl friends of Miss Riddell the police were able to trace her movements almost to the moment she was attacked. Miss Anna Ehlers, of Richmond Hill, saw Miss Riddell board a train in Manhattan, and missing that one, she followed on the next, ten minutes later. She passed along Bridge-Avenue about a quatrer of an hour after her friend, but neither saw nor heard anything that would indicate what had happened.

Whether the assailant had noticed Miss Riddell in Manhattan and followed her home or whether he had stationed himself near the scene of the murder with the intention of attacking the first woman to approach is a question. If he used the transfer found in the lot, he must have gone to the vicinity earlier in the afternoon.

Two Girls Followed by Man.

The reports of the two girls, however, have definitely established the fact that the murder was committed about twenty minutes after six. At that time the families in the houses nearby were at dinner. Miss Riddell and the other girls of the neighbourhood were accustomed to walking the half mile from the "L" terminal every night alone. It was learned that Miss Ehlers and another young woman had been followed and frightened by a man a few nights ago.

Several days ago a neighbour, who had been reading of the murder of Mrs. Helma Southland, in Brooklyn, last week, met Miss Riddell and asked her if she never felt afraid at walking to her home alone after dark.

"Oh, nobody ever bothers me," the girl replied. "I can take care of myself if they do."

The similarity of the Riddell case and the case of Mrs. Southland, who was attacked in an open lot near her home and left with her skull crushed, led Captain Herbert Graham, of Queens, to request Detective Lieutenand John Sullivan, investigator of the Southland murder, to compare the two cases.

The route taken by the murderer in leaving the lot was established by the finding of a ribbon from Miss Riddell's hat about fifty feet away from the spot where the body lay. He avoided the street and escaped through the fields leading toward the "L" station.

Actress Complains Broker Jilted Her; Sues for $50,000

Mrs. Alice Maud Vogt, Divorcee, Pained to Find Oliver Humphrey Had Wed Marjorie Phillips.

New York, Jan. 25.—Instead of becoming the bride of Oliver Humphrey, a stock broker, of No. 115 Broadway, on December 9 last, Mrs. Alice Maud Vogt, an actress, of No. 547 West 147th street, was pained when she discovered he had wed another two weeks previous. She therefore sued for heart balm of $50,000 and asked in addition $3,500, which she asserted was expended for a trousseau, furnishing an apartment and loans advanced to the broker.

Her complaint accusing the broker with being a jilt was submitted to Justice Hendrick, of the Supreme Court, and led to the arrest of Mr. Humphrey. He was taken to the Ludlow Street Jail, where he remained until a bond was furnished for his appearance in court when the action comes to trial.

Mrs. Vogt's tale of marital disappointment revealed that both she and Mr. Humphrey have passed through the "divorce mill" in less than two years. Mrs. Vogt's action was won the more recently she having divorced William Phillips Vogt, on October 7, 1918, while Mr. Humphrey obtained his decree on August 27, 1917.

Their previous matrimonial failures left them with a willingness to consort with Cupid again, for Mrs. Vogt declares the broker ardently courted her and, three weeks after her divorce, she accompanied him to the Marriage License Bureau, but fate unkindly intervened in the failure of Mr. Humphrey to have with him his divorce decree. Regulations forbade the issuance of a license and Mr. Humphrey promised to call the next day.

On November 1 Mr. Humphrey was summoned to his mother's home in Utica, N.Y., where word had been received of his brother George having been killed abroad. Mrs. Vogt says she followed the broker to Utica and received from him a written promise of marriage, which was set for December 9.

Before that date Mrs. Vogt, learned that her admirer had become the husband of Majorie White Phillips on November 25. She then began her breach of promise action. During the courtship Mrs. Vogt asserts she loaned $1,500 to Mr. Humphrey and turned over to him some Liberty bonds.

German Soldiers from Ukraine Reach Germany on Armed Train.

COBLENZ, Jan. 27.—After being three weeks on a train fighting their way through bands of Bolsheviki in Russia, several German soldiers have arrived here from the Ukraine. Four hundred Germans of the Bavarian heavy cavalry left Kharkov on December 26, after manning and arming a special train with one-pounders, machine guns and rifles.

A non-commissioned officer of the German First Corps, with headquarters at Kharkov, was among the arrivals at Coblenz. He estimates that there are 80,000 German soldiers remaining in the Ukraine. Between Kharkov and Kiev the German train had frequent encounters with bands of Bolsheviki, numbering from 200 to 2,000. In one of these encounters the Germans suffered sixty casualties.

The officer said the train was frequently stopped by Bolsheviki and it was necessary for the Germans to fight their way day after day. Sometimes the Germans bribed the Bolsheviki to allow them to pass, but in most cases they fought their way through, using machine guns from the train windows. The itinerary of the Germans included Poltava and Krementchug, the train making several detours because of destroyed bridges.

The Bolsheviki had officers, but they maintained little order and fought as disorganized units. A large proportion of them appeared to be former Russian prisoners. Many wore Russian uniforms, while some had uniforms stolen from German soldiers.

Voice of The People

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—In reading announcement of All Saints' church anniversary services in Saturday's issue of your paper, it came to me that there are few persons left in the city who know anything of the history of that parish. Your statement of the fact of the Mission Sunday school, having been started in 1875, under the leadership of Rev. J. W. R. Beck, conveys very little to the public of all the work—real manual work—as well as other, that was put into the mission by Mr. Beck's successors. About 1890 Rev. J. C. Davidson and his then assistants, Rev. C. B. Kenrick and Rev. Walter Loucks, began regular services in the then mission of St. John's church. After pulling down, with their own hands, the old frame dwelling then used, the building now used as All Saints' church, was erected and used for many years, by a steadily growing congregation, still as a mission of St. John's, and under the able leadership of Revs. Pickford, Carl, Smith, Andrews and Armitage. During the latter's term of office the mission became a separate parish 17 years ago, known as "All Saints." During all the years from 1890 to 1902 the mission was fostered and worked up by Rev. J. C. Davidson, ably aided by Revs. Kenrick and Loucks, and by very many faithful, loving workers since gone to their reward.

Amongst these standout prominently, Miss Lily Barlee and Mrs. Beck and Messrs. Sheffield and Yokome.

And amongst those still living, who were pioneers, there are Miss Chamberlain and Mrs. Wm. Buller, sr., now of Vancouver, B.C., who still takes a delight in talking over the old days at All Saints', Peterbrough.

It does not seem right or fitting that those who laid the foundations of any work should be overlooked by those who are now reaping where they sowed.

Yours,
"HISTORY."

Are Going After Foreign Trade

New Records Made by the Gillette Company.

The Gillette Safety Razor Company of Canada are going to be first in the foreign field, according to plans reported at the annual meeting of the Company held on the 14th instant. At the annual meeting of shareholders of the Gillette Safety Razor Company of Canada announcement was made that the Company propose invading such countries as Mexico, British West Indies, Cuba and the various South American countries as well as Central America, while their salesmen have already started for England, France, Italy, Russia, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, China and Japan, where they will establish sales organizations and distributing stations.

According to a report made at the annual meeting by Managing Director A. A. Bitttues, the year 1918 was the best in the Company's history, sales increasing 209 p.c. over the figures for the previous year, while the blade production in Canada gained 160 p.c. and razor production 301 p.c. in the same period. It was also announced that the Company's steel plant in Sweden was now able to supply steel in unusual quantities, while shipping facilities, which were approaching normal, permitted them to ship goods to foreign countries and go after business in a more energetic manner than had been possible during the four years of war.

Possibly the most interesting announcement made was in connection with the Company's export business. Our Government and our various financial institutions have been urging the manufacturers of the Dominion to go after an export business. This the Gillette Company is doing in a most thorough going manner. It is interesting to note that the soldiers from British and allied countries who used the Gillette razor during the war are asking for the same article now that they have returned to their former homes and it is largely to meet this demand that the firm are launching on a big overseas campaign. To take care of this increased foreign trade and at the same time to handle their growing Canadian business will mean a boom in the production of blades and razors.

The directors for the current year are: J. E. Aldred, chairman; King C. Gillette; Frank J. Fahey, Howard Murray of the Imperial Munitions Board; Thomas W. Pelham, Sir Herbert S. Holt, President Royal Bank, and A. A. Bittues. The election of officers resulted as follows: Chairman of the Board, J. E. Aldred, President of the Shawinigan Water and Power Co., President of the J. E. Aldred Co., Bond Dealers; President King C. Gillette; Vice-President, Thomas W. Pelham; Treasurer, Frank J. Fahey; Secretary and Managing Director, A. A. Bittues.

A New Blood-Food Has Been Discovered That Works Wonders

SAID TO PUT NEW LIFE INTO PEOPLE THAT ARE RUN-DOWN

For years doctors have been searching for a combination that would enable them to inject into thin blood the elements it lacked. This can now be done, and any weak-blooded person can quickly be made strong and well.

Already a small army of ailing people has proved the merit of taking after each meal with a sip or two of water, two chocolate-coated Ferrozone Tablets. This is easily done, and even one week's use of this wonderful blood-food will prove how nourishing and strengthening and flesh-building the treatment is.

Just think of it—Ferrozone uplifts the entire nervous system, removes the blood, makes it rich and red—gives the sort of aid that's needed in throwing off weakness and langour.

Tens of thousands enjoy the advantages of renewed health through Ferrozone;—if you'll only use it, you'll surely grow strong, too; its beneficial action is noticed even in a week. You see it goes right to work, removes the causes of the trouble and then quickly makes a cure.

For those who sleep poorly and have nervous apprehensions, Ferrozone is a boon; it is a specialist in such cases.

Where there is paleness, poor appetite and languor, Ferrozone makes the patient feel like new in a few days.

In tiredness, nerve exhaustion, spring fever and debility, the power of Ferrozone is known from coast to coast and universally used with grand results.

Let Ferrozone build you up, let it win you back to robust health,—it will do so quickly if you give it the chance. Sold by all dealers. 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50. Remember the name Ferrozone.

More Manufactured Than There is Demand For.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 27.—The entire Pillsbury flour milling system was shut down to-day for the first time in many months.

"We have made more flour than we could sell, so we shut down for a day," said C. A. Loring, president of the company. He declared that the Government has not bought flour for six weeks, and added,

"We can't sell flour when we have no market for it."

Catarrh

Catarrhozone is certain to cure because its healing vapor is carried with the breath direct to the seat of the chest, nose or throat trouble. Being composed of the purest balsams and pine essences, it immediately allays irritations, facilitates the ejection of mucus, soothes and stimulates the lungs and bronchial tubes. The marvel of the age in curing nose throat and bronchial troubles, that's what thousands say about Catarrhozone. There is nothing so sure to cure, and to those in fear of changeable weather—those who easily catch cold—those who work among lung-chilling surroundings, or where dust, impure air, fog or damp can affect them—let them get Catarrhozone and use it several times daily—it will cure every time.

JAPAN'S SMALL RICE GARDENS

Almost one-half of the land capable of cultivation in Japan is planted in rice. Handkerchief gardens would perhaps best describe the little rice fields, many of which are no larger than a tennis court, are equally flat and are surrounded by rims of earth to hold the water when the fields are flooded.

The average rice field in Japan is about one acre and a half in size; but large or small, each field must be levelled and each must have its rim or dike. There must be a system of canals to bring water to the fields and another system of ditches to take it away when it is no longer needed.

It is said that there are 12,000 square miles of rice land in Japan, the greater part of which has been prepared with an almost infinite amount of labor. That area of land cultivated in rice virtually feeds a nation of 50,000,000 people.

OUR LIGNITE DEPOSITS.

Immediate Steps Will Be Taken to Utilize Them.

The order-in-council by which is created a Lignite Utilization Board for the Dominion of Canada will interest many citizens of our country. For many years past, it has been one of the anomalies of Canadian economics that whilst the Dominion has fuel resources second only to those of the United States, the greatest coal-producing country in the world, it imports, and always has imported, about fifty per cent. of its fuel. Most of this fuel is brought into the country over immense distances, unnecessarily absorbing labor and transport facilities urgently needed in other directions, and adding enormously to the cost of the fuel itself.

Long before the war, the absurdities of such a system were apparent to anyone who stopped to consider the matter, but the necessity for conservation in all directions imposed by the war has emphasized the need of a change, and has brought under the consideration of the authorities many schemes for the development of Canada's own fuel resources. Amongst the questions which have thus been forced to the front is the much discussed matter of the utilization of the Dominion's vast lignite deposits. In the original state, these deposits can be used only when freshly mined, and, even then, the lignite as it comes from the mines is not suited for household purposes. By a process of carbonizing, however, the material may be converted into a kind of coke or charcoal which is readily briquetted. When thus treated, the resultant product is a fuel equal in heating value to anthracite, with the additional advantage that it may be sold at $7 a ton, and a just profit obtained from it at that price.

Some time ago, the committee appointed by the Government to inquire into the matter reported that the art of producing these carbonized briquettes had passed the laboratory stage; that no further information could be obtained from laboratory methods, and that the producer must face the question, often a very different one, of working out the results obtained in the laboratory on a large commercial scale, in other words putting theories to a practical test.

This is the great task which the Canadian Government has now undertaken, and the matter is to be pushed forward with energy. The Province of Saskatchewan, the balancing point for the fuel from the east and the west, has been chosen as the scene for the initial enterprise. After full investigation has been made of all the machines and processes at present available, the board will construct, or contract for, a plant of commercial size adjacent to the great lignite mines of Southern Saskatchewan, and will, at the earliest possible moment, begin to distribute the output through the ordinary channels of trade.

The whole question is, of course, very much a matter for the expert, but it cannot be doubted, by those who have given the matter any study, that a great future lies before such an industry. If the board can foresee the possibility of retailing the new fuel to-day at $7 a ton, before the great question of by-products has been fully studied, there is every prospect that the price in the future, when this has been done, will tend to be reduced rather than increased. The enormous value of the by-products from the manufacture of coal gas is, of course, largely responsible for the comparatively cheap rate at which coal gas may be sold, when municipally owned; and the same will, no doubt, apply to the briquetting of lignite.

Free Medical Treatment for Ex-Soldiers and Sailors

THOSE discharged soldiers or sailors who become ill or disabled again as a result of some disease or injury suffered during war service receive free medical and surgical treatment.

This service is provided by the Medical Branch of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment.

An ex-soldier or ex-sailor who has a recurrence of a war disability should, if he is not too ill, go at once to the local medical officer of this Department.

If he is too ill he should have that medical officer notified at once.

Should he be taken ill in a place where there is no representative of the Department, he should call in a local physician to give him the necessary immediate treatment and ask him to communicate immediately all details of the case to the nearest medical officer of the Department.

The name of the authorized medical representative of this Department for each locality is given alongside.

Treatment at the expense of this Department can only be secured through these representatives. The Department cannot pay any bills for treatment which have not been authorized by the Department.

If the medical officers recommend it, pay is given to patients, and allowances are granted to their dependents by the Department, during the period of treatment.

The established scale of pay and allowances that may be granted depends upon the extent to which the treatment recommended by the medical officer of the Department prevents the patient from doing his regular work.

Arrangements for special care of patients of the Department have been made with hospitals in all the larger towns and cities from coast to coast.

Sanatoria for treating tuberculosis under most favorable conditions are operated in every Province under the direct supervision of the Department.

Shows Spirit of Allies.

Among the cheering anecdotes Elizabeth Shepley Sergeant reports in an article on the French-American offensive, none raise more sanguine hopes of allied victory than this:

Somewhat over a month ago a French general encountered an American colonel of infantry below Chateau-Thierry.

"How long have your men been on the march?" asked the general.

"Thirty-six hours."

"Then of course they are too tired to go in."

"Not at all—they'll go right in."

"Can you stop the Germans?"

"Certainly we can stop them."

It was thus that an American infantry regiment and five batteries of artillery were thrown straight across the road from Metz to Paris. The Germans not only did not advance one step further along that road, they were immediately driven back by the Americans and their re-enforcements at Bourscheu, at Chateau-Thierry, at the Bois de Belleau.

NEW ZEALAND'S KILLED.

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Jan. 25. — (Canadian Press via Reuter's). — New Zealand's casualties in the war are placed at fifty-seven thousand nine hundred and thirty-two, of which sixteen thousand five hundred are killed. There were only forty-five prisoners.

No Trouble to Remove Superfluous Hair

(Toilet Tips)

It is an easy matter to rid the skin of objectionable hair or fuzz, if you proceed as follows: Mix a paste with some water and a little powdered delatone, apply to hairy surface, and in two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This method of banishing hairy growths is painless and does not mar the skin, but to avoid disappointment, be certain to get real delatone.

No starch should be used in washing except that which is thoroughly cooked.

YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

On Friday evening the Young Women's Christian Association was the scene of a very jolly party, when the Normal Students and the Y.W.C.A. House girls were entertained. The girls all came in children's dresses and youthful spirits, and it was a pretty sight to see them all romping in the gymnasium with all their bright colors and happy faces. The fun in the gymnasium consisted of children's dances and nursery rhyme games, and refreshments were served in the Green room. Vocal numbers by Mrs. Widdess and Miss Ruth Murray, and readings by Miss Parker were interspersed through the evening. The hostesses of the evening were the members of the Social and House Committees and over one hundred girls were present at the party.

20-Year Convict Invents New Gun

Austrian at Portsmouth Devises Machine Gun to Shoot Nails.

KINGSTON.—A machine gun was recently manufactured in the Provincial penitentiary at Portsmouth. The genius was an Austrian Pole named Simondski, serving practically a life term. He was assisted by another Austrian. Before the gun was actually completed the prison authorities discovered the handiwork of the pair. When tested the gun fired nails.

Simondski was sentenced at Toronto for burglary, and in August, 1914, he escaped from the Prison Farm by felling two guards and riding off on the sentry's horse. An additional sentence of twenty years was imposed upon him after he was caught at North Bay.

GRAIN MARKET

The grain markets were very lively and very erratic yesterday. Corn opened high at Chicago, but was speedily followed by a sensational run of about 6 cents down. This again was followed by a sudden reaction, and the markets went up again and passed the opening quotations. Oats followed an equally erratic course. The cause of the whole disturbance was the question of the price to be fixed to-day by the Food Commission for Febraruay hogs. Even Bolshevism came into the calculation, as it was argued that lower food prices would be the cure for the Russian malady. The feeling of the market, however, was that present prices will be maintained, and this conviction sent the corn shorts to cover.

CATTLE MARKET

Except for a few lots of extra choice heavy and butcher steers, bought for export to the States there was practically no market for the general run of butcher cattle yesterday. At all events, with the exception just noted, there was scarcely a half-dozen loads of butcher sold up to the noon hour. Packers' buyer were, in fact, practically out of the market for the time being, and awaiting developments, or for further instructions from headquarters.

There was a light run of sheep and lambs and prices were about steady.

The hog market was steady, mostly on contract at last week's prices. No quotations were given out for to-day's market.

Union Stock Yards—Receipts were 124 cars, with 2,436 cattle, 97 calves, 1,121 hogs, and 233 sheep and lambs.

MRS. BLOCK SAYS HUSBAND HURLED CANTILOUP AT HER

New York, Jan. 28.—In her eleven years of married life, Mrs. Rose Block told Justice Pendleton in Supreme Court she successively withstood a bombardment of a paper weight, chisel, rule and kitchen utensil but failed to dodge a cantiloupe hurled by her husband, Dr. Alexander Block, from whom she wants a separation.

An unusual feature of the trial, which began here was the appearance of Dr. Block as his own attorney. He conducted the cross-examination of Mrs. Block.

Mrs. Block said that although her husband's income is between $300 and $400 a week, she received from him about forty cents a day to maintain the household being a dependent on her father for clothing. On occasions when her parents were invited to dinner, according to Mrs. Block, her mother had to purchase the foods which were served.

Letter From Pte. W. Simmons

Mrs. William Simmons, Orpington Road, has received the following letter from her husband, Pte. William Simmons, who is at present in Germany:

Germany, Dec. 22, 1919.

Dear Wife,—Just a line to let you know that I am well and hope you are the same. Well dear, we have been on the march since the twelfth of November, 1918. We marched over 300 miles: from Mons to Seiberg, the place we are at now. We are stationed in barracks, and it seems a very nice place. I was in a place called Bohn yesterday, and had a good time. Well dear, I have a new job at present. I am regimental barber and like it fine. I was visiting at Dicks in Essex on my last leave. I was also in Enfield, London, at cousins. I had a good time. I was through the Tower of London, Hyde Park; it is a grand place; but there is no place like Canada and its people. You were asking me when I thought I would be home. Well, I think it will be March or April. We don't get any news till the very last minute. I have not seen Ned for a long time, but I think he is somewhere in Germany. I got the parcels you sent me, but I don't think it is safe to send any more. Well, how is Dad and all the folks. Tell the little ones I got their card, and I will soon be home. Well dear, I think I have told you all for now. Give my best wishes to all at home.—From your loving husband,

Will, 195201, 21st Batt.

PARIS, Jan. 25.—An interesting report brought to the attention of the Paris municipal council gives the names of nine Paris hospitals which were hit by German bombs or shells between January 31 and September 15. The report concludes with the words "People of Paris Never Forget."

Mohammedanism and Christianity comes back to a comparison of Mohammed and Christ. To them who follow Mohammed He is their example and teacher. While I was in Egypt I visited the Presbyterian Missions and noted the change Christianity brought to these children of darkness. We sometimes sing "Thou Oh Christ art all I want." As I think of them I cannot help but see and believe that Thou, oh Christ art indeed all they want.

Major H. A. Frost Addressed Epworth League Meeting

At the annual convention of the Peterborough District Epworth League, which opened this afternoon in the George Street Church, Major H. A. Frost, B.A., B. D. gave an interesting address on "Comparison of Mohammedanism with Christianity as observed in Egypt and Gallipoli."

The faith and practice are so closely related, he said, that one cannot compare Mohammedism with Christianity except by considering both. The Mohammedan faith is sixfold: in God, in angels, in the Koran, in Prophets, in resurrection and judgment, in predestination. Mohammedan practice includes prayer, charity, fasting and pilgrimmage. Their conception of God is a unity; the old testament colored by Eastern mythology. Mohammed is the last and greatest of prophets even surpassing Jesus Christ. He wrote the Koran as it was revealed to him from Heaven by the angel Gabriel. Most accommodating passages came at the most opportune moments. His followers pray five times a day always bathing the face, hands and feet before each prayer. This outward form is closely observed. Their paradise is the sensuous paradise of ease and gratification of all desires.

Mere Form.

Such religion lends itself to mere form. The Mohammedan is commanded to drink one drop of wine; I have seen them put their finger in the cup take out a drop and then drink the remainder.

Their school system is simply to memorize the Koran, all sitting tribe fashion around the teacher and all talking aloud. They learn nothing else. Their women are mere chattels which can be bought as wives and divorced at will.

Each man may have as many wives as he can support. I have known girls of twelve years of age to be sold for forty pounds. The comparison of

The Food Situation in Vienna is Frightful, Says the Austrian President

MANY PROBLEMS

(United Press.)
(By Frank J. Taylor.)

BERNE, Jan. 29. — The new Austria is different from the old Hapsburg Austria ,as is Poland, Czecho-Slovakia ,or any of the other nations which have broken away from the former monarchy, President Seitz, of the Austrian republic, declared in an interview. Seitz, who came here to attend the international labor and socialistic congress, was raised in a Vienna orphanage. His parentage is unknown. He educated himself while he was a tailor's apprentice. , and finally a figure in politics as a Socialist leader.

WAS COMPLETE.

"Austria's revolution was quieter than those which surrounded her, but it was equally complete," said Seitz. "We have had a people's victory in Austria, the same as in other parts of the former empire. The idea seems prevalent in entente circles that Austria is merely the old Empire, shrunken as the result of separatism. This is not true. We revolted just as the others did. We consider ourselves the victors rather than the losers, though we have no army to defend us."

FOOD PROBLEM.

"Under the principle of self-determination we wish to join with Germany, except a few capitalists and reactionaries, who still hope to see Vienna the political centre of a rejuvenated empire. We have encountered no objection to a union with Germany. A confederation of the elements of the old dual monarchy is impossible. The Czecho Slovaks, Jugo-Slavs and Hungarians are unfriendly to each other, and could not agree. They have no common language except German for diplomatic and political transactions. Much business will naturally be settled through Vienna, but politically they will all be indenpendent.

"The financial problem is serious, but the Czecho Slovaks and the others must assume their share of the Austro-Hungarian war debt, and help to stabilize our currency.

BRITAIN'S WAR COST

Canadian Press:

LONDON, Jan. 29.—The cost of the war to Great Britain was approximately forty-billion dollars, declared Sir E. H. Holden to-day. Five billion was loaned to the allies. Germany's war cost he said, was thirty-eight billion, of which two billion was loaned to the allies.

FRENCH TO REMAIN ON RHINE, DECLARES GENERAL GOURAUD

COBLENZ, Jan. 29.—Supporting Marshal Foch's opinion that the French should remain on the Rhine, Gen. Gouraud made a similar declaration to-day. "The Americans will go home when peace is declared, and the British will go home when peace is declared. But the French will remain on the Rhine as a strategic barrier," he said. "It would never do, after the sacrifices of the great war, to leave open points where Germany might again some day strike," he declared.

Revolution in Roumania

Home Coming Soldiers Clashed With the Garrison Troops.

(United Press.)

VIENNA, Jan. 29.—A revolution is raging throughout Roumania, according to despatches received from Budapest yesterday.

Fighting started Saturday when home-coming soldiers clashed with troops of the regular army, stationed in permanent garrisons. Bloody encounters occurred in several cities, continuing in Bucharest throughout Sunday. Social Democrats are reported to have joined the revolutionists.

An Old Resident of North Monaghan

The funeral took place on Monday at 2.30 of one of the oldest residents of North Monaghan, in the person of John Campbell. The late Mr. Campbell was born in the township of Hope at Campbellcroft, in 1841. He was the son of the late Thomas Campbell, who was one of the early pioneers of the Township of Hope. During his early days he managed the lumber business in his father's mill, practically establishing it. The original cars of the Grand Trunk Railway were built from lumber which he sawed. Afterwards he took up farming in Ida, later moving to Frazerville, and from thence to the present home in North Monaghan, where he has resided for the past 35 years.

For a number of years Mr. Campbell belonged to the Peterboro Rifle Range Club, being one of its best marksmen.

He never took an active part in any public affairs of the community, but being a well read man he ever took a keen interest in all matters concerning our country at home and abroad. In politics he was a Conservative, and he was a member of St. John's Anglican Church.

There are left to mourn his loss, his sorrowing wife,, who was Margaret Leslie, two sons, Thomas Linden and Frederick Leslie, two daughters, Mrs. Joshua Chambers of Otonabee, and Mary (Mollie), at home. Also five sisters and one brother: Mrs. McMurtry, Walford, North Dakota; Mrs. George Patterson, Port Hope; Mrs. Hanna, Toronto; Mrs. Wood, Miss Maria Campbell and William of Campbellcroft.

The pall-bearers were Robert Fair, J. B. Pentland, Arthur Blade, F. Bartlet, R. J. Waller and Harold Snowden.

Labour Unions Insubordinate

New Britsih Labour Minister Issues a Challenge—New Bloods Must Be Suppressed.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON, Jan. 29. — Weakness and subordination of convictions to personal interests is charged against many of the trades union leaders by Food Controller George H. Roberts, in interview printed in the Mail today. He says that this is one of the chief causes of "present anarchy" in industrial circles of Great Britain. Mr. Roberts, who is a veteran labour leader, and who was recently appointed Minister of Labour, said: "It is time that the union leaders make a definite and determined stand. If subordinates refuse to honour their leaders' agreements, those leaders must resign. There must be a fight between revolution and reconstruction. If the young bloods are allowed to smash the trades' union organizations, we will have to face a long period of industrial chaos and a long process of disillusionment. The end of this will find the workers infinitely worse off than they are to-day. Labour's demands can never be completely realized without efficiency of produdtion.

Strike Situation Is Growing Worse

Thirty Thousand More Men Have Joined the Strikers in the Glasgow District.

INDUSTRIES CLOSED

(United Press.)

LONDON, Jan. 29. — The general strike was growing in Great Britain and Ireland to-day. It was expected that before night every class of labour would be affected.

Thirty thousand more have joined the strikers in the Glasgow district, making a total of seventy thousand out there. Business in Belfast remained at a standstill. Nearly a quarter of a million labourers had walked out in various parts of the country, completely tying up shipbuilding and crippling coal mining and allied industries.

Closing Down.

Canadian Press:

LONDON, Jan. 29.— The strike on the Clyde was reported to-day to be growing more serious. Almost all the big shipyards and engineering works are on the verge of closing down or are carrying on their work with small forces.

"Industrial Soviet."

Canadian Press:

LONDON, Jan. 29.— Belfast strike committee, which wields immense power, has taken upon itself, with the involuntary acquiescence of civic authorities some of the attributes of an "industrial soviety," the Belfast correspondent of Manchester Guardian reports.

Examiner Office Open To-night

To Facilitate Return of Estimate Blanks and Paying Subscriptions

In order that those who were unable to get down town to-day to participate in the Dollar Day, the Examiner Office will be open to-night for the payment of subscriptions and accounts, for which estimate blanks will be given on the Merchants' Treasury Box Contest, the first prize for which is $35.00, and in all $185.00 is distributed, as well as for the Examiner Contest, estimating the number of peas in the Peterborough Bookstore window.

If you are down town to-night, drop in.

"Dollar Day" Was a Success

Sales Were Well Up to Previous Records.

"A complete success," was the verdict of practically every merchant in the city who observed "Dollar Day." The sales are reported to be far in advance of last year. One feature of the day is the fact that only a fraction of the usual number of country people came in for the bargains, but their city cousins made up for what they didn't do.

Generally speaking, one merchant said, the shoppers have gone in for practical purchases, and we have sold an unusual amount of such things as bed linen and cottons of all kinds. Not much fancy stuff was disposed of as the public generally seems a little sceptical about getting anything but what is absolutely necessary.

Submit Differences To Peace Conference

By Henry Wood.
(Special to The Examiner:

PARIS, Jan. 29, 1919.—Peace delegates were notified to-day that Peru will submit her territorial claims against Chile to the Conference for final settlement. This decision was believed to have averted a possible clash between the two countries.

Peru demands the return of the Provinces of Tarapaca, Tacna and Arica, which were lost during the war concluded by the Treaty of Ancon in 1884. While Tarapaca was ceded to Chile unconditionally, Tacna and Arica were subject to a plebiscite after ten years. This was never held, each country accusing the other of being responsible.

Peruvian diplomats, it was understood to-day, will insist that failure to hold the prebiscite nullifies the entire treaty.

Trusteeship for German Colonies

Australia and Japan Will Renew Fight for Undisputed Possession of Pacific Colonial Territories.

A PROBLEM

(By William Philip Simms.)
(United Press Service.)

PARIS, Jan. 29.—President Wilson was expected to insist to-day that the disposition of the German colonies, as well as all territorial question be settled—strictly according to the principles of the League of Nations. This would entail the administration of the conquered colonies by the League, possibly under trusteeship of the nations most directly affected.

That Australia and Japan would renew their fight for undisputed possession of certain Pacific colonial territories wrested from Germany when the Peace Bureau resumed its session this morning was regarded as practically certain. But Wilson is understood to have the backing of Great Britain—which has already virtually accepted the trusteeship plan for Germany's African colonies—and it was believed that Anglo-American pressure would be too formidable for successful opposition as had been the case in all important questions taken up by the delegates to date.

A League Trust.

Premier Hughes, of Australia presented a strong military argument in favour of his country's retention of German New Guinea and Samoa, in yesterday's meeting. He also pointed out the difficulties Australia would face in trying to administer to a newly conquered section of the stand as a league trust, while administering the remainder as an actual possession.

During the afternoon the delegates considered application of the League of Nations principles to the problem. There is no secret that they found difficulty in recognizing the two viewpoints.

The Bureau also heard Japan's claims to the Marshall and Caroline Islands, lying between Japan and Australia—as well as between the Philippines and the United States. While the respective claims of Japan and Australia are based on similar promises, it is clear that there is little sympathy between the two countries, and certainly no effort toward co-operation.

Australia frankly expects the United States to regard Japan's claims as a potential menace to the Phillippines and an encroachment upon America—but it can be stated authoratively that no such thought is entertained by American representatives.

HUN PRESS COMMENT.

(Canadian Press.)

BERLIN, Jan. 29. — The reported decision of the Supreme Council at the Tuesday session, that the German colonies must not be given back to Germany, has disquieted some German circles.

The "Boursen Zeitung," for instance, says: "If President Wilson is correctly reported, he confesses openly that he too like Premiers Lloyd George and Clemenceau does not desire Germany in the future community of nations as an equal among equals, but as a nation watched by overseers."

The Socialist newspaper, "Vorwarts," says: "The league of nations is making a lovely beginning. The decision of the western powers to take the German colonies for themselves, is born of a spirit diametrically opposed to that proclaimed by President Wilson. We Germans would prefer an honest policy of stand and deliver to a policy of imperial aggrandizement adorned with ethical and oratorical phrases."

Polish Question Is Before Council

Final Instructions Are Given to the Mission.

Canadian Press:

PARIS, Jan. 29. — The Supreme Council of the Peace Conference had before it for consideration on assembling this morning the Polish question, and instructions to be given the Allied mission to Poland, recently authorized, and about to leave on its eastward journey.

SAYS PRODUCE PRICES ARE BOUND TO COME DOWN

Food Speculators Are Loaded for Bear- Few Declines Already Recorded.

(United Press Servide.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Food speculators in the United States hold the greatest stock of edibles ever gathered together in storage warehouses of this country. Prices are higher than ever in history of America. Prices cannot maintain the high lever at which they are now placed. Production of meats is cheaper, and in consequence the Government's price of $17.50 for hogs is bound to come down. A market panic of importance is impending.

These are statements made to-day by P. O. Foy, market expert, to the United Press.

Must Fall.

South America, New Zealand, Australian and Siberian goods are beginning to appear on the market, Mr. Foy also said, and the effect is being felt. Prices must fall more than they have recently, and speculators stand to lose millions in the tumble.

Constant piling up of products with greater production due to increased number of workers, will cause a condition, he thought, that may result in catastrophe for speculators unless they begin getting ready for it by making sales.

Dairy Products.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—The decline in the prices of dairy products, which was renewed here, is attributed by many dealers to refusal of householders to pay the high prices which did not begin to break until a fortnight ago. In the last five days cheese at wholesale has declined 8 cents; butter, six cents, and eggs, 8 cents.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Victims of the high cost of living found further satisfaction to-day in the trend of produce prices. Butter at wholesale dropped three to four cents since yesterday and potatoes declined five to ten cents a bushel. Cheese and eggs showed no material change.

PETERBORO SOLDIERS RETURN

Seven more veterans, namely, J. F. Forsythe, A. Rowe, Larmer, Peers, Castle, Downer and W. Dunford came in last evening on the 5.35 G.T.R. and were given a reception a little more worthy of Peterborough.

From as early at 5 o'clock a crowd of anxious relatives began to assemble on the platform until, with the arrival of the Salvation Army band, the platform became a seething mass of humanity. Neighbour made friends with neighbour and exchanged confidences about the boy each was expecting, generally adding that "though I have not had any word he is coming, I took a chance he might be on this train."

As the train approached the excitement reached its height and children were dragged bodily from the track. The band, warned by the conductor of the 5.35 not to play "Home Sweet Home" again or he would not bring any more men to the town, greeted the veterans with "Rule Britannia" and "Pack All Your Troubles." Mayor Duncan and Adjutant Buntin gave each man a warm reception as he alighted from the train and saw each into a waiting automobile.

PROHIBITION IN THE UNITED STATES

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. — Ratification of the prohibition amendment to the federal constitution effective Jan. 16, 1920, was proclaimed to-day in a proclamation signed at the State Department by Acting Secretary Polk.

Secret Treaties Nullified By the League of Nations

FRENCH AVIATORS BOUND FOR SIBERIA.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Bound for Siberia from France, via New York and San Francisco, thirteen members of the 3rd Squadron of the French Flying Corps arrived here on the steamship West Galeta, bringing with them several airplanes. They refused to make known to what part of Siberia they have been ordered.

The contingent was commanded by Sergt. Demarest Georges who, during the war, saw service on virtually every battle-front, serving in artillery, ined by Sergt. Demarest Georges, fantry and air service.

Turn Over Government

Step Toward Stabilization of German Political Affairs.

By Frank J. Taylor.
(United Press.)

BERNE, Jan. 29.—The German Cabinet plans to turn over the government to the National Assembly at the Initial meeting of that body, according to despatches received from Berlin to-day. Such a move, it was believed, would be the biggest possible step toward stabilization of general political affairs, enabling representatives directly selected by the people to determine all administrative and legislative details of the new republic.

Other despatches from Berlin reported that the Ninth Army Corps had refused to accept the government plans for military reorganisation, and that the officers' and soldiers' council, claiming supreme authority on army matters, had sent delegates to the capital to press their claims before the government.

Find Sympathy For Hohenzollern

Are Printed by German Newspapers—Should Give Ex-Kaiser a Homestead in Germany and Guard Him From Enemies.

By John Graudenz.
(United Press.)

BERLIN, Jan. 29.— The conservative German newspapers to-day commemorated the former Kaiser's birthday by expressions of sympathy for him.

The Deutsch Tages Zeitung, stating that it looked forward confidently to the hour when Germany again will be an Empire under the rule of a Kaiser, said it did not necessarily mean that William should be returned to the throne. It did, however, express the hope that a homestead for the deposed Hohenzollern could be found in Germany and promised that the utmost measures would be taken in that case to protect him from falling into the hands of his enemies.

"It is our sacred duty," said the Lokal Anseiger, "to remember with love and admiration the man who has plunged from the highest heights to the deepest depths."

Will Satisfy President Wilson

Colonies Will Nominally Be In International Hands.

(United Press Service.)

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Stating that President Wilson made an important speech at Tuesday's meeting of the Supreme Council of the Peace Congress during the discussion of the future of Germany's colonies, the Paris correspondent of the Mail adds: "President Wilson persists in his desire to secure some form of international control, and the Allies are seeking a plan which, while giving the practical power desired by the nations who want the German colonies for their own, will still provide some shadowy form of internationalization for the purpose of satisfying Mr. Wilson's ideals."

THE WEATHER

The present mild period, which has prevailed since the 12th inst., is establishing a precedent for future winters to follow. While mild spells are not uncommon in January it is unusual to have one extending over two and a half weeks, as the present one has done. Last evening in conversation with an old gentleman, he said that he was 87 years of age and had resided in Peterboro for 62 years, and that he had never seen such a long-continued mild spell as the present one. Other elderly people have made the same remark. It is said by some who have been ransacking their memories that the winter of 1877 (or thereabouts) was much like the present one, and that the snowfall was even less than this season. —W. P.

Treaties Effected by Allies Before Americans Entered the War Were Swept Away by Acceptance of Armistice Terms.

WOODROW'S SPEECH

In view of the fact that the secret treaties are tacitly recognized as the greatest possible obstacle to a just and lasting peace, the following story is probably the most significant to come out of the peace conference to date. The great importance of the "secret treaties" was their influence on the present negotiations, and which is explained in a series of special articles, the first of which appears to-day.

(By Fred S. Ferguson.)
(Copyright by the United Press.)

PARIS, January 29th. — The "secret treaties" effected by the allies before America entered the war, which were generally accepted as constituting the most serious menace to a democratic and permanent peace are invalid.

They were swept away by the acceptance of the armistice terms, including President Wilson's fourteen points, his speech of January 8th, and subsequent speeches. They were doubly nullified when the allies agreed to the principle of the league of nations.

LAW EXPERTS.

The United Press is able to state this to-day on the authority of the highest international law experts now in Paris.

According to these men, the terms of the armistice are binding, and supercede every previous agreement. The armistice, therefore, is the only treaty that can properly be considered in the peace conferences. The formation of the league of nations will further make certain that all old "understandings" will be cancelled. The American people consequently need entertain no fear that the secret treaties will interfere with their ideas of a proper peace settlement.

TERRITORIAL CLAIMS.

This authoritative opinion is especially significant in view of the present discussion of territorial claims. It probably explains the confidence in certain quarters that the Imperialistic ambition of some of the associated powers will not be realized.

Reports have been published of a secret treaty between Great Britain and Japan signed in 1916, giving Japan the right to retain the Caroline and Marshall Island groups. The pact of London also makes certain concessions to Italy, especially regarding Dalmatia. Italy already is understood to have agreed to a readjustment of her frontiers on the lines of nationalities, thus practically repudiating her contribution to the secret treaties. Japan was still making a fight for a realization of her colonial claims, but it was believed certain that her ambitions would be overwhelmed by the virtually unanimous determination to make the league of nations the repository for all territorial disputes.

All other questions involved in the secret treaties ,aside from territorial matters, are equally involved.

The nations participating in the peace settlement, in the opinion of these international authorities, have bound themselves to start anew with an absolutely clean slate.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

WELCOMING THE SOLDIERS

It is the desire of the civic authorities and of the citizens generally to extend a welcome to Peterboro's returning soldiers, but the old difficulty of securing any accurate information as to the time of arrival of the boys from overseas still stands in the way. Yesterday morning when the train from Kingston arrived, the Salvation Army Band was at the station ready to greet home-coming soldiers with appropriate music. Mayor Duncan was on hand to extend a civic greeting and a big crowd of citizens gathered to meet the heroes. And there was not a soldier for Peterboro on the train. Incidents like this have been repeated time after time and it is a regrettable matter that a better system of information cannot be devised. The repatriation committee of the Dominion Government, with its multiplicity of experts and advisers might add to its staff some official whose duty it would be to advise some method of giving notice to the different centres as to the approximate time of the arrival of troops.

SOMETHING WRONG HERE

There used to be a time when a cold wave was greeted by newspaper paragraphers with rude advice to Medicine Hat to "close the door," an insinuation that that city was the place from which the cold weather came. Those days are over. A copy of the Medicine Hat Daily News of January 24th, contains head lines as follows: "Golfers will cavort at links tomorrow in California weather, with warm, sunny, blue canopy." "Played tennis yesterday—Court in fine shape." "Banana raising weather calls ball tossers from winter quarters." "Local citizens play ball and use plow on Jan. 23rd" Think of it—Medicine Hat in the middle of winter, with the mercury up to the 70 mark and reports of baseball, golf, and tennis filling the sporting pages! Remember how we Easterners used to smile when somebody from out west would talk about it being cold out there, "but you never feel it, you know." And now comes along this startling story of mid-summer sports in mid-winter—not a word about hockey or curling or blizzards—but columns about ball games and gloating over warm sunshine and blue skies. The confidence of the hockey lovers and curling devotees of the East in the weather-producing capabilities of Medicine Hat has been rudely shaken. During the mild weather of the past two weeks which has interfered so much with the winter sporting schedule the hockeyists and curlers have been buoying up their hopes with the conviction that sooner or later a cold snap would slip down from the Alberta Centre and all would be well. And like a bolt from the blue comes the news of Medicine Hat's fall from grace. If the Hat has no cold weather where is the East going to get any?

A WORTHY CAUSE.

The attention of readers of The Examiner is called to the appeal that appears elsewhere in this issue by the G.W.V.A. on behalf of Comrade D. J. McIntosh, a blinded Peterborough soldier, whose home was destroyed by fire on Saturday. The unfortunate soldier, who enlisted here in the 93rd Battalion, and who after going overseas with the Peterborough County unit was transferred to a Canadian Highland Battalion at the front, was so badly wounded in France that he eventually lost his sight. Since his return from overseas he has had a hard struggle to maintain himself and family, and Saturday's fire proved a misfortune that is too great to be overcome without assistance. All the property that the ex-soldier owned was wiped out by the flames; the fire destroying all his furniture, and practically all the clothing of himself, his wife and their three children. The Great War Veterans have already taken up the case and have been successful in securing a house for the unfortunate family through the instrumentality of Mayor Duncan, and a stove from the Lakefield comrades of the Association, while the local veterans have opened a subscription list which they have headed with a donation of $20. Funds are urgently needed to instal this unfortunate family in their new home, anad the people of Peterborough should have no hesitation in subscribing to this most worthy and deserving cause. It is a case that merits the heartiest support of the citizens. This young man sacrificed his sight for the cause of liberty and democracy; that in itself commends him to the generosity of the public. And the further misfortune that has come to him and that in a few minutes wiped out everything he owned, is a blow that the people of this city should not allow this sadly afflicted returned soldier to attempt to bear alone. Subscriptions may be left at the G.W.V.A. headquarters, and it is hoped that the response will be immediate and hearty.

THE LOGIC OF COMPULSORY VOTING

(Spokane Spokesman-Review)

Oregon has not long been the proving ground for progressive legislation that it does not seem strange to have that state's legislation take up a proposal to make voting compulsory. It is a radical proposal, to be sure, but no more radical than many other measures that Oregon has tried out and which are now in general use throughout the country and regarded as anything but extreme.

Compulsory voting is a perfectly logical development. The principal has been established in many instances that the commonwealth has a right to compel fulfillment of certain civic duties. But is there any more fundamental civic duty than that of voting in public elections? The whole problem of the success of a representative form of government depends on whether the whole of the enfranchised population votes. If only a minority goes to the polls, then the principle of majority rule is only a principle and not a fact. An organized minority, always selfish, sometimes vicious can control elections and manipulate the government. That is a familiar condition.

To insure the purity of our government, therefore, it is essential that the mass of the people registers its opinion at the polls. It may be assumed that in the long run the people as a whole would not give aid and comfort to selfish or vicious measures.

However, the people will not vote. Indifference, forgetfulness are depressingly common. So why not compel them? Logically the proposition is quite sound.

EDITORIAL NOTES

At Kalamazoo, Mich., man has obtained a warrant for the arrest of William Hohenzollern, the former Kaiser. Just when the warrant will be executed has not yet been announced.

Returned soldiers in Winnipeg have served an ultimatum on the employers of that city, giving them three days to discharge all aliens at work in their plants. No one will feel like blaming the Veterans for the stand they have taken.

The news from Archangel is not reassuring. The Allies' forces, which include some five hundred Canadian artillerymen seem to be badly outnumbered.

"HOUSE OF MIRTH" IS SOCIAL REVELATION

Edith Wharton's "The House of Mirth," one of the most wonderful plays ever produced, will be the attraction at The Grand Theatre today, in which will be seen an all-star cast of Broadway players, every one of whom is a star in his or her own right. The adaptation is the work of June Mathis and Albert Capellani, and the direction is by Mr. Capellani.

The story centres around a young society girl, Lily Bart, played by Katherine Harris Barrymore, who has been brought up in effete luxury, and then left penniless at the death of her parents. Living with a wealthy aunt, who will not tolerate her reckless extravagance, she decides to marry for wealth and resolves to sell herself to the highest bidder, thereby throwing over the man she really loves. Her love for luxury and clothes is inordinate, and she finds herself heavily in debt. She turns to gambling with cards and in the stock market and puts herself deeply under obligation to an unscrupulous man, who, although already married, is in love with Lily.

She becomes involved in scandal and divorce and sinks lower and lower in the social scale. Through the love of a good man, however, she is reclaimed and finds happiness such as she has never had before. The story is gripping and intense and such a revelation of social conditions of to-day that it will awaken many to the realization that the Orientals who sell their beautiful daughter to the highest bidders are not more immoral than many members of our own society.

Voice of The People

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—The report is current that Mr. Burnham has suggested to the Minister of Railways and Canals that the city should not be allowed any government proportion for the new Hunter Street bridge. We should know whether there is any truth in this statement or not.

Yours truly,
HUNTER ST.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Will you please correct the statement made in last evening's paper regarding the sad death of Marjory Hamilton. She was not related to the owners of the property on the river front near "Crawford's Grove," and she did not spend the summer with them. The property at the river front near "Crawford's Grove" belongs to the Miss Crawford of Downie street, and not to Mrs. Crawford, as stated in the paper. To correct the mistake will greatly oblige.

Yours truly,
A. B. CRAWFORD.
634 Downie St., Peterborough.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I read with great interest the address of Mr. G. N. Gordon of Tuesday before the Brotherhood of Trinity church, and I am pleased to see that he has struck the right note with regards to the standard of proper living. I have always maintained that there must be a change take place in the present system, and that capital and labour must get together. Now, I thoroughly agree with him that the material resources of this Dominion should be developed for the benefit of the people and not for the capitalist. Also the railways of the country should be the property of the Dominion and operated for the benefit of the people and the revenue derived from the same should be placed in the Dominion Exchequer to help reduce the national debt.

Your for a progressive policy.
W. STEVENS.

t Hope Player Testified In Defence of Harold Frost, Who Was Completely Exonerated

old Frost of the Peterboro Junockey team was honorably ac- in Port Hope police court day of the charge of assaulting oing bodily harm to R. Ware of me team. Mr. J. A. O'Brien tained to defend the Peterboro and Rev. L. O'Gorman, presiof the local Juniors went down on in the interests of Frost and ub.

case lasted from about two- until four thirty. The main evi- adduced was that of Ware, the , who was injured and who Monday night in the hospital ou Marsh, the referee, and of cused Harold Frost.

Marsh was called to the stand r. O'Brien at the out-set to enim to get away to Toronto, as d to referee a professional game Arena that night. His evidence lee his decisions impartial and mpletely exonerated Frost from put play, or endeavour to charge, otherwise foul Ware. He con- d, in his opinion, that as Ware oing to check Frost and as had the puck at the time, that was justified in jumping to one n an endeavour to avoid Ware in the act of jumping to one hat Ware's hip was hurt. Ware oming from the left and Frost endeavour to avoid him jumped right, but they were so close er that Frost struck Ware unionally with some part of his either his hip or his side. Mr. stated that he considered that was in no way to blame. If he had been he would have put him off the ice. Mr. Marsh stated that the incident was purely an accident and he was within ten feet of the scene at the time and had a better opportunity than any one else present and observed what took place as he was following the game particularly close.

The general public in Port Hope seem to be under the impression that Ware was a pretty sick man and the Court was much surprised when Ware walked in to give evidence on behalf of Harold Frost. The sportsmanlike way in which he took the whole occurrence was admirable. He stated, it was entirely without his consent and against his wishes that any action was taken against Frost and explained that he was hurt in attempting to body check the other player.

Mr. Frost gave his evidence in his own defence in a straight forward gentlemanly way and won the good graces of the Court, which at the outset seemed to be dead against him.

The only contradictory evidence deduced was that of the witness McMillen who was some thirty feet away from the scene of the accident and who completely contradicted the evidence of the referee, and the players Frost and Ware. He considered the play was dirty and his opinion was absolutely at variance with the opinion of the referee, the boy who was injured and Frost, as as was also his account of what took place.

Mr. Frost, Trainer E. J. Dillon and Mr. O' Brien came back to the city this morning.

tarios Have Quit; Default Friday's Game

Port Hope Ontarios objected beginning of the season to placed in this group of the O. H. A., preferring to be up with the teams along the ront. As far as the Peterboro re concerned, they never want Hope again as a member of a in which the Petes are play-

e was a time when Port Hope egarded as a good sporting whose hockey and lacrosse layed the game at all times. incidents, however, show that e shore town has lost most sporting spirit. The arrest of of the Peterboro team on an foundationless charge of aswhich completely fell through the evidence was heard before istrate, is just one evidence of k of the proper kind of spirit the Port Hope bunch. And r proof is furnished in the fact that after accepting a home game from the Peterboro club, they have defaulted the return game scheduled for Friday night thereby depriving the local fans of a chance to see the Petes in action and the local club of a much needed gate. It is true that the Ontarios' chances of winning the group were slight but a real sporting aggregation would have played the schedule through.

The level to which hockey has sunk in Port Hope is shown by the fact that before the game the other night the officers of the Peterboro Club were approached with a proposition that the Petes should allow the Ontarios to win Monday's game in order that the district might be tied up and all the clubs might make more money. Needless to say the suggestion was quickly rejected by the Peterboro management and the Petes went out and handed the Ontarios an 8 to 2 beating on their own rink.

This district will do very nicely without Port Hope in the future, and as far as the Petes are concerned they would not grieve very much if they heard that the Ontarios were out of O.H.A. hockey for good.

Peterboro Juniors Play In Lindsay on Friday

Owing to the default of the Port Hope team there is only one game left to be played in this district, the Lindsay—Peterboro clash in Lindsay and Secretary Hewitt of the O. H. A. team ordered this to be played on Friday night of this week. It was originally scheduled for a week later but the O.H.A. is anxious to have the group winner decided as soon as possible and the dropping out of Port Hope makes it possible to play the Lindsay game a week earlier than was expected. If the Petes win on Friday night they will be champions of the group while a defeat for Peterboro would mean that the teams would be tied for the title and home and home games would have to be played next week. The standing of the group is as follows:

| | Won | Lost | To Play |
|---|---|---|---|
| Peterboro | 3 | 0 | 1 |
| Lindsay | 2 | 1 | 1 |
| Port Hope | 0 | 4 | 0 |

Serbia's War Loss Heavy

Estimated at Two Billions, Besides War Expenses and Loans.

GENEVA, Switzerland.—Losses sustained by Serbia during the war are estimated by Milos Savcic, member of the Central Committee for Serbian Reconstruction, to aggregate 10,000,000,000 francs, ($2,000,000,000.) This is exclusive of the war expenses of Servia and the war loans received from the Allies.

M. Savcic asserts thta the present value of Serbian propertyt would be double what it w s at the time of its destruction, or 20,000,000,000 francs.

"Serbia and Montenegro," say M. Savcic, "have suffered greater losses in lives, relatively speaking, than any of the other Allies. Serbia alone lost about 320,000 men up to the arrival in Corfu in 1916. One-half of the taxpaying citizens and one-third of her population perished from sickness, epidemic diseases, and the unprecedented savagery of the enemy at the time of the invasion or 1914 and during the three years of domination of the Bulgars and Austro Magyars.

"Our enemies sought not only to destroy Serbia economically, but also to exterminate her people, so as to rid themselves once and for all of the barrier which blocks Germany's way from Berlin to Bagdad.

"The restoration of Serbia will require time. The enemy must return everything he plundered from the Serbian museums, libraries, universities, churches and schools, and whatever has been destroyed must be replaced. Germans, Austro-Magyars, and Bulgars must return the live stock which they drove away and pay for the timber, vineyards and orchards which they cut down and ruined. Agricultural implements and industrial machinery must be replaced in kind. The Allies must supply us with food as quickly as possible, likewise with textiles and medical stores, all of which are completely lacking in Serbia.

Devastated towns and villages must be rebuilt. Banks, loan societies, and savings banks must be supplied with money so that economic enterprise may be revived."

M. Savcic, who was former Minister of Public Works, places the value of one year's harvest in Serbia at 1,600,000,000 francs, and adds that the enemy seized three harvests. The invaders destroyed 130,000 horses, 6,000,000 sheep and goats, 2,000,000 pigs, 1,300,000 cattle, and more than 8,000,000 poultry.

Manufactured goods to the value of 750,000,000 francs were carried away or destroyed, he says. Damages to private property such as furniture, machinery, etc., he estimates at 40,000,000 francs. The enemy carried off from Serbia silver currency amounting to 30,000,000 francs and jewellery of about the same value. Requisitions, enforced subscriptions to enemy war loans, and damages sustained by private financial concerns are estimated at 800,000,000 francs.

There are now about 100,000 disabled persons to be cared for and more than 150,000 orphans to be fed, clothed, and educated. "Pensions," says M. Savcic, "must be provided for the large number of windows and orphans. Our Allies must compel the enemy to repair roads bridges, tunnels, railroads, and return the shipping and rolling stock which was removed."

Brantford Wants Ontario Michigan Baseball League

Brantford, Jan. 28.—The "Nothing Doing" sign has been hung out at local baseball headquarters on the report from London and other Western Ontario league cities that "Knotty" Lee and Joe Keenan are working on a purely Ontario League for this end of the province.

The local management has had its say. The Canadian League of old will not be revived and include them in with it. It is an international league with three Michigan centres in it, or nothing at all, so far as they are concerned. There would be little money in a league with such towns or cities as Guelph, St. Thomas, St. Catherines, Chatham and Kitchener. The bigger cities would have to carry the smaller towns, and to do this would have to get the bigger share of the few holiday gates with a resultant "squeal" from those not so favored.

Only by playing United States and Canadian holidays would possible Sunday ball across the border, could the league be made a real success, and that means three Michigan cities.

HENRY AHEANA

Leader of Hawaiian Musicians with "My Honolulu Girl."

Henry Aheana leader of the troupe of Hawaiian musicians, dancers and singers with Norman Friedenwald's musical comedy "My Honolulu Girl," which comes to the Grand, matinee and night, Saturday, February 1st, tells many folk lore stories of the volcano Kilauea which is shown in action during the progress of the play. "That volcano is almost human," he says. "When I was a child I often sat at my mother's knee while old Kilauea was rumbling and belching forth lava and listened in exquisite terror to the tale of "Pele," the Goddess of Fire. According to the story "Pele" lived deep in the bowels of the volcano crater and the rumbling was her voice raised in anger.

"We are told that in the olden days before the Americans come to enlighten us, the natives, hearing the rumble of the volcano would seek to appease the wrath of the mythical Goddess of Fire by throwing live goats and sheep into the crater. Occasionally they sacrificed a child."

ITALY SEIZES SHIP FLYING U. S. FLAG, SERBIANS CHARGE

Washington Hears American Colours Are Hauled Down from the Dinara, but Lacks Confirmation.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—According to a report made public here to-day by the official information bureau of the kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, a Serb-Croatian vessel, the Dinara, flying the American flag and having a navigation license issued by the American naval commander in the Adriatic, was seized at Jelsa, January 16, by Italian forces, who hauled down the American flag and carried off the ship under Italian colours.

"In spite of the flag and papers in order," said the bureau's statement "the commander of the Italian troops in Jelsa ordered the captain of the vessel to follow him to the military post, where he was kept under arrest for three hours. During this time, the Italian commander informed his superior officer in Stari Grad (Citta Vecchia), who arrived soon with armed soldiers. They seized the vessel, hauled down the American flag and left for Stari Grad flying Italian colours."

Neither the State nor Navy department had received any confirmation of the reported action of the Italian authorities and doubt was expressed that Rear Admiral Niblack, commanding the American forces in the Adriatic, would in any circumstances have issued such a permit as that described.

Admiral Niblack was recently ordered to command the American forces in the Adriatic. He has several submarine chasers and some destroyers and other light vessels. Most recent reports to the department indicate that he is at Pola.

VESTRY MEETINGS

The forty-fourth annual vestry meeting of St. Luke's church was held last night in the school room, which was well filled with an interested gathering of the adult members of the congregation, women as well as men taking part in the proceedings.

Several soldier members lately returned from overseas, were present and received a hearty welcome from their fellow parishioners.

The Reports.

The reports of the various church organizations were presented in a crisp interesting way by the officers concerned and told of a busy and prosperous year. The Woman's guild was especially applauded for its work in substantially reducing the debt for the recent improvements to the Parish Hall. The Chancel Guild had managed to efficiently conduct its undertakings without drawing on general funds.

A pathetic circumstance was noted, in that news had that day arrived from New York of the unexpected death of Mrs. H. A. Perry, whose gift had been the altar flowers on the previous Sunday.

A feature of the Sunday school report was the fine progress made in payment for the Victory Memorial Bond.

Annual Statement.

The Wardens, in presenting their annual statement held the attention of the audience by throwing their figures and comments on the sheet by means of lantern slides. The expenditure showed considerable increases, but all claims, both local and extra parochial, had been fully met, with a balance remaining on the right side.

Among the special topics of discussion was the part to be taken by the congregation in the work of social service and reconstruction through a special committee appointed for the purpose. The question of a permanent memorial to the eight St. Luke's soldiers who had fallen, and others who had taken part in the war, was referred to the incoming Advisory Board, for suggestions.

Officers Elected.

The election and appointment of officers resulted as follows:

Vestry Clerk—Mr. R. McKee.
Rector's Warden—Mr. R. B. Rogers.
Peoples' Warden (Re-elected by acclamation)—Mr. J. J. Turner.
Assistant Wardens—Messrs. W. H. Carter, R. Starr, A. Green, J. Marshall, H. McWha, R. G. Northcott.

The new Wardens were authorized to act with the Rector in selecting the personnel of an Advisory Board for the current year, the names to be announced in the Parish Magazine.

The annual vestry meeting of All Saints' Church was held last evening in the parish hall, with the rector, Rev. R. B. Grobb, in the chair.

The financial statement, which was read by the treasurer, Mr. Gray Copping, was very encouraging, showing a revenue of $4051.97 for current expenses. This amount covered a period of only nine and a half months and was slightly better than last year. The average collection per Sunday, was $89.12.

The building fund revealed a most flourishing condition; $2096.20 was contributed voluntarily which together with amounts from other sources reduced the building debt by $3313.28, with a balance in the bank of $918.43 for futher reduction of the debt at the next interest date.

The Mission Fund showed that $436 had been sent to various outside objects while $313.50 had been contributed for the nine and a half months.

The Sunday School.

Mr. James Price read the secretarial report of the Sunday School showing a total enrolment of 469, including the font roll, with an average attendance of 243, for summer and winter. The treasurer's report, read by Miss Cairns, showed a balance of $194.93. The children contributed $122.37 for outside objects, including missions, and the Sick Children's Hospital.

The Women's Guild.

The Women's Guild report, read by Mrs. Cottrell, showed that $525 had been raised by the women for the reduction of the church debt, and the Guild was given warm praise for its faithful work and excellent showing for the period covering only about three quarters of a year.

Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Beatty read the reports of the Women's Auxiliary, which ended the year with a balance. The receipts were $119.82 and the expenditure $111.84. There are at present 45 members on the roll. Miss Melton in presenting the report of the Girls' Auxiliary, which has been doing Red Cross work during the war period, showed an average attendance of 25. The girls made up 860 pieces of various kinds for the local Red Cross branch, besides sending Christmas boxes to All Saints' men overseas. From now on they will engage in missionary work and have undertaken the euipment of a young boy for entrance to a mission school. The Society has a balance in the bank of $41.43.

The Chancel Guild report read by Mrs. Beatty showed a balance of $2.63.

The Rector's Report.

The Rector, in his report, referred to the listing of the war cloud which has been a drain on the church's energy far four and a half years. He pointed out that when hostilities ceased there were 150 on the church honour roll, of whom 27 had made the supreme sacrifice. This means more than one in six. He also thanked the various officers of the church for their work, making special mention of Mr. Edgar Worth, the retiring Warden. In presenting his Poor Fund Report he showed a balance on hand of $18.24.

Officers Elected.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

Rector's Warden (Appointed by the Rector)—Mr. Thos. Hooper.
People's Warden — Mr. L. G. Dobbin
Secretary—Mr. John Davidson.
Treasurer—Mr. Gray Copping.
Manager of Envelope System — Mr. A. Webber.
Envelope Secretaries—Miss Rush and Miss Clementi.
Manager of Ushering — M. Downes.
Vestry Clerk—Mr. H Roberts.
Advisory Board — Messrs. T. H. Hooper, L. G. Dobbin, John Davidson, Grey Copping, A. Webber, E. Downes, H. Roberts, C. E. Sisson, Wm. Buller, Edgar Worth, A. Rogers.

Tired, Nervous Women What You Need is Vinol

The reason we recommend Vinol so strongly for such conditions is because it is a non-secret remedy which contains Beef and Cod Liver Peptones, Iron and Manganese Peptonates and Glycerophosphates, the very elements needed to build up a run-down system and replace weakness with strength.

Glasgow Jct., Ky.
"I was suffering from a nervous breakdown — loss of flesh and poor appetite so I could hardly drag around and do the work for my family. My doctor prescribed Vinol. It not only made me well and strong but I have gained in weight."—Mrs. S. M. Gray.

Milwaukee, Wis.
"I was weak, nervous, all run down, no appetite and had taken different medicines without benefit. A friend advised me to try Vinol. It gave me a wonderful appetite, I sleep well, have gained in weight, and am now strong and well."—Mrs. E. Shrey.

For all run-down, nervous, unstable conditions, weak women, overworked men, feeble old people and delicate children, there is no remedy like Vinol.

Word was received yesterday that Sergt. E. Abraham, M.M., who went overseas with the 93rd Battalion as sergeant and who reverted to the ranks in order to reach France, and who again reached the rank of sergeant, later being awarded the Military Medal for bravery on the field, was later awarded a bar to his Military Medal, has now been awarded another decoration in the fighting previous to the armistice. He distinguished himself by his brave conduct when in action and has been awarded the Distinguished Conduct Medal, and promoted to sergeant-major, thus winning two medals and a bar for bravery in face of the enemy.

Sergeant-Major Abraham's many friends will be glad to know of his success.

Fills Stomach With New Energy

Weak, Worn Out, Gassy, Sour Stomach Revived and Made to Enjoy Food With Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets

Most of us eat three times a day and often forget that each meal should be disposed of in the stomach to make room for the next. The failure of the somach to do this is called indigestion or dyspepsia, with its sour risings, gas, rumblings, pain depression and the feeling of stuffiness when breathing is difficult.

The most effective remedy and the most reliable one, because you can get it at any drug store in the United States or Canada, is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, at 50 cents a box. Instead of depriving yourself of food or going on a starvation diet simply keep on as you have and let these tablets straighten out your stomach, digest the food and keep you in the fight.

1. Bring home American soldiers.
2. Restore your own democracy.
3. Restore free expression.
4. Get American business into its normal channels.
5. Let American life, social and economic, be American again. Johnson summed this all up with the words, "It is time for an American policy."

P. C. George Cookman Married in Ottawa

Bride Was a Nursing Sister in the Imperial Army.

A romance arising out of the war had its culmination on Saturday when Constable George Cookman, of the Peterborough police force, was united in marriage to Miss Mary Seymgeour, nursing sister in the Imperial Army. The wedding took place in Ottawa and the officiating minister was the Rev. Mr. Bennett, of that city. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Blade of the capital city. Mr. Blade is a brother of Sergeant A. Blade, also of the local police force. Mr. and Mrs. Cookman are expected to return to the city at the end of the week and will reside at 212 ½ Charlotte street.

Mrs. Cookman served as a nursing sister throughout the duration of the war and for a period of four years was in charge of a hospital in Scotland. The romance had its inception when Constable Cookman was returned from the front, where he had been wounded, and for fourteen months was a patient in the hospital where his bride to be was located. Mrs. Cookman came to Canada a few days ago on the Meltia, and the wedding took place in Ottawa a couple of days later.

"Sunny France" Was Repeated

Bouquet of Roses For One of the Dancers.

"In Sunny France" was repeated last night at the Grand Opera House, with a record audience. Every seat, including the boxes, was filled, and everyone heartily enjoyed the clever acting and pleasing comedy, and many expressed the wish that the play might be repeated at an early date. Little Miss Dorothy Henderson, one of the tiny dancers who made such a hit, was presented with a beautiful bouquet of roses. On the programme the name of Miss Kathleen Vincent, who was one of the messengers, was inadvertently omitted.

Many of the brave women who attend our wounded heroes in this war are women who have used Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, or who recommend it. The hospital, with its work and long hours, imposes extreme hardship on a woman's strength. Every woman should make herself fit for war's call at home or abroad. She should obtain a book called the "Medical Adviser," either at her nearest drug store or by sending 50 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce, Courtwright St., Bridgeburg, Ont., for this book which tells about Nursing, Bandaging, Anatomy, Physiology, Marriage.

Thousands of women in Canada have overcome their sufferings, and have been cured of woman's ills, by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Sold by druggists in liquid or tablets. Send Dr. V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 10c for trial pkg.

Chesham, Ont. — "I am very glad indeed to add my recommendation to the many others that have found relief in 'Favorite Prescription.' After motherhood I could not properly regain my strength. I was very weak and nervous, also had a terrible cough. I was very miserable when I began taking the 'Prescription.' I noticed a marked improvement before I had finished one bottle. I kept up for two and was completely cured of my cough and it built me up in a good healthy state. Favorite Prescription is one of the best tonics for women."—Mrs. Geo. Wild, 210 Wellington St. E.

COULD NOT SLEEP.

Miss Gertrude Pratt, Wolseley St., Barrie, Ont., writes: "I was very much run down and could not sleep either day or night, and my arms and legs ached so that life was very miserable. After using six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I feel well and strong again."

SMOOTHER SHIPS FOR SPEED.

From the considerable amount of experience that has been obtained in England on the construction of steam and motor ships with electrically welded joints there is every reason to believe that welding will become one of the standard processes in shipbuilding. By the elimination of rivets and riveting much material and a great deal of costly and tedious labour are saved. The welded ship, being lighter and having a smooth skin, can carry more cargo and make higher speed than a vessel with riveted joints. The welded joint can be made much superior to the riveted joint in compactness and strength. At present it would not be wise to have a welded vessel built by other than a firm of the highest repute, but there is no doubt that a first class shipbuilder, using all the resources at his disposal, can turn out a welded ship which offers many advantages, structural and otherwise, than are obvious from a first consideration of the problem.

Are You Using Pasteurized Milk?

If not, you owe it to yourself and family to study the milk problems of to-day for the following reasons:

1st.—To prevent the spread of Tuberculosis and other diseases known to enumerate from raw milk.

2nd.—Canada lost $1,000,000 last year from Hogs destroyed because of Tuberculosis. The Veterinary Inspector advices that all skim milk and whey be pasteurized before feeding to Calves and Hogs to stop the rapid increase of Tuberculosis in animals.

3rd.—Toronto had the second highest death rate of infants on the Continent ten years ago. To-day they are the second lowest because of compulsory Pasteurization of all milk sold in the city.

Secret of Belgian Mystery
Paper Which Baffled German Police Is Now Made Public

BRUSSELS—With the coming of liberty to Belgium, La Libre Belgique has departed and The Patriot has reappeared. It is now possible to tell that the most remarkable of war time newspapers, La Libre Belgique, which successfully defied German efforts to suppress it for four years, was The Patriot, a long-established Catholic weekly, in disguise. Victor Jourdain, aged editor of The Patriot, likewise edited the will-o'-the-wisp sheet which kept German officials in a constant state of irritation during their occupation of his country, and helped to keep the spirit of the Belgian people steadfast.

He died a few weeks ago, just too soon to see his city of Brussels liberated.

The Patriot was suppressed by German order at the outset of the war. A few weeks later copies of a new paper began to fall into the hands of the German officials and army officers. It did not prove popular with the latter. General von Bissing, military governor, offered 25,000 francs reward for the name of the editor and promised one years' imprisonment to any Belgian found reading it. There were arrests in great number of persons suspected of the editorship, but no convictions. It seemed that almost anybody who could possibly have been guilty was arrested at one time or another — every body except Jourdain. One man was sold by the Germans to have been proved sufficiently guilty to warrant a one-year sentence, but Belgians in the secret say he was innocent.

The baffled German police were kept busy running down false clues. Given the tip that the printing plan would be found at such-and-such street, they would rush thither, only to find a vacant lot or an empty house. Told that a man of a certain name was the actual editor they would comb Brussels for him learning eventually he was not in the city and never had been.

While the police hunted, Victor Jourdain prepared copy. He pointed out intentional errors in the German official communique, he gave the Belgian people the latest news of the Belgian army and the Allied armies, he ridiculed and lampooned the German officials, and generally kept alive the people's faith in a better day to come.

Work Done at Small Shops.

A few times obscure printing shops in this city set up and printed the little four-page paper. For the most part, however, the work was done in shops elsewhere. Jourdain would appear by night at the home of some small town or city printer, always selecting one for the foment free of German troops. Next morning he would depart in his automobile with the entire issue concealed in the car. Distribution would begin as far as possible from the place where the printing was done.

In spite of the difficulties of publication La Libre Belgique nearly always was neat and attractive typographically. Some times, when the services of a complete printing plant were obtainable, the first page would be bordered in the national colours, red, yellow and black. Editions, of course, were not regular—"regularly irregular" was the papers' own statement of its publication dates, but Jourdain managed usually to issue one each month.

Part compensation for his troubles was found by the editor in such announcements as these:

"Not submitted to any censor."

"Telegraphic address, Commandatur, Brussels."

"Offices: Not being able to establish these in a fixed place, they are installed in an automobile cellar."

"Advertisements: Business being all under German domination, we have suppressed the page of advertising, and advise our readers to keep their money for brighter days."

"Price per copy: Elastic, from zero to the infinite. Please do not exceed this limit."

A typical article from La Libre Belgique, printed on the third anniversary of the war follows:

"August 4, 1914. Dame Germany started off to war. The plan is simple Belgium does not count. Paris taken in six weeks. Russia crushed before winter. England remaining alone, too small a thing not to understand that nothing is left but to negotiate

"We made the house of cards crumble! WE! After they decided to take Calais, pass into England, etc., there was the Yser! Still US.

"Zeppelins were to destroy London, London suffered little, the reputation of the Zeppelin much. Meantime they tried to finish Russia, by military means first; the coup failed; by diplomatic means then; the Russian people put a stop to that. They plotted in the Balkans, they bled themselves white at Verdun. All was useless. And all this time the people of Germany were suffering enormously The new chancellor began to realize it. Then they made their last throw; the submarine! And even in Germany itself they have dared to announce publicly that this weapon is ineffective. . . . Then it is the end? Yes, it certainly is the end? Yes, it certainly is the end. . . .

"Since the coming of America into the arena, the account of the Central Powers has been definitely settled. In a little while they will have to beg for mercy. No doubt another winter will mean great hardship to us. But seeing the importance of our goal we wish we Belgians, to suffer still if necessary in order that Right and Justice shall triumph more completely, more gloriously.

"What the Allies know: That we do not ask that consideration of our sufferings should hasten the end of the war one single day!"

CHILDREN'S AID ASK $600

Reeve Nicholls, chairman of the House of Refuge Board of Management, presented the annual report of the Board at this morning's session of the County Council. The inmates, he said, showed by their contentment that they had received good treatment.

Reeve Anderson's suggestion that Mr. Campbell's salary as superintendent of the House of Refuge should be increased, was referred to the Finance Committee. Mr. Anderson said that there had been no increase made to the superintendent and matron in the years that he had been a member of the Council. He also referred to certain improvements which he considered were needed in the kitchen conveniences.

The Salvation Army Hut Fund.

Mr. J. A. Aylmer introduced a deputation representing the Salvation Army Huts Fund, whose appeal to the Council for a grant was deferred from last year. J. M. Lindon who has been associated with "Billy" Sunday sketched the work of the Army at the front during the war, and now along the routes of the returning men, providing hostels in the central cities of demobilization where the soldiers are provided with every accommodation at the lowest rates possible. The Army's social service and other activities were mentioned by Mr. Lindon who said that he had come from the United States to help the Salvation Army in Canada in their campaign.

Mr. Walter Stocker and Adjutant Burton were present with this deputation.

Mr. G. N. Gordon urged the Council to respond generously to the appeal of the Salvation Army Hut Fund. He had been in one of the hostels that have been opened by the Army for returned men and had found it inviting and comfortable. Soldiers had told him of the advantage these hostels provided for them.

Mr. Gordon remarked that everybody recognized the County Council's munificence in its grants to patriotic funds, and stated that this last opportunity, deserved the further consideration of the Council.

Mr. Joseph Wearing expressed the assurance that the Salvation Army would carefully expend every cent that was entrusted to them. Their workers were in Flanders with the first British Expeditionary Force and an indication of their success was found in the high words of praise the soldiers had sounded, and also the absence of complaints after four years' service.

Children's Aid Society.

Mr. Wearing, Alderman Edgar and G. W. Powell presented a request from the Children's Aid Society that the County increase its grant from $400 to $600. Mr. Wearing declared that there was no doubt of the great service the Society was rendering quietly but effectively to both the city and county. The people were unaware of the extent of the work the Society was conducting, and of the permanently beneficial results to the Society's wards and to the community that were materializing steadily from year to year.

Alderman Edgar reminded the Council that the greater part of the Society's work came from the county. The City Council's grant was $600 together with a free house and large gardens that were not taxed.

Mr. Powell related some of his experiences as agent for the Society, illustrating the scope and value of the work which he emphasized was directly helpful to the county and city alike.

Warden McIntosh told the delegation that he believed this petition would be favourably received. It was referred to the Finance Committee.

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are head of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ½ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Any one who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

A New Theatre For Peterboro

Messrs. Jule and Jay J. Allen, a Toronto firm of theatre owners, are said to be contemplating the erection in Peterboro of a modern theatre, seating between 1,200 and 1,500 persons and to cost in the neighborhood one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars. This theatre, if erected, will be conducted along the same lines as their theatres throughout Canada.

Jule and Jay J. Allen control the Allen theatre, Toronto, Temple theatre, Hamilton, Majestic theatre, London, as well as approximately thirty other theatres throughout the Dominion.

THOUGHT IT WAS A BOIL
Doctor Said Abscess.

Mr. Gleason R. Young, Kingscroft, N.B., under date of Feb. 9th, 1918, writes us as follows: "About five months ago, a lump came on my jaw bone. I thought it was a boil, and after it had been there quite a while it began to get larger. I went to a doctor and he said it was an abscess, and lanced it. He gave me a wash for it, so I went by his directions until it healed up, but it commenced coming again, and in about three weeks it broke itself. I thought it would get better, but it didn't. A neighbour advised me to get a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, so I sent and got a bottle, and by the time it was all gone, the abscess had disappeared, and now it is all better."

Burdock Blood Bitters will heal, and dry up sores, ulcers, and abscesses, no matter how large or of how long standing. If you have never applied it to a cut, wound, sore or ulcer, just try it and see what soothing, healing, cleansing power it possesses. It takes out itching, stinging and burning, and promotes the growth of healthy flesh. So, too, when taken internally, by its power of eliminating all impurities from the blood and making that vital fluid rich, red and pure, it cuts off the origin and source of the foul matter that goes to make boils, pimples, sores, ulcers, abscesses and the like, and at the same time the purified and enriched blood creates healthy tissue where there was formerly, perhaps, a sore full of pus.

To-day's Meeting Was Largely Attended
About Forty Farmers Were Present —Short Addresses.

Over forty farmers attended the meeting held in the Y.M.C.A. this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mr. Ernest Macdonald, the Peterborough County organizer of the United Farmers of Ontario, was elected to fill the chair, and short addresses were heard on the advisability of starting a cheese factory in this part of the province, run by the farmers and for the farmers. Mr. H. B. Cowan of the "Farm and Dairy," who is chairman of the Cheese committee of the United Farmers of Ontario, told how the different farmers' organizations in the west were organized. Mr. Cowan has been west several times, once as a representative of the United Farmers of Ontario, and has made an exhaustive study of the farmers' societies in different parts of Alberta and Saskatchewan. He stated that the success of the farmers of the west was due to the fact that they have handled all their own products and have done away with the middleman.

The chief difficulty in organizing a dairy company here would be criticism, which would come in from all sides.

"But they had the same difficulty out there," said Mr. Cowan. The closest kind of co-operation will be needed if the company is to succeed. In Saskatchewan two-third of the Legislature is composed of farmers and it was comparatively easy to get what they wanted. We will find that another big difficulty.

PRESENTED WITH STEAMER RUG

On Monday afternoon the officials and employees of the Utilities Commission gathered at the pumping station to present to Mr. O. W. Haley, who is severing his connection with the waterworks to return immediately to England, a steamer rug as a token of the strong bond of good-fellowship existing between him and his fellow-workers. The presentation was made by Mr. Worsencroft and short addresses were made by a number of the men who gathered at the station. Mr. Haley expressed his gratitude in a few well-chosen words.

NO HALTING MEASURES AT HEINTZMAN HALL

Dollar Day Offerings to be continued All This Week at Heintzman Hall, Hunter Street

What has been done during the past two years, in volume of business, by Peterborough's popular Heintzman Hall, is an achievement in Piano and Musical Instrument sales, never before recorded in this district. It counts among the biggest, in dollars and cents, and dwarfs all previous efforts to establish a first-class retail musical emporium in our midst. An organization has been perfected which ranks with the largest city retail musical agencies. All of this success is definite, tangible—success that can readily be accounted for. What will be done in the next few years, under the present organization, is confidently predicted to overshadow even past performances. With the strength, reputation, and guarantees of Ye Olde Firme of Heintzman and Co., at its back, there does not appear to be anything to hamper a still larger increased volume of business.

All this week, Dollar Day offerings will be continued at Heintzman Hall, furnishing splendid opportunities for wise shoppers. The stock of new Pianos and Organs is an educational study to the musically inclined. Besides, there are the handsome displays of the newest Victor Victrolas and Victor Records and allied supplies. And dollars will have a chance to do double duty in the purchase of second-hand Pianos and Organs, all in good condition.

A liberal discount on all new Upright Pianos with easy terms, will be continued up until 10 o'clock Saturday evening. Similar liberal offerings will be effective for the same time on Victrolas, second-hand organs and pianos and other used instruments. No matter where you may live, Heintzman Hall will make prompt deliveries of any instrument. The enormous sales of "His Master's Voice" Records at Heintzman Hall will help you to enjoy some of life's keenest pleasures. Let the benediction of such music help you to meet with cheerfulness and courage the hours of special trial. Let the Victrola with its music of the greatest artists re-awaken in your home this year the inspiration that the great message of Christianity has brought to all the generations—Peace.

Eleven Schools Closed and Nine Are Without Qualified Teachers in East Peterboro

Inspector Lees' Annual Report to the County Council Discloses Retrogression in Standard of Teachers in East Peterboro's Rural Schools—Higher Salaries Elsewhere Attracted Teachers.

BOARDS MUST MEET COMPETITION

Mr. Richard Lees, Public School Inspector of East Peterboro, submitted his annual report to the County Council this morning as follows:

Gentlemen:

I beg respectfully to submit the following report on the schools of the Inspectorate of Peterborough East, for the year 1918.

During the year, there were in operation in the inspectorate 72 rural schools with 72 teachers, 3 urban, village schools with 16 teachers, and suburban school with 5 teachers. In the performance of my duties, I made 221 half day visits, 44 of them being in the villages and 177 in the other schools.

Of the 72 purely rural schools, the teachers in two of them held First Class, 34 Second Class, 18 Third Class, One district certificate. The other 17 held temporary certificates or none at all. As compared with the previous year, this shows a decrease of one First Class, and 5 Second Class certificates, with an increase of 7 temporary certificates. This is for last term. Conditions now are not so favorable. There are at present 9 schools in charge of teachers with no certificates and 11 schools closed. Of these, 7 are usually closed during the winter months but the others are closed on acount of inability to secure teachers. In addition to these 20, there are 7 other schools that have teachers possessing qualifications below that required by regulation for the positions they hold.

Secured Higher Salaries Elsewhere

This looks like a very serious situation and one demanding earnest thought on the part of those in authority. One naturally asks for an explanation and the first that suggests itself is that the supply of teachers has decreased and so made it difficult to fill positions. Some investigation, however, and inquiry into conditions elsewhere have led to the conclusion that this is not the real reason. There continues to be an increase in the rate of salary that qualified teachers can command, and boards that are able and willing to keep up with or in advance of that increase find little difficulty in getting teachers. There have been, during the past year, a number of cases in which teachers who had held their positions for some time and had received substantial advances, were able to secure higher salaries elsewhere and left. The trustees then found themselves unable to replace them with qualified teachers, even without experience, at the old rate of salary. Too much stress cannot possibly be laid on the fact that, if we are going to maintain the standard of our schools, if we are even going to keep pace with our neighbours, higher salaries must be paid. This is not said in the interests of the teachers but in the interests of the boys and girls in the schools and the general educational progress of our rural communities.

Increase In Grants.

The grants for last year were somewhat larger than for the previous year, the total increase being about $1,000. The chief gain was in the grant on account of salaries and certificates. To this grant there was added a pro rata addition of 9 per cent. the amount appropriated being in excess of that required to meet the schedule. The Assisted Schools' Grant has not yet been paid but if the whole amount asked for is paid, it will be slightly below the amount of the previous year. This is owing to the fact that, following instructions from the Department, no grants were asked for in the case of schools whose teachers had no professional training and held only Temporary Certificates. The purpose of this fund is to enable trustees in the poorer sections to secure educational advantages equal to those enjoyed by the more favored districts. This is not being done where teachers without training are employed. It has been pointed out again and again that if trustees in the poorer districts avail themselves of this and secure competent qualified teachers the grants meet the additional outlay and it costs the sections no more. But the force of habit and the desire for cheapness seem to be so strongly ingrained that it takes time to overcome them.

Flu Reduces Attendance

The attendance at all the schools was greatly interfered by the prevailing sickness during last term. There were only two or three schools in the inspectorate that were open for the full term. The average loss was about four weeks, but some were closed for much longer. As a matter of fact, little effective work was done after the middle of October for even when schools were open the attendance was so irregular as to make progress almost impossible.

Agricultural Classes

The number of schools conducting classes in agriculture is increasing and in most of them very useful and efficient work is being done. There are several schools where the teachers are interested in this work and are taking it up with a fair measure of success but neither the schools nor the teachers share in the special grants owing to the failure of the trustees to officially recognize the work and give the necessary notification. This is to be regretted because in these cases, the work is handicapped for lack of means to secure the necessary equipment and supplies.

Most of the schools in the southern half of the inspectorate, are now identified with one of the school fair organizations. Successful fairs were held last fall in Asphodel, Belmont, Otonabee, Douro and Dummer. They continue to be sources of much interest, not only to the pupils but to the parents, and it is a matter for congratulation that several schools that have not formerly taken part, are seeking admission to the organizations. I desire to express to the District Representative of the Department of Agriculture and those associated with him, my appreciation of their untiring efforts to make these fairs a success.

IN MEMORIAM.

In memory of Martin Spencely, who went to his Eternal Rest January 29, 1918.

A year ago Dear Father left us,
We shall see his face no more;
'Till we meet him in the morning,
On that bright eternal shore.

Gone forever with Our Saviour,
Where all tears are wiped away;
Free from paien and earthly sorrow,
To the realms of endless day.

He is gone but not forgotten,
Gone to that bright world above;
Where no suffering can ever enter,
All is peace and perfect love.

His warfare now is over,
His happiness complete;
He is walking with the angels,
Along the Golden Street.

Why should we mourn and wish him here,
In this dark world of pain;
It was hard to part with him,
But our loss is his Eternal gain.

By Mother and Family.

Shock Left Her Weak and Nervous COULD NOT SLEEP

When the system receives a shock of any kind, the heart becomes weakened, the nerves unstrung, the appetite poor, faint and weak feelings come over you, you can't sleep at night, and you wonder if life is worth living.

To all those who suffer from nervous shock we would recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills as the best remedy to tone up the entire system and strengthen the weakened organs.

Mrs. J. J. Bunyan, Pilot Butte, Sask., writes:—"I have used Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills after having suffered from a terrible shock to my whole system. I was so utterly weak, and nervous I could not sleep at night, and my appetite was very poor. I could not walk across the floor without trembling all over.

I had hot flushes and fainting spells. When I was on the second box of your Heart and Nerve Pills, I began to feel that they were doing me good, so I kept on until I had used six boxes, when I felt like a different person.

I am never without them in the house, and highly recommend them to all who suffer with their heart."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Little Nations Form a Group to Oppose Larger Powers at Conference

Rival Factions Grow Out of the Fight by the Various Nations for Larger Representation—Belgium Led the Open Revolt.

(By Henry Wood, United Press)

Paris, Jan. 29.—Establishment of the "Big Five" bloc for the purpose of wielding the "big stick" on the peace conferences, has resulted in the formation of a "little five" bloc, which will seek to swing a "little stick."

The United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan constitute the "big five." The "little five" has been organized by Belgium, Serbia, Greece, Poland and China.

RIVAL FACTIONS

These "rival" factions grow out of the fight by the smaller nations for greater representation of the special committees which will work out the details of the peace settlement. The lines thus drawn will be wiped out, it is believed, when the question of representation is amicably adjusted. Work toward this end is progressing rapidly although it would be impossible for the nineteen smaller nations to have one representative each among the twenty who can be chosen from for a committee. The final list of memberships on the committees formed so far leaves eight smaller nations entirely unrepresented, fourteen members out of the twenty chosen by the smaller nations go to the "little five." Belgium which led the open revolt in Saturday's plenary session against the "big five" dictating representation, obtained five of these delegates Serbia three, China two, Greece two and Poland two.

SMALL NATIONS

The other small nations outside the "little five" which succeeded in landing one membership each are Brazil Portugal, Rumania, Cuba, Uruguay and the Czecho-Slovak Republic. The diplomatic experts to-day expected further interesting clashes between the "big five" and the "little five", not only on account of their opposing interest, but also because of the personalities involved.

British Shipping Interests Have Come Into the Open.

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 29.—British shipping interests have come into the open in their fight for control of ocean transportation, indications are that the great economic war which has been threatened is now in earnest.

Shipping board circles were startled by what officials term unfair competition by the British in obtaining cargoes for their bottoms on the heels of the announcement of a reduction of 66 2-3 per cent. in rates to Great Britain. It was asserted here that British shipping interests have garnered cargoes sufficient for three months' business, and these it was declared, were contracted before the rate reduction and tariff at the previous high rate.

World's Happenings

Copenhagen, Jan. 29., C.P.—Spartacan forces have overturned a government in Wilhelmshaven, Germany, and occupied banks and public buildings. They have ordered a court martial of their opponents. Railway traffic to and from Wilhelmshaven has been stopped.

Paris, Jan. 29., C. P.—President Wilson is credited with having brought about the discussion of subject of German colonies, a plan under which they would be placed so to speak under guardianship of league of nations, which would appoint one of its members to administer them. "The Matin" characterizes the idea as generous and noble, but apprehends some likelihood of difficulty in putting it into practice. The plan according to Paris edition of "Daily Mail" does not find favor in British circles, which regard it as sacrifice of Australia and New Zealand, in support of whose claims, it declares, the whole voice of the British Empire will be raised.

BILL APPROVED

Washington, Jan. 29, C. P.—House of Representatives legislation committee to-day tentatively agreed to a bill restricting general immigration into United States for four years after signing of peace.

FAILED IN ATTEMPT

Archangel, Jan. 29., C. P.—Bolshevik forces failed in attempt last midnight to drive American and British troops from the positions at Tulgas on Dvina River, the entrance of Archangel. Earlier the enemy had bombarded positions with artillery.

SEATTLE OFFICER TELLS OF TROUBLE

Collins Was Nearly Down and Out —Gains 25 Pounds by Taking Tanlac.

"A medicine that will do as much for suffering people as this Tanlac has done for me is certainly worth recommending to the public and I can't say too much for it," said John W. Collins of 1214 east Columbia street, Seattle, while in a Bartell drug store, recently. Mr. Collins has been a resident of Seattle for the past thirteen years and is a popular member of the police force.

"When I began taking Tanlac," Mr. Collins continued, "I weighed only one hundred and fifty pounds and was in such a condition that I could not patrol my beat. But now I weigh one hundred and seventy-five pounds, have gained twenty-five pounds and am feeling fine. I have had trouble with my stomach for several years. Nearly everything I would eat disagreed with me. My food would almost invariably sour and keep me filled with gas and misery most all the time. Then sometime ago I had a fall of about thirty feet which came near putting me out of commission. On top of this I had an attack of grippe and I simply got to where I was just about down and out. My whole body seemed full of neuralgia and rheumatism and I ached all over. Every joint in me ached and the pains in the left side of my back, over my kidneys were so severe at times that I could hardly stand it. Nothing did me any good and finally I just had to give up my position, stop working entirely and do nothing but try to find relief. My sleep was very poor and I kept falling off in weight, until I got down to one hundred and fifty pounds.

"Then I got uneasy about my condition, went to Colorado and stayed there for a while, but never did get any better until I began taking Tanlac, and then I commenced climbing right up. I have used six bottles now and have gotten rid of all that neuralgia and rheumatism entirely and never feel an ache or a pain. My appetite is great and my stomach is in such a good shape that I can eat just anything I want without the least trouble afterwards. I now sleep like a log every night and am in splendid condition in every way. I'm going back to work to-morrow, and I cheerfully recommend Tanlac to everybody.

Tanlac is sold in Peterboro by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd; in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

Incidents at Opening Session of the Peterboro County Council

Nine Ballots Were Required to Dispose of the Preliminary Detail —A Curtain Raiser.

The incidents of the opening session of the County Council yesterday afternoon merit the distinction that will attach to the election of Warden McIntosh in the memories of this year's members and in the permanent records as written in the minutes. Nine ballots were required to dispose of this preliminary and essential detail of getting down business, and even then the advice of County Solicitor E. A. Peck had to be invoked to decide the effect of an uncommon situation arising out of Reeve Bullied's oversight in leaving his qualification papers at home in Chandos. Frequently the election of the Warden is quickly, unanimously and felicitously decided, but there was neither unanimity nor despatch to yesterday's opening proceedings. As a curtain-raiser it was prolonged to almost an hour, and whether the result was a surprise to the members or not, it must have appeared to the outsider as another evidence of the Council's effectual masking of its intentions.

When the roll was called and the Warden's vacant chair invited an occupant there wasn't a sign of the approaching election contest that was to run through nine ballots. The members had strolled up from the Munroe House as if the question of the choice of the new Warden was far from their minds, but looking back at the action the impression remained that some of the Reeves had been well schooled in their parts. Some stood out as free lances, with roving commissions to give their support where they chose, but others had evidently promised their support to one or other of the two principal candidates Reeves McIntosh and Squire, and not once did they falter in their allegiance. This is not an unusual occurrence. It happens in every Council, but it is mentioned simply to emphasize the seeming indifference beforehand and absence of previous agreement.

The 1919 Council.

The new Council is composed as follows:

John McIntosh, Warden, and Reeve of North Monaghan.
M. Brown, Asphodel.
N. Lean, Burleigh and Anstruther,
W. E. Griffith, Belmont and Methuen.
F. J. Bullied, Chandos.
C. J. Darling, Dummer.
M. Coughlin, Douro.
D. Holland, Ennismore.
John Clark, Galway and Cavendish.
Robert Shaw, Harvey.
B. W. Squire, Norwood.
W. Matheson, Havelock.
F. J. Moore, Lakefield.
J. H. Bell (deputy) Monaghan.
G. B. Nicholls, Smith.
J. A. Middleton (deputy) Smith.
W. A. Anderson, Otonabee.
F. A. Eason (deputy) Otonabee.

When County Clerk Elliott called for nominations for Warden the following names were submitted:

B. W. Squire—Proposed by W. Matheson and seconded by John Clark.

John McIntosh—Proposed by Max Brown, seconded by J. H. Bell.

W. E. Griffith—Proposed by R. Shaw and seconded by F. A. Eason.

Fred J. Bullied was proposed by Mr. Coughlin and seconded by Mr. Holland.

Mr. Bullied was unable officially to qualify because his papers had been forgotten, and he was thus prevented from voting. His nomination was also withdrawn.

The First Ballot.

For McIntosh—Brown, Bell, McIntosh, Middleton, Coughlin and Holland—6.

For Griffith—Shaw, Eason and Griffith—3.

Second Ballot.

The second ballot resulted in a tie of 8 votes each to Mr. Squire and Mr. McIntosh. Mr. Griffith was not nominated.

Mr. McIntosh gained two votes in this round. Mr. Shaw and Mr. Griffith supporting him. Mr. Eason did not vote.

The Third Ballot.

The third ballot was identical to the first. So was the fourth.

The Fifth Ballot.

Squire 7 votes; McIntosh 7; Griffith 1.

Reeve Anderson voted for McIntosh on this ballot, announcing his intention of trying to break the deadlock by remarking "It's time we tried a change."

The Sixth Ballot.

This round brought Reeve Nicholls of Smith into the contest. He was nominated by Mr. Shaw and seconded by Mr. Griffith.

This ballot produced the following poll:

For McIntosh—Brown, Bell, McIntosh, Coughlin and Holland—5.

For Griffith—Eason and Anderson—2.

The Seventh Ballot.

Mr. Shaw was nominated at this stage by Mr. Anderson and Mr. Nicholls. The votes were counted as follows:

For Shaw—Anderson, Nicholls, Eason, Shaw—4.

For Squire — Matheson, Clark, Darling, Moore, Lean and Squire—6.

The Eighth Ballot.

Holland 2; McIntosh 8; Squire 7.

The Deciding Round.

In the final ballot the count was:

Squire—Matheson, Clark, Darling, Moore, Lean, Nichols, Squire—7.

McIntosh—Middleton, Bell, Holland, Shaw, Brown, Griffith, McIntosh, Coughlin, Anderson—9.

The fact that Reeve Bullied had not qualified reduced the Council to seventeen members officially present. Mr. McIntosh's vote therefore exceeded the straight majority required for election. With the entire eighteen members recognized he would have needed ten votes, but he

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. # THIN, NERVOUS PEOPLE NEED BITRO-PHOSPHATE

Guaranteed to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigour and Nerve Force.

Weak, thin people—men or women—are nearly always nervous wrecks; thus conclusively proving that thinness, weakness, debility and neurasthenia are almost invariably due to nerve starvation. Feed your nerves and all these symtoms due to nerve starvation will disappear.

Eminent specialists state that the best nerve food is an organic phosphate known among druggists as Bitro-Phosphate, a five-grain tablet of which should be taken with each meal. Being a genuine nerve builder and not a stimulant or habit-forming drug, Bitro-Phosphate can be safely taken by the weakest and most delicate sufferer, and the results following its use are often simply astonishing.

Weak, tired people regain strength and vigour; thinness and angularity give way to plumpness and curves; sleep returns to the sleepless; confidence and cheerfulness replace debility and gloom; dull eyes become bright, and pale, sunken cheeks regain the pink glow of health. Bitro-Phosphate, the use of which is inexpensive, also wonderfully promotes the assimilation of food, so much so that many people report marked gains of weight in a few weeks.

It is sold by McDermid & Jury in Peterborough and most all good druggists.

CAUTION:— Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

Virtue Its Own Reward

CHAPTER CV

It was only about nine o'clock when Ruth retired. She awoke as the clock struck twelve. She recalled that Brian said he would be home early. She raised herself on her elbow to see if he were in his bed.

It was a clear moonlight night. She could plainly see that the bed was unoccupied. At once she was wide awake. What had been the use of staying in because he had said he would come home early? Then the humorous side of the thought struck her. She smiled in the darkness. What difference really had it made? She had been sound asleep

She lay awake listening for another hour before she heard his key in the door. That virtue was its own reward, she was sure when he said he had spent a most enjoyable evening.

"Did you go to the theatre?" he asked as he kicked off his shoes.

"No, unfortunately Mr. Mandel was out of town so he couldn't act as my escort, as you so kindly suggested." Ruth used her most sarcastic tone.

"It was too bad," his careless voice made her wince. Then he threw back his head and laughed—a clear, ringing, boyish laugh. "Taking a leaf out of my note book, are you? I was pretty horrid, I know, this morning, and last night both. But, oh, never mind."

"How did your dinner come off?"

"Fine." He put his hand in his pocket and fished out a little silver.

"All that's left of your eighteen dollars. That tells the story."

Ruth gasped. A stab of something like real pain shot through her as she remembered that she had earned that eighteen dollars, and had not even been consulted as to whether she would have preferred to entertain these friends of his at home; or pay for their entertainment elsewhere.

"You see, we had some wine, and then cigars after the coffee. Then we talked so long we had liquors, and some more smokes. Then I had to give the waiter a good tip because he had held down the table so long," there was no apology in Brian's voice. He had simply stated facts.

"It would have been cheaper to have entertained them here, and surely Rachel can cook well enough for anyone."

"A darn sight better than those restaurant cooks. But—well you always get up-stage and hurt when I say anything about your working. So I won't say what's in my mind."

"If I didn't work we couldn't have Rachel," Ruth said very quietly. She knew what was in his mind; had heard him talk too often on the subject to be in any doubt. She did not feel in the mood to argue with him.

"Oh, I know she is one of the luxuries you would rather have than to have your husband's society."

"How can you talk so."

"Because it is true. Don't you work in the shop so that you won't be obliged to work at home? And doesn't your work take you away from me, and doesn't it give you money to pay Rachel, and isn't that a sign that you prefer her to my pany? If it isn't, I'll eat my hat."

He had said all this not crossly, as was his wont, but more in a tone of raillery. Evidently he had enjoyed himself far more than usual.

"Who were your guests, Brian?" She felt like adding that she thought she was entitled to know as long as she had paid for their entertainment.

"Two Englishmen."

"Was it business?"

"Yes and no. That is, they knew a lot of things I want to learn about, and so I invited them to dinner. Rattling fine chaps, both of them."

"Are they in New York for long?"

"Not very long, a couple of weeks."

"Why not ask them up and let me meet them?"

"Not on your life. They would know I couldn't afford all this, and Rachel, too. No indeed! Until I earn enough to support the style in which you have made up your mind to live, I shall not make any more acquaintanees that I bring home."

It was the first time that Brian had said such a thing, in spite of his objections to Ruth's working. He had been cross and fault-finding because Ruth had to be away occasionally; had acted a bit shame-faced at first, to have her pay the bills and give him money. But to say that he would not bring people to their home because he didn't support it, was terrible. He took Ruth's money to entertain them elsewhere. Ruth made up her mind it was just an excuse to stay out without her.

PUBLIC IS WARNED Against Taking Substitutes for Nuxated Iron

Physicians Below Say That Ordinary Metallic Iron Preparations Cannot Possibly Give The Same STRENGTH, POWER AND ENDURANCE As Organic Iron—Nuxated Iron

United States Judge Atkinson Gives Opinion

Careful investigation by physicians among druggists and patients has revealed the fact that there are thousands of people taking iron who do not distinguish between organic iron and metallic iron, and that such persons often fail to obtain the vital energy, strength and endurance which they seek, simply because they have taken the wrong form of iron.

Judge C. W. Atkinson

Therefore, physicians mentioned below, advise those who feel the need of a strength and blood builder to go to their family doctors and obtain a prescription calling for organic iron—Nuxated Iron—and present this to their druggist so that there may be no question about obtaining the proper article. But if they do not wish to go to the trouble of getting a prescription for Nuxated Iron then be sure to look on the label and see that the words NUXATED IRON are printed thereon—not Nux and Iron nor any other form of iron, but Nuxated Iron.

United States Judge G. W. Atkinson, of the Court of Claims, Washington, D.C., says: "It is without hesitation that I recommend Nuxated Iron to persons who in the stress of physical or mental labors have permitted the system to become debilitated, the body exhausted or the nerves run down. It has restored my appetite and my vitality. I feel that I have dropped off the burden of months of toil in the few weeks that I have been following the very simple directions for the use of Nuxated Iron."

The remarkable results produced by Nuxated Iron and its widespread sale (it being estimated that over three million people annually are to-day using it), has led to the offering of numerous substitutes, and these physicians say that health officials and doctors everywhere should caution the public against accepting substitutes in medicines and they especially warn against accepting substitutes for Nuxated Iron, which, instead of being organic iron may be nothing more than a metallic iron compound which may in some cases produce more harm than good. The widespread publication of the above information, has been suggested by Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital; Dr. Ferdinand King, New York Physician and Medical Author and others, so that the public may be informed on this subject and protected from the use of metallic iron under the delusion that it is Nuxated Iron or at least something as good as Nuxated Iron.

It is surprising how many people suffer from iron deficiency and do not know it. If you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test. See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength and see how much you have gained.

Manufacturers' Note—Nuxated Iron, which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by McDermid & Jury, and all other good druggists.

MILD WEATHER SIXTY YEARS AGO

In referring to the mild weather conditions, a citizen on Wednesday told a Guide representative that sixty years ago (Jan. 21, 1858) he ploughed a field near the village of Millbrook. That was the year the railroad was constructed between Millbrook and Peterborough.—Port Hope Guide.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame causing a burning scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse again, there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

CATTLE MARKET

Union Stock Yards—Receipts were 39 cars, with 668 cattle, 121 calves, 494 hogs, and 106 sheep and lambs.

There was a little more action to the market yesterday, business not being quite at the standstill as it was Monday. But drovers and shippers had to take their medicine in the generally lower prices prevailing. Choice steers of export quality are holding fairly steady with last week, but the general run of butcher cattle are 50c. to 75c. lower. Cows about $1 lower and canners 50c. to $1 lower.

Sheep and lambs steady.

Hog situation still weak and about 50c. lower.

GIRLS! DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR, DOUBLE ITS BEAUTY

Immediate?—Yes! Certain? that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a small bottle of Knowlon's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents.

GRAIN MARKET

Although at the close of the grain markets yesterday the all-important questions of the February price of hogs had not been definitely settled by the Food Commission at Washington, several intimations, more or less definite, had been sent out, which tended to convince the market that the present fixed price of $17.50 would be continued unchanged for February hogs. Corn and other commodity prices accordingly, it was argued, would not be materially lowered for the present. The result was a strong and active gain market, with prices advancing sharply on both corn and oats. Corn raised 4 3-4c. to 5c. higher than Monday's close. Cash corn markets were all 5c. to 7c. higher. Local business is still quiet.

GERMANS STOLE 6,000,000 SHOES.

The Berlin Tagliche Rundschau of December 6 contained a despatch from Augsberg telling how Dr. Haim, a Clerical leader, had asserted at a meeting of the Workers', Soldiers' and Peasants' Councils of the Upper Palatinate that uncontrolled soldiers were plundering the Lechfeld camp on a wholesale scale. He said that, among other things, some 3,000,000 pairs of shoes had been stolen in a few days.

Great Britain Backs Japan

Favours Retention of Islands by Japan in Return for Jap Support of Australian Claims.

By F. S. Ferguson.
(Special to The Examiner.)

PARIS, Jan. 28.— German colonies again formed the principal subject of discussion when the Peace "Bureau" met to-day. Japan's claims to the Marshal group of Pacific islands was understood to have received special attention. It was understood that Great Britain favoured Japanese retention of these islands, which were seized from Germany. In return for this support, it was believed that Japan might back up the claim of Australia, New Zealand and South Africa to German colonies now held by them.

All the delegates apparently were agreed that the colonies cannot revolt to Germany on an ante bellum status, but the majority appeared to favour their administration by the League of Nations, under a trusteeship of the nations most directly interested. The American plan has not yet been disclosed, but it was believed it would coincide with the League of Nations idea of ultimate self determination. Some delegates were known to hold the opinion that President Wilson would wait until all the other representatives had presented their schemes—as he did in the case of the League of Nations and the Russian situation—and then come forward with a programme which would receive instant approval.

In a brief address Warden McIntosh thanked the Council for the honour represented by the Wardenship of Peterborough County, and asked for the assistance of every member in carrying on the County's business this year, and in promoting its best interests.

Reeve Squire proved himself a good loser. He was the first Councillor to congratulate Warden McIntosh, and after the decision the previous divisions with their accumulating interest were quickly forgotten.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its colour and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even colour, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart colour and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Afraid To Tell Mother!

The child won't play or smile. He is real sick. His tongue is white, breath feverish, stomach sour. He fears he is in for a dose of awful castor oil, calomel or pills. How he hates them. He would rather remain sick.

If his mother would only learn the value of candy "Cascarets." How children love this candy cathartic—how surely it acts on liver and bowels.

TO MOTHERS! Each 10 cent box of Cascarets contains full directions for dose for children aged one year old and upwards. Nothing else "works" the nasty bile, sour fermentations and constipation poison from the tender little bowels so gently, yet so thoroughly. Even cross, feverish, bilious children gladly take Cascarets without being coaxed. Cascarets taste just like candy. Cascarets never gripe, never sicken, never injure, but above all, they never disappoint the worried mother.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

The Faithful Steward

By MERVIN LEE HUNTER

He lay outstretched upon the greensward near to the edge of the swift-rolling river, his face upturned, a bundle under his head. His clothes were common and coarse, but neatly patched and clean.

His lips twitched and quivered, as though in his dreams some unpleasant theme intruded. Then a smile wreathed his face. It was a rapid transition from a haunting memory of five years passed in a prison cell, followed by a remembrance of the kindness of a whole-hearted chaplain.

He had been a number—1142. He once more had a name, Alan Wilde. He had paid the penalty of the law in full, had suffered for a misstep, not a crime. He was free of the old life, forgotten, the world all before him: he, Alan Wilde, at twenty-eight, emerging into a world of sunshine and freedom.

A man stepped from a woodland path, bearing a satchel, and paused where what was left of an old-time tottered bridge bore the sign: "Danger. This Structure is Condemned." His purpose was to gain the other side of the stream. He set down the valise and cautiously tested the rotting footing of the bridge. Suddenly he was swept forward. His weight carried the dismantled structure to utter ruin. He discerned his perilous position. From his lips involuntarily rang out the shrill, echoing cry:

"Help!"

The piercing call aroused the sleeper. In an instant he was on his feet. He saw sinking timbers enmesh the victim. Fleet-footed, he dashed for the bridge. Into the abyss below its embankment he glanced quickly. Across some jagged beams lay the man. He was bleeding from a wound in one side of his head and lay barely supported by the floating fragments of timber.

"Hold on, I'll reach you!" shouted the rescuer, tearing off his coat. Then he noted that the man below was stunned, and then a swirl of the swift central current separated the supporting timbers and he sunk. Wilde leaped boldly into the water, but diving failed to locate the vanished man. He ran down the shore, eagerly scanning the stream. Then, half exhausted, he gave up the search. Returning to the bridge, he observed the satchel. He doubted not that its contents would reveal the identity of its lost owner. The thought came to him to take it to the village, tell the story and place it in the hands of the police. The fact that his past might be disclosed and suspicion directed against him prevented this: It began to rain, he sought shelter and found it in a wretched ruin of an old hut. The next morning Wilde again went up and down the river shore, vainly seeking a trace of the missing man. Later he decided to open the valise. Its contents not only enlightened him but presented a suggestion that fascinated while it startled him.

According to papers found in the satchel, the drowned man was Ward Bradley. He had come from China, where he had worked for an English trading house. Among the papers was one signed by John Burt, a lawyer at Belleville, informing Bradley that an old friend of his father had left him a large fortune. There were papers identifying Bradley as to the heirship in question. There were several sheets the young man had written, which interested Wilde strangely. In these Bradley had outlined what he would do with the fortune. His mind must have been of a high order, for all his impulses indicated a deep interest in bettering the world and benefiting his fellow man. There stole upon Wilde the temptation to assume the identity and take the place of dead Ward Bradley.

One year later Alan Wilde was a fixture in the town of Belleville. He had appeared there, had been accepted by the lawyer as the real heir, and had at once been placed in possession of a large estate. He had made a holy vow that the program the drowned man had outlined he would religiously follow out. There followed for him a career that ennobled him with the townspeople. It spread the record of his charities far and wide. He founded a school, a hospital; he donated liberally to the church. He was at the head of all public and philanthropic movements.

Ethel Burt, the daughter of the lawyer, became a glad and willing helper in the field of charity. Their love was mutual, and at the end of two years they were married.

One day the real Alan Wilde, the false Ward Bradley, was electrified to have a visitor, at the sight of whom he sat dazed and overcome—the real heir! The latter was thin and pale, palpably a man not long for this world. He had escaped from the river, and, his brain affected by his injuries, until a month previous had been an aimless, half-witted wanderer. Within the locked room those two told each his story.

"I have learned all you have done here," spoke Bradley. "Ah, faithful steward, you shall go on with the good work so devotedly begun. I shall not live long. Let me be a friend, a guest, sharing in your noble work, thanking you for taking up my plans and so loyally carrying them out — oh, my brother!"

And Ethel never knew, and the world never knew, but heaven knew, and blessed the sacred compact.

You Need More Than A Laxative

To correct constipation, all organs of digestion and elimination should be helped. Try NR and see how much better you feel.

NR Today—Keeps the Doctor Away

To live and be healthy, your body mechanism must properly digest your food, extract all the nourishment from it and promptly throw off the waste that is left. This is accomplished by the processes of digestion, assimilation and elimination—the work of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

The failure of any of the vital organs to do its work properly affects the action of all the others. A forced bowel movement does not help constipation; it only relieves for a few hours the condition that constipation brings about.

Now if you are used to taking so-called laxative pills, oil, purges and the like, you know mighty well you've got to be taking them all the time. Moreover, if you stick to any one laxative, you've got to be increasing the dose all the time. That can do you a lot of harm.

Stop dosing yourself with such things just long enough to give Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) a trial, and let the results show the difference. NR Tablets are not mere bowel movers, their purpose is to correct the condition that [illegible] genuine, lasting benefit: to improve your digestion and assimilation, give you a good hearty appetite, regulate your liver and bowels, tone up kidney action and give your poison-clogged body a good cleaning out.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is not harsh; it is mild, easy, pleasant in action; no griping or pain ever follows its use; but it is thorough and sure.

By its action on the digestive organs it promotes assimilation, which means extraction of full nourishment from your food, and thereby gives you new strength, energy, better blood, better appetite. By toning, not stirring your lazy liver, NR sends bile into the intestines, improving intestinal digestion. Lastly, by gently encouraging more vigorous bowel and kidney action, NR drives poisonous impurities out of and cleans up your body.

Try Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and just see how much better you feel in every way. Get a 25c box today and take one each night for a week. You'll say you never felt better in your life. NR is sold, guaranteed and recommended by [illegible]

TAKES PLACE OF COW'S MILK

Substitute Derived From Pressed Almonds Has Been Found to Give Fair Degree of Satisfaction.

Substitutes for cow's milk seem to be obtainable from various vegetable sources. Drs. H. D. Chapin and Ludwig Kast of New York reported their experience with almond milk, which is prepared by first grinding the almonds fine, covering with water and placing in the icebox overnight and then pressing out with a fruit press or by hand through four layers of gauze. The water may be twice the weight of the nuts, the pressed-out liquid being further diluted. The almond milk ferments much less easily than cow's milk, is richer in easily digestible fat and in phosphorus and its small amount of carbohydrate makes it less likely to cause sugar fermentation. It has been tried in more than one thousand adults. Though some dislike it no actual disturbances have been caused by it, and it has served well for temporary use in such conditions as nephritis, typhoid, intestinal putrefaction, malnutrition and secondary anemia. Milk is similarly prepared from the soy bean, already an important source of oil for margarine and soaps. This milk, which may be freed from its strong bean odor by heating to boiling point, contains 3.13 per cent of casein and 30 ounces of the beans are said to yield 46 ounces of cheese.

Rare Books Bring High Prices.

Several high prices were realized for rare books at the sale of the Winston H. Hagen collection in New York recently. John F. Drake, former partner of John W. Gates, paid $4,350 for the first edition of Thomas Gray's "An Elegy Written in a Country Churchyard." It was published in 1751, in England, and it is recorded that the author received no remuneration for the work from the publishers. The receipts from the sale amounted to $70,770.

A NECESSITY IN THE HOUSE.

Most of the common ills of life arise from a torpid, sluggish condition of the Liver, Kidneys or Bowels, and because they act on each of these organs in a direct and specific way Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills overcome serious and painful diseases over which ordinary medicines have no control.

EMINENTLY FITTED FOR JOB

Society Matron, Trying to "Do Her Bit," Had Distinct Laugh on Ill-Natured Farmer.

Society is having a delightful giggle over a story now going the rounds and of which Mrs. Mackay is heroine. Seems that with several other prominent women of the 400, she went in for farmeretting on Long Island, and the brigade was assigned to a farm whose owner had always had a grudge against the rich. He thought that now was his opportunity and approaching Mrs. Mackay said: "The first thing I'd like you to do is clean out the pigsties. Think you can manage it?"

Imagine his amazement and chagrin when the multimillionairess social arbiter smiled and cooed: "Certainly; at home I always attend personally to cleaning out the bird cage."

Heroism That is Real.

For heroism when the engine room of his ship was filled with live steam, Niels Anderson, chief machinist's mate, United States navy, has been given official commendation. The act occurred when the exhaust lines of the steering engine were carried away by the breaking of the tiller, causing the engine room to fill with steam. Without hesitation Anderson went down a ladder to the compartment, but was driven back. Again he made two more attempts. The third was successful, and, groping his way through the cloud of steam, he cut it off. Anderson enlisted in the navy at Norfolk, Va., in April, 1898, giving as his home address 2420 South Broad street, Philadelphia.

Our Limited Resources.

We should put out of our minds the idea that we have stores of accumulated wealth upon which to draw for war supplies. England had such stores, but we have not. When England went into the war she had great stores of outstanding legal claims upon the working organization of the outside world. She had also an established credit that enabled her to gear into her own working system the industrial power of the United States and many other neutral countries. We are devoid of any comparable resources. We have no capital to throw at the enemy. We have nothing to throw but our current income.—Charles Ferguson in Humanitarian.

Are Your Pulley Problems Well in Hand?

Have you reduced "belt slip" and weight-friction to a minimum? Can you show, despite increased price of coal, that your power bills are less, because you are getting more results from each unit? Many Superintendents are showing these results to-day, because they are replacing metal pulleys by Dodge Wood-Split Pulleys.

$10.00 per pulley per year is the smallest average saving of owner costs by such replacements.

This is a big claim, but it has been proven over and over again. Write for more information.

POLICE DRAGNET TO CLEAN UP CITY GETS 64 FIRST DAY

New York, Jan. 27.—Twenty-four men known to the police as general thieves, some of whom were released only recently from Sing Sing prison were among sixty-four prisoners caught by detectives ordered by Commissioner Enright to scour the city for highwaymen, safe burglars, pickpockets and other evildoers. The police dragnet extended from the Battery to Harlem, and five hundred detectives engaged in the task of rounding up malefactors. Arrests were made between midnight and daybreak.

All night restaurants, pool parlors, chop suey resorts, Turkish baths and other places were not overlooked by the police in their task of ridding the city of undesirables. With seven murders in the city unsolved and dozens of lesser yet desperate crimes, also baffling the police, some tangible clews to the mysteries are expected by Inspector John J. Cray. He is in charge of the field work of the detectives who made the wholesale roundup of known criminals and suspicious characters.

Orders to "Treat 'Em Rough"

It was a motley gathering of habitues of the underworld in the line-up at Police Headquarters for the general information of three hundred detectives. Men who had served terms in prison in this and other States listened to their records. They heard Inspector Cray instruct his charges to drive crooks from the city and to "treat 'em rough" if necessary, while accomplishing task. New York city the Inspector said, mu be the deadline for crooks. Heads of branch detective bureaus in the various police precints will be held responsible for thieves making a rendezvous there

Descriptions of men wanted in other States were compared with the batch of prisoners, and already several are said to have been identified. Victims of recent burglaries, hold-ups and other crimes were notified by the police to appear in the several courts in the city to confront the prisoners for possible prosecution. Each prisoner later in the day was questioned as to recent daring crimes in the city.

The police let it be known to each captive and for information of many not yet arrested, that "strong-arm" methods will be used to drive them from the metropolis. Policemen patrolling beats have been warned by their officers to arrest every suspicious person whose actions warrant it. It was intimated that nightsticks will be used freely to carry out the orders of Commissioner Enright to cleanse the city of undesirables. Commissioner Enright, through district inspectors, told policemen that there must be no occasion for the public to assert that there is a wave of crime here.

To Arrest More Nightly

The round-up of crooks will continue nightly, and the following morning the prisoners will be in a lineup for review by detectives. Harlem, especially will be watched. Acting Captain Richard McKenna and ten detectives of the West 123rd street station, arrested fifteen men they found in Lenox, Seventh and Eight avenues between 110th and 135th streets. Several had been in Sing Sing and other State's prisons several times. Three resisted arrest and were beaten into submission. In the number were several who had quantities of pawntickets for costly articles of jewelry. The police are seeking owners of the property pledged.

Contrary to popular belief, there is a "strong-arm" squad in the Police Department. Yesterday its activities assumed a more varied scope. From investigation work the squad will perform functions more in keeping with its name, and gangsters will find opposition to their lawless deeds.

"Every known crooks must be arrested," Inspector Gray said to the detectives at the line-up. "New York is no welcome place for them, and the best thing they can do is to beat it to other towns."

Prohibition in Canada

An Open Letter to the People of Canada

THIS STATEMENT is being published in the Daily Papers in every Province of Canada in order to call attention to the following facts:

First fact: Every Province in Canada now has a Temperance Law in force with the exception of Quebec. On May first, 1919, the Quebec Temperance Law will come into force.

Second fact: The Dominion Government passed Legislation under the powers granted in "The War Measures Act," which prohibited for the period of the war and twelve months thereafter, Importation, Manufacture and Interprovincial Shipment of liquor for drinking purposes. This Legislation is necessary to make effective that of the Provinces.

Third fact: The people of Canada want this Legislation continued in effect until the Citizens of Canada, including all the soldiers, shall have had an opportunity to vote on the question of making it permanent.

Fourth fact: There is an insidious and far-reaching propaganda now being carried on which aims to discredit the Prohibitory Laws and restore liquor-drinking for the personal profit of the Liquor-Seller.

Fifth fact: The requisite number of State Legislatures in the United States having adopted the Prohibition Amendment, Canada must act in harmony with it, or become the dumping ground for liquor and its unfortunate victims.

Who Want Prohibition?

Ask—

1. The Business men and Industrial leaders whom you know.
2. The working men and working women whom you know.
3. The Mothers, Wives and Children whom you know.
4. The Soldier Citizens of Canada whom you know.
5. The farmers whom you know.

We know that

1. Every Church and Religious Denomination in Canada has pronounced in favor of Prohibition through it's Executive Boards and Church Leaders.
2. Practically all School-teachers, Doctors, Public Health Officers, City Relief Officers and Social Workers in Canada are in favor of Prohibition.
3. The Provincial Governments, the Courts and the Police have learned that Prohibition reduces crime and disorder and promotes Peace and Prosperity.

Some Significant Contrasts

The Liquor People are looking for immense profits.
WE HAVE NO SELFISH INTEREST TO SERVE.

• • •

WE SIGN OUR OWN STATEMENTS AND WORK IN THE OPEN.

• • •

They hope to win by a Lobby.
WE WANT THE PEOPLE TO DECIDE.

• • •

They are reactionaries.
WE ARE IN THE PATHS OF HUMAN PROGRESS.

• • •

They are circulating throughout the country a prescription for influenza, that is purported to come from the world celebrated Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minnesota.

Here is what Dr. C. H. Mayo says:

"The prescription which is alleged to have been written by us is a fake. Alcohol or whiskey have no place in the treatment of influenza."

Temperance Platform

The Dominion Prohibition Committee are asking:

1. That the Prime Minister and Government of Canada be requested to take the steps necessary to continue in effect the provisions of the Order-in-Council of March 11th, 1918, (P.C. 389) by having the same embodied in Legislation to be enacted by the Parliament of Canada.

2. That the legislation so enacted be continued in effect until such time as a vote of the electors of the Dominion of Canada shall have been taken on the question of its continuance or dis-continuance.

3. That the vote on this question be taken at a date to be fixed by the Government of Canada at least six months prior to the day of voting and with due respect to the restoration to civil life in Canada of the Canadian soldiers now overseas.

What You Can Do to Help the Cause

The Dominion Parliament must consider the question of Temperance Legislation in some form at the next session. We are asking Parliament to embody in an Act, the Provisions of Orders-in-Council now in force with suitable provision for its submission to the people.

As a Citizen of Canada write to your Member of Parliament urging his active co-operation with the Government in carrying out this policy. Put your ideas in your own way and send your letter to your Member's home address as soon as you read this Statement.

Members of Parliament and National Policies are influenced by Public Opinion. Your action will be one of the ways of indicating what the people think.

We desire to warn our friends against any weakening of resolution at this critical moment. The liquor interests are at work in every Province trying to give the impression that there is a general dissatisfaction with existing laws and are using what is done in one Province to foment unrest in the others. Don't let the enemies of Prohibition do all the agitating.

If any information comes to your notice that the Central Committee should have, write at once to D. B. Harkness, General Secretary, 905 Kent Bldg., Toronto.

Platform of the Liquor People

The Distillers say:

We do not want the Bar back but we want the Interprovincial Traffic restored.

The Brewers say:

We want the percentage of alcohol in Beer increased from 2½% to 5% or 6% or even 10%.

The old time Hotel Keeper says:

We cannot run a Hotel without a Bar and if we cannot sell whiskey, we must at least have a "Beer and Wine" license.

Methods of the Liquor People:

1. They have already sent men and literature overseas in the vain hope of prejudicing many of the Canadian Soldiers.

2. They are behind a propaganda in the ranks of Labor that seeks to show that Prohibition is generally opposed by working people. This is a slander on Labor.

3. There are appearing letters signed "Wounded Soldier" or "Returned Soldier" or "Church Worker" or "Lover of Liberty" or "Soldier's Wife" or "Officer's Widow" or other camouflage names. In some cases such letters are made up and, soldiers or others are asked to sign—sometimes for a consideration.

4. False stories of suffering for lack of liquor for the sick are circulated although the Law provides fully for Doctors' prescriptions.

5. Efforts are being made to discredit Administrators of the Liquor Laws and even Members of Governments who are known to be in favor of Prohibition.

6. The Liquor cause is being upheld by insidious advertisements, news despatches, articles and moving picture films.

7. Drafts of bills acceptable to the Liquor Interests are being urged on the Governments.

8. The Liquor Interests are working behind the scenes in the political parties, and by underground methods, to discredit and oust from office any public man who is an outspoken prohibitionist. Watch for the evidence of this and prevent the success of their schemes.

Increases Your Weight, Restores Lost Strength, Prevents Illness

Every day some new converts to that great army of men and women who rejoice in new-found health that came to them through the use of that wonderful blood-renewing preparation called "FERROZONE." Very simple how it acts. All you have to do is take two small chocolate-coated tablets with a sip of water at the close of each meal.

Ferrozone is a marvel. It contains just what thin blood lacks —lots of iron, but mark you, the kind of iron your blood is able to absorb. Ferrozone puts life and vim into the blood. Makes it rich, red and nourishing. Naturally the body is better fed and grows stronger day by day.

Of course digestion must be improved, and probably the stomach will require aid as well. Ferrozone serves the purpose admirably. Those who use it, enjoy appetite and digestive powers far beyond the ordinary.

That tired feeling is replaced by the buoyant, joyous sensation of health and vigour. Day by day as your strength increases, you feel new energy surging through your veins, and know that a great tonic of great merit is at work.

No remedy more nourishing or uplifting, no treatment so sure to bring lasting health, good spirits and contentment. Ferrozone contains just what run-down folks need; it cures because it supplies more nutriment than you can get in any other way. 50c. per box, or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or by mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

End of War Hurt Business in Chili, Says Minister

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. — Christian Winther, of Winther & Co., an importing and exporting house in Valparaiso, arrived home on board the Morro Castle, of the Ward Line, with some first-hand information about conditions in Chili. Mr. Winther said Chilian prosperity had been greatly injured by the end of the war because of the consequent slump in the nitrate market, but that other industries were thriving. He said Chili offered the best prospects for American business in South America, but he discouraged individuals from colonizing there unless they had a direct connection with established firms or ample funds to invest.

"Peace brought the Chilian paper peso down from seventeen to ten pence sterling," said Mr. Winther. "The ten pence quotation, however, was the pre-war standard. The drop was due to the end of nitrate exportations from the fields in Northern Chili, but otherwise Chili is on good ground. The Government finances are sound and business is good. Chili to-day is the best place to live in in Latin America, to my mind, and I think the Chilians are the most progressive people in Latin America.

"The Tacna and Arica question, which has been agitated so much lately, is largely a matter of pride. It is true there is nitrate in Tacna and Arica, the provinces Chili took from Peru many years ago, but most of the nitrate is in Antofagasta, the territory taken from Bolovia, in the same war. As I understand it, Chili has colonized all this northern territory, and the Peruvians know that if the referendum was held, as is required by the treaty of peace at Ancon, the territory would remain in Chilian hands. That has led to the delay in holding the plebiscite. Chili has developed the territory, and I believe the Chilians would fight for it.

"I was in Arica at the time of the first riots. The Chilians broke the windows of some Peruvian houses and that was about all. There is a rumour at Santiago that the Chilian Government will declare Arica an open port for raw materials in order to stimulate manufacture. They say no more nitrate will be exported for six months."

Mr. Winther is on his way to his home, in Norway, for a visit. He has been in business in Chili for seven years.

FOR BABY'S TENDER SKIN.

A child's skin is tender as well as beautiful and eczema may be caused by chafing of clothing, the use of poor soap, exposure to cold or sudden change of temperature. Probably no treatment for eczema has ever proven so successful as Dr. Chase's Ointment, and this applies particularly to baby eczema. This ointment is delightfully soothing, stops the itching and consequently prevents scratching. Gradually the sores are healed up and the skin is left soft and velvety.

GRAIN MARKET

At the opening the corn markets seemed to respond to the price fixing on hogs which was announced Tuesday, but too late for the market, though the result had been anticipated and to some extent discounted. Yesterday's early advance, however, speedily yielded to a tremendous selling pressure, and prices promptly tumbled again. Towards the close there was some recovery in the January and February options, but the general advance did not come up to expectations as to what would happen with the hog prices maintained at their former high level. The whole trouble at the present time is the fact that there is no export outlet, and until there is such an outlet, dealers see no prospect of the present high prices of grains being maintained. In the local cash market rye is quoted 15 cents lower, and the market very dull all around.

CATTLE MARKET

Union Stock Yards—Receipts were 77 cars, with 1,024 cattle, 181 calves, 2,058 hogs, and 161 sheep and lambs.

The market continues dull and dragy for all classes of butcher cattle, except choice quality steers, suitable for export. There has been a good demand for the later class all this week, H. P. Kennedy shipping 15 cars of choice steers for New York in the past two days.

For everything else the market is off 75c to $1; cows and heifers in particular are off a good dollar.

Calves steady.

Hogs easier at $16 to $16.25, fed and watered.

RECIPE TO CLEAR A PIMPLY SKIN

Pimples are Impurities Seeking an Outlet Through Skin Pores.

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate, then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of hot water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys to normal activity, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent drink which usually makes pimples disappear; cleanses the blood and is excellent for the kidneys as well.

Clashing Ideas

CHAPTER CVL

Notwithstanding the thought that Brian's cruel speech was only a subterfuge to cover his staying out—a camouflage—Ruth was terribly hurt. Not bring his friends to the pretty home she had been to such pains to make artistic and comfortable! She had no friends in New York save the few she had made through him, and practically no acquaintances. Her time was so filled with her duties. If he really meant what he had said, why, she would practically have no society at all—save Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Curtis and her husband, and—Mollie King. She would not even think of Claude Beckly and those of his ilk.

[illegible] says poisons says two Englishmen were, their be[illegible] That Brian was immensely interested, she could easily perceive. But she hesitated to say [illegible] of making him angry, or at least out of humor with her.

The next morning neither Ruth nor Brian talked much. Usually at breakfast they chatted constantly. Once, when Ruth had laughingly spoken of it, Brian had answered:

"No one could help talking after drinking such coffee as Rachel makes, and eating her corn bread." yet, he had rather drink dish-water coffee and eat baker's rolls reheated than have Ruth work, and she knew it.

Whenever there was an article on the wonderful way—women were coming to the fore in all kinds of work, and in many profesions, he would throw it down muttering:

"Such rot! that is what is going to spoil the women of this country. Soon they won't want to be even mothers. It riles me all up every time I see such an article."

"One would think you an old man, an old crank," Ruth laughed at him. "Of course women want to be mothers. Their voting, being in business or in the professions, won't change that."

"It won't, eh! Well it has. Take yourself; you don't want children. You have said so."

"Oh, but Brian!" Ruth protested. "I said until we were in a position to care for them and to educate them as they should be. I think it a sin to bring children into the world and then not care for them properly. One would think, to hear you talk, that I was a heathen, that I didn't love children—when I adore them."

"I notice you don't adore them as much as you adore your own way."

Such arguments had ben frequent. Brian Harkett was a very affectionate man. He would have been a very domestic man, had his home life been different. He cared nothing for style and artistic efforts really; but he would have loved a coupie of hearty, healthy children clambering over him or running to meet him when he came home. And although Ruth had taken the stand that it was wrong to have children until they could be properly educated and cared for.

After Brian had left, Ruth again commenced to wonder about the two Englishmen had entertained the night before. She was picking up his clothes (he was terribly untidy when a card dropped out of his pockets.

"Lieutenant George VanAlstyne."

Another soldier.

Brian had been so engaged with this Englishman. She searched his pockets, hoping to come upon the other man's card. But she found nothing.

Someway, she felt uneasy. Why was Brian so terribly interested in these men? She hoped they wouldn't make him feel that he should go over seas to fight a country with whom his own country was not at war, although to be sure the Huns' treatment of Belgium made them the enemy of all Christians! But Brian was so impressionable. He was apt to do almost anything—anything impulsive.

Ruth had been so slow in getting ready for the street because of her soliloquizing, that she had to hurry to avoid being late. But all the way to the office she kept turning over in her mind the fact of his interest, and of his almost jovial manner of talking to her the night before—talking of the same things he usually approached in an angry or annoyed spirit.

She would try to dismiss it all for the day. But she would certainly talk to Brian when she got home that night. But;

"Man proposes and God disposes." Mr. Mandel was waiting. He immediately asked her to go to Washington. There was to be a wonderful ball in a house he was to redecorate. They wanted the ballroom decorated for dancing. It might mean the loss of the order if they refused. Ruth felt she had no choice in the matter. So she telephoned Brian and then took the train for Washington.

To-mororw—Ruth Returns from Washington.

GOT RID OF BRONCHITIS

Mr. W. H. Walker, Calmar, Alta., writes: "I am pleased to say that Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has done much good to myself, wife and children. My eldest girl, seven years old, had bronchitis and the doctor who attended her did not seem to do much good. We got Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for her and she soon got well. We always keep this medicine in the house now ready for use and find that it soon cures coughs and colds."

A SLUGGISH LIVER CAUSED SEVERE HEADACHES

The duty of the liver is to prepare and secrete bile and serve as a filter to the blood, cleansing it of all impurities and poisons.

Healthy bile in sufficient quantity is Nature's provision to secure regular action of the bowels, and when the liver is sluggish it is not working properly, and does not manufacture enough bile to thoroughly act on the bowels and carry off the waste products from the system, hence the bowels become clogged up, the bile gets into the blood, constipation sets in, followed by sick and bilious headaches, coated tongue, bad breath, heartburn, water brash, bad taste in the mouth in the morning, jaundice, floating specks before the eyes, etc.

Miss Dian Clark, Myer's Cove, Ont., writes:—"I take pleasure in writing you concerning the good I have received by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills for a sluggish liver. When my liver got bad I would have severe headaches, but I got better after I had used a couple of vials of your pills."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills gently unlock the secretion, clear away all waste and effete matter by acting directly on the liver, and make the bile pass through the bowels instead of allowing it to get into the blood.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Mayor Pleads For $250,000 More For Soldier Welcome

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Objection by republican and socialist Aldermen prevented immediate action on Mayor Hylan's request for an additional appropriation of $250,000 for the Mayor's Committee to Welcome Homecoming Troops by the Board of Aldermen.

The amount requested was in addition to the $100,000 already provided in the 1919 budget for the use of the committee and the appropriation for the erection of a temporary arch of freedom in Fifth avenue at Madison square. Grover A. Whalen, secretary to the Mayor, who appeared before the Aldermen, said that it was estimated that the welcome to the New York troops, including the Twenty-seventh and Seventy-seventh divisions, would cost between $600,000 and $700,000, but that the difference would be made up by private subscriptions.

The meeting was enlivened by a discussion over resolutions disapproving and Mayor Hylan's selection of William R. Hearst as a member of the committee, which resulted in the killing of the condemnatory resolution and the passage of the commendatory resolution by the democratic majority. Aldermen B. Charney Vladeck, acting as socialist leader in the absence of Alderman Lee, charged both republicans and democrats with playing politics on the Hearst issue and called Mr. Hearst "one of the greatest public evils in the country."

To explain why the Mayor's Committee needed so much money, Mr. Whalen showed the Aldermen six large drawings, showing proposed decorations from City Hall to the plaza at Fifty-ninth street and Fifth avenue. He said that it was estimated that the decorations would cost $125,000, the lighting $25,000 and entertaining $100,000.

Mr. Whalen also stated that the programme of entertainment for the returning troops included a series of dinners in the armories. This expense for the 60,000 men in the two divisions was expected to amount to nearly $300,000, which will be borne largely by private citizens. The cost of the reviewing stand to be built in Fifty-ninth street to hold 10,000 persons was estimated by Mr. Whalen at $15,000.

Mr. Whalen said the committee had no definite information regarding the probable date of the arrival of either division, but was expecting definite news from General Pershing to whom a cable despatch had been sent. The committee expected to take five or six weeks to prepare the celebration he said, and consideration of the resolution for the appropriation was asked for that reason.

Aldermen Squiers, Falconer and Quinn, republicans, and Alderman Vladeck, socialist, objected, and the resolutions went over for a week under the rules, preventing immediate consideration without unanimous consent.

In voting to file the resolution of Alderman Squiers, condemning the presence on the committee of Mr. Hearst, the Board adopted the resolution of Alderman Collins, in which the appointment of Mr. Hearst was commended.

Alderman Vladeck opposed this action. "Mr. Hearst is one of the greatest public evils in the country," he said. "He is without principle and without ideals. He has no desire other than to build up a domain for himself."

LOOK AT A CHILD'S TONGUE WHEN CROSS, FEVERISH AND SICK

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it can not cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomach-ache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

QUEBEC, Jan. 29.—Three men were drowned about 4 o'clock this morning, when the C.P.R. shunting engine jumped off Point-a-Carly wharf in the harbour, while in the act of taking freight cars off the car ferry. The dead are Jacques Dery, who leaves a wife and 7 children, and Alphonse Lamontagne and Willie Beaudry.

FOREIGNERS ARE SWARMING HOME

Heavy Demand for Ocean Passage Pay Extra to Get Away Early.

TORONTO, Jan. 29. — "We are simply swamped with applications from foreigners from all over Ontario who are anxious to get back to the old land said a booking agent to-day. There are a greater number of Italians and other nationalities, but also numbers of Maltese, Serbians and Greeks. Probably the reason there are so many Italians going is the closing of the nickel mines at Copper Cliff, which threw 800 of them out of work. But they all have lots of money and they are anxious to get back to their families for a visit."

Greeks and Serbians are having some difficulty in getting their passports as their previous passports had expired and they had to be sent down to Montreal to get the vise of the consul there. A good many call themselves Macedonians, which may mean almost anything. The Maltese, who are really British subjects, are having even a worse time for when their passports are found to have expired they have to be sent all the way back to Malta, to receive the government vise, thus causing a delay of several weeks.

Greeks are Determined.

Another agent said that he was booking passage for hundreds of Greeks, Serbians, Syrians and Maltese. The Greeks are so anxious to get back to see their relatives that they are willing to pay the extra amount to go to England and then across the Channel, and go by rail to Brindisi and then across to Greece. They tell most pathetic stories of how their relatives have been killed in the war and the children captured by the Turks, and they say that they want to get back quickly to get the children away from the Turks," he said. "The ships to the Mediterranean are now few and far between, only about one steamer a month, and when I asked for accommodation for 100 passengers a few weeks ago, they gave me accommodation for three and told me that I was very lucky to get that." However he thinks some relief will come soon as the various steamship lines will, it is expected, be given back to their owners shortly.

It is reported at other offices that many business firms are sending representatives down to the West Indies and to South America to open up new fields of industry, and the bulk of travel seems to be all first and second class.

Rush to Jamaica.

"If I could get transportation to Jamaica I could fill the office within an hour with first class business," said one agent, "but owing to the British Government requisitioning the Royal Mail Steam Packet Co., from New York southbound, which calls at Jamaica, and then proceeds through the Isthmus of Panama there is nothing on that line, and the same is the case with the United Fruit Company's lines, so that the people who want to reach Jamaica are obliged to go down to Cuba and trust to getting a lugger."

Traffic to England is terribly heavy and consists mostly of English folk who have been held up by the war, and Canadian business men. It is reported that a great many business men are crossing for the Lyons fair, while the demand for short pleasure trips is tremendous.

BOLSHEVISTS ON THE RAND.

Find Little Sympahty in South African Gold Fields.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Plans for the establishment of a Bolshevist movement on the Rand, the rich gold mining region of the Union of South Africa, have been unearthed, according to a despatch to Reuter's, Ltd., from Johannesburg.

The principals in the plan style themselves International Socialists, and the movement was launched at the time of the armistice celebrations in South Africa, one of the measures being the issuance of a circular announcing that arrangements for practical co-operation with "brothers in Russia" had been completed.

"Investigations show," adds the despatch, "that the natives will have nothing to do with this Bolshevism, the native strike here last June having caused the natives to lose confidence in the International Socialists. While free speech is not interfered with, steps are being taken to ensure adequate protection to the public."

NEW PENSIONS SCHEME.

Hurrying New Allowances to Children as Quickly as Possible.

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—Adjustment in connection with the new scheme of Pensions, which provides for additional allowances for the children of disabled and fallen soldiers, are being made as speedily a spossible, but it is anticipated that on account of the number of families affected there may be a little delay regarding payment in some instances.

It is pointed out that it will not be necessary for the families affected by the increase to make an inquiries, as all cases will be taken up in rotation as quickly as possible.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

Alpine Claims of Italy

A MISSION of Italian "Irredenti" recently paid a visit to America. The party of the Trentin Section was composed as follows:

Dr. Lozenzoni, formerly professor of the Italian faculty of law in Austria, acting president of the political association of the "Irredenti" in Rome, captain of the "Alpini."

Dr. Piscel, chief of the Labor party of the Trentino, president of the Lawyers' Association of Rovereto.

Dr. Sartori, deputy at the County Council of Tifol for the Liberal party.

Mr. Cristel, deputy of the County Council of Tirol for the Catholic party.

As everyone may recognize, all parties are represented in this mission, which was sent to America with the approval of the Italian Government but not by the Italian Government.

The "Irredenti" political association takes the stand that one of the most important war's aims is the liberation of all Italian people formerly belonging to Austria.

In connection with that the Trentino section brought to America a nice reproduction of the monument of the great Italian poet, Dante Alighieri, which the Trentino people, erected by small contributions in Trento 22 years ago, and which is regarded as the most beautiful monument ever erected in Italy to the father of the nation's language and literature.

They also brought to America a picture of the great martyr, Cesare Battisti, who was hanged by Austria only because he was fighting, as an honest Italian citizen soldier, against the oppressor of his own country, the Trentino.

The mission gave out for the benefit of people on this continent all the information and details concerning its country which may be useful in the debating that will give peace and liberty to the entire world.

Correspondents have asked the mission about the peculiar desires of the Trentino "Irredenti" concerning the final settlement of peace. They answered that they want a full application of the ninth point of the declaration made by President Wilson on Jan. 8, 1918. That means the freedom of the Trentino, which is entirely Italian for language, race and culture since the time of the Roman Emperor Augusto, and also of those territories which were in their greatest majority in the earlier time, populated by inhabitants of Latin language, and which were only by violence of Germans deprived of their true national character. That means that the Trentino "Irredenti" are quite agreeing with the Italian government, which claims the true geographical border of Italy in the Alpine region, as was traced by nature at the top point which divides the basin of the Black Sea from that of the Adriatic Sea, namely, the Brennero. In other words, the frontier guaranteed to Italy by the Allies, Great Britain and France in the London treaty.

The Trentino "Irredenti" realize that the liberty of their own country cannot be secured unless the Germans are deprived of the bridgehead which they would retain in the southern part of the Brennero, formerly belonging to Austria, which comprehends 180,000 Germans near 420,000 Italians or Latins of the Trentino.

Of course Italy would prefer that those valleys attributed by nature to Italian country would not be populated by Germans, but this being the actual situation, she is able to give the most generous assurances that those Germans will live into the Italian frontier enjoying all the guarantees of liberty and free development which are the privileges of the other little colonies of the Sette Comune Plateau and of the French inhabitants of the Val d' Aosta.

Italy will not treat the Germans of the Alto Adiege—which will be a very little fraction of the Italian Nation—as Prussia has treated her Polonnais, or French subjects.

The Italian "Irredenti" of the future settlement of Austro-Hungary, the mission of the Trentino "Irredenti" declared that they consider that Austria is no more existing and shall never revive according to the points of view of all the oppressed nations, approved by the associated countries.

They do not consider as a great danger the union of the Germans of Austria to Germany because they think that otherwise those Germans could continue to dominate among all the other populations of the Danubian political system.

They have nothing to object against the constitution of federations of independent peoples which will succeed to Austria according to their economic interests. In particular they think that two federations could be born: one of the Northern Slavs (Polonnais and Czeco-Slovaks), another of the Southern Slavs (Slovenes, Croats and Serbs), which will be probably joined by Bulgars and which will live in good friendship with Greeks and Roumanians.

The Northern Slavs could find their natural development in the Baltic Sea; the Southern Slavs could have a great future in the Adriatic with the loyal and friendly co-operation of Italy.

These two federations should have the very important mission to close the way to the Balkans and that of the East to the imperialistic program of Germany.

The Southern Federation could create with the co-operation of Italy and that of the other Allied countries, the great railway system which must run from the Adriatic to the Black and Caspian seas, bringing civilization and commercial development in all the new East.

$500,000 FOR BUILDINGS

Government Takes Over Buildings at Long Branch and Camp Borden Constructed by Munitions Board.

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—An order-in-Council has been passed providing for the purchase by the Militia Department of buildings and improvements at Long Branch, Toronto, and Camp Borden constructed by the Imperial Munitions Board. The department will pay $125,000 for the Long Branch buildings and $275,000 for those at Camp Borden.

The cost to the Imperial Munitions Board of the Camp Borden improvements was $1,493,000. The buildings were offered to the department at 50 per cent. of the cost price, but the Imperial Munitions Board agreed after negotiations to accept $375,000. The cost of the Imperial Munitions Board of the buildings and improvements at Long Branch was $500,000.

Easily Convertible

The order-in-Council providing for the purchase of the properties states that in the spring the overseas authorities will endeavour to increase the number of returning convalescents and that additional hospital accommodation may be required on short notice.

NEW $320,000 SANITORIUM.

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—The Department of Civil Re-establishment has decided to establish a Dominion sanitorium for men returning from overseas suffering from tuberculosis, domiciled in Ontario. The proposal contemplates an expenditure of $320,000. In 1917 negotiations were entered into with the Ontario Government for the erection of a central sanitorium, half the cost to be borne by the Dominion, and half by the province. A site was secured by the Ontario Government, but it has been impossible to conclude the plans, as the policy of the Department of Civil Re-establishment is to erect buildings of a semi-permanent character, while the Ontario Government requires that the buildings should be of such a permanent character as to be suitable for a tuberculosis sanitorium for the insane.

In these circumstances it has been deemed advisable that the Federal Department should erect its own sanitorium, and the site secured by the Ontario Government has been taken over for $15,000, the cost price.

Mr. White stated that there is a renewal of inquiries looking to homesteading in the west, and a good proportion of them are coming from returned United States soldiers. Many of them wish to locate in districts where reside Canadians whom they have met in France.

Ottawa's Fuel Loss.

The city's actual loss in the wood business up to date is $7,816 according to a report signed by Commissioner of Works Macallum, City Auditor Tolley and City Treasurer Corbett, and submitted to the Board of Control on Thursday afternoon. The net average loss on every cord has been $3.67.

Controller Plant prepared and submitted a statement showing that if the wood on hand in the city yards were sold there would be a further loss of $4,257, making a total of $12,074. There are at present 1,354 cords on hand. Were those sold at the established prices the return would be $14,418; but, according to Controller Plant's figures the total cost of selling this wood would be $18,676, leaving a deficit of $4,257.

The total amount of wood sold last year and up to the present, was 2,123 of both hard and soft wood. The actual cost of disposing of each cord or hardwood was $15.17.—Ottawa Journal

FORCED COAL DEALERS TO REDUCE THE PRICE

Niagara Falls Coal Men Have Exceeded Legal Schedule Since November 1st.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Jan. 28.—Charles Ballard, manager of the Bank of Commerce, who is local fuel controller, gave out a statement that in answer to a letter sent by him to the fuel controller, in which he expressed the conviction that city fuel dealers were charging more for coal than they were legally entitled to. Assistant Fuel Controller, Yeomans came to this city and made an investigation. He found some dealers had been charging $12 a ton for hard coal, whereas, according to the Government schedule, made up of the price at the mine, plus price of freight and Government allowance of profit, the following is the legal schedule for hard coal for Niagara Falls: Grate coal, $10.45; egg, $10.38; stove, $10.60; nut, $1060 and pea, $9.42. As a result of Yeomans' visit, the price of hard coal in Niagara Falls to-day is about $10.50.

John B. Manning Left $9,000,000, Petition Reveals

Children and Grandchildren Not Agreed in Regard to Disposal of Securities

New York, Jan. 27.—Executors of the estate of John B. Manning, financier and octogenarian suitor of Miss Honoria O'Brien to whom he paid $100,000 for his failure to make her his bride, made known that his fortune is $9,000,000 when he filed an application with Surrogate Cohalan for authority to dispose of some of the securities he left. The petition presented by Joseph B. Meade and Anna M. Stark, showed the assets consist of stocks and bonds and cash in banks.

Although the executors already have realized $1,800,000 from the sale of securities ordered by the Court, they stated that it was necessary to increase this amount by $600,000 in order to meet the expenses incurred in administering the estate. Their petition stated that the funds would be used in paying inheritance taxes in this and other States estimated at from $1,500,000, to $2,000,000 the federal income tax is about $150,000 and debts and funeral expenses aggregating $200,000.

Heirs of Mr. Manning, his six children and three grandchildren, are revealed as entertaining divergent views regarding the propriety of selling the securities. Mr. Manning's children favor the arrangement and through their counsel, William Travers Jerome, express an opinion that the securities can be disposed of without loss, while the grandchildren who are minors, assert that market conditions indicate this is an inopportune time to make the sale.

According to the petition, the heirs are anxious for a distribution of the residuary estate, agreeing to accept in lieu of cash, the securities left by Mr. Manning. They suggest that the residue be divided into nine equal parts and turned over to the legatees afte rthe necessary expenses are paid.

Abraham Lewitt, counsel for Mrs. Hall, made the following statement:

"After consultation * * * it was agreed that the Court should grant the application of Mrs. Hall for separation because both of the parties desire it. Alimony and custody of the children will be decided later."

Justice Faber directed that the two sons of the couple, six and eight years old, be brought before him next Monday.

Demand for Week of 48 Hours Denied By Lawrence Mills

Operators Declare Neither Present Business Nor Prospects Warrant Such a Reduction.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Jan. 29. — The Pacific Mills, employing about 10,000 textile workers, in a formal statement, refused the demands of the employees for a forty-eight-hour week. The statement asserted that "neither present business conditions nor the prospects of the immediate future justify such a "reduction" in the hours of labour.

The workers recently made a demand for a forty-eight-hour week effective February 3 which brought from several of the larger plants an inquiry whether they were willing to accept a proportionate reduction in wages if the hours of labour were reduced from fifty-four to forty-eight. While negotiations were proceeding between the mill agents and representatives of the workers mass meetings were held, at which a majority of the operatives made it clear that they would demand the same wages by the week for forty-eight hours' work that they had been receiving for fifty-four hours.

The plants of the American Woollen Company—the Wood, Washington and Ayer mills—also are involved in the controversy, but whether they will take the same attitude as the Pacific mills was not made known.

Training the Invalided Soldier

WHEN the first Canadian casualties were announced every heart in Canada thrilled with the thought "What will the country do to help these men overcome the handicaps they have suffered?"

Since that day Canada has been quietly developing a wonderful organization to help restore the strength and earning capacity of her invalided soldiers.

This work is in the charge of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment. It is divided into three classes.

Ward Occupations.

Soldiers who, on account of their injuries, are confined to wards or to their beds in hospitals are taught handicraft work of various kinds. This work is not meant to train a man in work by which he could earn a living. It is encouraged rather because it diverts the soldier's mind from his disability, and gives him light exercise. In this way it assists wonderfully in the soldier's recovery.

Occupational Therapy.

This work is conducted in hospitals. It is intended mainly to help in the cure of the patient. But it often serves as the ground-work for a course in Industrial Re-training. The following gives some idea of the breadth and scope of the subjects taught in these classes:—Mechanical drawing, woodworking, boot and shoe repairing, machine shop practice, gardening, poultry raising, civil service instruction, book-keeping, stenography, telegraphy.

Industrial Re-Training.

When a man is so injured by war service that he cannot follow the occupation or trade that he worked at before enlisting, the Department trains him for a new occupation.

For this work, use is made of Technical Schools and Universities at fourteen centres throughout the Dominion. Here primary training is given by specially planned courses. This helps a man begin his actual re-training work intelligently.

Most of the re-training is given in actual factories and shops. Hundreds of large and small concerns have co-operated whole-heartedly in this work placing at the disposal of the Department, without charge, their equipment and the services of many of their staffs.

Ninety-five per cent of those who have been granted "Industrial Re-training" courses by the Department have been successful in becoming self-supporting in a new trade or occupation.

These benefits are given by the Department to ex-members of the Canadian, British and Allied forces living in Canada, who come within the classes for which these benefits are provided.

* * * * *

During the period a man is being "Re-trained" he and his dependents are granted adequate pay and allowances.

Contestants in Will Says Aunt Had Joy Rides at 91 Years

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Automobile trips to outlying road houses, where, until long after midnight, Mrs. Catherine L. Taylor, at the age of ninety years, freely indulged in intoxicants, were part of a conspiracy her niece asserts, to gain control of her wealth. Accompanying her on these occasions, it was said, was William J. Smith, book-keeper and captain of the bell-boys at the Long Acre Hotel executor of her will and principal legatee to her estate of many thousand dollars.

Joining with Mrs. Margaret McMullen, of No. 244 East Eighty-sixth street, niece of Mrs. Taylor, in their effort to upset the will, are other nephews and nieces. They agree with Mrs. McMullen that their aunt was dominated by Smith. In a petition filed in the Surrogate's Court, asking for her appointment as temporary administratrix of the estate Mrs. McMullen says she has come into possession of additional facts revealing how Smith sought to conceal the actual value of Mrs. Taylor's assets from the relatives.

Says Value is Overstated.

His petition asking for the probate of the will, declares the niece, said estate consisted of real property worth $40,500 and personal of $500. Mrs. McMullen specifies property worth $140,000 she says her aunt left in addition to $75,000 received by Smith and others in settlement of Mr. Taylor's estate.

On March, 24, 1915, while Mrs. Taylor was living at a boarding house kept by Mrs. McKelvey at No. 73 West Eighty-third street, she made the will, although, her niece asserts, she was then "practically deaf, virtually blind and absolutely illiterate." Although there were fourteen relatives with whom Mrs. Taylor was on friendly terms, she omitted them from sharing in her estate and left only $5 to Mrs. McMullen.

Mrs. McMullen charges that the $5 was left to her to offset any accusation of fraud and in mentioning fourteen other persons whose bequests totalled $14,800, she says, "they represented the entire group of persons who surrounded the old lady for the last three years of her life."

Mrs. Taylor, who died on April 12, 1918, at the age of ninety-three, named Smith as the residuary legatee and co-executor with James A. Timony. The clause providing for Smith read:" All my residue I bequeath unto my friend, William J. Smith."

According to the contestant, her aunt made the acquaintance of Smith in 1912, soon after his arrival here from Ireland, where he had been a school teacher. Smith obtained employment in the Long Ace Hotel as captain of the bellboys and was introduced to Mrs. Taylor by a member of the McKelvey family.

The aged woman took a fancy to Smith, says Mrs. McMullen and soon thereafter, she alleges, he became the central figure of a conspiracy to inherit her wealth. In accomplishing this object, Smith is asserted to have had power of attorney granted to him by Mrs. Taylor, thereby assuming control of her property.

While acting as her attorney, Smith is accused af having received $53,000 on one occasion and $23,000 on another from the estate of Washington L. Taylor, her husband, a restaurateur and real estate operator. The money represented Mrs. Taylor's dower interest.

Relatives and Friends Protested.

After assuming charge of Mrs. Taylor's affairs Smith is alleged to have placed her in an apartment at No. 76 West Eighty-Fifth street, where he installed a Mrs. Condon and her daughter to look after her. Relatives and friends who protested against the arrangement were denied admittance to the home unless Smith was present, it was said.

Mrs. McMullen says that although her aunt's income from the Cornell apartment house at Nos. 114 and 116 West Forty-seventh street amounted to $6,000 annually, exclusive of other returns, she was forced to live in wretched conditions. It was at this time that Mrs. Taylor was said to have gone on automobile drives with Smith to the road houses.

On such occasions when she returned home, asserts Mrs. McMullen, her aunt was overcome by her indulgences, "and had to wake up Mrs. Condon and her daughter, so she could receive such treatment as she needed before going to bed."

Mrs. McMullen declares that Smith's petition describing her aunt's estate as being worth only $40,500 is a significant feature of the alleged plot. The Cornell apartment house is worth $100,000, says the niece, and fifty unimproved lots in Westchester county left by Mrs. Taylor are valued at $40,000. She also states that Smith has not made any accounting of the $75,000 received from Mr. Taylor's estate, and calls attention to the alleged discrepancy between this sum and the $500 the executor says represented her entire personal estate.

The influence exerted upon Mrs. Taylor by Smith was made easy, Mrs. McMullen, through her aunt's "enteebled condition and senses, and because of her great age, she was nothing more than the easy prey for the cunning and avaricious action of William J. Smith.

Smith denies having unduly influenced Mrs. Taylor.

MILD WEATHER IS NOT HARMING PEACH BUDS

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 28.—"The peach buds are all right so far," said W. G. Stewart, a retired fruit grower, yesterday. "I know that some city people have been quite agitated by the recent spring-like weather. They figured it out that the buds would advance rapidly and then be at the mercy of any heavy frost, but a rather unusual set of circumstances has prevented this. While overhead it has been warm, the ground has been wet and cold and the trees have not started to grow at all. I have carefully examined many trees, and the buds are no more than formed. There has been practically no growth, so that the peach crop is safe so far."

Missing Heir to Fortune Found By Newspaper Picture

Led to Discovery of Marie Pettis Long Island.

By Amazing Chain of Circumstances Identity of Long Lost Girl Established.

SYRACUSE, Jan. 29.—The missing heir to the Pettis fortune has been found—and with this discovery the mystery of a young girl's life story has been cleared up on the eve of her wedding.

By an amazing chain of circumstances the reproduction in a newspaper of the photograph of the woman whom Augustus Pettis, of Fayetteville, married in his youth and whose memory he cherished for twenty years after she was in her grave was brought to the notice of a girl so startlingly like the portrait that all who beheld it stared in wonder.

And the girl's name is Marie Pettis. All that she has known of herself is that name and the fact that she had been told that her mother died when she was born.

In her infancy she was placed in an orphan asylum, and when she was a child she was taken by a family who bestowed their name upon her, who brought her up to be as good and as sweet as she was lovely. And she has longed to know who she was, but not the slightest clue to her identity was in her possession.

As she grew into womanhood she had suitors, of course. A girl so pretty and so sweet could scarcely miss them. And to one of them she gave her heart and promised her hand. And Tuesday is to be her wedding day.

And on Friday came the amazing surprise.

It was in the village of Astoria, L. I., that Mary had been brought up from childhood to womanhood. The New York papers reach there early in the morning. And long before noon on Friday one of Marie's girl friends sought her out.

"Oh, Marie, see!" she cried. "Here is your picture. And you are an heiress."

Marie looked at the picture of the girl with curling hair in the old fashioned white gown with its high collar. Then she looked in the glass. Allowing for the difference in the dress the portrait might have been that of the girl herself.

In the course of the morning others brought the newspaper and the picture of Marie. Her fiance was called on the telephone and was bidden look at it. The Rev. A. Rafaele Chiossi, pastor of the Church of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel, where the girl worships, became interested in the matter. It was Father Chiossi who suggested taking up the case with Mr. Cole and telling him about the little Long Island girl whose name when she was a baby was Marie Pettis and whose face was the face of Augustus Pettis's dead wife.

Father Chiossi has the ordinary New York ideas of "up-state." He called his friend Father De Santis, at Troy, and asked him to get in immediate touch with Mr. Cole at Syracuse and tell him about Marie and the newspaper picture. Father De Santis called Mr. Cole and did his friend's bidding. He said that in his opinion Marie was undoubtedly the missing heiress, that she was to be married on Tuesday and that he would be glad to have Mr. Cole come to New York at once.

Not content with this, Father Chiossi wrote the Rev. Bernard A. Stark, of Fayetteville, and asked him to locate Mr. Cole and ask him to try and supply some clue which might connect Marie and the picture. Father Stack phoned Mr. Cole and also mailed Father Choissi's letter to him at Manlius.

AMERICANS WILL REMAIN IN FRANCE

Canadian Press:

PARIS, Jan. 29.— At least 200,000 Americans now in the army will remain in France, according to a statement made by a prominent member of the American colony in Paris, and quoted by the "Intransigeant" to-day.

The majority, it is said, will remain because they wish to marry French women, and the rest because they are charged with French life and see great opportunities here.

Lakefield Wedding and Presentation

About Forty Guests Took Part in the Reception.

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 29.—A wedding of much interest took place at Lakefield on Wednesday, Jan. 15, when Miss Alice McFadden, daughter of Mr. Cyrus McFadden, of Burleigh, was united in the hold bonds of matrimony to Mr. Joseph E. A. White, of Ribstone, Alberta. The ceremony was performed at 'The Manse' by Rev. P. L. Juil, pastor of the Presbyterian church. The bride was handsomely dressed in taupe silk poplin, trimmed with apricot lace and rhine stones, and was assisted by her sister, Miss Matilda McFadden, who also looked charming in green silk poplin. The groom was supported by Mr. Joseph Tucker, of Anstruther. The groom's present to the bride was a cheque for a sum of money, to the bridesmaid a beautiful manicure set, and to the groomsman a military brush and comb.

After the ceremony the bridal party drove to the home of the bride's parents at Burleigh, where a reception was given in her honour. About forty guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding dejeuner. The bride received a number of handsome presents.

Mr. and Mrs. White will take up residence in Alberta, and our best wishes for many happy and prosperous years, go with them.

A Presentation.

On Tuesday evening, Jan. 21, the members of the Soldiers' Comfort Club, of which the bride was a member, called upon her and presented her with a beautiful [illegible] shower and the following address:

Apsley, Jan. 21, 1919.

To Mrs. Joseph White:

Dear Alice,—It is with mingled feelings that we come this evening before your departure from our community to bid you good-bye. We are glad to know that you are about to enter a sphere where your many enviable traits of character will have a wider field for their activities and we bespeak for you many happy years in your new home, and yet we cannot conceal our regret at losing from our midst one who in many ways laid claim to our respect and appreciation, and it is with a measure of reluctance that we part with one who can so ill be spared.

In our good work you have always taken an active part and as we sent boxes with gifts to our boys, we know they were appreciated by the letters we received from them, and as we worked and prayed for them we are assured that our labour was not in vain. But we give our heartiest thanks to God who gave them the most blessed gift in the gaining of victory and although we are sad when we remember that some of choicest boys have fallen, we will ever honour and remember them for their noble deeds and may their souls rest in heaven. In presenting our gifts as a slight token of love and appreciation we wish to convey with them our heartfelt wishes for your future welfare, and that kindly Providence will still bless you and make you a blessing among your new associates, is the sincere wish of your many friends in Apsley.

Signed on behalf of the members of the A. S. C. C.

Mrs. E. Tucker, Pres.
G. Jones, Vice-Pres.
E. Lean, Sec.
G. Carr, Treas.

Mrs. White made a very suitable reply. The evening was spent in various amusements. Instrumental music was furnished by Mr. D. Brown. Two selections were sung in good voice by Messrs. E. Tucker, C. McFadden, J. Kilborn and D. Brown. Before dispersing all joined in singing, "Blest be the Tie That Binds" and lastly, the National Anthem.

Mrs. G. C. Routley, Bright, Ont., writes: — "I take great pleasure in writing you of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

For several weeks I was troubled with a severe cold, and a tickling in the throat. I tried numerous remedies, but found no relief until I used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which I had heard so much about, and on taking one bottle got instant relief. I highly recommend it to those who need a quick cure."

So great has been the success of "Dr. Wood's" in curing coughs, colds, bronchitis, etc., it is only natural that many imitations have been placed on the market. # THE GERMAN COLONIES

Japan and Australia Expected to Follow the Lead of Great Britain and United States.

VIRTUAL ALLIANCE

(By Fred S. Ferguson.)
(United Press Service.)

PARIS, Jan. 30.—The disposition of the German colonies which has proved the most difficult of the territorial problems, was expected to be virtually settled at to-day's meeting of the Peace Bureau.

With the majority of the representatives preceeding on the basis that the secret treaties formulated by the Allies before American's intervention, were nullified by the acceptance of President Wilson's fourteen points, it was believed that all colonial claims would be adjusted on the principle of the League of Nations.

Powerful Alliance.

The virtual alliance which is understood to exist between Great Britain and the United States in the matter of territorial adjustments was regarded as powerful enough to over-ride any opposition—as it has on previous questions — inasmuch as in this instance it is obviously on the popular side and undoubtedly will receive support from a majority of the other nations. In fact France and Italy are reported to have followed the British lead in abandoning, or at least modifying their expansionist ambitions. This would leave Japan and Australia practically alone in the desire to employ Germany's colonies for personal aggrandizement.

The belief was held in some quarters that Japan and Australia might hold out for several days, but the majority opinion was that they would succumb to-day to the pressure for placing all former German colonies under the administration of the League of Nations, with the countries directly interested acting as trustees.

RELUCTANT TO DISCUSS ATTITUDE

Canadian Press:

PARIS, Jan. 30.— Interviewed by Reuter, Premier Hughes of Australia, and Massey of New Zealand, showed the greatest reluctance to discuss the attitude of the Peace Conference towards German colonies. In reply to a question, "Are both Massey and yourself satisfied with the position," Mr. Hughes, after a pause, replied, "I prefer not to answer."

CHEERS FOR THE UNITED STATES

Hungarians Approve of Wilson's Policy as a Peace Maker.

(United Press.)

BUDAPEST, Jan. 30.— Hungarians conducted enthusiastic demonstrations throughout the country to-day, cheering the United States and the Allies, as a result of the Peace Conference warning that claims to territory occupied by force will receive no recognition at the peace table.

The Hungarians regarded this warning as directed particularly at the Roumanians and Jugo-Slavs, who have been encroaching on Hungarian soil.

A new crisis has been forced in Count Karolyi's Cabinet owing to Bourgeois attacks.

CREATED ANOTHER GERMAN REPUBLIC

Only Authority of New Republic is That of Force.

By Frank J. Taylor.
(United Press.)

BERLIN, Jan. 30.— A North-west German Republic has been declared by the Brunswick Soldiers' and Workmen's Congress, according to despatches received here to-day.

The new State extends from the Harts mountains to the North Sea, and includes Damburg, Schleswig Holstein and parts of Saxony and Altmark. It is based on Socialism and Communism.

The North-west German Republic has received no recognition so far from Berlin and its only authority is

Strikes Are Bolshevistic In Character, Declare British Labor Leaders

Strikers in Great Britain Are Under Direction of Local Boards Organized Like Soviets — Funds From Russia.

"SHOP STEWARDS"

(United Press.)

LONDON, Jan. 30. — The general strikes throughout Great Britain and Ireland are Bolshevistic, British labour leaders declared to-day. They said the strikers are under the direction of local boards, organized like Soviets, which are openly opposed to the authorized heads of the National Federation of Trades Unions. It was further charged that the strikes are being partially financed by the Russian Bolsheviki.

"Shop Stewards."

"The strikes are the result of agitation by "shop stewards," who are English Bolshevika," Frank Smith, National Secretary of the Federation of Engineers and Shipbuilders, told the United Press to-day.

"They are under the direction of local baords which are organized like Soviets and are in open opposition to the authorized heads of the National Federation of Trades Unions. It was reported that these "shop stewards" are receiving money from Lenine.

"The Executive Council of the Federation voted yesterday to disclaim any connection with the strikes except those called in the Tyne district for a forty-eight hour week, which is likely to be settled in a few days.

A Congress.

"I have learned that the "shop stewards" have invited the local boards of England, Scotland, and probably Ireland, to attend a Congress next week in Barrow in Furness (eighteen miles northwest of Lancaster), which is the capital of British Bolshevism. The purpose of this Congress, I understand, is to endorse the "shop steward" or Soviet movement, and draw up a definite programme. The "shop stewards" recently sent several agitators through the district which are now erupting. It is believed certain they caused the present upheavals.

Forty Hour Week.

"The men now striking voted in November to accept a forty-eight hour week. Apparently flushed with success of their efforts, they are now independently trying to force a forty hour week. The Government is faced with a dilemna. If it deals with the strikers it means recognition of the independent organization, and consequent retraction of the government's decision to treat with the authorized heads of organized labour."

About a quarter of a million men are on strike in various parts of the United Kingdom. The shipbuilding is completely tied up, and other industries, particularly coal mining, are seriously affected through sympathetic strikes. Belfast, where rioting already has occurred, is completely dominated by the strikers, and business is at a standstill.

(United Press.)

GLASGOW, Jan. 30.—Striking shipbuilders raided the yards to-day and dragged out several non-Unionists. A serious clash was narrowly averted.

The strikers sent an ultimatum to the Provost Marshal, declaring that unless the employers sent to begin negotiations by to-morrow they will cut off the city's entire supply of electricity. Many municipal electrical employees already are on strike and there is only enough current for street lights and hospitals.

Situation Serious.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The situation both on the Clyde and in Belfast, where strikes are in progress with widespread paralysis of industry, became more serious to-day. In Belfast manufacturing firms which were generating their own electric current for power purposes had to close down their plants as workers in private electric installations joined the strikers. Blacksmiths, boilermakers and shipwrights demanded an increase of thirty per cent in gross earning powers.

Opposed To High Prices

"Organized Labour Will Rebel at Continued High Food Prices."

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.— "Organized labour will rebel at continued high prices," Ernest Bohm, secretary of the Central Federated Union, declared here to-day after reviewing stored food statistics.

The Central Federal Union represents more than three hundred thousand organized workers in greater New York. Plans are under way for that organization to wage a vigorous war on food profiteers.

"If high prices continue, wages will have to go up accordingly," said Bohm. "The workers must have relief from the present situation.

"Food houses must be open to the public. Organized labour is going to demand that they be opened. The food profiteers cannot long continue to fleece the public and rob the working man. Labour is awake to the situation.

NURSING SISTER DOBBIE RETURNS TO PETERBORO'

Mrs. W. H. Dobbie has Had Two Years Overseas

Nursing Sister Mrs. W. H. Dobbie returned this morning to the city, after two years service overseas with the Queen Alexandra Nursing Service, and is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hanmer, Downie street. While in England Mrs. Dobbie was attached to the Wharncliffe War Hospital and was later transferred to Exmouth.

Settling Down.

"England," said Mrs. Dobbie today, "is beginning to settle down to peace conditions and the smaller hospitals are being slowly closed. Food conditions are not bad but all are still on rations. I am very glad to get back to a country where I don't have to carry around my sugar in my pocket."

Mrs. Dobbie came over on the Minnedosa which carried 1,900 passengers of which 67 were repatriated prisoners from Germany. "The latter", she said, "seemed very anxious to forget all about their experiences and would say very little. The principal thing I noticed about them was their enjoyment of the food they were given which was a contrast to what they had been receiving in prison."

The Minnedosa made the return in 7 days and the journey was very uneventful. Major Dobbie D.S.O. is at present at Mons but expects to return shortly to Canada.

DIVISION OF SPOILS

Difference of Opinion Regarding Disposition of German Colonies.

(By Robert J. Bender, Copyright 1919, by The United Press.)

PARIS, Jan. 30.—America's participation in the peace settlement may depend on the decision reached regarding the disposition of the German colonies, it was intimated.

President Wilson believed the League of Nations—the principle of which was unanimously adopted last Saturday, will be given its death blow if the Allies now insist on dividing Germany's former colonial possessions like so much loot. The League of Nations was one of the principal ideas for which the United States entered the war.

Some of the Allies appear to favour carrying out the world-old custom of "division of the spoils." Before the League of Nations begins to function — which may prevent for the unexpected introduction of territorial problems at this time. But the President wants to have the League become effective first, so it can take care of just such questions as internationalization of Germany's captured islands and colonies. He would begin to make the League effective by placing these disputed possessions under its administration.

The problem thus presented is the most serious that has yet confronted the peace delegates. Wilson's firm attitude apparently has confused his opponents, forcing them to play for time in which to determine their course of action.

Appreciation of "In Sunny France"

The Executive of the Peter Robinson Chapter, I.O.D.E., on behalf of the Chapter, wish to express their sincere thanks to all who so generously assisted them and thereby made possible the successful presentation of "In Sunny France," given under their auspices.

The people of Peterborough, by their patronage and attendance, assured the financial success of the undertaking and thereby contributed so liberally again, as they have many times in the past, and thus enabled the Chapter to assume its share of the work and obligations of the Order. Particularly does the Chapter appreciate the kindly suggestions and criticisms by those who have near their hearts the interests of the Chapter and its members. Although the execution of the play may have lacked some of the realism that would be characteristic of a professional rendition, the Chapter believes that to the people of Peterborough the play held the greatest appeal in that it was being acted by young ladies, young men and children of Peterborough, and that the second presentation met with general approval.

Without the participation of those of the cast and choruses who are not members of the Chapter and gave so freely of their talent, time and efforts the play could not have been given. To them the Chapter extends its sincere thanks, especially to the parents of the children for their whole-hearted co-operation.

The care of the children behind the scenes devolved on several ladies, who kindly consented to undertake this responsibility, and without their assistance in dressing and caring for the children, carrying on the play would have been well nigh impossible.

Suitable Hall.

The difficulties met in obtaining a suitable hall for rehearsals were finally overcome through the help of Misses Parker and Littlefield of the Y.W.C.A ; the Reverend Father Phelan and the Executive of the Total Abstinence Society, who so kindly placed the T.A.S. Hall at the disposal of the Chapter, and Lieut.-Col. Mills, who made available the Armouries.

Mrs. C. C. Parsons' artistic reading, entitled "The Girl Behind the Man Behind the Gun" so greatly enjoyed, and that added so much to the programme, made possible the sale of many copies of the book, the profit of which sales being received by the Chapter.

Mr. Asa Huycke's rendition of "The Cup of My Soul," lacked nothing that marks his usual excellent singing, despite the fact that owing to unforseen circumstances the music was not given him until shortly before the performance.

For making the announcements introducing Mr. McDonald's book the Chapter is indebted to Messrs. Wearing and McElderry.

The artistic success of the play itself was made possible by the work of Mr. Wilson MacDonald, who, notwithstanding his being continually under the care of physician, carried out, unsparingly of himself, the rehearsals and arrangements.

The Chapter is grateful to the Peterborough Examiner and the Peterborough Review for the publicity given the undertaking in their columns and so assured its success.

Signed on behalf the Executive of the Peter Robinson Chapter, I.O.D.E.
Rebena Gordon Cumming,
Secretary.

A PROTECTIVE MEASURE FOR THE BRITISH MANUFACTURERS

(United Press Service.)

LONDON, January 30.—A protective measure in the interests of British manufacturers will be inaugurated March 1st, it became known to-day. It consists of an order requiring special licenses for importation of 53 classes of goods. The licenses must be obtained for each shipment.

Among the goods affected are aluminum, wearing aparel, baskets, cartridges, cement, fire extinguishers, fire arms, hats, lawn mowers, linens, tools, various kinds of machinery, oilcloth, perfumery, toilet preparations, cameras, plated ware, sewing machines, furs, soap, stoves, time recording instruments, vacuum cleaners and scales.

After the signing of the armistice, shippers were allowed to import the above articles on a general license covering all shipments. On March 1st the shippers must return to the pre-armistice regulations, it was said, "in the interests of British manufacturers."

Chief Thompson's Department Invade County Police Field

High County Constable A. R. Moore Airs Grievance to County Council Alleging That His Men Are Deprived of Work and Fees by Interference of City Force.

CRITICIZES THE CHIEF

Complaining that Chief Thompson and the city police department have been interfering in work and collecting fees which, he said, properly belonged to the county police, High County Constable A. R. Moore enumerated to the County Council this morning a list of cases in which, he alleged, the city police had unnecessarily trespassed upon the preserves and pocketed the perquisites of the county constabulary.

"Chief Thompson agreed not to bother me in my work but to let me have a man if I needed one, and I agreed to assist him," Mr. Moore began, after asking for an increase in salary. He then cited a string of cases of county happening in which Chief Thompson's department had intervened.

One of these was an Indian case at Chemong which Mr. Moore said he had investigated and was following up. Then, P. C. Cookman of the city force was sent to Orillia and brought back a prisoner who was arraigned before Magistrate Dumble. Mr. Moore stated that the city magistrate would not try the case, but P. C. Cookman's expense account for $16.38 remained.

Another instance was an inquest in which Chief Thompson sent papers to the C.P.R. detective at Havelock, Mr. Moore related. The detective came to Peterboro and mentioned $1.65 for expenses, but $18.84 was the account rendered.

"The detective offered to pay back the extra money to me, but I told him I couldn't receive it," said Mr. Moore He called off a list of items paid to Chief Thompson and members of his department for attendance at court and other expenses. But Mr. Moore admitted that he could not give the exact particulars of each payment.

"You mean that the Peterboro men are doing work that belongs to the County Constables," Reeve Griffith remarked.

"That's the situation," was the High County Constable's reply.

"Just give us the details of one case so we may consider it," advised Reeve Anderson.

"I can't understand the mean tricks he's been playing," said Mr. Moore. "Whether it's because he has nothing to do in the city I don't know, but I want him to be fair. If it is because I'm not doing my work right, I don't want to stay on the job one minute. He's the only Chief in the Dominion I've been told who interferes with the County Constables."

Continuing he declared that Chief Thompson was paid $2,200 a year and he considered it a small trick to encroach upon the work and the fees which should go to the county constables.

"I'm not speaking for myself alone" Mr. Moore added. "The county con-

County Gives $4,000 to Army

Finance Committee Recommends Contribution to Three Patriotic Funds.

The Finance Committee of the County Council recommended the following grants this morning:

| | |
|---|---|
| Salvation Army Huts Fund | $4000 |
| Y.M.C.A. "Red Triangle" | 30000 |
| K. C. Huts Fund | 2000 |
| Children's Aid Society | 500 |
| Horticultural Society | 100 |

The council assembled sharp at 9 o'clock this morning and adjourned at noon to give those members who desired it the opportunity of attending the big sale of purebred cattle this afternoon.

Reeve Squire, the chairman of the Finance Committee, asked the committee to decide upon the requests deferred from last year for assistance to the Y.M.C.A., Knights of Columbus and Salvation Army huts funds.

It was finally agreed to devote the taxes from one mill on the county's assessment for the three patriotic funds. The sum thus yielded is estimated at $9,257, but after interest is paid there will be a round $9,000 available, which is partitioned, as shown above.

Two members of the National Council of the Y. M. C. A. arrived in the city at noon only to find that the County Council had adjourned until Friday morning. It was stated that they had intended to make an appeal for a contribution of $10,000 from the county.

Horticultural Society's Request.

The visitors were Messrs. Walter Stocker, W. H. Bradburn, R. H. Parsons, R. Denne, E. Brumwell, Sam Jordan, Frank Wise, R. M. Glover and Cecil Williamson. They asked for $250 this year, intimating that they proposed to apply for $900 from the city.

The Finance Committee refused to increase the usual grant of $100. An amendment by Mr. Eason and Warden McIntosh was defeated.

$100 Extra to Children's Aid.

Influenced by the recent appeal of Joseph Wearing, Ald. Edgar and G. W. Powell, of the Children's Aid Society, the committee recommended an increase of $100 to the Society, thereby raising this year's grant to $500.

TO CLEAR OUT ALL BROKEN LINES

Frank L. Jenne's Annual Clean-up in his Semi-Ready Store.

"To-morrow I will publish a list of the extra special 'lonelies' and odds and ends in broken sizes, and in lines on which I do not intend to repeat," announced Frank L. Jenne, of the Semi-Ready store.

"I will start on one side of my store and go right round and try and list all the good things that are to be cleared out entirely. The prices at which I am selling during my Peace Benefit Sale, are far below the present actual worth of the goods.

"Mine is a man's store for men, and for ladies who shop for men. The fact that I have so many lady customers, wives or relatives of busy men, who have little spare time to shop, would indicate that the ladies are just as good judges of value as the men."

THE IMPORT EMBARGO

United States Regrds Move as Opening Round in Commercial Warfare.

RECIPROCAL MEASURES

(By L. C. Martin.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. — In clamping an import embargo on more than three hundred commodities, the British have declared open commercial warfare on this country, many of the government officials and Congress members held to-day.

The new embargo has forced the fight which has been smouldering for days to a point where definite governmental trade policies must be outlined, it was believed by many members of Congress. They assert that the latest British action should be met with drastic reciprocal measures.

Shipping men regarded the new ban as a British lever to pry loose all British bound cargo for transportation in British-owned ships.

Heavy Buyers.

It has been known for days that British buyers have been coming to the United States in flocks. They have been buying commodities on which England already had an import embargo, as well as articles contained in the list made public here. American manufacturers who sought to sell direct to English wholesalers without dealing through agents on this side, have been very effectually stopped by numerous plain subterfuges, reports received here show.

The British buyers have contracted heavily and every ton of goods bought has been taken on the express condition that it be shipped in British-owned vessels. American ships thus were forced out of commission it was explained.

There were strong indications today that the British action would serve to crystallize sentiment growing rapidly of late, for a policy of America first,—and then the rest of the world.

An opinion rather widely held is that the United States should intimate to Great Britain that the passage of food from his country to England may be interfered with by the drastic additions to the embargo list.

This would serve as a plain warning, they argued, that the United States was ready to accept any commercial challenge Great Britain may issue, and to meet it with effective measures.

JUDGE HODGINS' REPORT

The report of Mr. Justice Hodgins on the conditions on board the Steamer Northland, which were the source of indignant complaints from the returned soldiers who were passengers on the last voyage, cannot fail to effect improvements in the transport service. Judge Hodgins has found that the accommodation on board was not such as the Canadian soldiers should either be asked or permitted to put up with when returning to their homes.

"The outlook of the men," says the report, 'has now completely changed, and they no doubt complain of much that in itself is far better than they had to put up with during the war. But it is a matter of national pride to ensure that they should have ample sleeping, seating and eating accommodation, and such provision for ventilation as will enable them to make the voyage in comparative comfort."

It is interesting to note that Mr. Justice Hodgins criticises the military officers in charge and the non-commissioned officers and men, for the lack of discipline that existed on board the Northland, but at the same time he makes it clear that many of the complaints made were justified, and there was no efficient, sympathetic dealing with them.

The people of Canada will expect that the findings of Judge Hodgins, and the publicity given to transport conditions, will result in a much improved system.

THE COUNTY'S HONOUR.

It is confidently expected that the Peterborough County Council will live up to its obligations in regard to the Canadian Patriotic Fund and that there will be no occasion for Sir Herbert Ames or anybody else to accuse the councillors of a breach of faith in failing to complete their grant to the Patriotic Fund. It will be remembered that the County Council pledged itself to the payment of $30,000 last year to the Fund, to be paid in monthly instalments of $2,500. The first ten instalments were paid, but towards the end of the year when the campaign on behalf of the Navy League was being held, the county legislators, assured that the Patriotic Fund had ample resources to carry on its work, and anxious to make a contribution towards the most worthy fund on behalf of the Navy, decided to divert the payment of the instalments for November and December to the Navy League Fund. This was the only way in which a grant could be made to the Sailors' Fund, and the members of the County Council, feeling that the rural sections of Canada, particularly the farmers, owed a deep debt of gratitude to the men whose gallantry had kept the seas open so that Canada's trade could go on, took the one available means of discharging that debt that presented itself. Now it appears that after all the Canadian Patriotic Fund looks to the county to make good its promise and is asking the county to pay the grant of $5,000. The councillors will undoubtedly feel that the honour of the county is at stake in this matter, and that it will be necessary to carry out the pledge that was given at the beginning of last year.

DAYLIGHT SAVINGS.

The members of the Peterborough County Council have decided to approve a resolution for submission to the Dominion Government urging that the daylight savings measure put in force last year be rescinded. This action on the part of the county legislators is being adopted by other county councils, and it is evident that the farmers throughout the county are organizing a strong opposition to the bill, and that if the urban dwellers who found so much benefit in its operation last year wish to see that the measure is again put into force they must take steps to impress upon the government the desirability of maintaining the bill on the statute books. The argument of the opponents of the daylight savings plan is that it proved altogether unsatisfactory, did not increase production and disrupted the agricultural industry. These are rather broad claims. In the first place it would be hard to convince the average city resident that the measure proved unsatisfactory. As a matter of fact the people living in the towns and cities of Canada were delighted with the successful operation of the bill and the urban press from coast to coast was unanimous in praising the measure and its results. As to the complaint that it did not increase production there will be another difference of opinion inasmuch as the city backyard gardeners undoubtedly found the extra hour of daylight after their working hours of the greatest benefit and the quantity of foodstuffs produced in this manner in the aggregate would make a surprising showing. The third objection, that the daylight savings bill disrupted the agricultural industry will scarcely stand investigation. Many farmers did not use the new time at all last year, carrying on their daily work according to standard time, so that so far as their own experience went they did not suffer inconvenience from the scheme except in as far as their business in town was concerned.

The opposition that the rural section are working up against the measure should be met by even stronger pressure from the multitude of people who found in it the source of many benefits and who would be very sorry to hear that there was any chance of the Act not being in operation during the coming summer.

THE POWER OF RETICENCE.

As war ends, Great Britain reveals the fact that she remained silent as to feats of war accomplishment more inspiring than many for which the Germans issued medals and gave the school children holidays.

The British reticence is not to be dismissed by a reference to temperament. It may be attributed to national self-sufficiency and a recognition of leadership responsibility in a world contest.

The British people marched the whole route with very little brass band music to inspire them. Reliance was placed upon their patriotism, and with good reason. Their valour and confidence were of historic origin.

No whistling was required to keep their courage up, no Hymn of Hate to distort the outlook and drug them on.

They had reason to feel responsibility for world service because of the tradition of the Napoleonic wars, the possession of naval superiority and an Imperial consciousness.

Without reflecting upon the other Allies, it may be told by history that Great Britain's peculiar and characteristic contribution to the war was this very reticence as to her own part in the common effort. British reticence helped to strengthen the Allies wherever they were weak. It made every small Allied agency seem larger and more important.

German sneers at British warfare are familiar. The mental condition that accommodated the Hymn of Hate absurdity, is not improved by defeat. But if the Germans were starting the war enterprise of 1914 today, they would have both eyes on London.—Montreal Star.

THE NEW WARDEN.

Congratulations are due Reeve John McIntosh of North Monaghan upon his election as Warden of the County of Peterborough—a position that Mr. McIntosh should be admirably qualified to fill, both on account of his interest in all matters pertaining to the welfare of the county and because of his experience in municipal affairs. The new Warden served for fourteen years as a member of the township council of North Monaghan and was, in addition, four years Reeve of the township, and therefore a member of the County Council for the same period. Perhaps no better proof of the disinterested and impartial attitude that Mr. McIntosh has always taken in public affairs could be found in the fact that for six years before being elected to the township council he was tax collector. It seems indisputable that anybody who could fill that position satisfactorily for six years and retain the good will of the electors to such an extent that he was afterwards chosen, year after year, for municipal honours, can hardly fail to possess the qualities that are necessary for the successful occupancy of the Warden's chair.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

If Mayor Burnham of Port Hope, shows a little judgment in civic affairs as he did in connection with the hockey match the other night, some public-spirited citizen of the Lake Shore town should get out an injunction against him.

Judging by the article on Mr. Gordon's reported resignation from the position of City Solicitorship, which appeared in a local contemporary last night, the editor of that paper must have been consulting the Ouija Board and getting this information from the "Twentieth Plane."

Ottawa has passed its objective in the Red Shield Drive. Peterborough has a long way to go before a similar result can be reported here. Are we to announce the first failing in a patriotic campaign?

Donations in aid of D. J. McIntosh, the blinded soldier whose home was destroyed by fire, should be prompt and substantial. It is a case that cannot be neglected.

Opposed to Having Germans Present

Gompers Declares a Great German Propaganda Fund Exists.

By Lowell Mellett.
(United Press.)

PARIS, Jan. 30. —The important question of whether the American Federation of Labour will be officially represented at the International Labour and Socialist Congress in Berne was to be settled to-day.

The situation, as it now exists, is this: "The American peace has intimated rather clearly that it prefers to have the American labour representatives attend the Berne meeting, because they know the International delegates are pledged to work in every way possible to further President Wilson's programme.

Gompers, however, not only is opposed to admitting German and Russian delegates to the meeting, but charges that a great German propaganda fund has been sent to Berne for the purpose of influencing the proceedings in favour of the Central Powers.

stables down east and in other parts of the county have complained that the city police are taking their work, and I think that something should be done about it."

Mr. Moore stated that the city police had even frozen out the county men in the policing of the Fair grounds at Exhibition time. The general effect, as the Council comprehended the complaint was that Mr. Moore and his constables resent the diverting of county fees to the city police.

Warden McIntosh—How would it be for a committee of the county and city councils to get together on this question?"

Mr. Moore—It might be all right.

The Warden, Reeve Anderson and Reeve Matheson, were delegated to interview Mayor Duncan and committee he might select for the purpose of investigating Mr. Moore's complaint and of satisfying him and his constables.

The motion to that effect was moved by Reeve Shaw and seconded by Deputy-Reeve Bell.

JUDGE HODGINS' REPORT

The report of Mr. Justice Hodgins on the conditions on board the Steamer Northland, which were the source of indignant complaints from the returned soldiers who were passengers on the last voyage, cannot fail to effect improvements in the transport service. Judge Hodgins has found that the accommodation on board was not such as the Canadian soldiers should either be asked or permitted to put up with when returning to their homes.

"The outlook of the men," says the report, 'has now completely changed, and they no doubt complain of much that in itself is far better than they had to put up with during the war. But it is a matter of national pride to ensure that they should have ample sleeping, seating and eating accommodation, and such provision for ventilation as will enable them to make the voyage in comparative comfort."

It is interesting to note that Mr. Justice Hodgins criticizes the military officers in charge and the non-commissioned officers and men, for the lack of discipline that existed on board the Northland, but at the same time he makes it clear that many of the complaints made were justified, and there was no efficient, sympathetic dealing with them.

The people of Canada will expect that the findings of Judge Hodgins, and the publicity given to transport conditions, will result in a much improved system.

THE COUNTY'S HONOUR.

It is confidently expected that the Peterborough County Council will live up to its traditions in regard to the Canadian Patriotic Fund and that there will be no occasion for Sir Herbert Ames or anybody else to accuse the councillors of a breach of faith in failing to complete their grant to the Patriotic Fund. It will be remembered how the County Council pledged itself to the payment of $30,000 last year to the Fund, to be paid in monthly instalments of $2,500. The first ten instalments were paid, but towards the end of the year when the campaign on behalf of the Navy League was being held, the county legislators, assured that the Patriotic Fund had ample resources to carry on its work, and anxious to make a contribution towards the most worthy fund on behalf of the Navy, decided to divert the payment of the instalments for November and December to the Navy League Fund. This was the only way in which a grant could be made to the Sailors' Fund, and the members of the County Council, feeling that the rural sections of Canada, particularly the farmers, owed a deep debt of gratitude to the men whose gallantry had kept the seas open so that Canada's trade could go on, took the one available means of discharging that debt that presented itself. Now it appears that after all the Canadian Patriotic Fund looks to the county to make good its promise and is asking the county to pay the grant of $5,000. The councillors will undoubtedly feel that the honour of the county is at stake in this matter, and that it will be necessary to carry out the pledge that was given at the beginning of last year.

DAYLIGHT SAVINGS.

The members of the Peterborough County Council have decided to approve a resolution for submission to the Dominion Government urging that the daylight savings measure put in force last year be rescinded. This action on the part of the county legislators is being adopted by other county councils, and it is evident that the farmers throughout the county are organizing a strong opposition to the bill, and that if the urban dwellers who found so much benefit in its operation last year wish to see that the measure is again put into force they must take steps to impress upon the government the desirability of maintaining the bill on the statute books. The argument of the opponents of the daylight savings plan is that it proved altogether unsatisfactory, did not increase production and disrupted the agricultural industry. These are rather broad claims. In the first place it would be hard to convince the average city resident that the measure proved unsatisfactory. As a matter of fact the people living in the towns and cities of Canada were delighted with the successful operation of the bill and the urban press from coast to coast was unanimous in praising the measure and its results. As to the complaint that it did not increase production there will be another difference of opinion inasmuch as the city backyard gardeners undoubtedly found the extra hour of daylight after their working hours of the greatest benefit and the quantity of foodstuffs produced in this manner in the aggregate would make a surprising showing. The third objection, that the daylight savings bill disrupted the agricultural industry will scarcely stand investigation. Many farmers did not use the new time at all last year, carrying on their daily work according to standard time, so that so far as their own experience went they did not suffer inconvenience from the scheme except in so far as their business in town was concerned.

The opposition that the rural section are working up against the measure should be met by even stronger pressure from the multitude of people who found in it the source of many benefits and who would be very sorry to hear that there was any chance of the Act not being in operation during the coming summer.

THE POWER OF RETICENCE.

As war ends, Great Britain reveals the fact that she remained silent as to feats of war accomplishment more inspiring than many for which the Germans issued medals and gave the school children holidays.

The British reticence is not to be dismissed by a reference to phlegmatic temperament. It may be attributed to national self-sufficiency and a recognition of leadership responsibility in a world contest.

The British people launched the whole route with very little brass band music to inspire them. Reliance was placed upon their patriotism, and with good reason. Their valour and confidence were of historic origin.

No whistling was required to keep their courage up, no Hymn of Hate to distort the outlook and drug them on.

They had reason to feel responsibility for world service because of the tradition of the Napoleonic wars, the possession of naval superiority and an Imperial consciousness.

Without reflecting upon the other Allies, it may be told by history that Great Britain's peculiar and characteristic contribution to the war was this very reticence as to her own part in the common effort. British reticence helped to strengthen the Allies wherever they were weak. It made every small Allied agency seem larger and more important.

Commissioners of British warfare are familiar. The mental condition that accommodated the Hymn of Hate absurdity, is not improved by defeat. But if the Germans were starting the war enterprise of 1914 to-day, they would have both eyes on London.—Montreal Star.

THE NEW WARDEN.

Congratulations are due Reeve John McIntosh of North Monaghan upon his election as Warden of the County of Peterborough—a position that Mr. McIntosh should be admirably qualified to fill, both on account of his interest in all matters pertaining to the welfare of the county and because of his experience in municipal affairs. The new Warden served for fourteen years as a member of the township council of North Monaghan and was, in addition, four years Reeve of the township, and therefore a member of the County Council for the same period. Perhaps no better proof of the disinterested and impartial attitude that Mr. McIntosh has always taken in public affairs could be found in the fact that for six years before being elected to the township council he was tax collector. It seems indisputable that anybody who could fill that position satisfactorily for six years and retain the good will of the electors to such an extent that he was afterwards chosen, year after year, for municipal honours, can hardly fail to possess the qualities that are necessary for the successful occupancy of the Warden's chair.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

If Mayor Burnham of Port Hope, shows as little judgment in civic affairs as he did in connection with the hockey match the other night, some public-spirited citizen of the Lake Shore town should get out an injunction against him.

Judging by the article on Mr. Gordon's reported resignation from the position of City Solicitorship, which appeared in a local contemporary last night, the editor of that paper must have been consulting the Ouija Board and getting his information from the "Twentieth Plane."

Ottawa has passed its objective in the Red Shield Drive. Peterborough has a long way to go before a similar result can be reported here. Are we to announce the first failure in a patriotic campaign?

Donations in aid of D. J. McIntosh, the blinded soldier whose home was destroyed by fire, should be prompt and substantial. It is a case that cannot be neglected.

Opposed to Having Germans Present

Gompers Declares a Great German Propaganda Fund Exists.

By Lowell Mellett.
(United Press.)

PARIS, Jan. 30.—The important question of whether the American Federation of Labour will be officially represented at the International Labour and Socialist Congress in Berne was to be settled to-day.

The situation, as it now exists, is this: "The American peace has intimated rather clearly that it prefers to have the American labour representatives attend the Berne meeting, because they knew the International delegates are pledged to work in every way possible to further President Wilson's programme.

Gompers, however, not only is opposed to admitting German and Russian delegates to the meeting, but charges that a great German propaganda fund has been sent to Berne for the purpose of influencing the proceedings in favour of the Central Powers.

stables down east and in other parts of the county have complained that the city police are taking their work, and I think that something should be done about it."

Mr. Moore stated that the city police had even frozen out the county men in the policing of the Fair grounds at Exhibition time. The general effect, as the Council comprehended the complaint was, that Mr. Moore and his constables resent the diverting of county fees to the city police.

Warden McIntosh—How would it be for a committee of the county and city councils to get together on this question?"

Mr. Moore—It might be all right.

The Warden, Reeve Anderson and Reeve Matheson were delegated to interview Mayor Duncan and committee he might select for the purpose of investigating Mr. Moore's complaint and of satisfying him and his constables.

The motion to that effect was moved by Reeve Shaw and seconded by Deputy-Reeve Bell.

New Masonic Quarters Are Attractive and Equal to the Best Lodge Rooms in Province

The Fraternity Will Move Into Its New Home This Week—Quarters to be Dedicated on Friday Evening—The New Lodge and Offices—Completeness of Details Feature New Quarters.

An event that has large interest for the members of the Masonic Fraternity in this city and district is the formal dedication and opening of the New Masonic Hall and quarters tomorrow afternoon. For little over a year the Order has been the welcome guest of the Oddfellows of the city, making use of the spacious and well appointed room of that Order, at the corner of George and Hunter streets. Heartily welcomed and hospitably entertained the meetings and work of the Masonic Fraternity has gone forward from month to month, the three Lodge and the Allied Chapters meeting on evenings as best coud be devised.

Disastrous Fire.

Shortly after the disastrous fire that destroyed the part of the block of buildings on George street, in January of 1918, and in which block was housed the Craft, it was felt that possibly the time had arrived that the Order, now conspicuously large in number in the city might aspire to provide and equip its own building. Investigation showed that such a proposition would not be only expensive but would have to be planned to be in a measure self- sustaining. It could be erected in the commercial district and enjoy a revenue from business rentals, or a less pretentious building on the outskirts of the business section and devoted wholly to the objects of the order. These projects, in some respects well devised fell through and suitable quarters were looked for.

Building Committee

Such were found in the Bank of Commerce building, corner of Hunter and Water streets, and by arrangement with the owners and at the expense of the Lodges quarters were provided and furnished, the building and equipment committee being Rgt. W. Bro. H. R. H. Kenner, W. Bro. Goodwill, Bro. R. H. Ross, and Bro. W. H. Barry. Duly assisted by other of the brethern both in consultation and in carrying out the details So well has this committee discharged its duties that the new quarters are models of quiet, rich and appropriate arrangement and decoration, quite the equal and in respects surpassing that which was observed in the largest cities. From those who have viewed the results are drawn profuse and well-deserved compliments. The Fraternity has much reason to be proud of its New Home, its quiet elegance and its admirable adaptation to its uses.

Past History

It may be in keeping with the occasion to briefly refer to the past history of the Order, as so many of the members are of comparatively recent connection, and who may be interested in the beginnings of Masonary in this district. To such as these remarks be of interest it may be suggested that this brief relation be preserved for future reference.

Many of the early settlers, especially the half-pay officers who came to the location of Peterborough in the darly years were members of fraternal societies in the Old Country, and particularly of the Masonic Order. These desired that a Lodge be established, and a charter was procured from the Grand Lodge of England to institute a lodge to be known as Corinthian Lodge, No. 834, Grand Register of England. When the Grand Lodge of Canada was instituted this charter was renewed or re-issued under the name of Corinthian Lodge No. 101, Grand Register of Canada, dating from November 2, 1859.

A Dispensation.

In the columns of the Despatch, at that time one of the local newspapers under date of May 4th, 1848, appears a formal advertisement in which it is stated that "The Brethern of the Craft" in this district are herewith notified that a Dispensation for a New Lodge, under the above title, has been received from the Provincial Grand Lodge of Canada, and that the same (lodge) will be held on each and every Wednesday on or before the Full of the Moon. Masons desirous of joining the Lodge will be required to produce certificates from the Lodge of which they were last members." The advertisment is signed by George Cunningham, W.M., J. Gilchrist, M. D., S. W., and Thomas Hay, M.D., Secretary.

The Lodge was formally opened on May 17, 1848, with the following as Charter Members: Geo. Cunningham, John Gilchrist, Robert J. C. Taylor, Thomas Hay, Jas. H. Dunsford, W. H. Weller, John Lesperance From time to time members were affiliated and initiated among whom were Robt. Dennistoun, Jan. 31, 1849 Kivas Tully, July 28, 1852, and many others. Corinthian Lodge, after seventy-one years of life and activity is one of the most important of the Craft in the province, and has with a large membership.

The Dedication

The Craft growing in numbers Peterborough Lodge, No. 155 was established under charter in 1863, being formally opened and decidated on January 27th. The charter members were Geo. Burnham, W. M., Robt. Stevenson, S. W., A. T. Huff, man, J. W., P. C. Belcher, Secretary, and a full roll of members to complete the list.

Again enlarging its borders Masonry found it to the interests of the Craft to make progress and Royal Arthur Lodge was instituted in June, 1914. The charter members were of the other and sister lodges and under the skilled leadership of those in office from year to year the new lodge is making rapid progress and drawing to its ranks a full membership.

Another Move

In the early years the Craft held meetings in the lodge room, in the upper flat of the one-time Lundy building, on George Street, which formed a part of the Neill store destroyed by fire January last. Corinthian lodge was also housed in a part of the Bradburn building, the third story over the Matthews-Blackwell building. Eventually needing large premises a move was made to the building on Water Street, facing the Market Square, and, at the time, erected by Geo. Dunsford. After many years sojourn a further move was made to premises fitted up in the two floors partially over the Dominion Bank. The Craft remained in occupation until the fire of January last destroyed lodge room and the entire furnishings and much of the personal regalia of members. All has been now repaced and the order enters on a further period of prosperity and usefulness.

The New Lodge And Offices

These are comprised in a part of the upper floor of the Bank of Commerce building, corner of Hunter and Water Streets. The floor space has been admirably planned to afford the maximum of accomodation and to serve the membership. Entering one finds the hall, from which access is had to the several rooms and apartments. The smoking room, to the right, and through it to the banquet hall, or dining room, with ample kitchen conveniences adjoining. From the hall access is had to the cloak room and rooms connected with the intimate details of the work. And to the left the main lodge room. Safety for regalia and lodge records is provided by a handsome and capacious vault.

Rich Furnishings

The lodge room proper is 48 by 32 feet, with the ceiling 18 feet in height. The general effect of the furnishing and decoration is rich and quiet, the decorative effects having been carried out in the Greek Ionic. In particular the East well is a correct exemplification of that order of architecture. The relief decorations and panel on the East, above the Master's chair, is done in old ivory and very handsome. The walls of the lodge are in a colored blend of oil paint, stippled. Wood finish and doors in a rich fumed oak.

A thick Brussels carpet covers the floor, and is of dark blue. The benches lining the walls, in two tiers, are in fumed oak, and upholstered in leather, the design of the benches is of the Renaissance period, substantial and yet graceful in proportions. The altar, pedestals and principal chairs of the Ionic order. The seating capacity of the lodge will accomodate one hundred and twenty-five, with additional space in the East.

The Ventilation

Air important matter is that of ventilation, as there are no windows in the lodge room. Ample provison has been made and the system of ventilation is by natural draught. Four fresh air ducts are masked in the walls by ornamental brass grilles. The foul air ducts are in the ceiling and controlled by shutters from points in the room, the openings of the ducts being covered by handsome ceiling decorations above the large electroliers. The system is so effective that the air throughout the room can be entirely changed in three minutes. The main lighting effect is gained by lights enclosed in inverted bowls, suspended in beautiful fixtures of Flemish gold. The bowls decorated with the Greek Key, in keeping with the distinctive effect attained. In addition a system of direct lighting is in reserve by a system of frosted globes. The lighting effects are controlled from the chair of the Junior Warden and any graduation of light may be instantly had. The emblematic lights the altar lights and accessories are all direct controlled nd when made use of add much to the interest and effect of the ritual. The principal chairs for the presiding and assisting officers are upholstered in a rich blue panned velvet.

Banquet Hall

The banqueting hall claims attention by its completeness, and convenience. In dimensions of floor space 40 by 23 ft. and with seating room for 125. The ceiling done in a rich cream, the walls in green, with inverted frieze to match. The window hangings are of handsome material and of a dull gold. The lighting is taken care of by six inverted bowls surrounding clusters of lights, and modifying the glare. Dining tables, chairs and serving tables all in a fine stained wood and with mahogany finish. The kitchen is of ample size and most completely fitted with gas and electric ranges and water service. Commodious china closets contain a new and complete supply of table service in handsome pattern, together with the lodge silver for table use. There is ample china with which to serve 150 guests at one sitting. Communication with the dining hall is had by openings in the wall between the kitchen and hall. A convenient pantry holds the usual supply of table linen and accessories. Provision has been made to take care of drainage from the kitchen, enamelled washing sinks and water supply.

Smoking Room

The lounge, or smoking room is handsome and most excellently comfortable. The tasteful and rich finish and the admirable equipment and furnishing is wholly admirable. The room is 23 by 27 feet on the floor. The walls stippled in a soft wood brown with stencilled key pattern in green. The ceiling cream and the floor covered with a soft green shade of cork carpet. The set of arm chairs are inviting and restful, quite the sort of chair that a man likes to take his ease in. Made of a brown reed upholstered in leather. Two tables are included, in fumed oak and a writing desk also in oak. The lighting is by wall lights exclusively.

Regalia Room

An important facility to the performance of the work and routine of the lodge service is that the regalia room is placed most conveniently, and with wardrobes for the several Blue Lodges, Chapter and Preceptory. The want of such a convenience has long been known and in fitting up the new quarters advntage has been taken to get this detail just right. Each part of the order has its appropriate place and under its own supervision, and the completeness of the facilities will do much to make the routine of lodge and the work both attractive and successful. The committee in charge is to be congratulated on the result attained, giving to the order a home of remarkable beauty, the maximum of convenience and comfort, and the satisfaction that throughout the province is not to be found anything better or more to be commended.

Petition to Rescind the Daylight Savings Bill is Welcomed by County Council

Sir Herbert Ames Urges Grant of $5,000 to Patriotic Fund to Replace the Contribution Transferred to the Navy League—Other Items of Yesterday's Business.

SCHOOL INSPECTORS BEARD

A petition that was set in motion by the combined counties of Dundas, Stormont and Glengarry urging the Government to abrogate the Daylight Savings Bill this year was endorsed by the County Council yesterday. Apparently it is making the rounds of the counties. It asserts that the Bill proved altogether unsatisfactory last summer, that it did not increase production but disrupted the agricultural industry and greatly inconvenienced the farmers.

"Endorse it as much as you can," was Reeve Anderson's comment.

Frontage Tax For Farmers

A resolution from the Peel County Council did not meet with the same approval that greeted the anti-Daylight Bill movement. It proposes that legislation be sought to provide for a frontage tax on farm property to help defray the cost of work on roads upon which such property abuts. This petition fathered by the Peel Good Roads Committee was referred to Reeve Nicholls' Roads and Bridges committee.

No action was taken on a resolution that the Government be petitioned to deport all interned alien enemies.

Letter from Sir Herbert Ames

Sir Herbert Ames, chairman of the Canadian Patriotic Fund, appealed to the Council to pass a grant of $5,000 to the Fund, to make up the County's deficiency in its pledged contribution of $30,000 for 1918. This communication was referred to the Finance Committee.

The circumstances surrounding this request will be recalled from the last meeting of the Council. An imploring appeal for assistance was received from the Navy League. For several reasons the Council desired to subscribe to [illegible] and for the disabled merchant [illegible] and the wives of those [illegible] Herbert in this [illegible] service, but there were [illegible] funds, the only more [illegible] $5,000 representing [illegible] allments of the sum promised the Patriotic Fund. Certain assurances were given the Council, by solicitors for another war fund, that the Patriotic Association had a considerable surplus that would met the demands into the present year. Accordingly the old Council transferred the whole $5,000 to the Sailors' Relief Fund.

In his letter read yesterday Sir Herbert Ames wrote that the Patriotic Association felt that they should receive the entire amount of the sum the 1918 Council had pledged.

J. Grant applied for the position of caretaker of the Chemong floating bridge.

Crown Attorney Hatton wrote that he would be unable to meet the Council today as requested explaining that he had a previous engagement to attend the meeting of the Crown Attorney's association.

J. R. McNeillie, clerk of Victoria County, reported that he had paid $234.25 to Peterboro's County clerk as Victoria's share of the Pigeon Creek bridge expenses.

Norwood H. S. Trustee

The resignation of Donald McNaughton as trustee of the Norwood High School was received, and John Rorabeck was appointed in his place on motion of Reeve Brown seconded by Reeve Squire.

Auditors for 1919

Reeve Squire's motion, seconded by Reeve Brown, that Mr. Breault of Norwood and Mr. Casement of Lakefield be appointed auditors for this year, was met with an amendment by Reeves Griffith and Matheson proposing Mr. Wellington Burgess and Mr. Casement, and an amendment to the amendment by Reeve Anderson and Deputy-Reeve Eason in favor of Mr. J. J. Moore and Mr. Casement.

Reeve Griffith highly recommended Mr. Burgess who, he said, was well fitted by education and general ability for the position.

Reeve Anderson made a plea for Mr. Moore because of his qualifications and also for the reason that he was a returned soldier.

It was agreed that Messrs. Moore Burgess and Breault were all efficient and capable men, but action was deferred upon the request of Reeve Brown who objected that the matter should no be disposed of until the Council was complete. Five members were absent at the session, some of them on account of the illness of relatives. The appointment of the auditors was postponed on a motion by Reeve Brown seconded by Reeve Anderson.

Appraisal of Court House.

Messrs. Finnie and Graham submitted the following appraisal of the County property in and around the Court House.

| | |
|---|---|
| Main Building | $ 68,200 |
| Jail and Walls | 27,020 |
| Caretaker's Residences | 8,750 |
| Registry Office | 7,800 |
| Division Court Clerk's Office | 2,630 |
| Boiler House and duct | 3,344 |
| Furniture and vaults | 7,898 |
| | $125,702 |

Expense Money Increased

The Council acceded to the request of School Inspectors Lees and Broderick for an increase of twenty-five per cent. in their allowance for traveling expenses. This provides Mr. Lees with $500 for his expenses in visiting the schools of his inspectorate. Part of Mr. Broderick's allowance is paid by Victoria County.

Mr. Matheson, chairman of the Schools committee, Warden McIntosh and Mr. Anderson were delegated to confer with the inspectors upon the advisability of printing a statement of school attendance in this county for distribution among the farmers for the purpose of creating deeper interest in school affairs especially in the question of regularity of attendance, teachers' salaries and similar subjects. This was suggested in Mr. Broderick's annual report, and was explained to the Schools committee. The details of the proposal will be weighed by the special committee.

Safe Home Treatment for Objectionable Hairs

(Boudoir Secrets.)

The electric needle is not required for the removal of hair or fuzz, for with the use of plain delatone, the most stubborn growth can be quickly banished. A paste is made with water and a little of the powder and then spread over the hairy surface. In about two minutes it is rubbed off and the skin washed. This simple treatment not only removes the hair ,but leaves the skin free from blemishes. Be sure that you get genuine delatone.

DISLIKE FOR FOOD

Every healthy man and woman should have a natural desire for food at meal times. This means that the digestion is in working order and that the blood is in good condition. But if you feel a dislike for food—if the sight and smell of wholesome food repels you— then you may be sure that nature is telling you that all is not well. If after a night's rest you have no appetite for breakfast, your digestion requires attention. If your food is distasteful, or if you feel that it is a trouble to eat, your stomach is rebelling. You do not digest properly the food you are taking and are therefore not hungry.

All these symptoms of a disordered digestion mean that the blood is not absorbing proper nourishment from the food, for the work of the blood is to collect proper nourishment from food and impart it to the system. The stomach tries to refuse food the nutriment from which the blood cannot absorb, and this causes the lack of appetite. If you force yourself to eat, the undigested food becomes a clog to the system. Nature is warning you. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills alone give the blood the richness and purity that it requires to perform its natural function. That is why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure the most obstinate cases of indigestion—why they will cure any trouble due to poor blood.

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Mr. Hatton Threatens County Council With Another Suit

Says That "Those Who Dominate Council" Hope He Will Not Accept the Rooms the Council Has Offered Him on Northeast Side of the Court House.

MAY MEET ON FRIDAY

The County Council has a special file for its correspondence with Crown Attorney Hatton, and already it is beginning to bulge with letters, a report or two, and, near the bottom, Mr. Justice Latchford's judgment ordering the council to provide Mr. Hatton with "suitable" accommodation.

Yesterday afternoon one of the members casually enquired about the progress that has been made in the negotiations with the Crown Attorney, and the file was forthwith opened up. On the top was a report of a conference held on December 21st, between Mr. Hatton and representatives of the Council. It was typewritten, as was also Reeve Max Brown's name at the end of it. The summary of the conversation on that occasion was racy enough and loaded with explanatory comments that illuminated the interchanges between the two parties back to Mr. Hatton's examination for discovery preparatory to the judicial hearing. For the sake of the spirit of amity which it is expected will be established between the Council and the Crown Attorney this report is just as well left silent on the file, but appended to it was the following resolution:

"That Mr. Hatton be offered the use of the three north east rooms on the ground floor of the Court House, the two northerly rooms to be connected with a doorway, at the expense of the county, with the two vaults therein, and that the rooms and vaults be furnished with necessary and proper furniture and fittings, in accordance with the Municipal Act; and that Mr. Hatton be required to state in writing whether or not he will accept the same; also to state in writing what furniture, fittings, etc., he considers should be furnished."

A Reply and Admonition.

Writing to the County Clerk on December 30th, Mr. Hatton said:

Having on Saturday last in my interview with the County Council positively refused to accept these three rooms, or any of them, I cannot help but have the opinion that the Council, or those who are dominating it, know that I will not accept these rooms, and in fact are hoping that I will not accept them, so that it might be relieved of the responsibility of supplying me with the accommodation that I am entitled to under the Act.

This simply means that I must consider the advisability of bringing another action to prove conclusively and beyond doubt that these rooms are not suitable. This, I feel assured, I can do.

I will not undertake to do my work, or ask a staff to do its work, in rooms that never the year around, receive the sunlight, nor in rooms that have the outlook that these have.

I have had stenographers view these rooms, and each one declared they would refuse point blank to work in them.

As a ratepayer I have every right to suggest that if these rooms are, in the opinion of the Council, suitable for the Crown Attorney and Clerk of the Peace, they cannot be objectionable to the County Clerk, and I presume they are available for his use.

I will require payment for office accommodation until same is supplied by County, from July last, the date the writ was issued.

Yours truly,
G. W. Hatton.

Straight Talk to the Council.

January 21, 1919.

I beg to notify the County Council that rooms not having been offered me in the Court House that are suitable to do my work as Crown Attorney and Clerk of the Peace, I now beg to give you formal notice to furnish me with proper accommodation in accordance with the terms of the judgment without further delay; and, further take notice that I intend to charge and hold the County liable for all necessary expenses incurred by me since the issue of the writ in Hatton vs. Peterboro.

Further take notice, that I am about to enter into a new lease for suitable offices, and that this lease will be for a term of not less than five years as my landlord will not make the necessary improvements unless I take a lease for a term of years. I will, of course, look to the county to reimburse me for the whole of the rent that I must pay to obtain suitable offices.

Yours truly,
G. W. Hatton.

Council Requests Meeting.

January 24, 1919.

G. W. Hatton, Esq.,—

Dear Sir: I am authorized by the Warden to request you to meet the Council as a Whole at 10.30 a.m. on Thursday, January 30, 1919, at the Council Chamber, to discuss matters re accommodations for the Crown Attorney and Clerk of the Peace.

Yours truly,
E. M. Elliott.

Has Previous Engagement.

Replying to this letter, Mr. Hatton wrote that because of an engagement previously arranged, he would be unable to meet the Council on Thursday, but would endeavor to return for an interview on Friday afternoon.

Desire General Meeting.

Reeve Squire proposed that a special committee be appointed to confer with Mr. Hatton, but ex-Warden Anderson replied that it seemed preferable to him that Mr. Hatton should meet the whole Council in order that the reflection conveyed in one letter, in the words "those who are dominating it," should be cleared up.

The allusion in that letter to the County Clerk and his office, on the west side, where the sun floods them with abundant light, amused some of the members, who suggested that the Clerk might be moved upstairs to the remote room occupied by Inspector Lees.

"Theres the band stand down there, too," replied the Clerk.

It was decided to set this question aside until Friday, in the hope that Mr. Hatton may turn up.

Intermediates Win 9 to 7 After Hard Battle At Whitby

WHITBY, Jan. 29.—In spite of watery ice one of the fastest games seen here in some time was played to-night between Whitby Military Hospital and Peterboro intermediates, the latter winning 9 to 7. The game was very close throughout the three periods, and with the exception of the first period, when eleven goals were scored, little scoring was done. O'Connor in goal for Whitby and Lavery on the defence were the Whitby stars. The period scores were six to five, seven to six and nine to eleven.

The line-up:—

Peterboro—Legros; defence, Halpan and Evans; centre, Murphy; wings, Laundrault and Hodgins; subs Rose and Jackson.

Referee—L. Marsh.

GOOD ICE FOR THE BATTLE IN LINDSAY

Word was received from Lindsay this morning that the slight drop in the temperature last night enabled ice-makers to get a good flood on the Lindsay rink and that as a result there is a fast sheet of ice ready for to-morrow night's Junior O. H. A. game with Peterboro upon which the championship of the group depends. A win for Peterboro settles the argument, while a Lindsay victory would leave the two teams tied.

The local Juniors showed last night that they are taking a proper interest in the game this year. When they turned up at 7 o'clock for practice it was found that the rink had just been flooded and it was impossible to get on the ice. Coach Jerry Coughlin arranged for a practice at 10 o'clock giving the ice surface a chance to harden and every player was on hand at that unusual hour for a workout.

The Petes will leave for Lindsay on the 5:35 G.T.R. train to-morrow evening. The team will be made up of Flowers, Frost, Campbell, Cherrett, Park, Hagerman, Guard and Williams.

STAGE SET FOR THE BIG OSHAWA SERIES GAME HERE MONDAY

The Peterborough intermediates, having disposed of Whitby last night, the stage is all set for the big series with Oshawa, which will decide the group championship. The first game will be staged here on Monday night and promises to be one of the most important games of the season. Incidentally it is the first battle Peterborough fans have had a chance of seeing for over three weeks, as both the intermediate and junior teams have been doing most of their playing away from home.

Oshawa, who were the runners up last year in the intermediate series, after beaten in the finals by Collingwood, have all of last year's team intact except Etherington, and as Jacobi, the good defence player is back again, their team is just as dangerous as last year. Chilson Cliffe, the sensational goaltender, and Bowden, former Port Hope boy, are the stars of the outfit, but the rest are not far behind this pair and the team will take a lot of beating.

The Petes have been showing great form in practice, and although they had a hard battle at Whitby last night the ice conditions were such as to prevent anything like good hockey. Given a fast sheet of ice for Monday and the local team will set a clip that may surprise Manager Bradley and his gang. The Petes are well fortified in all departments and the fans can count on Monday's game being a battle from zong to gong.

There is no love lost between the teams as the result of the memorable clash with Oshawa two seasons ago and the battle will be as lively as Peterborough fans have had a chance of seeing for many moons. There will be a real old-time crowd on hand at Brock street rink for this game.

EAST LAWN BOWLERS WIN TWO FROM DELAVAL

Last night at the Water street Alleys in the 5 pin league the East Lawn Bowlers took two out of three games from the DeLaval. Barrett for DeLaval was high man of the evening with 555 while French came close second with 519 for the Lawn Bowlers. Pratt was high with 482.

The scores:

Air Service Between the Important Centres in Canada

Imperial Munitions Board Has Disposed of Aeroplanes and Equipment to a Syndicate.

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Jan. 30.—With the exception of fifty aeroplanes which the Government will retain for its own air service, all the aeroplanes, engines and equipment in Canada belonging to the Imperial Munitions Board, has been sold for an unstated figure to a syndicate of American and Canadian business men. This statement was given by a high official to-day. It is stated that the equipment taken over cost the Government about nine million dollars, but the purchase price is not anything like that figure.

Commercial Enterprise.

"Now that the war is over these machine like aeroplane engines remain," stated the informant, "and the Imperial Munitions Board thought this was a good opportunity to get rid of the enormous equipment. The idea of the Board is to encourage a new commercial enterprise, and it is only by this means that the machines can be utilized. The Government could not hold them indefinitely because delicate machins like aeroplane engines require constant care and might go to waste in a few months if left to rust.

"The syndicate which has taken the equipment over is already in the aeroplane business in the United States, and it is understood that they will inaugurate a service between important centres in Canada.

Build Factories.

"The syndicate is composed of capable and far-seeing business men," added the informant, "and it is their intention, as commercial air service develops, to build factories in Canada for the production of a cheaper aeroplane than the aeroplane now on the market so as to bring the machines within the reach of a wider class."

The machipes the Government will keep in the service are at present carefulyl greased and packed at Camp Borden. The camp itself, as well as Long Branch Camp, will be retained by the Government, but the other air training camps in the Dominion will be dismantled.

Rough Game At Whitby

Petes Carry Souvenirs of Last Night's Hard Game.

Pretty well battered up but victorious, the Peterborough Intermediates arrived home from Whitby at noon to-day. They report a hard battle on rotten ice, and state that the Whitby soldiers must have been labouring under the delusions that they were back in France, judging by the manner in which they sailed into the Petes. Ray Rose was put out of commission early in the first period by a crack in the face, and for the balance of the game the Petes had to travel along with only one substitute. Hodgins and Laundrault bear souvenirs of the visit. Sailes, who once upon a time wore a Peterborough uniform, was the chief offender on the Whitby line-up. The Petes took all the bumps that came along and played clean hockey; their tactics venirs of the visit. Sarles, who wore them.

Wilhemshaven Still in Control of Extremists—Berlin Streets Will Be Lightless—City Officials in German Port Go On Strike.

(Special to The Examiner.)

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—The Spartacans still controlled Wilhelmshaven today, according to advices received from that city. They had dissolved the Workmen's and Soldiers' Council and seized all public buildings and banks, and have taken over the railways, telephones and telegraphs. A "state of siege" has been declared by them.

City officials have protested against the action of the Spartacans and have gone on strike, determining to do no work until the "removal of the terror." Functioning of the various municipal authorities is thus seriously affected.

A report from Stuttgart to-day said the shortage of coal probably will force the Berlin Electric Works to discontinue work for a fortnight, until a reserve can be accumulated. This would cut off all light and power here.

New Masonic Quarters Are Attractive and Equal to the Best Lodge Rooms in Province

The Fraternity Will Move Into Its New Home This Week—Quarters to be Dedicated on Friday Evening—The New Lodge and Offices—Completeness of Details Feature New Quarters.

An event that has large interest for the members of the Masonic Fraternity in this city and district is the formal dedication and opening of the New Masonic Hall and quarters tomorrow afternoon. For little over a year the Order has been the welcome guest of the Oddfellows of the city, making use of the spacious and well appointed room of that Order, at the corner of George and Hunter streets. Heartily welcomed and hospitably entertained the meetings and work of the Masonic Fraternity has gone forward from month to month, the three Blue Lodges and the Allied Chapters meeting on evenings as best coud be devised.

Disastrous Fire.

Shortly after the disastrous fire that destroyed the part of the block of buildings on George street, in January of 1918, and in which block was housed the Craft, it was felt that possibly the time had arrived that the Order, now conspiciously large in number in the city might aspire to provide and equip its own building. Investigation snowed that such a proposition would not be only expensive but would have to be planned to be in a measure self- sustaining. It could be erected in the commercial district and enjoy a revenue from business rentals, or a less pretentious building on the outskirts of the business section and devoted wholly to the objects of the order. These projects, in some respects well devised fell through and suitable quarters were looked for.

Building Committee

Such were found in the Bank of Commerce building, corner of Hunter and Water streets, and by arrangement with the owners and at the expense of the Lodges quarters were provided and furnished, the building and equipment committee being Rgt. W. Bro. H. R. H. Kenner, W. Bro. Goodwill, Bro. R. H. Ross, and Bro. W. H. Barry. Duly assisted by other of the brethern both in consultation and in carrying out the details So well has this committee discharged its duties that the new quarters are models of quiet, rich and appropriate arrangement and decoration, quite the equal and in respects surpassing that which was observed in the largest cities. From those who have viewed the results are drawn profuse and well-deserved compliments. The Fraternity has much reason to be proud of its New Home, its quiet elegance and its admirable adaptation to its uses.

Past History

It may be in keeping with the occasion to briefly refer to the past history of the Order, as so many of the members are of comparatively recent connection, and who may be interested in the beginnings of Masonary in this district. To such as these remarks be of interest it may be suggested that this brief relation be preserved for future reference.

Many of the early settlers, especially the half-pay officers who came to the location of Peterborough in the darly years were members of fraternal societies in the Old Country, and particularly of the Masonic Order. These desired that a Lodge be established, and a charter was procured from the Grand Lodge of England to institute a lodge to be known as Corinthian Lodge, No. 834, Grand Register of England. When the Grand Lodge of Canada was instituted this charter was renewed or re-issued under the name of Corinthian Lodge No. 101, Grand Register of Canada, dating from November 2, 1859.

A Dispensation.

In the columns of the Despatch, at that time one of the local newspapers under date of May 4th, 1848, appears a formal advertisement in which it is stated that "The Brethern of the Craft" in this district are herewith notified that a Dispensation for a New Lodge, under the above title, has been received from the Provincial Grand Lodge of Canada, and that the same (lodge) will be held on each and every Wednesday on or before the Full of the Moon. Masons desirous of joining the Lodge will be required to produce certificates from the Lodge of which they were last members." The advertisment is signed by George Cunningham, W.M., J. Gilchrist, M. D., S. W., and Thomas Hay, M.D., Secretary.

The Lodge was formally opened on May 17, 1848, with the following as Charter Members: Geo. Cunningham, John Gilchrist, Robert J. C. Taylor, Thomas Hay, Jas. H. Dunsford, W. H. Weller, John Leaperance From time to time members were affiliated and initiated among whom were Robt Dennistoun, Jan. 31, 1849 Kivas Tully, July 28, 1852, and many others. Corinthian Lodge, after seventy-one years of life and activity is one of the most important of the Craft in the province, and has with a large membership.

The Dedication

The Craft growing in numbers Peterborough Lodge, No. 155 was established under charter in 1863, being formally opened and decklated on January 27th. The charter members were Geo. Burnham, W. M., Robt. Stevenson, S. W., A. T. Huff, man, J. W., P. C. Belcher, Secretary, and a full roll of members to complete the list.

Again enlarging its borders Masonry found it to the interests of the Craft to make progress and Royal Arthur Lodge was instituted in June, 1914. The charter members were of the other and sister lodges and under the skilled leadership of those in office from year to year the new lodge is making rapid progress and drawing to its ranks a full membership.

Another Move

In the early years the Craft held meetings in the lodge room, in the upper flat of the one-time Lundy building, on George Street, which formed a part of the Neill store destroyed by fire January last. Corinthian lodge was also housed in a part of the Bradburn building, the third story over the Matthews-Blackwell building. Eventually needing large premises a move was made to the building on Water Street, facing the Market Square, and, at the time, erected by Geo. Dunsford. After many years sojourn a further move was made to premises fitted up in the two floors partially over the Dominion Bank. The Craft remained in occupation until the fire of January last destroyed lodge room and the entire furnishings and much of the personal regalia of members. All has been now repaced and the order enters on a further period of prosperity and usefulness.

The New Lodge And Offices

These are comprised in a part of the upper floor of the Bank of Commerce building, corner of Hunter and Water Streets. The floor space has been admirably planned to afford the maximum of accomodation and to serve the membership. Entering one finds the hall, from which access is had to the several rooms and apartments. The smoking room, to the right, and through it to the banquet hall, or dining room, with ample kitchen conveniences adjoining. From the hall access is had to the cloak room and rooms connected with the intimate details of the work. And to the left the main lodge room. Safety for regalia and lodge records is provided by a handsome and capacious vault.

Rich Furnishings

The lodge room proper is 48 by 32 feet, with the ceiling 18 feet in height. The general effect of the furnishing and decoration is rich and quiet, the decorative effects having been carried out in the Greek Ionic. In particular the East well is a correct exemplification of that order of architecture. The relief decorations and panel on the East, above the Master's chair, is done in old ivory and very handsome. The walls of the lodge are in a colored blend of oil paint, stippled. Wood finish and doors in a rich fumed oak.

A thick Brussels carpet covers the floor, and is of dark blue. The benches lining the walls, in two tiers, are in fumed oak, and upholstered in leather, the design of the benches is of the Renaissance period, substantial and yet graceful in proportions. The altar, pedestals and principal chairs of the Ionic order. The seating capacity of the lodge will accomodate one hundred and twenty-five, with additional space in the East.

The Ventilation

An important matter is that of ventilation, as there are no windows in the lodge room. Ample provision has been made and the system of ventilation is by natural draught. Four fresh air ducts are masked in the walls by ornamental brass grilles. The foul air ducts are in the ceiling and controlled by shutters from points in the room, the openings of the ducts being covered by handsome ceiling decorations above the large electroliers. The system is so effective that the air throughout the room can be entirely changed in three minutes. The main lighting effect is gained by lights enclosed in inverted bowls, suspended in beautiful fixtures of Flemish gold. The bowls decorated with the Greek Key, in keeping with the distinctive effect attained. In addition a system of direct lighting is in reserve by a system of frosted globes. The lighting effects are controlled from the chair of the Junior Warden and any graduation of light may be instantly had. The emblematic lights the altar lights and accessories are all direct controlled nd when made use of add much to the interest and effect of the ritual. The principal chairs for the presiding and assisting officers ae upholstered in a rich blue panned velvet.

Banquet Hall

The banqueting hall claims attention by its completeness, and convenience. In dimensions of floor space 40 by 23 ft, and with seating room for 125. The ceiling done in a rich cream, the walls in green, with inverted frieze to match. The window hangings are of handsome material and of a dull gold. The lighting is taken care of by six inverted bowls surrounding clusters of lights, and modifying the glare. Dining tables, chairs and serving tables all in a fine stained wood and with mahogany finish. The kitchen is of ample size and most completely fitted with gas and electric ranges and water service. Commodious china closets contain a new and complete supply of table service in handsome pattern, together with the lodge silver for table use. There is ample china with which to serve 150 guests at one sitting. Communication with the dining hall is had by openings in the wall between the kitchen and hall. A convenient pantry holds the usual supply of table linen and accessories. Provision has been made to take care of drainage from the kitchen, enamelled washing sinks and water supply.

Smoking Room

The lounge, or smoking room is handsome and most excellently comfortable. The tasteful and rich finish and the admirable equipment and furnishing is wholly admirable. The room is 23 by 27 feet on the floor. The walls stippled in a soft wood brown with stencilled key pattern in green. The ceiling cream and the floor covered with a soft green shade of cork carpet. The set of arm chairs are inviting and restful, quite the sort of chair that a man likes to take his ease in. Made of a brown reed upholstered in leather. Two tables are included, in fumed oak and a writing desk also in oak. The lighting is by wall lights exclusively.

Regalia Room

An important facility to the performance of the work and routine of the lodge service is that the regalia room is placed most conveniently, and with wardrobes for the several Blue Lodges, Chapter and Preceptory. The want of such a convenience has long been known and in fitting up the new quarters advntage has been taken to get this detail just right. Each part of the order has its appropriate place and under its own supervision, and the completeness of the facilities will do much to make the routine of lodge and the work both attractive and successful. The committee in charge is to be congratulated on the result attained, giving to the order a home of remarkable beauty, the maximum of convenience and comfort, and the satisfaction that throughout the province is not to be found anything better or more to be commended.

The resignation of Donald McNaughton as trustee of the Norwood High School was received, and John Rorabeck was appointed in his place on motion of Reeve Brown seconded by Reeve Squire.

Auditors for 1919

Reeve Squire's motion, seconded by Reeve Brown, that Mr. Breault of Norwood and Mr. Casement of Lakefield be appointed auditors for this year, was met with an amendment by Reeves Griffith and Matheson proposing Mr. Wellington Burgess and Mr. Casement, and an amendment to the amendment by Reeve Anderson and Deputy-Reeve Eason in favor of Mr. J. J. Moore and Mr. Casement.

Reeve Griffith highly recommended Mr. Burgess who, he said, was well fitted by education and general ability for the position.

Reeve Anderson made a plea for Mr. Moore because of his qualifications and also for the reason that he was a returned soldier.

It was agreed that Messrs. Moore Burgess and Breault were all efficient and capable men, but action was deferred upon the request of Reeve Brown who objected that the matter should no be disposed of until the Council was complete. Five members were absent at the session, some of them on account of the illness of relatives. The appointment of the auditors was postponed on a motion by Reeve Brown seconded by Reeve Anderson.

Expense Money Increased

The Council acceded to the request of School Inspectors Lees and Broderick for an increase of twenty-five per cent. in their allowance for traveling expenses. This provides Mr. Lees with $500 for his expenses in visiting the schools of his inspectorate. Part of Mr. Broderick's allowance is paid by Victoria County.

Mr. Matheson, chairman of the Schools committee, Warden McIntosh and Mr. Anderson were delegated to confer with the inspectors upon the advisability of printing a statement of school attendance in this county for distribution among the farmers for the purpose of creating deeper interest in school affairs especially in the question of regularity of attendance, teachers' salaries and similar subjects. This was suggested in Mr. Broderick's annual report, and was explained to the Schools committee. The details of the proposal will be weighed by the special committee.

Safe Home Treatment for Objectionable Hairs

(Boudoir Secrets.)

The electric needle is not required for the removal of hair or fuzz, for with the use of plain delatone, the most stubborn growth can be quickly banished. A paste is made with water and a little of the powder and then spread over the hairy surface. In about two minutes it is rubbed off and the skin washed. This simple treatment not only removes the hair ,but leaves the skin free from blemishes. Be sure that you get genuine delatone.

DISLIKE FOR FOOD

Every healthy man and woman should have a natural desire for food at meal times. This means that the digestion is in working order and that the blood is in good condition. But if you feel a dislike for food—if the sight and smell of wholesome food repels you— then you may be sure that nature is telling you that all is not well. If after a night's rest you have no appetite for breakfast, your digestion requires attention. If your food is distasteful, or if you feel that it is a trouble to eat, your stomach is rebelling. You do not digest properly the food you are taking and are therefore not hungry.

All these symptoms of a disordered digestion mean that the blood is not absorbing proper nourishment from the food, for the work of the blood is to collect proper nourishment from food and impart it to the system. The stomach tries to refuse food the nourishment from which the blood cannot absorb, and this causes the lack of appetite. If you force yourself to eat, the undigested food becomes a clog to the system. Nature is warning you. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills alone give the blood the richness and purity that it requires to perform its natural function. That is why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure the most obstinate cases of indigestion—why they will cure any trouble due to poor blood.

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Annual Meeting of St. Paul's Church Held Last Evening

Year Just Closed Has Been a Very Successful One—Big Increase in Membership—Financial Report.

The annual meeting of St. Paul's Church for the transaction of business was held last evening in the Sunday School Hall. The chair was occupied by the minister, Rev. R. Pogue. After devotional exercises reports were presented from the different organizations, all of which showed that the year had been a prosperous one financially.

Report of Session was presented. As it is a survey of the entire work of the congregation through the different organizations, extracts may here be quoted.

Membership.

The communicant membership of the church is now 1,045. Eleven years ago it was 750. While one or two of the intervening years have not been able to show a net increase, because of the number of removals and the number uniting that year, on the whole there has been a steady advance during these eleven years. There was an unusually large number of deaths during the year. No less than 24 communicant members have entered into their rest. In connection with special mention should be made to the death of Mr. Hall, an honoured elder of the church and a member of the congregation during his long life of 78 years, and that of Miss Jane Strange to the Church Triumphant. Mrs. John Cameron, Mrs. Reid, Mr. Wm. Menzies and Wm. Menzies were respected members who passed away during the year. Special sorrow was caused by the loss of many splendid young men on the field of battle, Cameron, Arthur Wood, Mackintosh, John Ranger and Robert Robertson. The bereaved parents and those have the deepest sympathy of the congregation.

Sunday School.

In connection with the report of the Sunday School reference was made to the good work being done by the different Superintendents, Innes Mowat, Miss Lizzie Scott, Miss Effie Munro, Miss Florence Cameron and their able staff of assistants and teachers. Miss Effie Munro, who has been superintendent of the Primary Department for 12 years, has asked to be relieved of her work for a time. The Session wishes to place on record its appreciation of the work which Miss Munro has accomplished during these 12 years. By attendance at conventions, by a constant study of the latest and best Sunday School methods, by a consecration to the work that meant the giving of her time and energy without stint to the interests of the young, she has brought her department into a state of efficiency not excelled in any other school in the province. It is with great pleasure that the Session bear testimony to her love for her work and the children under her care, and the influence for good of her life and teaching upon the lives of all who have passed through this department during these twelve years, and it is with deep regret that they contemplate her retirement from the work even for a time.

Steady Advancement.

There is no organization which shows the same steady advancement and deepening interest in the spread of the gospel as does the W.M.S. The givings of this Society have increased year by year until in the year 1918 they reached an amount almost double what it was ten years ago. Possibly the work of this organization, composed, as it is, of a large proportion of the women members of the church, is a surer criterion of the spiritual life of our people than anything else in connection with the church. We have certainly reason to thank God and take courage from the evidences of the Spirit of Christ which are seen in the work of the W.M.S.

Reference was made to the good work done by the Fraser Auxiliary to the W.M.S. and the Faithful Workers' Mission Band as well as the Ladies' Aid and the Red Cross Auxiliary.

Young People's Guild.

A Young People's Guild was recently organized. With the return of so many of our young men from the war and the large number of boys and girls of senior 'teen age, the need of such an organization for the expression of their Christian life was felt to be necessary.

After making reference to the effort being made in connection with the League of Young Worshippers to establish the young of the congregation in the habits of Church-going, the report continues:

"The Session appreciates the work which is being done in connection with the service of praise of the members of the Choir; their regular attendance at the Sabbath Services as well as the spirit which prompts them to devote so much of their time weekly to Choir practice. They recognize the difficulties under which the leader has had to work in securing enough trained singers for the different parts. The laudable project which the Choir has under way of erecting a suitable memorial to the men of St. Paul's who enlisted for service in the great war and for those who have fallen in the struggle, deserves the hearty thanks and earnest co-operation of the entire membership of the Church."

Financial Summary.

The following is a summary of the financial statement as presented by the Treasurer of the different departments:

| | |
|---|---|
| Current revenue | $ 9,884.70 |
| Missions | 5,205.89 |
| W.M.S. Including Fraser Mission Band, and Faithful Workers | 2,662.51 |

Committee Will Bring in a Report on the Proposed Sewage Disposal Plant

Adjoining Townships Threaten Action Unless City Discontinues Practice of Dumping Sewage in the River—Meeting of Board of Works.

Two committees were appointed at last night's meeting of the Board of Works. The first one, consisting of Ald. Phelan, (chairman), Alderman McIntyre, Alderman Hamilton, and the Mayor, will bring in a report to the next meeting of the Board of Works, on the advisability of establishing a sewage disposal plant for the city. All the members of the committee, with the adjacent townships as an incentive, were of the opinion that the matter should be looked into at once.

The other committee, consisting of Ald. Phelan (chairman), Ald. Edgar, Ald. McIntyre, Ald. Taylor and Ald. Garside, were appointed to meet the Roads and Bridges Committee of the County Council, and see if some decision could not be reached regarding the good roads system. The road from Peterboro to Port Hope was favored as a provincial highway. One of the alderman said that he thought that the 1919 County Council was going to take a favorable view of the good roads system.

Lights Out.

City Engineer Parsons reported that some owners of electric signs were not keeping them lighted, and some even had the wires cut. They were enjoying the privileges of an unilluminated sign with the additional space over the sidewalk that is given to owners of illuminated signs.

Ald. Edgar brought to the notice of the Board the danger of these signs when the snow on top of the sign melts with the heat within, and drops on the sidewalk, where it sometimes forms ice, which is a danger to the pedestrians. Awnings should also be drawn up tightly, as they are the source of many accidents.

"They should be notified that any accidents occuring through ice formed from dripping water from their signs will render them liable," said Ald. Edgar.

"If they are a source of danger, they should not be there at all," said Ald. Murray.

"It is a good thing that Ald. Turner isn't here," said Ald. Phelan laughing.

The City Engineer was authorized to notify the owners of signs that they are liable if any accidents happen outside their premises.

Street Numbering.

The number muddle on George St. south of Lake street, caused much discussion. Mr. Parsons laid a blue print before the Board showing how that part of the main street causes confusion through poor numbering. Years ago Lake street was the southern boundary of George street, and the numbers started there with 1. Aylmer street also was numbered with Lake street as the division point. Now both George and Aylmer streets have expanded far south of Lake street and the numbers were started south on these streets from Lake street.

George street consequently has two sets of numbers, one set north of Lake street, and the other south. There is a number 2 George street on the north side of Lake street, and another 2 George street, directly across the road south of Lake street. Mr. Parsons suggested that the houses on George street (there are 26 them) should be renumbered starting at Lake street, but using the number 100 to begin with, instead of the number 1. Both numbers 100 George street, would be farther apart and would not cause the same confusion. It was thought impracticable to renumber the whole of George street from the southern boundary of the city, Lanadowne street.

Will Change Numbers.

Ald. Taylor moved, seconded by Ald. Murray, that George street from Lake street south, be re-numbered, starting at 100, and that a sign be placed at the corner of George street and Lake street, calling George street south of Lake street, "George street South."

The motion was carried, the Mayor alone dissenting.

Ald Edgar moved that signs be placed at all the street corners in the city so that strangers could find their way around in the winter time.

Ald. Taylor seconded the motion, and it was carried.

It was moved by Ald. McIntyre, and seconded by Ald. Gainey, that tenders be asked for tile and cement for 1919, and that the engineer write other municipalities regarding tenders for the material and whether they thought cement and tile were going to be lower in price.—Carried.

For the 'steenth time the condition of the Auburn bridge, which is a combination railway and foot bridge, and reaches from Water street north to the Auburn Mills, was brought to the notice of the Board; and for the 'steenth time the G. T. R. will be asked to repair the bridge so that it will be safe for pedestrians.

The matter of the McDonnel street sewer to connect Mount St. Joseph was discussed, but no action was taken.

German Army to Fight the Poles

Poles Have Entered Province of Brandenburg— 20,000 Germans Volunteer to Fight the New Enemy.

(United Press.)

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—German military preparations have been completed and a great offensive against the invading poles may soon be expected, it was announced to-day. More than twenty thousand volunteers left for the "eastern front" yesterday.

Polish forces are nearing the border of the Province of Brandenburg. The Kolkrat of Bromberg has protested against further negotiations with the Poles, declaring the latter will not keep any agreements and only want to gain time for strong military measures.

Berlin is situated in Brandenburg, which is bounded on the east by the Provinces of West Prussia and Posen. The eastern boundary of Brandenburg is about one hundred miles from Berlin.

Murray Street Baptist Church Concludes Very Successful Year

Receipts Were in Excess of All Other Years—Sum of $10,580.26 Reported in All Departments.

The gathering attending the annual meeting of the Murray street Baptist Church last night was the largest known. Every part of the large school room was occupied with tables and almost every other sitting was engaged. Rev. J. R. Webb occupied the chair.

The pastor's letter acknowledging gratefully that he had not missed either a Sunday or week evening service during the year through illness and also expressed appreciation of the officers and members who had co-operated with him so faithfully during the past twelve months. Progress had been shown in all departments, and the opportunities due to the coming of peace were touched upon.

Since entering their new edifice the people of Murray street church have paid off considerably over a thousand dollars a year of their church debt, besides increasing their giving in other directions. During the past year $2250 was paid on the mortgage.

The pastor's salary was increased from $1800 to $2100 during the year, and the givings to missions were also larger.

The Ladies' Aid Society Report was a story of constant activity and helpful service, while Murray street shows up splendidly in its Red Cross Work all through the war. One thing in the Sunday School report worthy of more than casual mention. Miss Bessie Elcome, who is the pianist of the Sunday school, has an absolutely perfect attendance record for the past 15 years. When this announcement was made the applause was most enthusiastic.

The school's receipts were $587.57.

Resolutions Passed.

Two resolutions were passed during the evening. One presented by Mr. Walter Garbutt and seconded by Chief Thompson, expressed regret at the unavoidable absence of Mr. T. F. Matthews, the treasurer of the Building and Interest Fund, whose business engagements have made it necessary for him to spend some weeks in Toronto, and whose report was read by another. His return to Peterboro, now that peace is declared, will be most welcome.

The second resolution was moved by Mr. A. J. Madill, B.A., and seconded by Mr. F. M. Somerville, B. A., and carried with it the highest appreciation of the services rendered by the choir.

PATERSON, N. J., Jan. 27.—The body of Mrs. Nellie Wilkins, of Bayonne, who died on July 6, and was buried in Laurel Hill Grove Cemetery here, was exhumed by Coroner Vermeulen at the direction of Prosecutor Garvan, of Hudson County. The body of Mrs. Elizabeth L. Wilkins, 81 years old, who died on April 21 last, and was buried here in Cedar Lawn Cemetery, is to be exhumed.

Autopsies are to be performed by Dr. A. P. Haskings, Assistant Coroner of Hudson County, in connection with the case of Miss Bessie May Wilkins Skeels, a trained nurse, who was indicted in Andover, Mass., following the death of Miss Florence Gay, a school teacher whom she attended. Another indictment was found against the Skeels woman in Hudson County.

CAPTAIN FESSENDEN RETURNED TO-DAY

After nearly three years spent in a German prison camp, to which he was taken in April, 1915, at Ypres Capt. Vivian Fessenden returned to the city this morning at 6 o'clock. He refused to discuss conditions in the German prisons and merely said they were what might be expected. Of Holland he said no statement could be made of the reported food shortage, as conditions in each district differ widely. Captain Fessenden is one of the survivors of the First Contingent.

Dairy Inspector Addressed Meeting

Farmers in Peterboro County May Form a Co-operative Company.

A meeting was called in the Y.M.C.A. to consider the advisability of taking over and operating a large number of the cheese factories in the Province. The proposed company would be similar in character to the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Co., which has been immensely successful and to the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries, Ltd., which owns and controls three quarters of the creameries of Saskatchewan. The meeting was composed of representatives from the factories from the Peterborough district. About 50 men were present, representing some 30 factories.

Committee Formed.

After a full discussion, the proposal was endorsed, and a committee appointed, composed of W. S. Anderson, Warsaw; A. McGregor, of the Central Smith Creamery, and Mr. H. B. Cowan, Peterborough, to gather further information from the local factories concerning their costs of operation, equipment, etc., with the object of finding to what extent and in what way these factories would benefit by uniting in such a company.

Similar Meetings.

Similar meetings are to be held in Prince Edward County and in Hastings county a week after next. If formed, the company will probably commence operations among the factories in the three counties. Such a company, if formed, would be capitalized at several millions. It has received the approval of all the leading dairy authorities, including the Dominion Dairy Division at Ottawa.

The Speakers.

The speakers yesterday included G. G. Publow, Chief Dairy Inspector for Eastern Ontario, J. Morrison, secretary of the United Farmers of Ontario, Toronto, M. N. Empey, a dairy farmer who was sent West recently by the Dominion Government as a member of the commission to investigate conditions in Saskatchewan, and Mr. H. B. Cowan, who is chairman of the Special Cheese committee representing the United Farmers of Ontario.

Gives Her Life For Her Country

Untiring Work Done by the Late Mrs. J. M. Wallis of Peterboro.

"She certainly gave her life for her coutry as truly as any of the noble men who were willing to face death in the trenches," is the tribute of one who knew her, to Mrs. J. M. Wallis, who died recently in England, where she had given every energy—as she did before going there—to war work. Mrs. Wallis was Miss Gertrude MacDonnell of Windsor before her marriage to the late John McCall Wallis, a son of Mr. James Wallis of Peterboro, Ont., who died in San Francisco. Upon the death of her husband she returned to Canada, living in St Catharines, Peterboro and Toronto, until February, 1917, when she and her daughter went to England and devoted themselves to war work. They played several times each week in hospitals, and also did canteen work, as well as making their own home a place of comfort and warm welcome to all soldier boys.

Brig.-Gen. A. C. MacDonnell, K. C. B., was a brother of Mrs. Wallis, and Brig.-Gen. A. H. MacDonnell a cousin. She leaves a daughter and two sons, Major J. Harold Wallis, who is at present at Witley Camp, and Capt. Hugh McDonnell Wallis, M.C. who is in Germany with the army of occupation. Both sons went overseas as privates in the First Canadian Contingent with the Cameron Highlanders. Miss Wallis is still in London, England.—Toronto Globe.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING INSUFFICIENT.

ST. THOMAS, Jan. 29.—The Great War Veterans of this city are protesting against what they allege to be the uselessness of the present system of vocational training for returned soldiers. They claim that the courses are not of sufficient length to give a soldier the training necessary for him to take a position in an office or a shop. The mechanical training is particularly complained about, a number of members asserting that, although they were given recommendations by heads in charge of the training school, these availed them nothing when presented to local shop managers, who informed them that they were not qualified to take positions as mechanics. Explanations have been asked for by the local branch of the G.W.V.A.

The Peterboro County Shorthorn Association Hold Sale To-day

Buyers Present From All Parts of the Province—A Good Run of Stock.

The first annual sale of pure bred stock under the auspices of the Peterborough County Shorthorn Breeders' Association was held in the Montgomery stables this afternoon. Shorthorn Associations are being organised all over the province and a big effort is being made to improve the strain and eliminate all scrub sires and dams. This effort to raise the standard of the cattle is meeting with great success and the farmers and breeders of Peterborough County are not behind the other counties in this respect. Mr. J. Andrew Knox, of Dummer township, is President of the Peterborough County Association and Mr. F. C. McRae the District agricultural representative is secretary-treasurer. Each of these Associations receive recognition of the Government of Ontario and men going up and down Ontario report that there is much to be desired in respect to the strains of the breeding stock of the province.

The animals were closely inspected this morning by hundreds of men from all parts of the county and the concensus of opinion is that no mistake could be made in purchasing any of the animals exhibited.

The bulls are sold to the highest bidder. The owner of the animal is not allowed to bid and only the Executive committee of the Association may withdraw an animal from the sale.

First Sales.

The first animal, "Duke," red in colour, and owned by Mr. Fred Warner of Hastings, was sold to Mr. L. M. Seeney, of Ida P.O., for $165.

Mr. Stewart Graham, of Lindsay, who was evidently impressed by the brand of cattle shown by the Victoria Shorthorn Breeders' Association, held a few days ago, bought the red animal, "Lavender Lord," owned by Mr. J. Smithson & Son, of Peterborough, for $185.

"Conscript Second," belonging to Mr. N. H. Isaac, of Baltimore, Ont., was sold to Mr. Peter Thompson, of Keene, for $140.

Mr. Charles Greigg, of Roseneath, sold his white "Roseneath Jilt" to Mr. Thomas Davidson of Birdsall, for $125.

The fifth animal, "Dairyman," belonging to Mr. Vincent Moher, of Lakefield, was sold to Mr. William Hatherley, R. R. No. 8; Peterborough, for $180.

Mr. Andrew Knox obtained $230 for his "Beauty Choice." Mr. Fred Warner of Hastings, was the purchaser.

Reception to Local Soldiers

A rousing reception was tendered to six more returned men, L. Franks, T. Chapman, P. J. Reynolds, L. W. Copp, N. Peters and L. Burtch, last evening at the 5:35 G. T. R. train. The boys were met by Mayor Duncan, Adjutant Bunton, and members of the G.W.V.A., who saw that the boys were properly looked after.

COUNTY GOT READY TO DEAL GOOD ROADS WITH CITY

"The city is suggesting now something we put forward some years ago," commented Mayor Anderson this morning when Warden McIntosh reported the City Council's desire to bring together two representative committees to discuss the good roads question.

"Not long ago we had to consult the city upon a question regarding suburban roads," Mr. Anderson continued, making a statement of fact and not of pleasure or criticism. "Now we do need to consult them. They may fully understand that. Besides, we have to work out the solution of the problem ourselves, and we haven't done that far yet."

Mr. Anderson simply emphasized that under the new law the county can commute the city to the cost of roads in a suburban area by accepting the provincial good roads scheme. The city taxpayers would have to pay the cost of the upkeep and maintenance of these roads without any voice in the matter whatever.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble, Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

MARKED DECREASE IN ATTENDANCE OF FIFTH BOOK RURAL PUPILS

Inspector G. E. Broderick Suggests Reason—Also Refers Again to the Baneful Effect of Irregular Attendance—370 of 930 Pupils Absentees in One Report.

APPEALS TO RURAL BOARDS

Public School Inspector G. E. Broderick of Lindsay whose inspectorate compromises west Peterboro township and part of Victoria, presented the following report on last year's school work at yesterday's meeting of the Township Council:

"At the outset I wish to say that, in my opinion, a subject of such outstanding and, possibly paramount importance to the County as the education of its children is entitled to something more than a general report on school conditions. I believe that the ratepayers and those in particular who have children attending school would be interested in a more detailed report giving information affecting individual schools. Such a report might contain the names and salaries of the teaching staff of the County, the enrolment, average and percentage attendance of the pupils in each section, the Trustees' financial statement and such other matter of general educational interest as the Council might desire or as the Inspector might be able to contribute. Such a report would of course, be too comprehensive to be of interest to the city reader. But it would be well worth publishing by the County Council for distribution among the ratepayers of the County.

For those who frame our school legislation, for those who administer the legislation and especially for those who bear the expense of education, the one vital question is, are the schools efficient? This involves the question by what standard or standards are we to judge the efficiency of our schools? A hundred years or so ago when popular education was but the dream of a philanthropist a member of the British Commons solemnly and seriously warned the House against national danger which would come from educating the common people above their station in life. From the inception of the common school until now the prevailing idea has been that its function should be to teach the elements of Reading, Writing and Arithmetic. There are not a few who are sceptical as to whether this modest program has been carried out.

What a School Should do

What should the Public School do for the child?

It should make the child master of the elements of Reading, Writing and Arithmetic.

It should give the child facility in the use of the mother tongue whether with pen or speech.

It should assiduously care for the health of the pupils.

The school (authorities) should create such conditions both within and without the school building as will insensibly foster in the pupils a love for what is beautiful.

It should recognize and make ample provision for difference in ability among its pupils.

It should, by its methods, by its course of study and by its whole spirit adapt itself to the needs of the community in which it is located. The City school for the City community. The Rural school for the Rural community.

It should make provision for the education of young pupils who have passed the ordinary school age.

Are the pupils of the Rural Municipalities getting out of the schools what it is their absolute right to have? They are not. To realize the above ideals several conditions are necessary.

First—A staff of teachers skilled in method and in school management, sympathetic with Rural life, and, above all, capable of creating the right atmosphere in both school and community. We must have teachers who from their scholarship and experience and personality are capable of leadership in matters educational. It is a pleasure to be able to report that during the year 1918 all but three of the 92 teachers of the Inspectorate were qualified under the Regulations. And two of these three taught in schools in the most remote sections of the Inspectorate. It is gratifying to be able to report also a distinct improvement in the quality of the teaching as compared with that of 10 years ago. This improvement is, of course, to be attributed to the training of the Normal Schools. Many of the graduates these schools are from Urban, perhaps from City life. The very great majority of them, I am willing to think, enter upon their Rural work full of enthusiasm and anxious that their ideas become ideals. They meet the utterly unexpected. For a time they make a brave fight against the inertia of the community and, instead of "sticking it" give up the struggle and await the hour of their happy exit to some Urban school.

School Attendance

The following is a statement of the attendance for 1918. Victoria schools omitted.

Bane of Irregular Attendance

There are many reasons why teachers leave Rural work for the more attractive situations in Town or City. Perhaps the greatest obstacle to real efficiency and the thing most harassing to the teacher is irregularity of attendance. If I hark back year after year to this topic it is because our own counties. It is provincial. There has indeed been some improvement during the last decade, the percentage for the province having risen steadily from 52 per cent in 1897 to 58 per cent in 1916, the average for the ten years being 55½%. The average of the counties of Victoria and Peterboro during the same period was 53½.

Records Inexact

Making due allowance for the fact that the Government records are based up on the supposition that all the pupils are enrolled for the full year, there is still an enormous waste through bad attendance. The teacher's time and energy are wasted through having to teach the same over and over again; the time is wasted of those who do attend regularly as well as of those who do not attend.

Reasons for Absence

From reports recently received from over 50 of the teachers in the Inspectorate, I find that of the 931 pupils enrolled 370 or more are reported "as attending irregularly. In over 100 cases illness is assigned as the cause. In nearly 100 cases it is distance from school. In over 50 cases it is the carelessness and indifference of parents. In 100 cases the pupils are required at home to work. Bad roads, weather, lack of parental control and 'no excuse at all' account for the remainder. Doubtless non-attendance is caused by the combination of the above causes. Distance from school is a chief cause. Over 900 pupils are reported as living from 2 to 3 miles from school; at least 60 live 3 miles distant. And aside from reports submitted I have certain knowledge that a good many children, if they go to school at all, must walk from 3½ to four miles and in some cases 4½ miles.

Decrease of 5th Book Pupils

Before passing from the subject of school attendance I wish to draw the Council's attentions to the rapid decrease in the number of Fifth book pupils. In 1907 there were attending the Public Schools of the Province about 9,000 pupils who had passed the Entrance Examination. In 1916, there were approximately 3,000. The decrease in our own counties has been in the same proportion and I fear is likely to continue. This condition has not arisen because fewer pupils pass the High School examin-

TIRED OF STEALING TELLS JUDGE HE WANTS LONG REST

NEW YORK, January. 29—"I'm tired of stealing, Judge. I want to go away for a while and take a long rest," was the plea made by George Reilly, twenty-one years old, who admitted having robbed twenty-five apartments on the west side during the last six months, when arraigned before Magistrate Francis X McQuade in the West Side Court, accused of carrying a loaded pistol.

Detectives Massam and Graham, of the Narcotic Squad, who arrested Reilly, said they found twenty skeleton keys and a jimmy in the meshes of a silk muffler he wore around his waist. They also took pawn tickets from his pockets for articles of clothing and jewelry valued at more than $5,000. Reilly, the detectives declared admitted having spent nine of his twenty-one years of life in prison, having been first sentenced to Elmira Reformatory when he was twelve years old. Magistrate McQuade held him in $1,000 bail for the Court of General Sessions.

BUNGLING AND UNPARDONABLE MISMANAGEMENT AT HALIFAX

Soldiers and Their Dependents Are Not Allowed to Return in the Same Coaches on Trains —Not Enough Accommodation.

HALIFAX, N.S., Jan. 31.—Unmitigated bungling and unpardonable mismanagement on the part of the authorities characterized the transportation of 363 soldiers and 652 of their dependents who crossed the Atlantic on the Megantic from the time they purchased their tickets in England to the moment they embarked on the train at Halifax for Canadian points. Thanks to the woeful mismanagement, hundreds of soldiers' wives, few of whom had ever been before in Canada, and nearly two hundred children under twelve months, were forced to spend hours of weary waiting around the clearing depot at Halifax.

Concerning the voyage itself, few complaints were made. Stewards, according to the passengers, showed their usual propensity for refusing to perform duties which might reasonably be expected of them without a tip for almost every small service rendered. The old trouble of faulty berthing was again evident. The embarkation officials, with that lack of foresight which has now become proverbial, had berthed women with small children in cabins in the lowest and most inaccessible portions of the ship, while women without children were more favourably located.

Refuses Better Class.

Another matter which was the occasion of complaint was the refusal of the authorities to sell a first cabin ticket to the wife of a Canadian private. The Government provides third-class accommodations for soldiers' dependents, but one woman who offered to pay the difference between third and first-class fare—a woman who, incidentally, had served the Empire as a munition worker, as a mechanical transport driver and as an air mechanic in France—was refused this privilege. Complaints were also made that there was not a sufficient supply of fresh water taken into the cabins.

Some of the trouble on board the steamer was apparently brought on by the women themselves. All of them were to be paraded for varcination purposes, but some of them managed to evade the doctors. They openly boasted of their achievement, with the result that the authorities had to do much of their examination work over again.

Kept a Long Time.

The Megantic docked at 11:30 a.m., and the first civilian passengers were allowed to disembark at 2:35 p.m. It was at this stage that the real trouble started. Absolutely devoid of system, the immigration authorities allowed them all to rush together to the clearing depot, where they were to receive their railway tickets. An absolutely insufficient staff of ticketers was completely swamped. With each succeeding moment the situation became worse. Nearly one thousand persons clamoured for immediate attention, and only the coolness of Major R. W. Watson saved the day.

Here let it be said, in fairness to all concerned at Halifax, that they were at an extreme disadvantage owing to the very short notice being given them as to the probable arrival of the Megantic.

No Message Sent.

Every vessel returning with troops to Halifax is supposed to send a wireless message to the port forty-eight hours before the probable time of her arrival. This apparently was not done with the Megantic. Everyone figured on her arriving on Wednesday, and as the reason of her sailing into Halifax one day earlier, one and all were caught napping. As a matter of fact the details concerning the ship did not arrive from Ottawa until hours after the ship had docked. Railway officials were badly handicapped as regards equipment owing to the short notice. The C. P. R. equipment owing to belated notification did not arrive until late at night. The dining car, which was to be attached to the last train came down with the Sunday Maritime Express from Montreal.

Another contributory factor to the transportation muddle was the arrival of so many ships in close succession. Nearly all the expert ticketers were away on trains carrying troops from the Empress of Britain and the Aquitania. As a reason of this, out of five Canadian Government railway officials who were handling the ticketing of Megantic passengers only one was an expert. This was not all. Their equipment to carry on the work was regrettably insufficient. There was only one ticket punch, and one dating stamp between the five, and much time was lost in passing these necessary articles from one official to the other.

Confusion Resulted.

Then again to adequately handle the situation every ticketer should have his own special cage with his own stock of tickets. This was not the case, but the five sat at adjoining tables, and confusion resulted.

"When pier two was built all the fixtures were provided for use of immigration purpases, but when the Military Hospitals Commission was given the use of the building for hospital purposes, its first act was to tear down all the fixtures, which would have been so useful to-day. Local authorities were absolutely unable to make any sort of arrangements for the entrainment of the passengers, as it was unknown what class of accommodation would be required.

In Different Places.

Perhaps the greatest cause of trouble was the action of authorities in granting only third-class tickets for steamer and immigrant tickets for the trains to the soldiers' dependents, while the soldiers themselves were given second-class tickets. Third-class ticket entitles the passenger on a train to only a colonist car, where blankets and pillows are provided, but with no attendance. Second-class ticket entitles the passenger to tourist car accommodation with bedding provided. Nearly every soldier when he found this out expressed his readiness to pay the difference in order that his dependents might enjoy the same privileges as himself. The women blamed the authorities at the Canadian embarkation office in London, who, they say, did not sufficiently explain the situation to them. All the authorities here are strongly of the opinion that the Government, now that it is paying the passage of dependents of Canadian soldiers returning to Canada, should see to it that soldiers and their dependents are given the same class of accommodation.

Strangers in a strange land, the behaviour of women, many of whom had small children with them, during many hours of weary waiting at the clearing depot, was worthy of the highest commendation. There was hardly a whimper or complaint from them under most trying conditions. All that was humanly possible to make their lot happy was done by Lieut.-Col. Robert Cram and his staff at the clearing depot. Captain Hutt, the quartermaster, provided ample refreshments for them. The clearing depot premises were absolutely at their disposal. The Y.M.C.A. threw open their rooms, and the ladies of the Creche committee did excellent work looking after the women and children.

Ruth Returns From Washington

CHAPTER CVII

Ruth hated to go to Washington. Never since she had been in the shop had she so dreaded leaving Brian. Had you asked her, she could not have explained her reason—not so that it would have been clear. It was more a vague feeling that something would happen, that something threatened them.

But she was a business woman. So she put aside her fears and, after telephoning Brian, started immediately for the Capitol.

"What!" Brian had ejaculated when she called him.

"I must run over to Washington for a day."

"Oh,—"

"I'm awfully sorry, Brian, but it can't be helped. I'll be back late tomorrow night. Would it be asking too much to meet me?"

"I'll be there if I can. I suppose it will be the last train.

"Yes—gets in somewhere about midnight."

"Very well, I will be there."

His tone was so cold, so detached, that Ruth wanted to cry.

"Good-bye, dear," she said instead.

"Good-bye."

On the train was a newly married couple. The girl about her own age They were so happy together that Ruth's eyes filled as she watched them. They chatted like two magpies, they laughed at everything, and at nothing at all, as young things are inclined to do when happy. Their looks caressed each other, and occasionally, when they thought no one looking, his hand would steal over and pat hers lovingly.

If only she and Brian could be together like that.

Stabbingly quick came the thought that, but for her, they might be. It was she who was leaving Brian, not him who had left her. She was the one who made it both possible and probable for him to search for other company to help him pass the time. Had she—was she, doing wrong?

No—she decided not. As usual, she concluded that if he could not be true when she was working for them both and sharing everything with him, he would not be true even if she were "slaving in his kitchen"—as she expressed it to herself.

But she could not shake off her uneasy feeling; neither could she take her regard from the young couple who were so devoted to each other. She felt annoyed with herself. She was silly to be so easily affected by what she saw—and felt.

She went into the dining car and ate a good dinner, then felt better. When the train reached Washington, she was quite herself again and anxious to begin her work. It proved delightfully interesting, and the time passed so quickly that she was ready to go back almost before she had once again thought to worry about Brian.

She did feel anxious, however—just once.

It was just as she was falling to sleep. Suddenly she wondered if Brian was at home or if—he was with Mollie King.

"Please don't forget me, Brian," she whispered, then fell asleep.

She had no time for thought, all the next day. And was so tired that she slept nearly all the way to New York. She was over-joyed when she saw Brian waiting for her at the head of the stairway. He took her bag, kissed her, and led the way to a taxi.

"I'm starved, dear. I was so tired I slept all the way, and so did not get any dinner."

"All right, we'll get a bit here."

While they were waiting for her simple order to be filled—Brian refused to have anything—she told him all about her business trip, and what she had accomplished. He made no derogatory remarks, neither did he show any interest. Ruth felt piqued that this was so, and rather impatiently gave voice to her feeling:

"Even if you aren't interested, you might pretend to be when I try so hard," she said petulantly.

"Who as'ts you to try? I don't."

"Even so, you might be human."

"That's the trouble. I've never known what to call it before, but I'm too human. I'm just a plain flub-dub sort of a man; and you are made of different stuff. I was a fool to think we ever could think alike."

"Why, Brian Hackett! What do you mean?"

"Nothing—at least nothing much."

"You know I didn't mean to find fault, but I am tired.

"I know—and I am—well—just human."

After this, they spoke little until they were at home. Then once more Ruth tried to talk of what had happened while she was away; where he had been, etc. But Brian was strangely uncommunicative. Ruth felt that he was concealing something, and it worried her.

To-morrow—Brian Declares His Intention.

DRINK HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST

Says you really feel clean, sweet and fresh inside, and are seldom ill.

If you are accustomed to wake up with a coated tongue foul breath or a dull, dizzy headache; or, if your meals sour and turn into gas and acids, you have a real surprise awaiting you.

To-morrow morning, immediately upon arising, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is intended to first neutralize and then wash out of your stomach, liver, kidneys and thirty feet of intestines all the indigestible waste poisons, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal.

Those subject to sick headaches, backache, bilious attacks, constipation or any form of stomach trouble, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store and begin enjoying this morning inside-bath. It is said that men and women who try this become enthusiastic and keep it up daily. It is a splendid health measure for it is more important to keep clean and pure on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing disease, while the bowel pores do.

The principle of bathing inside is not new, as millions of people practice it. Just as hot water and soap cleanse,

RECEIVING WAR CROSS

The patriotic spirit and devotion with which Canadian women have so far performed war-service work and made sacrifices has never been equalled in the history of any country. Mothers, wives and sisters support this burden with strength and fortitude. But those who are already miserable from the complaints and weaknesses which are so common to women, should take the right temperance tonic for the womanly system.

If a woman is borne down by pain and sufferings, by nervousness or dizzy spells, by headache or backache, "Favorite Prescription" should be taken. It can now be had in tablet form as well as liquid at most drug stores. Send to Dr. Pierce's Branch at Bridgeburg, Ont., for a 10c trial pkg. of tablets.

For fifty years Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets have been most satisfactory in liver and bowel troubles.

Windsor, Ont.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription made a new woman of me. For about six years I suffered with woman's trouble during which time I became all run down, weak and nervous. I would have severe backaches and pains in my side. I doctored with the doctor but did not get ahead of my ailment and was so bad that I could scarcely walk across the floor when I began taking the 'Prescription.' When I had taken two bottles I was much improved and four bottles completely cured me, and I have enjoyed better health than for years. You may use my name among your medicine. It is truly a wonderful medicine for women."—Mrs. Martha Mahaster, 6 Albert St.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

The Scarecrow

By VICTOR REDCLIFFE

How poor they were, and what a hard time they had getting along; it was of this Nellie Deane was thinking as she counted over the contents of her little worn purse, and placed it hastily on the window sill, somewhat startled by a sharp cry from the rear yard. She recognised its accents as those of her little brother Phil. He had just reached the kitchen door step and had sunk to its support, white of face, his eyes dilating, his breath all but gone, and trembling all over.

"What is the matter," inquired Nellie solicitously.

"Chased!" came from between the bloodless lips.

"Why, what do you mean?" asked Nellie.

"Ghost spirits—it was awful! Shook a stick—yelled after me. Just as I was coming through the field."

"Who did?"

"It wasn't a who, it was a what!" blubbered Phil. "The old scarecrow."

"Come, come, Phil," rallied Nellie, "what nonsense is this?"

"It ain't nonsense. Guess you'd know if you had been there," protested Phil. "It's what I said, the old scarecrow. Don't I know the old coat and blue jeans trousers, and the straw hat. I saw it moving and ran, and it yelled and put after me—oh, oh!"

Just then Roscoe Deane came upon the scene and Phil repeated his extraordinary story. Roscoe placed a soothing hand on Phil's shoulder and urged him to his feet.

"Come ahead, Phil," he directed, "we'll go and investigate this scarecrow ghost of yours."

In about a quarter of an hour the duo reappeared. Roscoe smiling in his wonted pleasant way and Phil looking immensely relieved and reassured.

"What about the scarecrow?" asked Nellie.

"It's gone," replied Roscoe," at least all except the framework. Some tramp or rag picker probably has appropriated the old clothes. Hello, what's this new wrinkle?"

About to go into the house, Roscoe bent his ear. From over near an oak ridge there were shouts, then several shots rang out. The sounds died away quickly, however, and Roscoe ascribed them to some hunting party, returning jovial and late from their sport.

He and Nellie sat on the front porch after Phil had gone to bed, discussing their family affairs. They had been married two years and things had not gone as anticipated. The first year their crops had failed, the next they were induced to take on a large debt in securing a much needed tractor.

"What in the world is that?" suddenly cried Roscoe, springing to his feet.

A yell had echoed through the house. The next moment Phil arrayed in his night robe, his hair awry, his teeth chattering, dashed out upon the porch.

"The scarecrow—the ghost!" gulped Phil. "He looked in at the window of my room. Oh, I saw him! He's going to haunt me! Don't let him—o-ow!"

They managed to soothe Phil down to reasonable coherency, but he persisted in his story. Roscoe went all about the house and grounds, but discovered no trace of the alleged ghostly visitant.

It seemed that the stirring and unusual events of the night were not over yet, however. As Nellie lit the lamp in the sitting room, she uttered a sharp, dismayed cry that brought Roscoe to her side at once.

"Roscoe," she gasped—"my purse with the tax money and our little savings in it! I left it carelessly on the window sill and it is gone."

They traced out more than one mystery the next morning, when they learned that a term prisoner had escaped from the penitentiary, ten miles away, had been pursued by armed guards and had escaped. It was reasonable to conjecture that he had used the scarecrow clothes as a disguise, and had taken the money to help him in his further flight.

Three months later sadness and gloom overclouded the little home. Affairs had arrived at their worst. Claims for back rent and the tractor debt had brought about a climax, where the Deanes were to be sold out. It was a sorrowful home, this in which the struggling young couple saw their first possessions in the hands of the sheriff.

A plainly dressed man, a stranger, was the most active bidder and bought in all the auctioned property. The creditors' claims were satisfied, when they had departed the stranger approached Roscoe.

"I have come here for another," he explained, "in fact, I am a lawyer and acting for an unfortunate relative who escaped from prison a short time since, and, through appropriating some clothing and money of your place here, managed to reach friends, and later a foreign country. It seems that he overheard you discuss your difficulties, and was so grateful for the help you unwittingly brought to him, that he insisted on his wealthy father remembering you. I am authorized to return to you the property I have bought in, and to see that you are financed for the future."

So, through strange mediums, the worthy Roscoe and grateful Nellie were lifted from the gloom of misfortune into the sunlight of a new, hopeful career.

"Mother's Tender Flowers"

Watch the tongue of your young!

Children droop and wither if you permit constipation poison to be absorbed into their delicate systems.

Hurry! Give Cascarets to clean the little clogged-up liver and bowels. Children love harmless Cascarets because Cascarets taste like candy—only 10 cents a box! Grand!

When a child's tongue turns white, breath feverish, stomach sour, mothers can always depend upon safe old "Cascarets" to gently, yet thoroughly clean the little liver and bowels. Cascarets are just dandy for children. They taste like candy and no child need be coaxed to take them even when cross, bilious and sick. Each 10 cent box contains directions and dose for children aged one year old and upwards.

A Boy Tight-rope Walker.

It is told how Fred Stone practiced so hard tight-rope walking in the back yard, that next year, when the circus came, he was able to view it from the hole in the top of the tent, having walked thither up the guy-ropes. After a while the manager came out. "You'll break your neck up there, youngster," said he. "Pooh," said Fred's playmates, "he kin do smarter stunts'n anybody in your old show. So the manager asked Fred in, and then he offered him a job with the circus. And Fred's father let him go. But that was because his father was a snare-drummer. They make by far the best fathers.

Sudbury Thought of Its Unreadiness.

In transcribing the historic bulletin "the world war will come to an end," etc., the telegraph operator at Sudbury in his excitement omitted the word "war"—thereby precipitating consternation in a community the majority of whose residents are scarcely yet ready for the end of the world.

A Tragic End.

James Stevenson, assistant electrician at the Macfarlane Engine Works, Paris, who had just returned from two years' war service, was instantly killed during his first week at work, by a metal ladder he was carrying touching a high potential wire.

Can You Beat This?

The tall bookkeeper wound about three yards of lower limb around the leg of the table, and remarked as he gazed off into space: "I would like to know just what some people's idea of inconvenience is. For instance, the other day a small child belonging to one of our neighbors knocked at our back door. 'What can I do for you, little girl?' I asked. 'Well,' she said, 'my papa says he hopes it won't inconvenience you any, but he has sent our ice box down town to have a new lining put in, and he wants to know if you will lend us your refrigerator for three or four days until ours gets fixed.' Can you beat that?"

Milk Was the Cause of Baby's Strange Death

TORONTO, Jan. 30.— Its chubby fist still clutching tightly the sides of its miniature crib, and its little body contorted in its last agony of suffocation, a tiny baby, the infant son of Richard Wells King, of 439 Decarie Boulevard, was discovered dead by its father. Hardly believing the evidence of his own eyes—for the infant had gone to sleep in perfect health but a short time before—the frantic father sought for a reason, and found that the child had been choked to death by the milk which had been intended to give him life.

Early in the afternoon, the mite was put into the crib and given his bottle—just as thousands of children are every day.

Some time later, the father, approaching to see how the child was faring, was horrified to see it in a contorted position, with the nipple of the bottle firmly clenched in its mouth. The baby was dead, and the little body was taken to the morgue.

In commenting on the case yesterday morning, Coroner McMahon declared that it was one of the strangest cases he had ever encountered. It is thought that the milk from the bottle choked the child as it slept. After listening to the evidence in the case, Coroner McMahon returned a verdict of accidental death.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed with Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural colour is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Steamer's Officers Freed From Blame?

Report of the Northland Inquiry Report of the Northland Inquiry said to Criticize the Military Conducting System.

OTTAWA, January 29. — The report of Mr. Justice Hodgins on the Northland enquiry is in the hands of the government, and will be made public at an early date.

It is understood that, generally speaking, the report exonerates the ship's officers from blame in connection with the complaints, but passes certain strictures upon the military conducting systems, and the officers responsible, it being held that men returning are still on active service, and that fatigue duties on shipboard are quite as requisite for the purpose of cleaning quarters, etc., as they are on the field.

It is understood that the system of serving food comes in for criticism. As to crowding, it is said that the commission is of the opinion that had certain vacant accommodation in the second class quarters been utilized, the conditions would have been much ameliorated.

That stewards sold food is said to have been established by the evidence. In this connection it is suggested that a light bedtime lunch be served to those men who desire it.

That there was no actual shortage of food on board is said to have been established, the system being responsible for any individual going short. It is further stated that there was abundance of drinking water, but that at times when certain taps had to be turned off, the men apparently where not notified where to seek the available supply. Certain recommendations are made as to food serving, etc.

Interested in Strangers.

Many of the native customs mentioned by "Merrigal" as Samoan or Melanesian seem to be observed all over the western Pacific, the Sydney (Australia) Bulletin says. The extreme deference to the chiefs was practiced by the Maoris and Fijians particularly. In Papua the Trobriand natives are the only tribe with any regard for the claims of high descent. They never stand in a chief's presence, much less walk past him. The custom of placing a stone in a leaf on a path as a "no thoroughfare" sign is common in Papua.

A favorite trick there is to knot a vine or long grass across the tracks as a warning to go back. The north-eastern Papuan welcomes a visitor by feeling over and pinching the caller's arms and trunk, remarking at the same time what splendid condition he's in. Coming from a people who have been and are, when they get a chance, unblushing cannibals, this is rather disconcerting, however complimentary.

Creatures of Habit.

The Olean (N. Y.) Times headlines it this way: "Twins Born Seven Times in One Street." The news fills us with amazement and tempts us to philosophize. Amazement, because twins should like being born so well that they repeat the act seven times; to philosophize on the force of habit which makes them continually choose the same street as the scene of their natal encores. It seems to us that if we were twins with an incurable birth habit, we should desire a bit of variety. Having been born once in Olean, we should yearn for some different place for our next debut; we should try to be born in China, in France, in Salamanca, in Cattaraugus, in Indiana, at Aurora Pond.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

What Old Glory Means.

When you hang out the colors spare a minute to think of it—of the places it has been, of the things it means.

It has given new hope to the proud and to the poor everywhere in this world. It is the symbol and the achievement of the two noblest human attributes—strength and compassion. It springs from the enduring good that is in the heart of humanity. It stands for the liberation of all men.

And it can never fail, it can never be humbled, because that motive lies deep in every human consciousness, as permanent, as sure, as inevitable as tears or laughter or hope or faith in God.—Philadelphia Evening Public Ledger.

On a Raft.

All Fat People Should Know This

The world owes a debt of gratitude to the author of the now famous Marmola Prescription, and is still more indebted for the reduction of this harmless, effective obesity remedy to tablet form. Marmola Prescription Tablets can now be obtained at all drug stores, or by writing direct to Marmola Co., 864 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich., and their reasonable price (75 cents for a large case) leaves no excuse for dieting or violent exercise for the reduction of the overfat body to normal proportions.

STRIKE MAY DELAY CANADIANS' RETURN.

LONDON, Jan. 30. — Spreading labor troubles in Great Britain, it is feared, may delay the demobilization of Canadian troops and the return of their dependents. Owing to the strike of the stewards on one ship, it was found necessary to disembark the women and children at the last moment and find quarters for them in Liverpool hotels. No assurances are now given as to the dates of sailings.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are even just a little hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength) and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water, and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy, and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone losing hearing or who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

NEIGHBORS ALL TALKING ABOUT IT

Spivy Says Wife Does Work First Time in Twelve Years—Gains 28 Pounds.

"You ought to hear the way our neighbours are talking about Tanlac since my wife's recovery," said W. A. Spivey, motorman No. 95, for the Kansas City Metropolitan Street Railway and a valued employe of the company for twenty-three years. He and his wife and interesting family of children, live in their own home at 116 South Church street, Olathia, Kansas.

"Mrs. Spivy has been in poor health for fourteen years, he continued, 'and almost every month during that time she was under treatment of some sort, but she never got any relief that we could notice. She had no appetite and there were mighty few things she could eat and what little she did force down soured on her stomach and gas would form and make her so miserable that she would have to lie down for awhile. She almost always had an awful pain in the small of her back and she suffered from blinding headaches and sometimes she would be so dizzy she would have to put her hand on something steady like the back of her chair, to keep from falling. She suffered from nervousness so that some nights she could hardly sleep at all and she never did know what it was to get a good night's rest. She kept growing weaker and weaker and was so bad off that twice in the past six years she was given up to die. We thought we had tried everything to help her and didn't know what else to do when a lady friend of hers told about Tanlac. I bought the first bottle about three months ago and almost at once she began to show her strength was coming back, but the wonderful improvement has been in the past two months.

"She has a good appetite now, and can eat anything she wants like apples, cabbage, pies and meats, of any kind. Anyone of these things before she began to take Tanlac were just like poison to her. She doesn't suffer a bit from sour stomach or gas and she gets so much good from what she eats that she has gained twenty-eight pounds in the past two months. She is entirely rid of that pain in her back and the headaches are gone, too. Nobody could tell that anything has been the matter with her nerves they are so quiet now, and she sleeps about nine hours every night. She has gotten so strong that she is doing all the housework for our family of six and doesn't mind it a bit, and it is the first time in twelve years that she has been able to do any work at all. She is more like she used to be fifteen years ago than I ever hoped to see her and I feel just like everybody else that knows of her improvement that Tanlac is the best medicine ever made."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co. Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

Marked Decrease In Attendance

ation. The number of such pupils is practically the same as 12 years ago. The decrease may have arisen because some teachers are not in sympathy with Fifth class work in their school or, because pupils are sent to some High School Centre, or because an increasing number of pupils drop school at the end of the fourth book. In any case the condition is not desirable. There should be in every considerable Rural area a school capable of affording to the young people of the community an education equal in every respect to that of the first three forms of our High Schools with a course of study calculated to attract the students to Rural life. Prominent in such a course should be agriculture.

Lessons In Agriculture

For some years the Department of Education, co-operating with the Department of Agriculture has made provision for the teaching of Elementary Agriculture in the Public and Separate Schools. As inducements the Department pays the School Boards all expense connected with the teaching of Agriculture up to a limit of $30.00 annually and to teachers a substantial grant amounting to $50.00 to fully qualified teachers. At the present time I have six schools doing Agricultural work and a seventh making a beginning at Easter. As to the value of such teaching there is no doubt and I hope to see the number of schools teaching Agriculture rapidly increase.

School Sanitation and School Hygiene

During the past five years five new school buildings have been erected. These are, in the main, modern building and meet the requirements of good school sanitation. Of the older buildings about half have installed ventilation systems which, with the exercise by the teacher of ordinary intelligence, give very satisfactory results so far as heating and ventilation are concerned. The very small enrolment in some schools and the very poor quality of the building in other cases together with the enormous increase in expense since the opening of the war, and other considerations I have not been urging for some time the erection of new schools or extensive improvements in the way of repair to old ones.

Dental Inspection Needed

During the past year a few boards have shown a most commendable spirit in renovating their schools thus improving the sanitation. In one respect, however, nothing has ever been done in either Urban or Rural Schools. No advantage has been taken of the permissive legislation regarding medical and dental inspection of schools. That these are very legitimate and very necessary phases of school work there is no doubt. Recent medical teaching attributes many of the physical ills of both children and adults to diseased conditions of the teeth. Of this I am not competent to speak. But no knowledge of either medicine or dental surgery is required to be assured that very many pupils are seriously retarded in their progress at school by physical ailments which efforts have been made to relieve. I suppose that there is scarcely a school which does not afford cases of the kind. Common humanity would suggest that this very important matter be taken up by the proper authorities and both medical and dental inspection introduced systematically with a view to better educational results.

The person who desires to do so may interpret this report as a pessimistic screed—as a presentation of the darker aspect of our school conditions. It is certainly meant as an honest attempt to present things as they are. That our Rural schools are giving the Rural communities the services they should and would, under different organization give; that the Rural child is getting as efficient an education as that afforded to the city child; that school sentiment and school progress are advancing in Rural as in Urban communities no one will for a moment claim. I hope to see a speedy remedy of Rural conditions; and I believe that the remedy lies in the direction of Rural consolidated schools.

CURED OF DYSPEPSIA BY USING BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

The symptoms of dyspepsia are so numerous and diversified in different individuals that probably no description could exactly represent them as they occur in any given case, but a few of the most prominent are a rising and souring of food, pain, flatulence and distention of the abdomen, a sensation of discomfort after every meal, which is sometimes followed by sickness and vomiting.

To get rid of dyspepsia a careful arrangement of the diet is necessary and due time must be given for the digestion of the meal.

You will find that Burdock Blood Bitters will help with this digestion. It does this by toning up the stomach in such a way that the dyspepsia soon disappears.

Mr. Robt. Baldwin, Winnifred, Alta., writes:—"I cannot speak too highly of Burdock Blood Bitters for curing dyspepsia, of which I have been a sufferer for years. I have tried a good many doctors and proprietary medicines, so one day I thought I would try something different. I got a bottle of B. B. B. from our local store, as it was about the only remedy he kept, and I can certainly say that I was more than pleased with the results, as I got better right away. I will always recommend it to other sufferers."

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigour and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are usually due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and sold by McDermid & Jury in Peterboro and most all druggists under a guarantee of entire satisfaction or your money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate quickly produces a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, soon disappear, dull eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION:— Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

Mr. James Prouse, cattle dealer, Shaho, Sask., writes: "For about ten years I suffered from kidney disease; at times I was bad with backache, and derangements of the digestive organs. All I need say is that I feel well now and attribute this condition to the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

It Requires Steady Hands to Keep the Sparks From Dropping Into Powder Keg

"Italy Will Face New Conspiracy With Grenade in Each Hand and a Knife Between Her Teeth"—Protecting the Peace Babe.

INTERESTS CLASH

(By William Philip Simms.)
(United Press Service.)

PARIS, Jan. 31.—Difficulties were piling up as the Peace Bureau continued its sessions to-day. With national interests clashing on all sides, only level heads and steady hands were preventing a spark from dropping into the powder keg on which the world is sitting. At least this seemed to be the general opinion here, as reports were received of new elements cropping out in the disturbances, social or political, which are growing throughout the world.

The Serbians were still bitterly wrangling with the Italians.. regarding control of the Eastern Adiatic ports.

The Montenegrins continued to oppose forcible inclusion in the new Jugo-Slav nation.

Czechs and Poles were still fighting over Silesia although adjustment of this affair appeared imminent.

Austria and Roumania were at swords points concerning possession of Transylvania.

Germany and Poland were mobilising against each other.

Ukrainia was fighting the Bolsheviki.

China and Japan both wanted the formeg German colony of Kiau-Chau.

ITALY'S DEMANDS.

Despite the fact the majority of the delegates are proceeding on the promise that the acceptance of President Wilson's fourteen points had nullified the secret treaties concedes Damascus to the New Hedjaz nation. Another—the most serious—awards Italy the eastern coast of the Adriatic, in opposition to Jugo-Slav aspirations. Italy further demands certain concessions in Africa, to balance British and Belgian possessions there.

"FRENCH ARE DRUNK."

The acceptance of the American programme for referring these territorial disputes to the League of Nations, apparently should end all this bickering, but the bitternesses engendered still persisted. Some idea of the acutement of Italian feeling on the subject can be gained from the poet, Captain Gabriele D'Annunzio, until recently the Allies' strongest advocate in Italy. He declared:

"That the French are drunk on victory and are trying to get ahead of everybody."

"That the Americans are trying to hide under a cloak of idealism the fact that they just concluded the biggest piece of business in history."

"That the British barely finished the bloody war when they opened their jaws to swallow everything they could, while Italy is drawing in her belt a notch tighter."

"What sort of peace will be finally forced upon us, a Gallic peace; a Brittanic peace! a Star Spangled peace?" he asked. "No, never; victorious Italy, for Italy was more victorious than any other nation, will have on the Alps and on sea, the Adriatic, a Roman peace worthy of her. If necessary, we will face the new conspiracy in ardent fashion, with a grenade in each hand, and a knife between our teeth."

Annunzio's dazzling oratory was credited largely with forcing Italy into the war on the side of the Allies.

In view of all this belligerent spirit that is now rampant, it was pointed out in certain official quarters to-day that the League of Nations is now indispensible as an armour plated incubator for the new born peace babe; over whose head the new nations, and some old ones, are carelessly juggling battle axes.

Nat C. Goodwin Died This Morning

Famous Actor Had Only Been Ill a Few Days.

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Nat C. Goodwin, famous actor, died at his apartments in the Hotel Claridge here early to-day from a complication of diseases. He had been ill only a few days.

Death resulted, physicians said, from a general breakdown which came after an operation to which his right eye was removed about a year ago.

Goodwin was famous as divorcee. He was five times married, his first wife died. The others were divorced. He was about to take his sixth wife, Georgia Gardner, of Los Angeles, California.

RESTRICTIONS STILL REMAIN ON COAL.

The Board of Fuel Commissioners wish to remind the public that so far no change has been made in the law that no one can receive more than seventy per cent. of the normal requirement of coal for the winter. This is a Dominion law which cannot be changed by the Board. With the weather we are having every home should get through the winter without requiring more than seventy per cent., but if any householder is afraid of his supply running out it would be well to purchase a ton or two of buckwheat coal to mix with the supply on hand. There is no destriction on buckwheat coal.

Announces Restrictions

Italy Has Placed Embargo on Leather and Shoes.

(United Press Service.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Following Great Britain's lead in barring certain American manufacturers from import, the High Commissioner for Italy has announced restrictions upon the importation of leather and shoes into Italy, the War Trade Board said to-day.

"Imports of leather of any kind of shoes from any foreign country and for account of private concerns," are prohibited by the order. It is also announced that no authorization for the transportation of leather and shoes from a country of origin will be given.

THIRD STRAIGHT VICTORY CLAIMED FOR AMERICA

"Satisfactory Provisional Agreements" Have Been Reached Regarding the German Colonies.

FEW SCARS LEFT

(United Press Service.)
(By Fred S. Ferguson.)

PARIS, Jan. 31.—American diplomacy to-day had won its third straight victory in the Peace Conference over reactionary opposition.

Official announcement that "satisfactory provisional agreements" had been reached regarding the disposition of German colonies, and occupied territories in Turkey and Asia means that the Associated Powers have accepted President Wilson's programme for placing all disputed areas under administration of the League of Nations, with interested powers acting as trustees. It was American pressure that swung the Allies into line on the Russian proposal, and American influence that resulted in the unanimous adoption of the League of Nations principle after some of the European nations had fought for the retention of the old "balance of power."

Not Without Scars.

The victory was not without its scars, however, if the attitude of the Australian delegates following the unfavourable decision regarding their colonial claims, is a criterion. It was no secret to-day that the Australians while admitting that Wilson was working only for the realization of a vital principle felt that the United States had failed to distinguish between measures that were essential to Australia's national safety and petty territorial ambition.

Economic Claims.

The President during the course of a long conversation with Premier Hughes yesterday, reiterated that America appreciated Australia's economic and political claims regarding the former German colonies. Yet the President failed to concede an inch of ground on the main issue.

Referring to this conversation, one Australian delegate said: "I am convinced that if ours was the only case, President Wilson would have been with us."

The far-reaching effect of the decision regarding Australia's specific claims may be judged by a statement Foreign Minister Sonnino, of Italy, made to Premier Hughes, following the latter's presentation of Australia's case.

"You have stated our case regarding Dalmatia exactly," said Sonnino.

THE STRIKE SITUATION

Bolshevistic Element in Great Britain Believe Workers Should Own the Industries in Which They Labour.

STRIKE MAY SUCCEED

(United Press.)

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The Bolshevistic element, alleged to be responsible for the present general strikes in Great Britain and Ireland, may succeed in completely overthrowing the present labour system, British Labour Party officials declared to-day. They also expressed the fear that labour's share in national politics might be revolutionized.

"We believe the "shop steward" system, which is similar to the Soviets, is beginning to dominate labour, and may succeed in regularly elected Union and Labour Party officials," Dr. Marion Phillips, a Labour Party official told the United Press.

Own Industries.

"Many of the "shop stewards" and their followers engaged in the present strikes, believe the workers should own the industries in which they labour. There is a strong possibility that the "shop steward" system eventually will be infused into the present National Labour organisation. Whether it will finally be incorporated in, or will entirely supplant the present system, we do not know.

"The "shop stewards" represent all the workers in each individual plant, while the present Union leaders represent specific trades in plants throughout the nation. As a result the "shop stewards" believe they more fully represent their fellow workers than do the regular Union officials."

Power Usurped.

Canadian Press:

LONDON, Jan. 31. — The Government will "make arrangements to protect lives and property and to preserve order," says the Mail in the course of a discussion of the strike at Clyde. "Unconstitutional threats" have been made by strikers.

Telegrams from Belfast depict the situation there which seems akin to that which recently obtained in German cities under revolutionary rule. Governing power has been usurped, says a Belfast despatch to the Mail, by the strike committee, and the city is governed, not from the city hall, but from a humble artisan's hall, where the committee sits.

Six-Hour Day.

(Special to The Examiner.)

GLASGOW, Jan. 31.—Several persons were injured to-day in clashes between striking ship workers and the police. Batons were freely used when the police charged into the crowds. The disturbances grew until mounted policemen were called and restored order. Many arrests were made.

Four thousand miners in the West Lothian district, northwest of Edinburgh, went on strike to-day for higher wages, a six-hour day, and a five-day week.

Several persons were injured today when police charged a crowd of strikers with their batons. Mounted police were called out and a number of arrests were made.

Critical Stage.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDIN, Jan. 31.—A critical stage of the strike on the Clyde was expected to be reached to-day as a result of a meeting of the strikers to receive the Government's answer to a telegram sent by the Lord Provost transmitting the request of the strikers for the Government to intervene to secure for them a forty-hour week. London despatches last night said the Government had sent a reply to the Provost declining to intervene. The people of Glasgow are just beginning to realize the gravity of the situation, and the danger of the city's drifting into the same conditions that prevail at Belfast.

The power of the Glasgow strike committee appears to be increasing, and it is now exercising complete authority over the electrical department of the city.

The Crisis Over Germany's Colonies Appears to Have Passed Over for the Present

TROOPS IN FRANCE IN NOVEMBER LAST

(United Press Service.)

LONDIN, Jan. 31. — (British Admiralty Wireless) — Figures issued by the American army command regarding the comparative strength of the British and American forces in France at the time the armistice was signed need some amplification. These figures showed that at that time there were 1,700f000 British troops in France and $1,000,000 American troops. The British figures include all their fighting men in France, but the American figures include not only their fighting strength, but all troops in training and auxiliary services. British reserves, of course, were being trained in this country, and not in France.

Who Beat the Austrians?

Tempest in a Teapot Has Arisen Between the Serbs and the Italians.

(United Press.)

PARIS, Jan. 31.— The proverbial tempest in a teapot has arisen here to-day between the Serbs and the Italians over who beat the Austrians, and as to whom the Austro-Hungarian fleet belongs.

Italians claimed that Serbian "intellectuals" addressed a manifesto to French politicians and others, charging the Italians with persecuting Jugo-Slavs in occupied territories, forbidding wearing of the Jugo-Slav cockade, etc., declaring the Austrian defeat on the Piave, and the resultant collapse of the empire was due principally to the Jugo-Slav revolution, and claiming the Austrian navy became it was largely built, paid and manned by Jugo-Slavs, who revolted and seized it.

Counter Manifesto.

The Italian Bureau of Propaganda here issued a counter manifesto. It declared that the charges of persecution are based solely upon the arrest of a priest named Bimasini, a notorious "Austrophile." The cockades, which at first were authorized, were later banned because they provoked disorders and made it possible for enemies of Italy to circulate freely through the occupied territories, as did the Austrian ace, Bienfeld, according to the counter manifesto. Bienfeld, who led many night bombing raids on Venice, was able to walk through the streets of Trieste because he wore a Jugo-Slav cockade, it was charged.

The counter manifesto continues with the statement that the downfall of the Austrian empire was due to the military efforts of Italy, Serbia and Russia, the allied hunger blockade, and finally to the Italian victory on the Piave.

SOLDIERS' RETURNING

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

OTTAWA, Jan. 31.—Fifty thousand returning soldiers and civilians have been brought to this country and distributed to their home points by Canadian railways, in two months, since the general movement homeward from overseas began. The Militia Department had estimated the movement of twenty thousand per month. The troopship Baltic left England January 29, and will probably dock in Halifax about next Friday. She carries 2,191 returning men including one thousand from Ontario points. The Government has issued a statement pointing out the difficulties of transportation. Several steamers promised for Canadians were diverted to Australians, Americans and other overseas men returning.

TURN OVER GERMAN RAILROADS TO CENTRAL GOVERNMENT.

German Government will Raise a Loan in Switzerland.

(Special to Examiner.)

ZURICH, January 31. — A proposition to turn over all the German railways to the Central Government, with proper indemnification for the confederated states is being discussed by delegates to the National Council in Weimar, which will open next week according to despatches received here.

Reports were received that Edward Bernstein, the noted German Socialist writer, is coming to Switzerland, for the purpose of raising a loan for the German government.

The Supreme Council Meets To-day for a Further Discussion—A Compromise Plan.

THE NET RESULT

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

PARIS, Jan. 31. — The crisis in peace negotiations over the disposition to be made of Germany's colonies seems to have passed momentarily at least.

It is too early to say that President Wilson's view has prevailed in its entirety, but in American quarters there is confidence that a compromise plan which has been accepted in principle, will be worked out with details which wil be acceptable to the American viewpoint.

When the Supreme Council of the Peace Conference meets to-day it will have before it a very plain statement made by President Wilson at Wednesday's late session.

What he said did not appear in the official communique, nor has it been disclosed with any official authority, but it may be stated that it was very clear re-affirmation of principles for which the President has previously contended.

In phrases stripped of diplomatic niceties, it is understood, Wilson told the members of the Supreme Council he would not be a party to a division of Germany's colonial possessions among the powers which now hold them, and then become a party to the League of Nations, which, in effect, would guarantee their title. There are inferences that the President even referred to a peace of "loot."

The net result of the past two days of the discussion on the colonial question in the opinion of many Americans here, has been to clear the atmosphere generally and to force a clear definition of the aims on alal sides.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 31ST, 1919.

WHAT ABOUT IMMIGRATION?

The announced intention of the United States to absolutely forbid immigration for a period of four years presents a problem that the Dominion Government will have to grapple with at once. With the United States closed against them the thousands of Europeans who will in the next year or two want to escape from their own war-striken countries and try their fortune in the new world will seek entrance into Canada. Is this country going to throw open its doors and take in anybody who wants to come regardless of nationality? Or is Canada to follow the example of the United States and bar foreigners from admission into the Dominion until such times as normal conditions have been restored? Or will the middle course be adopted of exercising a sufficient and adequate investigation of all immigrants, rejecting all those of whose ability or willingness to become useful citizens there is any doubt? The problem is a serious one and would indeed have proved such even if the United States did not adopt the drastic measure that has been announced. The action of the neighbourly republic has however complicated the situation and provided the Dominion Government with a problem that will require long and earnest consideration.

THE ALIEN SITUATION

While it is true that the proportion of foreigners in Peterboro is small compared to that existing in other industrial centres yet this city is not without its alien problem and in view of the unemployment crisis, there is danger of a situation developing here that may be troublesome. This is not said in any desire to be sensational but conditions such as caused the recent outbreak by returned soldiers in Winnipeg cannot be allowed to exist here without results that would be unpleasant. A letter written by a returned soldier, a veteran of the first contingent which appears in to-day's issue shows the way the wind is blowing and officials of the Great War Veterans Association are inclined to view the situation with apprehension. There are already scores of returned soldiers in Peterboro who are without employment. The complaint is made that in some plants returned soldiers have been laid off and foreigners retained. If these charges are not true they should be officially denied because their circulation among returned soldiers is creating strong feeling of resentment. The men who have been overseas during the days when maximum wages were paid for all classes of work and when there was no such thing as being unable to find employment are inclined to feel that the aliens, who remained at work and reaped the benefit of the extraordinary conditions, while Canadians were helping to save the world from Prussian militrism, should not be kept at work in Canadian factories while returned soldiers walk the streets. It is so clearly the duty of employers to give the preference to returned soldiers that the Examiner hesitates to believe that in Peterboro foreigner workmen are able to find positions while the men who threw up everything to enlist are unable to get their names on the pay roll.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION

The action of the Peterboro branch of the Great War Veterans Association in taking up with Hon. Dr. Cody, minister of Education for Ontario, the matter of a technical schaal for Peterboro, has brought forth some interesting information from the minister inasmuch as Dr. Cody announces that in all probability, the Dominion Government will at its next session make a gratit to assist the development of technical education in the provinces.

"I am very glad indeed to receive your letter of the 21st in regard to the proposal of having a technical school in the city of Peterboro." writes Dr. Cody. "The matter of establishing such a school has already been brought before our department and is receiving careful consideration Under the present law the Board of Education may proceed at once to the erection of such a school. The Provincial Department of Education provides the equipment and a large share of the salaries of the teachers and a yearly accommodation grant. This method of assisting technical schools may be modified in the direction of still further help to the municipalities if the Dominion Government make a grant to the different provinces in aid of technical education. This they have unofficially promised to do but in all probability at the approaching session at Ottawa such a grant will be made. As soon as the amount is determined we shall be able to adjust our help from the province. Thus in all probability both the Dominion and the municipality will have a share in the erection of such technical school. Our inspector of Technical Education, Dr. Merchant, is already in touch with the Peterboro Board and is prepared to assist them in every possible way. This Government is prepared to develop technical education to the limit of its ability but the exact method and the amount of help cannot be definitely decided until the policy of the Dominion is made known. I feel sure that Peterboro will have in the not distant future a satisfactory technical and industrial school. The strong attitude of the Great War Veterans Association in regard to technical education is most gratifying both to the Government and to all who are engaged in prompting this great work."

Dr. Cody's letter will be welcomed by the many Peterboro people who are interested in the subject of technical education. Financial assistance from the Dominion such as is indicated by the Ontario Minister of Education should do much to facilate the establishing of a technical school here and the Board of Education, War Veterans and other bodies should urge upon the Federal members from this district that they support the measure when it is introduced before the Dominion Parliament.

THE DOMINION BANK

When a bank receives a charter from the Dominion Government authorizing it to do business in Canada it embarks upon a two-fold mission. One is to earn dividends for those who, by investing their money in the interprise, become shareholders—the other is to serve the public. It is significant in respect to the latter that the chartered banks of Canada are not only rendering an increasing measure of service but for an increasing proportion of it they recieve no direct remuneration. This must be patent to everyone who will for a moment stop to consider banking methods as carried on in Canada to-day.

One of the banks that is fulfilling well its two- fold mission is The Dominion Bank of which Mr. John Caine, is the local manager. A perusal of the report submitted to the shareholders at the annual meeting on Wednesday, 29th January ,makes this quite clear. Thanks to the efficiency with which the business of the institution is conducted it has increased in value to its shareholders and in the measure of its usefulness to the public.

Judged from every standpoint 1918 has been a progressive year for the bank. Net profits, through an increase of $81,435, amounted to $1,-086,498. From these profits the directors were able to return $720,000. to the shareholders in the form of dividends at the rate of 12 per cent. which, based on the present market value of the stock on the Exchange, means a yield of about 5.53 per cent. Besides the amount entailed in dividends payments $38,000. was contributed to patriotic and benevolent funds, $25,000 to officers' pension fund and $25,000., an increase of $50,000. over the previous year was written off bank premises. The balance, $446,-500,. or $53,000, in excess of 1917, was carried forward to profit and loss account.

In respect to assets the report also shows a decided increase. This is particularly true of those coming under the classification of Immediately Available Assets which increased $5,800,000. and now amount to $63,-500,000., or sufficient to meet 53 per cent. of the Bank's liabilities to the public. The cash assets alone are equal to 23.80 per cent of the liabilities to the public, having increased by $1,160,000. to $28,498,000. Total assets stand at $133,500,000., there having been an expansion during the year of $24,000,000.

A gratifying feature in connection with the bank's deposits indicating as it does the prosperous condition of the Country as well as an advantage to the bank, is the fact that the sum of money on deposit not bearing interest, being the surplus cash of its industrial and financial customers, increased by $18,626,000. during the year, the amount on December 31 standing at $33,843,000. The deposits bearing interest, namely $62,264,000. were less than at the close of the previous year by $4,400,000.,—the cause is of course directly traceable to withdrawals made for the purchase of Victory Bonds. Taking deposits as a whole, there was a net augmentation to the extent of $14,100,000., the total being $96,107,000.

Commercial loans, representing funds advanced for the business necessities of the Country, increased by $18,500,000., the total amount at the end of the year standing at $64,100,-000. In notes in circulation there was a gain of $400000., a further evidence of the business expansion of the Bank.

ARMIES OF OCCUPATION

When the United States entered the war an obligation was assumed to play the game to the end, to use a homely phrase. No patriotic American would have it otherwise. After victory was won in the field it would become necessary to enforce the armistice terms, and later to make sure that the peace conditions were not evaded by the forces which the enemy still had at his disposal and within call. Until he proved his good faith by his works it would not be the part of wisdom to withdraw all the allied troops from his territory.

Germny is the enemy to be watched and suspected, and, judged by her "bad eminence" in the war until her armies were outfought and beaten, she cannot be trusted now. This should be clear to thoughtful Americans, and pride in their army should restrain them from demanding that every unit be brought home without regard to the performance of a manifest duty. A day or two ago Representative Garland of Pennsylvania introduced a resolution providing for "the return of the soldiers by every "transportation facility that can be "made available." In his remarks upon the resolution Mr. Garland said: "There is nothing around them but "rain and tombstones and ruin. "There are plenty of French and "British there to police the country." It may be unpleasant for American units to remain "over there" and help to wind up the war, but perhaps it is even less congenial to the French and British, who had more than four years of it. If we took a hand in the struggle solely to save them, Mr. Garland's resolution might have the color of reason, but there was a good deal of self-interest in our participation. Then we should shirk none of the consequences. Of course, we shall do nothing of the kind. Allies once, allies to the end of the ordeal!

Most of the troops will be brought home, those remaining to share the vigil of our allies will obey orders like the good soldiers they are. Otherwise one might despair of the loyalty and steadiness of a democratic army. In a few days, or very soon, the Peace Conference will probably report upon this subject. Anticipating the views of its own Commissioners, Sir Douglas Haig, Sir Eric Geddes, and General Monty H. Wilson, about the British contribution, the British War Office has issued a preliminary statement about the responsibility of the Government. It says:

"The task to be undertaken is the formation and maintenance of armies of occupation of moderate size, compared with what we now have, but of the highest discipline and efficiency, which will discharge our duty and safeguard British interests during the period which must elapse before the ordinary peace-time volunteer army can be created. The pay of the armies must be substantially advanced, while the present armies will continue to be demobilized as quickly as possible.

In another paragraph, it is stated that "the United States, rance, and "Italy will act with her (Great Brit-"ain) in maintaining the common in-"terests and securing the advantages "gained together." This policy has, of course, been decided on by the Governments of the Allies. It may be supposed that the American force will consist in part of regulars who enlisted before the United States entered the war and whose terms will not soon expire. In the selection of additions to this nucleus the War Department is likely to turn to units that have never been on the firing line and suffered casualities in battle. If Great Britain can increase the pay of her soldiers in the army of occupation the United States can afford to do the same. It should not be difficult to fill the ranks wih officers and men willing to serve for the "emergency" contemplated by theSelective Service Act.—New York Times.

Fair Directors Are Grateful to Police

Commenting upon High County Constable Moore's statement to the County Council yesterday that the city police had taken over the patrol of Exhibition grounds during annual Fair, directors of the Exhibition said this morning that they were indebted to Chief Thompson's department for the efficiency with which this work was performed. They had found that one policeman in uniform had more effect than six special constables in plain clothes. The city's police had given the Fair Board a service that was greatly appreciated. They had not made any charge for their work, but were assisting both the county and city in the efforts of establishing an indusrial and agricultural exhibition that was steadily progressing. The directors stated that they hoped the time would not be far distant when the Board would be in a position to pay Chief Thompson's men for the policing of the fair grounds, and of properly remunerating them for work they have been doing with no other reward than the Board's gratitude.

Genuine Ford Parts

cost less than the imitation

Genuine Ford parts are sold everywhere at prices fixed by the Ford Company.

The same prices are usually charged for imitation or "spurious" repair parts.

Yet "spurious" parts are, as a rule, made from low grade steel. They are not produced under rigid Ford inspection. They are inferior in quality and workmanship.

Then when you buy "spurious" parts, you do not get the same value for your money.

But that is not the only loss to Ford owners.

It costs more to repair with the imitation parts. They are not made to fit with the fine accuracy of the genuine parts made in the Ford plant. It takes more hours of labor at a high rate per hour to fit "spurious" parts into the car.

Repairs with the imitation parts must, in most cases, cost more than authorized Ford Service with genuine Ford parts.

You pay more for the imitation without getting the satisfaction that you know you will get from the genuine. You incur the risk of damage to other parts of your car from the inferior repairs. You weaken your Ford. You invite repeated trouble and expense.

There is no need now to accept anything but the genuine Ford parts.

SERVANTS AID MRS. NIMICK IN DIVORCE TRIAL

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Servants in the country home of Alexander K. Nimick, relative of Andrew Carnegie and heir to $1,000,000 from his mother, widow of a Pittsburg, Pa., steel span, so impressed Justice Pendleton, in Supreme Court with stories of what happened in the Rye, N. Y., household while Mrs. Nellie Pearson Nimick, his wife, was in a hospital, that the jurist intimated he would award a decree of divorce without further testimony.

Mrs. Nimick was in court with her counsel, George L. Ingraham, and witnesses. She was first called to the stand and told of her marriage seven years ago. Following the ceremony she and her husband made a trip abroad before establishing their home at Rye.

She said that on September 15, 1918, her son, Coleman Pearson Nimick, was born in a hospital, and when she returned home the servants mentioned the presence of a young woman who had been introduced during her absence. This discovery led to an immediate separation, said Mrs. Nimick.

While her husband did not appear, he was represented by J. Larkin, attorney, whose presence was a technical denial by the husband. The lawyer asked the witnesses questions, but made no effort to controvert the testimony.

The principal witness was Catherine Fanning, maid at the Rye home, who testified that in September, Mr. Nimick appeared with a young woman. She was uncertain whether her employer's companion was Miss Beatrice Dorothy Arnold, mentioned in the complaint.

Rodney Ellison, chauffeur for Mr. Nimick told of meeting Miss Arnold. He said he drove Mr. Nimick and Miss Arnold from the Marie Antoinette Hotel to Rye, last September. When the Nimicks separated, the chauffeur said the defendant and Miss Arnold stayed at the Marie Antoinette.

Testimony corroborating this phase was given by John Gleason, clerk at the hotel, who said he was of the impression that Mr. Nimick and his wife were occupying the suite until subsequent events proved otherwise. Mr. Nimick and the young woman then left the hotel, he said.

Justice Pendleton agreed with Mrs. Nimick's attorney that sufficient proof had been introduced to warrant a divorce decree. He reserved decision.

On the question of alimony, testimony showed Mr. Nimick's mother, Mrs. Florence N. C. Nimick, who died at Bay Shore, L.I., on July 25, 1916, left a large estate to him.

$10,000 FOR THE GREAT WAR VETERANS

Finance Committee of the City Council Met Last Evening.

A deputation from the local branch of the Great War Veterans Association, consisting of the President, Mr. A .S. Morrison, Mr. Sidney Whatley, Secretary and Mr. R. E. Layfield waited on the Finance Committee last night and asked for a grant of $10,000 towards procuring new quarters for the Association. Moved by Ald. Edgar and seconded by Ald. McIntyre that the grant be made.—Carried.

Red Shield Drive

Another deputation in the interests of the Salvation Army Red Shield Drive also asked for a grant $1,500. Aldermen Turner and Morrison moved and seconded that this be granted and it was carried. The deputation was Mr. Joseph Wearing, Adj. Buntin and Mr. G. N. Gordon.

Increase in Rate

The Peterboro Protestant Home asked that $3.50 a week be paid for its inmates instead of $2.50 as formerly.

Alderman Turner moved that the request be granted and dating from January 1st. Ald. Edgar seconded it and it was carried.

Sergeant Eldred Welcomed Back to St. John's Choir

Sergt. Douglas Eldred was warmly welcomed back to St. John's choir after the practice last night, after four years' absence on active service in France and Flanders. A social time was spent in singing, and enjoying also light refreshments. The choristers sang "He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and meant it, and Sergt. Eldred who was compelled to "speech," said how glad he was to be back from the war ,and to be singing among his old friends again.

The singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and God Save the King terminated a pleasant event. During the four years of war, thirty members of St. John's Choir donned the khaki, and Sergt. Eldred is only the third member returned up to date.

HIS KINDNESS TO 150 WAR ORPHANS WINS HIM A BRIDE

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—No knight of olden days ever was put to sterner test to win his ladye fayre than James N. Doukas, of this city, and no knight ever was prouder than Doukas when having proved himself worthy in the eyes of the lady, he received his reward and married her.

Doukas and his brother John came from Greece several years ago to seek their fortunes in America. They were successful and are to-day prosperous merchants in avenue B. There also came from Greece Miss Vasiliki Anagnostakon, whom Doukas courted. But Miss Vasiliki happens to be a young woman with ideas of her own and she promised her hand to Doukas on a condition. Back in Frengra, in the provinces of Zaracos, whence she and Doukas had come, is a band of 150 children left orphans by the wars and plagues of the last decade. Vasiliki's dream had been to do something for these little townspeople of hers, and that was the task she set her courtier.

Society Found

"If in a year you can find a means of caring for these little ones I will marry you," she told him. Doukas lost no time .There are about forty Greeks in the neighborhood who hail from Zaracos, and these are all friends of Doukas. They hastened to his help, and exactly a year ago last night they formed the Society of the Prophet Elias. Its mission is to care for the orphans of Frengra. And the curious part of it is that not only Doukas' Greek friends, but his Jewish neighbors showed what they thought of him by rallying to the cause. The orphans of Frengra soon felt the good results of the mission their benefactress had intrusted to her knight.

And in celebration of the wedding Doukas' brother, John, sent the orphans one thousand boxes of candy and the society sent supplies for the starting of a school. They included five thousand books, many gross of pencils and paper. And the $2,000 that came to John and Vasiliki as wedding presents will go to the support of the beloved orphans.

Wedding Feast

The assembly hall in the Mansion, at No. 57 St. Mark's place, was crowded with three hundred friends of the couple, when Bishop Alexander Rodostolon, of the Orthodox Greek Church blessed their marriage. With all the gayety and emotion of their race, they celebrated the outcome of a true romance. And significant, too, was the tune chosen for the wedding march. Not to the [illegible] "Here Comes the Bride" did Doukas and his lady enter the hall, but to the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner." And Old Glory itself was carried at the head of the procession by a real doughboy, while at its side was the flag of Greece in the hands of a skirted Greek soldier. Nathan Rosebaum was the master of ceremonies.

The Bishop, clad in black headdress and cassock, with his golden crozier and heavy golden chain, conducted the ceremony, which occupied nearly an hour. He was assisted by the Rev. Methodeus Kourkoulis and Deacon Christ Angelo Baldis. First the Bishop blessed the flags and the silk embroidered banner which Doukas' brother had made for the Society of the Prophet Elias in honor of the marriage. The marriage ceremony was then performed.

Incidentally, the Greek flag was a gift to the troupe from their Jewish friends, who formed a good proportion of the guests. Then, under a rain of candy, the bride and bridegroom descended to the banquet hall and the forty-eight hour celebration began with the marriage feast.

W[illegible]er Not Hurting Crops

While the spring-like weather of the last couple of weeks has caused a widespread desire on the part of many people to doff heavy winter overcoats, and while there have been reports of pansies blooming, tulips pushing their heads through the ground and maple trees showing tips of green, officials of the Department of Agriculture in Toronto said they had no reason to believe the farm crops would be damaged by the prolonged January thaw.

"The fall wheat in the Province looks just splendid," said Mr. George S. Henry, Minister of Agriculture. "While the snow is practically all gone, and the weather is mild during the day time, the nights are cold and, in consequence, there has not been sufficient growth to do any harm. A good frost and snow, of course, would be the best thing for the wheat." The Minister said that his department had received no reports from District Representatives indicating that any loss had resulted.

Mr. Henry believed that greater inconvenience was resulting to the lumberman than anyone else as a result of the mild weather. There have been many complaints, he said, because, while there is sufficient snow to get out the logs, the bush is not sufficiently hard to prevent the horses breaking through.

Branch of the Independent Labour Party Formed Here

Provisional Officers Elected Last Night at Organization Meeting in Labour Hall—Attendance Was Encouraging—Action Demanded of Government.

MR. McARTHUR PRESIDENT

Local dissatisfaction with the old political parties and the hermaphrodite Union Government found expression last night in the organization of a branch of the Independent Labour party at a meeting in the Trades and Labour Hall. About seventy-five men gathered to give the movement its first impetus and nearly all of them remained to pay the membership fee of one dollar a year, thereby evidencing the sincerity of their interest. Organized and unorganized Labour was represented, as was also the Trades and Labour Council, although some of its prominent members were absent.

Mr. Peter McArthur was appointed chairman, and with him on the platform were J. A. McClelland, of Montreal, Canadian Vice-President of the International Association of Machinists; T. H. Lane, J. Arthur Sharpe, T. J. McMurray.

After addresses by Mr. McClelland and Mr. Lane, the meeting unanimously decided to proceed with the formation of a Peterborough Branch of the Independent Labour party, and the following officers were provisionally elected:

President—Peter McArthur.
Secretary—T. Tooms.
Treasurer—J. A. Sharpe.
Executive—Perkins Lloyd, F. Asta, Tom Lane, T. J. McMurray, Joseph Begley, A. McLaren, Chas. Duggan and Alex. Morrison.

Want Immediate Action.

The following resolution was moved by Mr. Tooms, who remarked that the people were demanding immediate and adequate action, and seconded by Mr. Duggan, with instructions that copies be sent to the Ministers of Labour and Public Works, and to Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P.:

That this public meeting of the Independent Labour Party of Peterborough do respectfully call upon the Federal Government to proceed at once with public works in this locality, as the present condition of unemployment has already reached a very serious point owing to our factories dismissing men to go hungry while their establishments are packed from floor to ceiling with foodstuffs, and no market. Every week's delay means more families on the point of starvation. Immediate action is necessary. The public patience will be greatly strained to have to wait until Parliament meets and usual routine methods followed; immediate action is most essential for the well-being of the community. We also wish to draw your attention to the high cost of living, and the greatly reduced wage of the worker which also calls for immediate action to help the toiler to face strenuous times under which we are now existing. We would suggest that a peace loan be floated for industrial reconstruction and that a clause be provided for the larger industrial concerns, who received war contracts during the past 4½ years, to be able to subscribe to the loan without interest on their money, as a patriotic endeavour to adjust the industrial situation. This we respectfully submit on behalf of the aforementioned meeting

This resolution was carried with a standing vote.

Mr. McClelland's Address.

In his address Mr. McClelland set forth reasons why the working class should have its own representatives in Parliament. The old parties, he said, had been weighed in the balance and found wanting. In the day of their opportunity they had passed over the aspirations, the needs and the rights of Labour.

"But our grievance in that respect is not against the employing class. They don't put these men there. We have had just the men we ourselves elected We were satisfied to be Liberals and Conservatives, although we didn't stop to ask ourselves why. The answer would, doubtless have been that it was because our fathers had been Liberals and Conservatives."

Mr McClelland declared that both parties had been controlled by "the powers that be." Their members were out of touch with labour. Men elected from the manufacturing and professional classes hadn't the experience of "grubbing around for the next month's rent."

"If you sent to Parliament one of your own men who has been through the mill, he can represent you as you want to be represented, simply as you are."

Members of the Government and the party press were trying to create the belief that there was no serious unemployment in Canada to-day. "I was at a meeting a few days ago in Toronto," Mr. McClelland continued, "where there were 279 members present of an organization of 2,500 workers. Of that 279 there were 135 unemployed, and I feel sure that percentage represents all the unemployed in that Union. And others are worse off. Yet the Government press are saying that there is not much unemployment and when Parliament meets there will be no one there to give them the facts. There is not one Labour man in the Parliament of Canada."

Mr. McClelland traced the methods by which the Union Government had been created, and pointed out that there were no questions of sentiment before the country to-day.

"We are face to face with reconstruction. Is it going to be real reconstruction? Are the workingmen going to take a hand in it? Are we going to construct a machine that will take care of the interests of the working class, or are we going to be satisfied with the old parties that failed us? The workingmen should reconstruct and rejuvenate this country. You should adopt the principles you desire to see prevail. Get the man who subscribes to them, in whom you have confidence, and with other cities doing the same I believe that when the first election comes along we shall have a big representation in Parliament. Then you will get all your troubles voiced on the floor. You will let Canada know what the workers desire. We have branches of the Independent Labour party in every city and town, and in many of the hamlets of this country. The civic elections proved the value of organization. We elected more aldermen and controllers this year, especially in Ontario, than we ever had before. How much more important is it that you have men legislating for you in the House of Commons."

Invert the Lolling Order.

Mr. Lane, speaking briefly, recalled the Order-in-Council prohibiting idleness during the war, when, he said, the manufacturers wanted men. "Why shouldn't the Government pass an Order-in-Council compelling manufacturers to employ men who are now walking around." He questioned the causes of the present industrial inaction, and remarked that Mr. Burnham was exhibiting quite an interest in workingmen now, his latest promise being to advocate a minimum wage at the next session.

"It's not because Mr. Burnham gives a darn what wage we get, but it shows that the politicians are beginning to take notice of the workers. They are saying 'we've got to make these fellows keep quiet or they are going to put us out'."

"We're going to do that anyway I guess," said a voice from the audience.

"In the old days when did you ever hear them mentioning the working class and their needs and demands?" asked Mr. Lane.

Mr. Perkins Lloyd fired the enthusiasm of the meeting in a short speech in which he warmly commended the Independent Labour party as a movement by which the working class could help one another and thus performing a truly Christian act.

REEVE SHAW'S SUAVE APPEAL FAILED TO WIN SPECIAL GRANT

Employed Soft But Determined Approach Upon Roads and Bridges Committee, But His Effort Was Barren.

GOOD ROADS MENTIONED

A debate centering about Reeve Shaw on his request for a special grant of $150 for the repair of the road leading north from Buckhorn through Harvey Township formed an interesting episode of the meeting of the Roads and Bridges Committee at this morning's session of the County Council. Reeve Nicholls of Smith presided.

Mr. Shaw reported that this road, which was much travelled by tourists, had been broken up last summer by automobile traffic. Part of the cost of repairing it, he maintained, should be borne by the county, since it was not the township's traffic that had caused the greater part of the damage. Mr. Anderson lead the opposition to this proposal with Mr. Eason, Mr. Griffith and several other members taking one side or the other.

Reeve Anderson stated that the ratepayers of Otonabee were opposed to the spending of county money on outlying roads that were cut up by heavy traffic of automobiles, whose fees were not returned to the municipalities for the maintenance of such roads.

"It seems to me we should avail ourselves of the Government aid or quit talking," Mr. Eason remarked. "I am sure the Government would fix that road. Assistance is provided for such cases because the Government realizes that tourist traffic brings money into the country."

"Harvey should be so rich by reason of its tourist traffic that it doesn't need aid," Mr. Anderson replied.

Mr. Shaw proposed that the county grant $150, providing Harvey gave another $150 and the Government $300.

"The Government will tell you there is a way to get aid," Mr. Eason stated. "They have a fund for that purpose."

Mr. Shaw—"I don't suppose Harvey would be in the good roads belt even if the Provincial scheme was adopted here."

Mr. Eason—"I understand that Harvey would be given a grant for the maintenance of the Buckhorn Road."

Mr. Anderson recalled that the equalization of assessment had been kept down in favour of Harvey.

"I'm getting up in years, and my memory is not so good as it used to be," replied Mr. Shaw, and the committee enjoyed his suave evasion.

"We'll forgive you for that," said Mr. Anderson.

Reeve Griffith commented that it hardly seemed fair to reject Mr. Shaw's request. If Harvey should be given this grant, if it was a feasible idea, he thought the Council should consider the special feature pertaining to the traffic on this road.

Mr. Anderson—"I presume that if this is granted to Harvey, Mr. Griffith will be asking for some similar grant for Belmont."

Reeve Griffith cut short the committee's laughter by replying that he had a road that needed attention. "But I am not asking for an additional grant this year. I am taking the county's annual contribution of $100, using it with last year's, and I expect that Mr. Thompson will help us with another $200."

Returning to Mr. Shaw's request, Mr. Anderson said that if the special grant were made to Harvey, it would go the rounds of the other townships.

Mr. Shaw used his blandest methods of persuasion in a quiet and sustained appeal that lacked nothing in persistence.

Reeve Anderson emphasized what he indicated as the objectionable aspects of such additional grants.

Mr. Eason kept his plea for a consideration of the Good Roads system before the committee, but Mr. Shaw's request was finally refused.

Mr. Eason moved, seconded by Mr. Coughlin, that no additional grants be made to the municipalities for roads.

Mr. Griffith seconded Mr. Shaw's amendment, conveying Harvey's need for assistance on the tourist road, but the amendment was lost.

Reeve Nicholls informed Mr. Eason that the Good Roads question was entered upon the Council's paper for discussion.

WIDER SLEIGHS.

Mr. Eason moved, seconded by Mr. Griffith, that the Government be memorialized to pass legislation providing that sleighs and other vehicles for winter traffic be made wider in future, and that the legislation for wider waggon tires be put into force.

Self-Determination Will Be Next Great Issue at Conference

(United Press.)
(By Fred S. Ferguson.)

PARIS, January 31. — The next great issue to be settled is self-determination, it developed to-day.

Preliminary steps toward the consummation of this vital principle was expected to be taken when the Peace Bureau resumed its sessions this afternoon.

The agreement reached yesterday regarding the disposition of the German colonies, does not apply to European territories, contrary to the general belief, according to authoritative information. The reason is that these peoples are too far advanced in every way to permit outsiders to administer their affairs.

STILL UNSETTLED.

The Dalmatian question, it was pointed out, is still unsettled, although by accepting the principle involved in yesterday's colonial agreement, Italy abandoned the argument of "security," which was Australia's chief contention. Similar cases include the Czecho-Slovaks' claim to German territory within and bordering Bohemia and France's desire for "more secure frontiers" along the west bank of the Rhine.

While it was frankly admitted in certain quarters to-day that the self-determination issue perhaps will precipitate more bitter disagreements even than those which were settled yesterday, a great step was taken toward fixing the principles of self-determination when the inviolability of the armistice terms was practically conceded.

A Difference of Opinion

(By Lieut. J. B. Morton)

"You can't come 'ere."

"Who said?"

"I said."

"Who are you?"

"Never you mind who I am. You can't come 'ere."

"I never did mind who you were an' I can come 'ere."

"Get along."

"Why can't I, anyway?"

"Anyone with 'alf a black eye could see as the bay was crammed full its to bust already. Must 'ave elbow-room."

"Well, you can't fire proper from the other. You can see all over the ground 'ere."

"That's why I'm 'ere."

"An' that's why I'm comin', see?"

"Let 'im come, Dick."

"What, an' spoil sport. Not me. Don't get round me that way, son."

Tom went round the traverce to his own bay, disconcerted. The Germans were shelling the sector heavily, and everyone felt that something would happen soon. Tom had suddenly discovered, while resting on his spade, that there was a better field of fire from the next bay. But Dick took his fighting very seriously at times, and liked plenty of room.

"We couldn't have had another 'ere," he said, when Tom had gone; "Not even old Tom. He's never 'oppy unless he can see to fire all over the Western Front."

During the argument the shells had been falling pretty close, and the men had their work cut out to build the parapet up. Every now and then a fresh portion was blown in. But they stuck to the work patiently, chaffing each other and humming their songs.

Presently an officer came down the trench. He held a muddy spade in his hand, and his tunic was ripped to ribbons down one side.

"Hurry up and get that built up," he said, we shall most likely have to stand-to in a little while. They're up to something over there."

The work was almost finished, when it was all undone again. Dick's firestep was carried away. He stood back and looked at it ruefully.

"If they was to come now I couldn't even get a shot at 'em," he sato, and started to dig ferverishly. He was relieved by another man. Putting his spade down, he walked round the traverse into the next bay. Tom hard at work.

"Tom, old man—" he began.

"Yes."

"I didn't kind o' mean nasthy just now."

Well?"

"Fact is —I—I wonder if you're got any room 'ere. My blinkin' firestep is done in. They might come any second. I'll 'ave to find a place somewhere."

"That's your look out, mate."

"Can't I—?"

"Not if the moon turns pink."

"Not for a bit?"

"Not a second."

"Stand-to!"

"Fetch your rifle, mate," said Tom, relenting.

"You mean it?"

"Course I do. Get a move on."

Dick dashed back to his own bay, and returned with his rifle. He mounted a firestep by the side of Tom.

"Tom, I' mreal grateful. Any time you want a place along o' me—."

The remainder of the sentence was drowned in a rending explosion.

The two men stood up side by side gripping their rifles, eyes intent on No Man's Iand, forgetting everything except that the Germans were coming and that they were quite ready, for them.

The CRESSMAN Company Limited

Cressman Company Held Annual Store Banquet Last Evening

New Policy Inaugurated for the Benefit of the Employees—The March of Progress for the Past Twenty Years.

THOSE PRESENT

The policy of the Cressman Co. Ltd., for the future will be one of co-operation profit sharing which will include every person engaged in the business, whether selling or otherwise employed.

These distributions will be made half-yearly on the following basis:

I. A percentage of the net profits will be distributed each six months to those who have been with the firm for the full six months preceding the distribution, governed as follows:

A—Net result of the several departments.

B—Efficiency in the conduct of these departments.

C—The general result of departments as a whole.

D—Length of time with the company.

C—To those otherwise engaged than in selling, amounts will be determined by A, B, and D.

Twenty Years Ago.

The foregoing policy inaugurated by the Cressman Company, Limited, had its inception last evening at the annual store banquet, held in the Empress Hotel. Twenty years ago this efficiently organized departmental store opened in Peterboro with two departments, and a total weekly pay-roll of thirty-two dollars. To-day the store has twenty-one departments, and the weekly pay roll is approximately one thousand dollars. The big store has a staff of seventy, and of this number fifty-six were present at the banquet. This is a remarkable record which in a large measure is due to the foresight and business acumen of the executive. The company's policy is a progressive one, and includes the welfare and development of its employees in a way that is not only productive of good will and co-operation within the organization, but also has its fruits in the form of satisfied customers, based on efficient and painstaking service. The personality of the executive is the personality of the store itself. This element was strongly manifest last evening as the "great store family" gathered together and gave expression to one common bond of felicity expressive of the true spirit which at all times characterizes the store organization.

THE TOASTS.

Mr. H. E. Raynor opened the proceedings with a few happy remarks concerning the occasion and was followed by Mr. Ford, who proposed a toast to the King, which was heartily responded to in the usual manner.

This was followed by a toast to the host of the evening, Mr. Harry Cressman.

In replying to the toast, Mr. Cressman announced a new policy of profit distribution based on various results which the speaker enumerated. This distribution does not take the form of a bonus, a gift, or an increase in salary but is based entirely on what the individual can earn.

Mr. Cressman also announced the distribution of the bonus for the past six months and expressed the hope that under the new system the result would be even greater. The bonus, which was represented by four figures, was then distributed to each of the employees present.

In connection with the inauguration of the Company's new profit-sharing plan, the following Boards were named, together with their various functions:

Board of Store Beautifying.— To suggest methods of improving the appearance of the store, both interior and exterior. Members of the Board, Mr. M. F. Long, Miss A. Williams and Miss M. Edwards.

Board of Trade Expansion.—To devise means of increasing the Company's business in this locality. Mr. I. R. Rattenbury, Mr. A. Grant and Mrs. G. Davidson.

Board of Efficiency.— Everything pertaining to the betterment of the store in general. Mr. J. E. Bates, Miss H. Head, Miss Michael and Miss D. A. Hartshorn.

Board of Good Service.—To observe and suggest means for improving the service of the store for the benefit of the business, the satisfaction of the customers, minimising of complaints, such as delivery service, etc., also to serve customers with the least possible delay. Mr. H. E. Raynor, Miss M. P. Penning, and Mr. Moher.

Board of Education.—To plan and suggest a detailed educational system for the selling and non-selling co-workers of the firm. Mr. A. C. Wolff, Miss Cunningham and Mrs. Gardiner.

Board of Economy.—To eliminate unnecessary expenses, stop all leaks and protect the store from fire, accident, theft, etc. Mr. F. C. McBride, Miss M. Davidson, Miss D. Walker.

Board of Publicity.—To assist in putting the store prominently before the public. Mr. E. Manning, Miss Dorgan and Miss Logan.

Board of Housekeepings.—This is a board having general charge of the conditions of the store and empowered to recommend means for keeping the store in proper condition, including ventilation, light, temperature, etc. Mr. W. H. Ford, Miss M. Desautel, Mr. J. E. Graham and Miss C. Anderson.

The first named on each Board is chairman of that particular Board.

Musical Programme.

Among those who contributed to a very excellent musical programme were Miss Ida Lynn, Miss Beryl Bates, Miss Isabel Baird and Mr. A. C. Wolff.

Those Present.

Messrs. H. W. Cressman, W. H. Ford, H. E. Raynor, A. C. Wolff, I. R. Rattenbury, E. Manning, J. E. Bates, F. C. McBride, Miss D. A. Hartshorn, Miss C. Anderson, Miss H. Head, Miss Ida Lynn, J. E. Graham, Miss D. Walker, Miss Michael, Miss Logan, Mrs. Gardiner, J. L. Hoopwood, Miss Mable Blake, William Irwin, Miss Edith Panter, Mr. A. Grant, Miss M. Clark, Miss Una Dee, Miss Beryl Bates, Miss M. Edwards, Miss S. Lamb, Mr. D. Rose, Miss G. Brooks, Miss V. Hallowell, Miss E. Bailey, M. F. Long, Miss Isabel Baird, Miss Isabel Westfall, Miss Winnifred Edey, Miss Ada Dennis, Miss Winnie Cooper, Miss Helen Bartlett, Miss M. McCormack, Miss M. P. Penning, Miss H. Doughty, Miss M. Mealey, Miss M. Davidson, Miss A. Williams, Miss J. Cressman, Miss B. Clare, Miss E. Harper, Miss O. Drain, W. H. Vickers, H. Clancy, J. Harrison, Miss M. G. Desautel, Mrs. G. Davidson, Miss Ethel Williamson, Miss E. M. Blake, Mrs. Galley.

A number of the employees of the Millinery Department were away on holidays, while illness accounted for a few others who were absent. The meeting concluded with an address by Mr. J. E. Bates, who congratulated those present upon the success that had been obtained by the store and its capable organization.

Housekeepers Find the Big Bargains

In the List of Articles "For Sale" and "Wanted" Found in The Examiner.

Economy is more imperative than ever, if the opinions of authorities are to be relied upon. The warning is unnecessary to many who have found that economy is company.

The "Want" and "For Sale" columns of The Examiner have developed one of the best channels for stimulating thrift, and the articles for sale find ready buyers. In these columns, citizens of Peterborough and elsewhere are advertising a great variety of goods. The present owner in every case has some reason for disposing of them quickly, and each one listed represents a saving to the purchaser. It may be that Mrs. Jones has been searching the entire city for a stove at a lower price than a brand new one. If she has not looked through The Examiner "Want" or "For Sale" ads, she has probably missed the best value for her money. Mrs. Smith may be after a new set of furniture. All kinds of these articles are being listed for sale, and if she consults this directory her wants will be quickly satisfied.

The person who makes his or her purchases by means of The Examiner "Articles For Sale or Wanted" medium, does so on the knowledge that they are on the road to economy.

A Tea Party at St. John's

The Ladies' Auxiliary of St. John's church have issued invitations for a "Hard Times" party to be held on the 4th of February, in the School Room. The following is a reproduction of the ingenious poetical invitation issued for the event:

A hard times party there will be
On February fourth, soon after tea;
St. John's school room, it is the place,
We surely hope to see your face.

With games and song the hours will speed,
And when at last you feel the need;
To dainty table you'll be led,
And something good you will be fed.

You are to wear your oldest clothes,
Yes! Yes! The very worst of those!
And for the costume most forlorn
A prize to you will sure be borne.

Upon your arm a stripe please place,
One for each year your dress kept pace;
And for each stripe one cent you pay,
To help us drive Hard Times away.

Chinamen Are Having Holiday

To-day is "Toy Yet," or New Year's Day on the Chinese Calendar.

To-day is Toy Yet. On this date the Chinese signs on calendars in laundries, tea houses and chop suey cafes will spell "Ching Got" which, being interpreted, means January 1st, in English. Ching is the first month of the Chinese calendar but Got is not the Hun God. Therefore "Toy Yet" is New Year in Chinese and all the Chinese residents of Peterboro will recognize it as such.

"When did the "Toy Yet" thing begin in China?" a Celestial was asked. He took a contemptuous slant at a Christian calendar and replied: "Mlo....than.....oh thlee. flo thousan yeas, I don't know."

On "Toy Yet" the Celestials absolutely refuse to crush shirt buttons, or dish up suey. They simply won't work, it is the one day in the year that they have a holiday.

"What are you going to ro to celebrate that day?" queried an interviewer interested in Ching Got.

"O we have parties, have lots fun."

"What do you do at the parties?"

"Eat and have fun."

"What do they do in China on Toy Yet?"

"Nothing, just walk round."

Every Chinese shirt foundry is agog with excitement over the fun expected on Ching Got. Any persons not getting their Sunday shirts back on Saturday per shedule shouldn't be disappointed after this warning.

RESOLUTION BY MR. J. H. BURNHAM

Federal Member Favours Minimum Wage Board.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., has placed the following resolution on the Order paper to be dealt with at the next session of the House which opens next month:

"That in the opinion of this House it is desirable that a Minimum wage board be established in connection with the Department of Labour and that a standard of living cost should be set by said Board and maintained throughout Canada below which no system of remuneration should compel people to live and that no cheapness of labour or labour's products elsewhere should be allowed to interfere with home conditions and that once a year this living-cost should be reviewed to the end that employers may know what Labour-cost will be and that the Employees' necessary condition shall not breed justifiable discontent and unrest and that the time has come since the necessary conditions exist, for the settlement and co-ordination of all forms and systems of employment and remuneration in Canada upon a scientific basis and that the first duty of Parliament is the physical and moral well-being of the people.

Largely Attended Meeting of Peterboro Horticultural Society Was Held Last Evening

Society Has Decided to Withdraw From the Active Management of the Public Parks—The Park Beds Were Not Planted With Tulips Owing to Lack of Funds—Officers Elected for the Year.

At last night's meeting of the Peterborough Horticultural Society, which was the best attended annual meeting in years, and one which should put considerable life into the organization, the question of the care of the park of the city was discussed, and the following letter directed to be sent to the County Council, who are owners of Victoria Park, and to the City Council, who contribute to its upkeep as well as to King Edward and Central Parks:

The Letter.

Peterborough, Jan. 31st, 1919.

E. M. Elliott, Esq.,
County Treasurer,
Court House,
City.

Dear Sir,—The growing importance of the county and city of Peterborough make it desirable that the parks in the city owned by the county and city should be maintained in a manner that will compare favourably with similar parks connected with other county and municipal buildings in other cities.

For some years our local parks have been maintained by the Peterborough Horticultural Society by means of grants received from the county and city councils. While this arrangement has certain advantages it has the disadvantage that the members of those public bodies are not so likely to take a direct interest in these parks as might be the case were they more in touch with the work involved. For this reason we desire to advise you that the Peterborough Horticultural Society this year desires to withdraw from the active management of the parks. We would suggest that their management might be undertaken—seeing that the city is without the services of a Parks Commission—by a joint committee from the two municipal bodies concerned. We would state, however, that our Society will be glad to render any assistance in this matter, within our power.

Respectfully,

Peterborough Horticultural Society.
(Signed) A. Weddell, Pres.
E. Brumwell, Sec.

Officers Elected.

The officers elected for the coming year were:

President—Mr. Alex. Weddell.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mr. R. H. Parsons
2nd Vice-Pres.—Dr. Middleton.
Sec.-Treas.—Mr. E. E. Brumwell.
Directors—Messrs. V. Eastwood, W. J. Kennedy, H. Butler, G. Grierson, H. L. Beall, E. J. Searight, E. Theobald, A. W. Turner, R. M. Glover, W. Stocker, C. G. Graham, J. H. Howland and Ald. John Edgar, with power to add two additional members.

Appointed Delegate.

Mr. Alex. Weddell, the new president, was appointed to attend the annual convention of the Ontario Horticultural Society to be held in Toronto on February the 5th, 6th and 7th.

Monthly Meetings.

Mr. Cecil Williamson, the retiring secretary of the society, advocated the holding of monthly meetings, leaving it to the discretion of the executive when the meetings should be held. For the present the society will try to arrange with the Board of Trade for their quarters and when the weather becomes more favourable the society will meet at the homes of the different members.

Made Presentation.

At the conclusion of the meeting the retiring secretary, Mr. C. Williamson, was presented with a handsome case of pipes. Mr. Williamson was asked to retire for a few moments, during which eulogistic references to the good work of Mr. Williamson were made by many of the members. "He is one of the best secretarys we have ever had and has done a big job well," observed Mr. Beall.

Live Meeting.

The meeting last night was called by the older members 'the liviest meeting we have had in years.'

Important Duties.

The Horticultural Society has an important function to perform in the work of beautifying the city and should be supported to the limit by everyone interested in a clean and well kept city. The officers and members give their time and experience freely and the new Board hopes that the citizens generally will take a more active interest in its affairs.

Lack of Funds.

Please note. On account of lack of funds we were unable to plant park beds with tulip bulbs as usual.

Band stands in both parks are in a very bad condition, the one in Central Park is almost falling down, while the one in Victoria Park needs a new roof and new floors and painting. The attention of the [illegible] property committee of the City Council should be drawn to this; also to the condition of the drinking fountain in Central Park.

Mr. W. Stocker's Report.

In presenting my report as your President for the fourth successive year, it is with a feeling of confidence that with the passing from conditions of war to that of peace a new era of prosperity is dawning on us all and with the particularly fortunate circumstances of the citizens of this city we, as members of a society of this kind, should take the initiative, and with proper organization our efforts should and will meet with much greater success than ever before.

With very little solicitation our membership at present stands at 207. This is greatly below what the membership for a city the size of Peterborough should be and an effort should be made to greatly increase this number by intelligently placing the advantages derived by our members before our citizens. By the co-operation of our members along these lines we are only helping ourselves as well as those we interest in the Society.

During the season just closed only one distribution of premiums was made, as the condition under which all bulbous stock was imported made it impossible to satisfactorily import small orders.

The annual lawn and garden competition was held as usual, the entry list being larger and the competition keener than formerly. Mr. Fred Adams of Toronto, acting as judge, awarded the prizes as follows:

Class "B" Amateurs Only—1st, Mr.

Voice of The People

Jan. 28th, 1919.

Editor Examiner, Peterborough:

Sir,—Whilst perusing the columns of a newspaper yesterday my attention was drawn to an item re the raiding by returned men of numerous factories, etc., in the west.

According to the report, the cause of the disturbance was the preference shown to aliens instead of the returned soldier. The returned men marched to the factories and demanded the dismissal of the foreigners and asking that the returned soldiers be given their positions.

The Mayor of Winnipeg backed up the "Veterans" in their demands, and together they succeeded in getting their demands acceded to. Now the point is this, there are a large number of our local "Veterans" who are out of employment, whilst the foreigners are working in full blast in our factories, our own local boys are walking about seeking employment, but in vain, at the same time other parts are being fitted that possibly standing the premises could do, that can be possibly done for the returned men yet the first thing they do, is to lay off the returned soldier, and retain the foreigners who have given nothing in this war; whilst our own men offered their lives, and now they are back they can't even get a chance to earn the means to live.

I think it would be advisable to all employers of labour here in this city and other places, who have foreigners on their staff to fire them and put returned men in their places.

We do not want a repurrence of the trouble in Winnipeg in this city, but if a policy is pursued here such as was pursued in Winnipeg, then the latter is likely to be a serious one, and should be given every attention in order that justice may be done to the returned soldier, and those yet to return.

Thanking you Mr. Editor for your valuable space.

Yours For Justice.

Peace Conference May Have Two Replies

Government of Northern Russia Refuses to Meet the Bolshevik.

Canadian Press

PARIS, Jan. 31.—The Peace Conference so far has had two replies to its invitation to the various Russian governments for a conference at Prince's Islands. In one of these the government of North Russia formally refused to meet with the Bolsheviki. The Omsk government, under Admiral Kolchak, while less categoric in its reply, expresses strong opinions. Nothing official in connection with the invitation has been received from the Russian Soviet government.

MONDAY'S GAME WILL BE GREAT BATTLE OF TWO FAST, CLEAN TEAMS

The drop in the temperature is welcomed by the hockey fans for it will ensure not only good ice for tonight's Junior game at Lindsay but gives promise of providing a lively cushion for Monday's intermediate game here with Oshawa which is being eagerly awaited by all local followers of the winter pastime. Neither team has lost a game in the league race so that the group title depends upon the result of the two battles between them. To win the championship of the group it will be necessary for one of the teams to win both games while an even split will of course result in a tie and a play-off.

The Petes are just rounding into shape and the game in Whitby should put them at the top of their form for Monday's engagement with the Bradleyites. The Oshawa crew who were nosed out of O.H.A. honours in the finals last year are hot after the title this season and expect to win handily here. They have a well balanced fast and hard-clinching outfit and they will carry the battle to the Petes from the drop of the hat. With fast ice likely, however, the local gang are not doing any worrying over the prospects. There is speed to burn scattered around the Peterboro teams and they figure that their skating and stick-handling will carry them through to victory.

It should be a spectacular game between two speedy and clever teams and the indications are that the crowd will assume old-time proportions. The fans are hungry for hockey as both junior and intermediate teams have been deprived of home games through the defaulting of opponents and the result has been that there has not been a game here since Jan. 10th.

The Grants.

The City Council grant for the upkeep of Victoria and Central Parks was reduced this last season to $600. Although thoroughly realizing that this amount was not sufficient by any means for the proper maintaining of these parks, yet your Directors felt that under the existing conditions it would be better to accept this amount and make same go as far as possible. The contract for planting the beds in the spring and the caretaking was let by tender, Mr. Wise carrying this work on during the summer. Owing to lack of funds and the exceptionally high price of tulips we were unable to plant the beds this fall. This, I think, will cause not a little criticism and will show the necessity of having sufficient funds to properly do this work. A strong committee should therefore be appointed at this meeting to take this matter up intelligently with our City Council, as we feel we have their support, and it has largely been a matter of misunderstanding that sufficient funds were not supplied.

Francis Murphy Sent Up For Trial

Prisoner Accused of Breaking into the Regent Tailors on Charlotte Street.

It wouldn't take a Sherolck Holmes to discover that someone had entered the premises of the Regent Tailors on the evening or morning of January 20th.

The preliminary hearing of Frances Joseph Murphy, alias Joe Gagnon, was opened at this morning's session of the police court.

Mr. G. N. Gordon acted for the defense, and Crown Attorney Hatton, fresh from his visit in Toronto, conducted the prosecution. Mr. George Bergemane, manager of the Peterborough Branch of the Regent Tailor's Company, opened the store on Monday morning and found the place cold as an ice house. Both the outer and inner doors at the rear of the shop were open, and the suits looked as if they had been on a spree. Most of them had left their hangers and were trying to protect themselves from the lusty breeze that was blowing in. One of the panes in the large windows at the rear had been "lifted," and the air in that vicinity was somewhat rarefied.

From further investigations Mr. Bergemane found that somebody had entered the premises from the rear, put a board, perhaps part of the fence, against the back window, and used this as a runway to reach the putty of the window. Clipping the new putty off was a comparatively easy matter, but taking a pane of glass 36 inches long out of the frame was found by the intruder to be a little difficult. The glass broke across the top and left two or three inches in the frame. He entered, whoever he was, and at this point the prisoner fidgeted a little, and looked around for a nice suit of clothes. He picked out four choice suits he liked, Mr. Bergemane's skin gloves, and with this and a silf scarf, postage stamps, some small hacnge, a $10 club bag and an old mackinaw coat, he departed not forgetting to put a couple of webs of cloth under each arm.

Mr. Bergeman estimated the loot to be worth $143.

Murphy was caught by means of finger prints. He has a past criminal record, and his finger prints were in the possession of the Dominion police at Ottawa. In moving the glass from the frame he left behind his tell-tale finger which compared with those already in the hands of the police. The arrest of Murphy followed, and the Magistrate sent him up for trial this morning.

Mobilizing Four Hun Army Corps

Reports Are Attracting Considerable Attention in Military Circles.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

PARIS, Jan. 31.—Reports received here from Berlin by way of Amsterdam stating that Field Marshal Von Hindenburg is raising four army corps for the protection of Germany's eastern frontier have attracted considerable attention in military circles here. Allied military men are interested in particular for the reason that if the Field Marshal were successful in collecting such a body of troops, its existence would upset present calculations of Germany's armed strength, on which the size of the Allied army of occupation is to be based.

Annual Meeting of St. Andrew's Church Held Last Evening

Church Has Just Concluded a Prosperous Year—A New Sunday School Building.

Capt. (Rev.) James Rollins, pastor of St. Andrew's church, who went overseas with the 93rd Battalion as quartermaster, is expected home any time before the first of June, and when he arrives he will receive a warm welcome from the congregation. At the annual meeting last night, Mr. R. Lees a member of the Session, announced that he had received a letter from Mr Rollins with reference to his probable return. Mr Lees spoke highly of the absent pastor, who, he slad, has never rested until he had gone with the men into the first line trenches. He has been chaplain of a Winnipeg battalion recently, and the unit was on its way to duty when the armistice was signed. The battalion has since been in Germany, and Capt Rollins was with them at the time he wrote.

Mr. Lees said St. Andrew's had ever reason to be proud of their absent pastor, who had been faithful and modest in his military service never seeking anything like advertising, but keeping himself and his affairs out of the newspapers ever since he went to Europe.

The Session and managers of the church were instructed to arrange a reception for Capt. Rollins, and the Ladies' Aid will co-operate. The reception will include all the enlisted men from the congregation who may have returned at that time.

A resolution was adopted expressing appreciation of the service rendered the congregation by Rev. W. L. H. and Mrs. Rowand for the past two years. Secretary W. A. Richardson will send to Mr. Rowand a copy of the resolution and will also tender the sympathy of the congregation to Mrs. Rowand and her husband on account of the former's illness in Minneapolis.

A Prosperous Year.

The attendance at the annual meeting last night broke all records, a natural sequence of a year marked with success in every department of the work. One of the most interesting reports was that of the Patriotic League, read by Mrs. T. Sills. During the war the league raised $2,-341.27, of which $240.96 remains. It is proposed to expend this for a memorial tablet for those who have fallen.

The Finances.

Mr. A. Macfarlane read the report of the board of managers, which showed an income of $42,336.86 by contributions and $756.68 net return on the church's property. There is a safe balance left after the obligations are met. The amount raised for mission work was $2,277.30.

New Sunday School Building.

Superintendent J. A. McKone reported a successful year in the Sunday school work, but the present building is inadequate. It is proposed to sell the church property which was purchased with money left the congregation by the late [illegible] Nicholls and to use the proceeds for a new home for the Sunday school. Messrs. G. Walter Green, J. A. McKone, E. Bruce Fowler, W. J. Henry and W. A. Richardson were appointed a committee to deal with this question.

The following reports were read:

Women's Foreign Missionary Society, by Miss Margaret Rae.

Young Ladies' Mission Band, by Miss M. Henderson.

Session report by Mr. R. Lees and treasurer of Session's report by Mr John Matheson.

Officers Elected.

Board of Managers—Messrs. J. W. Fraser, W. J. Henry, E. Latimer, Joseph Saunders and R. M. Glover. Messrs. Glover and Fraser are new members to take the places of Mr. W. Harstone, removed, and Mr. J. John, who was elected an eldet some time ago.

Member of Charity Board—Mr. John Read.

Member of Nicholls Hospital Staff—Mr. G. Walter Green.

Mr. W. A. Richardson is clerk and Mr. E. Bruce Fowler treasurer for the congregation.

When the new hymn books are introduced, selections in the old and the new books will be chosen and the number of each announced to prevent confusion and on behalf of those who do not purchase the new book of praise, this arrangement to continue for the present year.

Mr. Wm. Stevens, on behalf of the choir committee, spoke highly of the services of the choir and this appreciation was acknowledged by Mr. H. Preneer, the choirmaster and organist.

The Ladies' Aid Society received a vote of thanks, moved by Mr. A. Macfarlane, for their splendid assistance during the year. An excellent repast was served before the business session began.

Improved Train Service for City

Change Will Provide Better Connections For Montreal.

Mr. A. D. MacTier, Vice-President of the C.P.R., Mr. Allen Purvis, General Superintendent, Mr. C. B. Foster, Assistant Passenger Traffic Manager, and Mr. W. H. Brown, District Freight Agent, Toronto, met the Railroad committee of the City Council, the Board of Trade, representatives from the Commercial Travellers' Association and a number of manufacturers, this morning, to discuss better train service for the city.
After the meeting Mr. MacTier said the C.P.R. proposed to give through day service to Montreal, by running the early train from Toronto instead of 9.30 a.m. at 9.40 a.m., and running straight through to Montreal, making connections at Smith's Falls for Ottawa. Coming back, the train will leave Montreal at 7 o'clock and get here at the same time in the afternoon, making connection in Toronto at 6 o'clock to Chicago, New York and Winnipeg.
They also propose to give the city a Sunday train from Toronto at 9.40 as far as Havelock and going back in the afternoon to make the same connection at 6 o'clock.
Mr. MacTier mentioned May 4th as the probable date for the proposed change.

Gail Kane Her Own Brother in "The Daredevil"

Actress' New Play Built on Maria Thompson Daviess' Thrilling Novel of International Intrigue and Politics.

Who Is At The Empire To-day and To-morrow.

Miss Gail Kane is supported by a distinguished cast in her new Mutual production, "The Daredevil," scenarioised by J. Clarkson Miller from the sensational novel of Maria Thompson Daviess.

The story is a thrilling but of modern international fencing, in which the French patriot, the German spy and the American girl born in France manage to keep the pot boiling most merrily.

Miss Kane hits the high spots in eight suits of male clothing before she surrenders to the nearly universal demand and returns to petticoats. The star has a double role in a double sense. When she is in "pets" the men are crazy over her. When she is in "pants" the girls rave over her.

The character assumed by Miss Kane in this production is that of Roberta (Bob) Carruthers, a dashing young American girl educated in France, who has returned to the United States to join her uncle, Colonel Robert Carruthers, who has never seen her. The young girl's father is a French officer of American birth. "Bob" has been brought up in the best French society, but her Americanism is her predominating trait.

THE TREASURE OF GOOD HEALTH

Easily Maintained Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

There is not a nook or corner in Canada, in the cities, the towns, the villages, on the farms and in the lumber and lumber camps, where Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have not been used, and from one end of the country to the other they have brought back to bread-winners, their wives and families the splendid treasure of new health and strength.

You have only to ask your neighbours, and they can tell you of some rheumatic or nerve-shattered man, some suffering woman, ailing youth or anaemic girl who owes present health and strength to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. For more than a quarter of a century these pills have been known not only in Canada, but throughout all the world, as a reliable tonic, blood-making medicine.

The wonderful success of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is due to the fact that they go right to the root of the disease in the blood, and by making the vital fluid rich and red strengthen every organ and every nerve, thus driving out disease and pain, and making weak, despondent people bright, active and strong. Mr. W. T. Johnson, one of the best known and most highly esteemed men in Lunenburg county, N.S., says:—"I am a Provincial Land Surveyor, and am exposed for the greater part of the year to very hard work travelling through the forests by day and camping out by night, and I find the only thing that will keep me up to the mark is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When I leave home for a trip in the woods I am as interested in having my supply of pills as provisions, and on such occasions, I take them regularly. The result is I am always fit. I never take cold, and can digest all kinds of food such as we have to put up with hastily cooked in the woods. Having proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as a tonic and health builder, I am never without them, and I lose no opportunity in recommending them to weak people whom I meet."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be kept in every home, and their occasional use will keep the blood pure and ward off illness. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GOOD ROADS WOULD PAY BIG DIVIDENDS

Mr. S. L. Squire, of Toronto, Warden Anderson and Others Address Mass Meeting in Norwood — Government Does Not Desire to Coerce the County into Provincial System.

NORWOOD, February 1.—A platform discussion of the Good Roads problem as advocated by certain writers to the local press during the past few weeks culminated in a public meeting in the Norwood town hall last Friday evening. That much interest is taken in the question was evidenced by the large attendance, and the speeches proved very instructive.

The credit of securing the speakers is due to two of our progressive farmers, County President E. N. McDonald, of the U.F.O. and Mr. G. A. Brethen, while the village council granted the use of the hall in the public interest.

Mr. S. L. Squire, formerly of the Highways Dept. of the Ontario Government, defended the Good Roads policy of the Government; and in the absence of Mr. Ed. M. Elliott, county clerk, of Peterborough, who had been invited to be present, Warden W. A. Anderson of Otonabee and Ex-Warden Max. Brown of Asphodel ably defended their actions in the County Council in refusing to accept the project under the present act.

Mr. E. P. Cuffe, who kindly consented to act as chairman, referred to the great importance of good roads both to the village and country. He thought the development of good roads in Peterboro County was as important as water fronts were to other counties.

Mr. S. L. Squire said he was not a stranger to the discussion of the Good Roads question in Peterboro County. There were three great means of transportation, waterways railways and highways. Waterways were only of service to a few; the use of railways was limited to a ticket purchase; but highways were free to all, and the most important of the three. Originally there were only forest paths, but as civilization advanced the demands grew for better roads. Was it fair that the people's money should be expended in the construction of railways, etc., while they were left to construct and maintain their own highways? This question led to the introduction of the Good Roads system. In 1901 the Government passed Highway Act providing ten millions of dollars assistance towards good roads.

Commission Appointed

It was made compulsory that the smallest unit to enter into compliance with the act should be a county. Proper roads could not be built without the purchase of machinery that would prove a burden to the township, the average cost of an outfit being $25,000.

The Act of 1901 admitted counties on a basis of 33 1-3% government grant for construction. Fifteen counties immediately took advantage of it.

One argument heard is that motorists are forcing the hands of the government. This is baseless as when the act was introduced in 1901 there were not a half-dozen autos in the whole province.

A commission was appointed to study the question. They advised that the Government also help to maintain the roads constructed, and divide them into three classes, township, county and provincial. Later the McDermid bill was passed providing an increased grant to County Roads of 40% construction and 20% maintenance.

There were three important principles in road construction: grades, drainage and top dressing of which the government pays 40% of the cost, and also the same percentage for culverts, machinery and gravel pits.

Under the act the County Council may select the roads but they must appoint a superintendent. His selection is left with the County Council. The government pays 40% of his salary and requires such a responsible person to vouch for expenditures. The Government further supplies engineers free of cost.

Counties Organize.

The government desired that all counties in the province be organized to give an increased impetus to road building at the conclusion of the war. All the counties in the province have accepted the government's system but Peterboro county. The speaker said that sometimes the crowd is wrong and the individual right. Were the 36 other counties wrong and Peterboro right? One argument used is why should 100% of the people pay for 20% of the roads. Mr. Squire said you might just as well ask why a tree should be all branches and no trunk. Every part of highway must be built to accommodate the traffic thereon. When 15% of the roads are built properly they will accommodate 80% of the traffic. This was clearly illustrated in the case of the Toronto-Hamilton highway, there being frequently a traffic of 5,000 vehicles upon it in one day.

Mr. John Rorabeck at this juncture interposed with a question as to the freedom of traffic on this highway, asking if cattle could be driven on it. Mr. Squire replied that the road was absolutely free. The right of precedence went first to a man walking, then to man on horseback, horse and buggy, and auto last.

The speaker continued that if Peterboro County had fallen in with the other counties on the governments project, it would have received at least $72,000 assistance in building its roads, but it hasn't received a cent.

License Money.

The argument is advanced that the auto license money should be returned directly to the counties. More than half of the license money, however, comes from the cities. Under the government system it goes to road needs. Peterboro County is the only one raising this argument. The other 36 counties are satisfied and the speaker said the government was not likely to change its policy to suit the 37th. The government is prepared to deal even more generously with the counties. Will it be generous with those who have accepted the system or those opposed?

The speaker dwelt on the responsibility of providing employment for returning heroes. He advocated putting our money into something most useful as roads which will pay dividends.

At present Peterboro County is building and maintaining its roads and has its roads. Under the Good Roads System the Government helps the county to build and maintain its roads and the county has its roads.

In reply to a question from Mr. W. A. Richardson the speaker pointed out that the cost of road construction in Peterboro County should compare as favorably as any as the county has material close at hand, while some other counties have to bring it in.

Mr. Squire concluded his remarks by reading letters from the officials in Hastings County, Northumberland and Durham, and Lincoln, signifying their satisfaction with the

ALLIES TO GARRISON TURKEY, BUT THE YANKS WILL BE ABSENT

Reason for This, as Given in Paris Cable, is That United States Has Not Been at War With Turkey.

PARIS, Feb. 1.—Whatever forces may be sent to Turkey for garrisoning purposes, there will be no American troops among them, it developed here. It is pointed out that their use for this purpose would be inappropriate, as the United States has never been at war with Turkey.

The Military Committee of the Supreme Council expects within two days to report a plan for the allotment among the various nations of the troops to be retained on the western front. From the data available it appears that by April 1 there will be 15 American divisions remaining on the lines, with five divisions ready for embarkation homeward.

A month later it is expected this aggregate will be reduced by five divisons, of which ten will be on the lines and five ready to return.

The length of the stay in France of these ten divisions depends upon time of the signing of the general peace treaty. It is said that as soon as that occurs all the American troops probably will be withdrawn.

SPARTACANS SURRENDER.

Wilhelmshaven and Other German Ports are now free of Extremists.

(Special to Examiner.)

BERLIN, January 31. — The Spartacans, after completely dominating Wilhelmshaven for several days, have completely surrendered, according to advices that were received here to-day.

Reports received Wednesday describing the street fighting in Wilhelmshaven, said that the Spartacans had surrendered in Cuxhaven and Bremerhaven.

WANT DEBT RECOGNIZED.

PARIS, Jan. 28. — Recognition of Russia's pre-war national debt to France by the Lenine-Trotzky Government will be one of the first subjects discussed at Princes Islands, should the Bolsheviki leaders accept the invitations of the Peace Conference to meet there.

While Russia is a debtor to all the Allies except Italy, there is a feeling in France's official circles that the French debt should receive priority, as it was contracted much earlier—during the times of peace — while the English and American claims only date back to the war period. Russian bonds are widely scattered throughout France and there are more than two million holders, among them many workingmen, small proprietors and tradesmen, whose savings of a whole life-time are invested.

CATTLE MARKET

The sudden falling off in the demand for butcher cattle for the local trade has been the feature of this week's cattle markets. The result has been a further decline of about one dollar per cwt. in an already declining market for butcher steers, heifers and cows of the class usually most in demand for the local butcher trade. Monday's market opened with a fairly large run of cattle offering, but, somewhat to the surprise of the shippers and commission men, there was practically no demand, except for heavy steers and medium-weight steers of export quality. For the latter classes there was a fairly good demand, Mr. H. P. Kennedy being in the market for apparently all the choice weighty steers in sight, and for which he was paying good stiff prices, going as high as $16 and over for a few extra choice bunches. These purchases were to fill orders from New York and other points in the States. During the week 20 to 30 cars of steers have been shipped over the border to supply this export demand. But the demand for the local trade has been quite another story, the market remaining dull and inactive throughout the week. The local beef trade has been very dull throughout the present mild weather, and the packing houses found themselves loaded up with beef for which there was no immediate outlet.

The sheep and lambs trade has been equally dull, with prices on the down grade until the end of the week, when there was a little firming up.

The hog situation still remains very unsettled, a weaker tone generally pervading the market, though price changes have not been very material.

Cattle Receipts.

Specks Floating Before His Eyes

When specks start to float before the eyes, when everything turns black for a few seconds and you feel as if you were going to faint, you may rest assured that your liver is not working properly.

The essential thing to do in all cases where the liver is slow, lazy or torpid, is to stir it up by the use of a medicine that will clear away all the waste and poisonous matter from the system, and prevent as well as cure all the troubles arising from this accumulated mass which has collected in the system.

Keep the bowels open by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and you will have no liver trouble of any kind. They will clear away all the waste and effete matter which has collected and make the liver active and working properly.

Mr. John R. Morrison, Grand River Falls, N.S., writes: "Several months ago I was troubled with a sour stomach, and had specks floating before my eyes. I took five vials of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills which cured and cleaned my blood before any length of time. I told my friends about it and they got some, and they, too, find themselves different since they took them. I recommend your pills very highly."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Brian Declares His Intention

CHAPTER XCVIII

Brian did have something to conceal. At least he thought he had, which amounted to the same thing. He had dined the night before with the two khaki-clad Englishmen, then had taken them to Mollie King's studio—first calling her and asking her permission. They had remained until late, but had all left together. Which last would have excused his going, in Ruth's eyes.

Even the Ruth was jealous of Mollie King, there was nothing mean by small about her. Had Brian stayed at her studio so late alone, she would have been both hurt and suspicious. But three of them—why, surely, no sensible woman could object to a man going with a party to call upon a girl, especially when his wife was out of town.

But because Brian was so uncommunicative, Ruth imagined things. And in that her immagination was grossly exaggerated. She was no different from most jealous wives.

But because she was suspicious she took the greater pains to hide her feeling, instead of doing as most young wives are prone to do, and "spilling over" as Brian expressed it one day when talking of a woman he knew. It would perhaps have made for her peace of mind had she "spilled" a little in lieu of holding back all her emotion, and her thoughts.

Brian was an enigma to her at this time. After her Washington trip more so than ever. Scarcely ever did he find fault. Yet all the time he made her feel that he was about to do something; and that, no matter how it turned out she was to blame. It was a peculiar feeling; one that ade her uneasy without giving her anything tangible to which to object.

Mandel seemed to understand that Ruth was passing thru some sort of experience which might react to his advantage if he could keep from making the mistake of showing his feeling for her. So he avoided being alone with her, and while he was just as thoughtful, just as kind, was not so obviously so as he had been.

Without making it appear that he was endeavoring to save her, he lightened Ruth's work, and in everything made her comfort a consideration. That he did all this without in any way approaching Ruth, or without letting her feel his thoughtfulness obtrusive, proved the strength of his love for her.

"He is trying to make me forget what he said to me, that day his wealthy patron tried to make love to me:" she said to herself. Then: "He didn't mean, really mean, what he said. He was sorry for me, my humiliation, and said more than he intended."

Yet, strangely, this reasoning did not bring quite the comfort to Ruth it should have done. Not that she wanted Arthur Mandel or any other man than her husband to make love to her, but "the ways of woman are past finding out" and Ruth was a woman. She felt piqued—just a little, that Mandel should so soon have found out his mistake. And she resented his ability to dismiss her from his thoughts— as she judged by his action he had.

That night the rent was due. Ruth stopped on the way home to pay it, and found Brian waiting for her when she reached the apartment.

"I stopped to pay the rent, dear. Put away the receipt while I take off my things. I wont be a moment."

"I wish the landlord would take his old apartment!"

"Why, Brian Hackett. You are so sorry for the soldiers, all the time talking of how hard it is for them, and all, that I should think you would be glad you had the money to pay instead of being in those horrid trenches with them, fighting for your life." Ruth had purposely said: "glad you had the money to pay."

"A man doesn't have to pay rent in the trenches, neither does his wife have to throw it in his face if she does pay it for him—he's too far away from her."

Ruth stood still, very still. It had not been Brian's words, as much as his manner, which caused her heart to almost stop beating, and that suffocating feeling to make her put her hand to her throat. It was as it Brian were seeking an excuse. More than once their clash on the eternally sickening subject of money had led to a hot quarrel. This quiet, caustic Brian was a new species to her. She scarcely recognized him as her husband.

"What is the matter, Brian? You are so unlike yourself lately. Tell me what makes you talk and act so differently?"

"Nothing is the matter with me, only—you won't have to pay rent for me much longer! I'm going to enlist with the Canadians."

HER FIVE CHILDREN

Had Whooping Cough At the Same Time

Whooping cough is one of the most dangerous diseases of children, especially to those under five years of age. It first starts with a fever and cough, sneezing, watering of the eyes and an irritation of the throat. Later the coughing increases, the child becomes livid in the face, the eyes appear as if they would burst from their sockets and suffocation seems imminent till relief is brought by the "whoop."

On the first sign of whooping cough we would advise the use of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. This famous remedy will clear the bronchial tubes of the collected mucous and phlegm, and in this way ease the racking cough and in a short time make it disappear entirely.

Mrs. Walter McGaughey, North Battleford, Sask., writes:—"I have five children, the eldest thirteen and the baby two years old. They all had the whooping cough at the same time. I tried two or three cough remedies, but none gave the same satisfaction as Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. A home where there are young children should never be without it. I will highly recommend it to those who want a quick cure."

There are many imitations of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, so be sure you get the genuine by insisting that the package is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 25c. and 50c. and manufactured by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Says France Plans For War-Zone Trips

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—France plans to handle systematically the great influx of war sightseers who are expected when conditions permit, according to Lieutenant John M. Steel of the American Red Cross, who arrived Saturday on the Rochambeau after four months abroad. Lieutenant Steele, who served under Funston in the Philippines, said the Americans in France were surprised by the matter of fact way in which the National Touring Club of France is setting about with traditional French thriftiness to make the war pay for the war, or, at any rate, help out.

"I heard about the scheme to regulate the points of interest of the war," said Lieutenant Steele, "and I dropped into the Paris office of National Touring Club to find out what was what. The club was organized two years before the war to catch the American tourist young and see that he left a fair share of his spending money in France before he left. Along came the war, and, of course, the club went to the front in horizon blue. Eighteen months ago, though it was reborn with old points of interest to the Americans and hundreds of new historic places added.

"I learned that the club has cut the battle part of France up into twenty sectors' and tha teach will be mapped out and a guide book printed showing where such and such an incident of the war happened—a sort of thumbnail account. I heard that the guides are already rehearsing descriptions of the war's battles and that every time a guide relates a battle the number of German casualties goes up surprisingly. The club, according to the main office, plans to establish an information office in this city and in other American ports.

Plan Monuments for Americans

"One of the plans of the organization is to erect monuments in the villages where Americans fought. It was reported in Paris, but I was unable to verify it, that the company had obtained a lease of part of the Marne battlefield. Already the company has sent circulars to the villages and towns requesting the mayors to tell the folk not to remove signs of the war and to keep them bright for the expected tourists.

"One of the points that is expected to prove a gold mine is in the Argonne, near Varennes. It was captured by the Germans early in 1914, and on two hill-sides and in the intervening valley the Germans erected permanent barracks for two divisions of troops. The piece de resistance of this spot is the 'Prince's Eitel Frederich and is a two-storey fine building, with electric lights, tiled bathrooms, and mighty well furnished. Down in the valley the Germans put up a theatre, and the whole settlement was left untouched. The see-the-war-personally-conducted lads are thinking of turning the troop barracks into sleeping quarters for American tourists—they think it ought to be 'big'—and charge a couple of francs to inspect the Prince's habitat and a couple more to see movies of the German retreat in the theatre.

"As for the famous Hindenburg line—the club is going to get revenue out of that, too. The scheme, as I got it, is to make the sightseeing trips fit in with the nationality of the visitor. Some sector will be entirely for the British, points where the British forces fought; others will be for the American, like Chateau-Thierry, Cantigny, and the Verdun-Toul stretch."

"ARCHIES" BAG 200 PLANES.

First Official Statement Shows Result of Work in France During 1918.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—The first statement issued officially emphasizes the great value and high standard of work performed by the anti-aircraft guns, searchlights and machine guns in France. The anti-aircraft's total bag in France in 1918 was as follows:

Hostile planes crashed or forced down in our lines, 174.

Hostile planes forced down out of control, 73.

During the same period special anti-aircraft machine guns used by the infantry accounted for for 27 hostile planes, making a grand total for ten and a half months 274 hostile planes.

CATCHING A SPY.

The curtain is now lifted in regard to at least one of the dozen spies shot at the Tower of London during the war. He was tracked by the alertness of a woman postal censor.

"One letter," she says, "made me suspicious from the first time I saw it. The writing was in lines half an inch apart. I could discover nothing wrong, however, until I noticed a peculiar little mark, almost indistinguishable, at the bottom of a page. I could not explain it. Experiment proved that it had been made by invisible ink. The visible writing was innocence itself, but the invisible writing told of the movements of ships and soldiers, of fortifications and docks. The letter wound up with, "To-morrow Dublin."

"To Dublin the Hun went, and his letter from Ireland was further evidence of his guilt. He was caught on arrival in London and execution followed."

FIND MAN DEAD, SEARCH FOR MYSTERIOUS BLONDE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—August Cella, thirty-five years old, was found dead in bed by Policeman John Wilkesman, of the Morrisania Station, who had been called in by tenants of the house to investigate a water leak.

The policeman found water overflowing the bath tub and a gas stove that had been burning in the bathroom threatened to set fire to the house. The body of Cella was found in an adjoining room. Dr. Karl Kennally said that death was caused by pulmonary congestion.

Detectives Philip Murphy and Michael Mooney were informed by neighbours that a "mysterious blonde woman" had been seen in the apartment since Cella moved in on December 19 last. A search for the woman has been begun.

Royalty's Thanks to Canada.

Just before embarkation in England a letter from the King and Queen was presented to each soldier leaving for Canada on the Aquitania. It reads:

"Buckingham Palace, 1918.

"The Queen and I wish you Godspeed, a safe return to the happiness and joy of home-life, with an early restoration to health.

"A grateful mother country thanks you for faithful services.

(Signed) "GEORGE R.I."

Only One Left.

At the camp Y.M.C.A. a lonesome and pathetic-looking soldier sat playing the phonograph. His mouth was drawn and he appeared homesick. The tune he was playing was "There's No Place Like Home." He played the record again and again. Finally a sympathetic "Y" secretary asked him if he was blue and thinking of the folks at home. "Naw," replied the soldier. "I ain't thinkin' of nothin'. All the other records are bus ed."

Expert Testimony.

In Centreville Police Court recently, a resident of the district was charged with a violation of the O.T.A., the case resting upon the "hardness" or "softness" of certain cider. A local clergyman was of the opinion that it at least had "a stick" in it. The defendant denied either stick or kick. Representatives of the local press were asked by the court to sample the exhibit and give their expert opinion. "Sweet," they ruled forthwith!

CHINESE IN AMERICA

ORIENTALS WERE HERE BEFORE COLUMBUS.

The Name Given to British Columbia By Them Was "Great Han," and Their Records Preserve Queer Tales of the Races That They Found on This Continent.

CHINA, which has claimed the invention of gunpowder and printing and roast pig and the compass, is said to have discovered America long before the time of Columbus. According to documents of another era, Chinese voyagers discovered Mexico and landed there, some time in 499 A.D.

The Chinese annals record that the Kingdom of Fu-Sang (which is thought to be Mexico) was situated to the east of the Middle Kingdom, twenty thousand Chinese miles to the southward of the Great Han (British Columbia). It took its name from the tree, fu-sang, from which its inhabitants obtained food, cloth, fibre and wood. In the same annals is described the Kingdom of the Woman, situated about one thousand Chinese miles south of Fu-Sang. And some seven thousand Chinese miles north-east of Japan was the land of the Marked Bodies, inhabited by men who were tatooed, and the Men with Dogs' Heads.

That the ancient Chinese had some knowledge of the American continent has been believed for a long time. In 1753 Philippe Bauche, a French writer, published a treatise in which he stated that the Chinese had established a colony on the Gulf of California in 458, calling the land Fu-Sang. In 1761 an eminent French scholar, M. de Guignes, published another treatise, in which he also referred to the Chinese discovery of America. Since that time scholars and investigators have argued the question pro and con. In 1885 a further word was said by Edward P. Vining in his "An Inglorious Columbus," in which he seems to have proved that the Land of Marked Bodies is the Aleutian Islands; the country of the Great Han, British Columbia; Fu-Sang, Mexico, and the Kingdom of Women, Central America.

Huei-Sen, a Chinese traveller, has left behind him the story of his fellow countryman's voyage to America. In the annals it is written:

"In the first year of the reign of the Tsi dynasty a shamahi (travelling priest) named Huei-Sen came to King-Chen from the land of Fu-Sang, relating the following narrative:

"Fu-Sang is situated twenty thousand li (Chinese miles) or more to the east of the country of the great Han (which also is situated east of the country of the middle Kingdom). It produced many fu-sang trees, whence comes its name. The leaves of the fu-sang are like those of the tree that the Chinese call tong. Its first shoots look like those of the bamboo. The inhabitants of the country eat them, as also the fruit, which is in the form of a pear, although of red color. From its bark thread is made, which they weave to make their clothing. They also make from it fine clothes and brocades. The houses in which they live are made of grass. They have neither fortress nor walled cities. They had a kind of writing, and they make paper from the bark of the fu-sang. They have no weapons, nor do they make war.

"The laws of the country ordain that there shall be two prisons, one of them in the north, and the other in the south. Those who commit offenses of little importance are confined in the prison of the south, but those who commit grave crimes are confined in the prison of the north. Those who are confined in the prison of the south may be pardoned while those in the prison of the north may not. The men and women in the prison of the north may marry, but their children become slaves, the boys at the age of eight and the girls at the age of nine.

"When a person of high rank commits a crime, the inhabitants of the country gather in a great assembly and judge him while seated at the bottom of an excavation. They hold a feast and a banquet in his presence, and may take leave of him as a dying man. If he is sentenced to death, they cover him with ashes. If his crime is of the first degree, only the criminal is punished. If of the second degree, his children and grandchildren are punished. If it is of the third degree, six generations are punished.

"The King of the country bears the title of chief of the multitude. The nobles of the first category are the tuilu; those of the second category, the little tui-lu; those of the third category, the na-to-oba. When the king leaves his palace he moves preceded and followed by drums and trumpets. The color of his vestments changes according to the course of the years. The first and second year (of a cycle of ten), they are blue; the third and fourth, they are red; the fifth and sixth, they are yellow; the seventh and eighth, they are white; and the ninth and tenth, they are black.

"The oxen of Fu-Sang have enormous horns and can endure great burdens. The inhabitants keep their wealth in empty horns, some of which are twenty times as large as the common ones. Oxen, horses and deer are employed to draw the vehicles. The inhabitants of the country have herds of deer, just as the Chinese have herds of cattle. They make cheese from milk. They have a kind of red pear that keeps a year without rotting, and they also have tomatoes. In the country iron is not found, but copper is. Gold and silver have no value. In their markets there are neither taxes nor fixed prices.

"As to marriage, he who desires to marry a young woman constructs a house in front of the house in which she lives. For the period of a year, in the morning and afternoon, he cleans and waters the front of his house. If the maiden does not accept him then, he goes somewhere else, but if they please each other mutually the wedding is celebrated. The ceremonies are almost the same as those in the Middle Kingdom. When the father, the mother, the wife or the son dies, the relatives fast seven days; when the older brother dies the younger brother, the older brother of the father, the younger brother of the father, an older sister or a younger sister, three days. They place on a pedestal an image that represents the person who has died, and they reverence and offer libations morning and evening. They do not wear mourning.

"The prince who inherits the throne does not occupy himself with affairs of government until three years after his accession. In ancient times they were ignorant and they did not know the religion of Buddha, but in the reign of the dynasty of Sung, in the second year of the period called Taming, five men of the country of Ki-Pin, who were pi-ou, paid a visit to the people already mentioned and made known to them the laws of Buddha, his sacred books and his images. They taught the people the rules of the monastic life, and at last caused the redness of their customs to disappear."

The Kingdom of the Women was inhabited by a strange race, mostly of the gentler sex. They were very straight, pure white in color and covered with long hair. The women ruled the land. In the year 507 Chinese mariners were swept to the shore of the Land of the Women and were received hospitably. The women resembled those of the Middle Kingdom, but their language was unintelligible. Their clothes were of cotton and the houses of baked clay and circular in form, with very small doors.

The land of the Marked Bodies was inhabited by the tattooed beings, who lived in walled cities. They were hospitable. The king's residence was surrounded by "silver water" (quicksilver), over which water flowed when it rained.

The country of the Great Han was peopled by a gentle race, which carried no weapons and made no war. They enforced their laws by giving criminals over to the wild beasts.

That there is truth in the assertion of the Chinese chronicler is indicated by his description of the inhabitants and by the fact that the descendants of the peoples of whom he wrote bear strong evidence of having Chinese blood in their veins. Eskimos are of Mongolian origin. Mexican Indians, too, bear the stamp of the Chinese race.

Canada's Great Record.

Canada's contribution to the Red Cross is the greatest per capita in the world. The total contribution is $12,000,000 in cash and $15,000,000 in supplies. Of the cash contributions $7,000,000 was spent by the British Red Cross and $5,000,000 by the Canadian Red Cross. The total cash contribution of the British Red Cross is £11,250,000 from all sources. Of this amount Great Britain contributed £5,000,000, while the overseas Dominions, India, United States, and neutral countries contributed £6,250,000. Great Britain's contribution to the Red Cross is £5,000,000, compared with Canada's £2,500,000. Canada's contribution in supplies shows an even more favorable comparative record

ECZEMA ON BABY'S EAR

Mrs. F. Clarke, Belmont, Man., writes: "My baby had eczema on her ear. The sore was very bad and nothing seemed to do her very much good. Hearing of the remarkable cure Dr. Chase's Ointment was making, we sent for some, and after the third application the sore began to heal. I am glad to say that it is quite well now. Ointment. We cannot recommend this and we give the credit to Dr. Chase's preparation too highly."

Company Farming Succeeds.

"Is it possible for groups of people in many of our cities, towns, and even villages to undertake some form of company-farming?" This question is being asked in a circular letter just issued by the Organization of Resources Committee of Ontario. The idea is to enlarge the activities from community gardening schemes to grain production on farm lands. Groups of business men and others in urban centres are urged to organize now in order to take over good vacant land in the neighborhood and get it ready for cultivation so that it may produce a 1919 crop. Company-farming operations are now being carried out with a great deal of success at St. Catharines, Sarnia, Windsor, Owen Sound, Weston and Oshawa. Citizens of every town are asked to get together and talk it over.

The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative; are absolutely free from opiates, narcotics or other harmful drugs and may be given to the youngest baby with perfect safety and good results. ### MEAT AND POTATO PIE.

Slice into a greased baking dish two good sized onions and six big potatoes, add one teaspoon salt, cover with water, set over fire and bring to a boil. Then add one to two cups meat stock or some gravy and about one cup meat (any kind), cut in small pieces. Cover dish and cook until potatoes begin to grow tender, then stir in carefully one tablespoon flour until smooth in a little water. Next make a batter, using one cup flour, half teaspoon salt and one teaspoon baking powder, and enough milk to make a stiff batter. Drop by spoonfuls over the top of the meat mixture and bake in oven until crust is brown.

POTATO BISCUITS.

To one cup mashed potatoes add one cup flour, sifted with four teaspoons baking powder and half teaspoon salt. Then add two tablespoons fat, melted, and half cup milk, or less. Add milk very slowly. The moisture in the potatoes will vary, so that sometimes very little milk will be required. Should be like baking powder biscuits. Roll one inch thick and bake 12 to 15 minutes in hot oven. Makes six biscuits.

SALMON LOAF.

Remove skin and bone from one can salmon and divide into small flakes, add three-fourths cup milk, one or two well beaten eggs, one tablespoon butter or shortening, melted, one teaspoon salt, pepper to taste, and about two cups mashed potatoes. You may use one cup each of mashed potatoes and bread crumbs. Put in well-greased baking tin and bake about half hour.

Pte. Wm. Parcels returned on Saturday from overseas.

Mr. Rogers is getting the rink prepared for skating.

Death has again visited our village and taken from our midst one of our young men, Hugh Lennox, only son of Mr. Wm. Lennox.

Deceased was in his nineteenth year, and was a favourite with his boy friends.

Nearly five months ago he came home from Peterborough, where he had been working and where he had contracted influenza. More serious complications set in, which finally settled on his lungs, and although every aid was given him, he passed away on Sunday morning at eleven-thirty.

His father and two sisters, Mrs. J. Rogers and Miss Beatrice, are left to mourn his early loss.

The funeral took place on Tuesday morning to the Norwood cemetery, the service being conducted by Rev. A. M. Irwin.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

TAKE A GLASS OF SALTS BEFORE BREAKFAST IF YOUR BACK HURTS OR BLADDER IS TROUBLING YOU.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver troubles, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat, and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

GOOD ROADS WOULD PAY BIG DIVIDENDS

Warden Anderson in speaking said he should always remember that he was the servant of the people he represented and when the people said they wanted it he was prepared to vote for it. Warden Anderson took exception to the statement that the county could withdraw any time from the act, as such would not prove feasible, and he read the Act to the audience. He believed the county was going in but when it did the council wanted to go as nearly right as they knew how. Up until the beginning of the war about half of the counties in the province were in and half out. He found dissatisfaction in some places where the roads had been constructed, due to making the roads too light, mentioning Wentworth county.

He thought that possibly this county would pay money towards the Good Roads System now since the people have been educated to paying larger taxes for war purposes.

Decreasing Population.

Speaking for Otonabee township he claimed that there was a decreasing population which was not encouraging to entering the scheme. The County Council too were authorized by by-law to refrain from spending any large amount of money during the war.

He believed the leading roads placed under a competent man would show as marked improvement as the 20% maintenance would admit of, and felt the Government would be justified in paying 40% for maintenance. With the percentage of roads as at present marked out on the system many would have to go farther than he would like them to go to reach the county roads. He believed the biggest drawback to the county adopting the system was the opposition by the people.

He believed that the county would have a system of county roads in the near future but he would ask the automobile men not to expect too much and on the other hand he did not expect good roads would prove as expensive as those opposed now feared.

Warden Anderson stated that about $5.00 per year per 100 acres was now expended on roads in the county. He put the question that with an additional $10.00 we could have good roads. When we have a measure satisfactory to ourselves the County Council will adopt it.

Reeve Brown of Asphodel said he was ready to support the Good Roads System if the people he represented wanted it. He thought that 20 to 1 were against the adoption of it in his township.

Chairman E. McDonald of the U.F.O. said he would like to see a system of good roads along the lines spoken of by Warden Anderson.

Reeve B. W. Squire of Norwood said that as Otonabee paid one-quarter of the taxes he did not feel like forcing his opinion upon those who pay the taxes.

The first speaker of the evening, Mr. S. L. Squire, then replied. He said that he and Mr. Anderson merely differed on maintenance. There was no such thing as permanence of roads. Grades and drainage could be made permanent but the top dressing required maintenance, like the shingling of a barn.

He believed that a great deal of the benefit lost by the county would be made up in the lessons learned from the experience of other counties.

In conclusion he thought it was a mistake for the county to isolate itself by poor roads and people would be inclined to leave for other parts.

This department also supplies free "orthopaedic" appliances to correct as far as possible injuries to the feet, legs and arms; also special boots, splints, braces, etc. To those who need them, it also gives free surgical appliances such as trusses, spectacles, spinal supports, glass eyes, abdominal supports.

A Government factory has been established at Toronto to make artificial limbs. Here standard patterns, embodying the best ideas known, are manufactured.

In this work expert advice is given by surgeons who have seen overseas service, and who are in constant touch with similar work in other countries.

An experimental department is maintained for developing practical applications of new ideas, and for testing out all new appliances that become available in Canada or foreign countries.

Repair parts for standard patterns are kept in stock at fitting depots in the following centres: Halifax, Fredericton, St. John, Montreal, Ottawa, Kingston, Hamilton, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton, Vancouver, Victoria.

At these depots there are experienced fitters who make repairs and adjustments under the supervision of surgeons. They also fit to individual patients appliances received in the rough from the factory.

These depots are so located that those requiring renewals, repairs or adjustments can get them free without travelling long distances. If there is no fitting depot in the patient's town, he is instructed by the Department's Medical Officer to travel to the nearest depot. He is furnished with free first class railway tickets, an allowance to cover meals and other expense, and an allowance to apply against loss of time from his work. If he must remain there for longer than a week he is maintained at the Department's expense, and he and his dependents receive the same allowances as if he were in hospital.

Artificial limbs, orthopaedic and surgical appliances are furnished free only when their issue is authorized by a Medical Officer of the Department. These representatives are listed alongside.

Lunatic Amuck With Revolvers Takes 3 Lives

Religious Fanatic Calls Himself "Son of Jesus Christ."

Two Victims Policemen— Reader of Anarchist German Books—Power House His Amusement.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—With a loaded revolver in each hand, a man aged about 30, who gave his name as "Omega, son of Jesus Christ," ran amuck through the streets near the centre of the city, shooting in every direction, as a big crowd tried to capture him. Before he was finally overtaken and beaten into insensibility by a motorcycle policeman he had shot and killed three men and wounded five others, two of them seriously.

The dead are: Thomas Holloran, an employee of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company, and John Knox and George Dingall, policemen.

According to the police, the man is a religious fanatic, and had become obsessed with the idea that the spirit of his father was being tortured in the powerhouse of the transit company where he shot the first two victims.

Shoots Policeman.

Rushing out of the powerhouse before employees realized what had happened, the crazed man fled through the streets with a crowd of civilians and policemen in pursuit. Two blocks away he came directly upon Policeman Dingall, who was standing in the centre of the street directing traffic. With a wild cry he darted at the policeman, firing as he ran. Dingall fell mortally wounded.

All the time the pursuing crowd was growing in numbers, and after a chase of about a mile Motorcycle Policemen Knox and Heron overtook him. Finding that he was trapped, the man wheeled around and thrust the revolvers against the bodies of both policemen and pulled the triggers. The one pointed at Knox went off and killed him instantly, but that directed against Heron missed fire and the officer shot the maniac in the leg and beat him unconscious.

Rescued From Mob.

The crowd leaped upon him, but he was finally rescued and taken to a hospital.

A note book found in the man's clothing contains a list of all powerhouses in Philadelphia, and in his room were found quantities of religious and anarchistic literature printed in Italian and German. At his rooming-house he was known as George Lombo, but beyond this no information was obtainable.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

Two British Statesmen

FOR those whose memory of the British House of Commons goes back over a period of 28 years, there is something almost incredible in the history of the obscure Welsh solicitor who, coming to town from an unpronounceable Welsh village, whose name is a confusion of consonants (his postal address was Mynddedny-dif Criccieth), has risen to the highest position open to a British citizen. For such an one to become Prime Minister would be a supreme achievement. Mr. Lloyd George is something beyond the status of a Prime Minister. He became an autocrat in degree never reached by Peel or Palmerstone, Gladstone or Disraeli.

There is a unique condition connected with his eminence. The statesmen named were raised to power the result of winning the esteem and confidence of the home population. These Lloyd George possesses in full measure. Beyond it he was supported by the confidence, the enthusiastic admiration of Britain's allies. He was as fully trusted by the Governments of the United States and France, as popular with their people, as he is within the border of the British Isles, and of the colonies that have played so splendid a part in the fighting line. This unparalleled circumstance adds immeasurably to his personal predominance in Parliament, in Cabinet Council, in London and throughout the provinces.

Not least of his triumph is the ascendancy obtained and maintained over his colleagues in the Cabinet. It would be difficult to exaggerate the delicacy of his task. Among those of Liberal faith he is leader of only a section. More than half of the party remain faithful to its old leader, whose deposition, though condoned in view of exigencies of the war, has never been forgiven. The rest belongs to the Tory aristocrats whom Lloyd George at the outset of his career fought with a fierce tenacity. Mr. Balfour, Lord Curson, Mr. Walter Long and the rest have hitherto loyally suffered his leadership.

The House was chuckling the other day over a story about Mr. Balfour and his esteemed chief. "What I do not like about Lloyd George," the Foreign Secretary is reported to have said to an old friend, "is his inaccuracy." With the privilege of ancient intimacy his interlocutor pointed out that Mr. Balfour himself had during his term of office, occasionally, in ordered speech, bungled over names and figures. "Oh, yes," he airily replied, "but that was ignorance." The wit of the innuendo delighted the House.

Amongst rumors that have intermittently fluttered the clubs and lonby of the British House within recent months, one has pointed to the return of Mr. Asquith to official life in conjunction with the present Ministry. Always improbable it was never less likely than it is to-day. It is sufficiently strange to see Mr. Balfour working in subordinate office under Mr. Lloyd George, whom in times past he condescendingly encountered in frequent combat. The case of Mr. Asquith is altogether different. For an exceptionally lengthy period he was the head of an administration in whose formation he, amid cries of anguished indignation from some of the Premier's present Cabinet colleagues; made Mr. Lloyd George Chancellor of the Exchequer. Since his retirement from the Premiership he has studiously abstained from the attitude of personal recrimination in which a man of less magnanimity would, in the circumstances, have been tempted to indulge. To go back and occupy a position in a Cabinet presided over by his former protege, is more than might reasonably be expected, even from one of his highmindedness.

Apart from fantastic rumor, Mr. Asquith's future continues to be a matter of keen interest and frequent conjecture in political circles. His speech at the recent unveiling of his portrait, now hanging on the walls of the dining-room at the Reform Club, was not reported in the newspapers. Being addressed to fellow members of a private club, it was regarded as outside the range of public information. There was one signicant passage to which reference may be made without breach of confidence, since it sets forth a fact Mr. Asquith himself is desirous of having made known as widely as possible to whom it may concern. Acknowledging the honor done to him in having his portrait added to the gallery of modern British statesmen who adorn the walls of the club, he said his acknowledgment might be accepted as a valedictory speech. "Nothing could be remoter from the fact," he said. "I have no intention," he continued, with the tightening of the lips and movement of the shoulders that accompany the more important passages of his speech, "of withdrawing from the political arena to watch from the stalls or the boxes what is going on." A prolonged burst of cheering from the crowded room of the historic Liberal quarter indicated quick apprehension of the meaning of this notification and hearty approval of it.

Not a Hungry Crocodile.

In the Edinburgh, Scotland, zoo there is a crocodile that is content with a rat or a piece of horseflesh every fortnight. There is an anaconda which arrived more than a year ago and has since steadily refused to take food of any kind, an example of abstention surpassed, however, by an Indian python which during its thirteen months' stay has not voluntarily taken food.

The Atlantic Record.

The Mauretania of the Cunard Line holds the record for the Atlantic passage, having made the trip from Queenstown to New York on Sept. 11-16, 1910, in four days, ten hours and forty-one minutes.

Frederick the Great.

On the seventeenth of August, 1786, died the most remarkable sovereign Prussia has yet produced. Carlyle describes him as a king without the trappenings; no crown but an old military hat and not godlike in physiognomy: close-shut mouth with thin lips, prominent jaws, with a head of long form. His face bore the evidence of many sorrows and much hard labor, and seemed to anticipate nothing but much more to come; a snuffy nose rather flung into the air under its old cocked hat—like an old snuffy lion on the watch! and a pair of eyes as no man, lion or lynx of that century bore. He presented himself in Spartan simplicity. This was Frederick II at home; among the common people who loved him, he was Father Fred—a name of familiarity which had not bred contempt in that instance. This portrait strongly reminds one of Kaiser Wilhelm—because it is so diametrically opposite.

Julius Caesar Timid.

To find Julius Caesar applying for and getting exemption from military service, as he has done at Spalding, is something of a shock. But this is one of the names which prove that names are not everything.

The most famous bearer of it—at a long interval from the great Roman—Julius Caesar, the old all-England cricketer, was of an extraordinarily nervous temperament. His colleague, Calbyn, has told how he was always afraid to sleep by himself at a strange hotel for fear somebody might have died there at some time.

"Julie" was also in nightly terror of fire, would never sleep in a room above the first floor, and often roused Calbyn at night with a cry that the fire had come at last.—London Chronicle.

Hospital Base at New York.

A number of large structures in New York city, including the old Greenhut department store in Sixth avenue, which has 23 acres of floor space, have been taken over by the army medical department for the purpose of creating a hospital base of at least 50,000 beds.

Making Tin Plate in Australia.

The supplies of tin plate for Australasia, the value of which amounts to over $12,000,000 per year, are drawn from Great Britain and America; but recently the lack of shipping and other difficulties have led to a serious shortage in deliveries. A leading Australian producer of steel has accordingly arranged to establish tin-plate works which will eventually supply the whole of the antipodal demand. Plenty of tin is available in Australia as well as the necessary steel. The company in question, in addition to supplying steel for Australia, has sent considerable quantities of munitions steel to Great Britain and has also opened up trade with South Africa by supplying 20,000,000 tons of steel rails.—Scientific American.

Candy a Splendid Food

One of the most attractive forms in which food can be eaten —is candy.

Candy is composed principally of sugar, nuts, fruits, some fats, such as butter, and chocolate.

All these ingredients are recognized by eminent medical authorities as food products, which the system craves and demands.

Let us examine their food values separately.

We all know that sugar is a body-building essential; about one-quarter pound of sugar being required by an adult every twenty-four hours.

Nuts and fruits yield a high percentage of nutritious materials.

Fats supply the bodily fuel and should be used in every dietary.

Chocolate is a delightful stimulant, especially valuable in restoring energy.

Combine these ingredients and are they not still food?—satisfying, nutritious, essential, and in a most delightful and properly balanced form.

Eat more candy. Candy is beneficial to all and harmful to none.

CALGARY MUST ACT

Veteran Says Comrades Will see That Aliens Do Not Get All Jobs

Calgary, Jan. 31.—Before a meeting of city officials and representatives of a number of organizations in the city, President A. Hazeldon, of the G.W.V.A., declared that if Calgary wishes to avoid the recent experiences of Winnipeg with returned soldiers, something would have to be done. "A little more Bolshevism and waving of the red flag will put the spark into the magazine," he said. "The men who fought for democracy are not going to go hungry while aliens and slackers get all the jobs."

SUBURBAN HOMERS WIN WITH FLIGHTS OF 1,000 MILES

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Homers from Manhattan and those who sojourn forty-five minutes from Broadway, at New Rochelle, tied at the poultry show in the Garden for first honours for birds with attested records. Four victories were recorded for each of these concourses, but the suburban birds were given the top honours through the victory of Oscar W. Ospann's adult male in the class for birds with a record of 1,000 miles or better. The winner was a blue Sheppard, which flew from Florida to its home loft last autumn. The winner in the 1,000 mile class for hens was a blue, entered by C. Mentze, of Newark, N.J.

Doctor Tells How To Strengthen Eyesight 50 per cent In One Week's Time in Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home

Philadelphia, Pa. Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "It was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eye two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note: Another prominent Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." It is sold in this city by Warne Drug Co. and Others.

Fish Getting Favorite Food

So great has been the demand for Ontario government fish that the sales branch of the Fisheries Department is confronted with a shortage at the time when the demand is the heaviest. Last fall 200 tons of choice fish were put into storage, and it was expected that this quantity, together with what was caught during the winter, would provide sufficient to fill all the orders. Instead of falling off, however, the demand for these appetizing fresh water fish has increased.

Already, it is understood, orders have been received which would more than take all the fish in storage to fill. Consequently, the department has had to adopt a rationing system and fill the orders piecemeal. During the Lenten season, which is now but a few weeks' distant, the demand is usually the greatest, and this year the government will be unable to meet it. In fact it is expected that all the fish in storage will have been sold about the time Lent begins.

While the department cannot meet the demands this year, it is preparing to do business on a bigger scale during the coming season. Indications are, from the number of fishermen's licenses applied for, that there will be approximately three times as many fishermen operating this year as last. With the Government permitted to take 20 per cent. of the season's catch, and with so many more fishermen operating, the supply available for sale by the department will be greatly increased. Then, two half a dozen more lakes are being opened up for fishing this season.

B. C. DESERTERS ARE TO LOSE FRANCHISE

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 31.—According to an announcement made by Premier Oliver an amendment to the Provincial Elections Act is to be introduced to the Legislature at the forthcoming session and will be designed to disfranchise all deserters in the province of British Columbia. In other words, all those males who came within the operation of the Military Service Act who failed to get exemption at the hands of the tribunals and absented themselves from military duty against the law will lose their privilege of the ballot.

Spanking Doesn't Cure

Don't think children can be cured of bed-wetting by spanking them. The trouble is constitutional, the child cannot help it. I will send to any mother my successful home treatment, with full instructions. If your children trouble you in this way, send no money, but write me to-day. My treatment is highly recommended to parents troubled with urine difficulties by those who have used it.

The Quick Way to Stop a Cough

This home-made syrup does the work in a hurry. Highly prepared. and saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pinex 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a 16-oz. bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make 16 ounces—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

A Deceptive Word.

A French soldier, with a slight knowledge of English, always carried a pocket dictionary, so that he could look up familiar words, relates Judge. He had an excellent voice, and often sang French songs for his English and America comrades. One day a Canadian charmed with the Frenchman's voice, said to him: "You have a fine, mellow voice." Mellow was a new word to the Frenchman, so he pulled out his dictionary, and found: "Mellow. Overripe, rotten, soft, friable, tipsy."

"Back to Mufti."

"Back to Mufti" is the name of a magazine to be published by the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment. It succeeds "Reconstruction," the monthly bulletin which has been issued by the department for some time past. The magazine will be devoted exclusively to the problem of the returned soldier.

"Sea Wolf's Ship a Total Wreck.

The famous schooner Halcyon, originally a fast yacht, later the most successful smuggler of the Pacific, still later operated in the sealing trade by Capt. Alex. McLean, the original of Jack London's "Sea Wolf," and yet later a whaler of the Arctic, is now a total wreck at Akutan, Alaska.

.. A HUNDRED YEARS AGO ..

An old settler, R. E. Scanland, of Minneola Springs, remembers when he and his brother were chased out of a field by deer because they ventured too near the fawns. In his boyhood he built traps to catch quail which he sold for fifteen cents a dozen at a butter's shop.

"I recall in those days we killed our hogs in the woods, where they were fattened on acorns, and we could have all the honey we wanted by going into the timber and chopping down a bee tree. And just think of it! There was a rise in the price of wheat, and it got to be worth three bits (37½ cents) a bushel struck) measure. Good horses were worth $20 to $24 and oxen $15 to $20 a yoke. Milk cows from $7 to $13 each. The kind of rails Abe Lincoln made cost thirty-seven and one half cents per 100—that is the price for making them. A negro would hire by the year for $40 for the twelve months and two suits of cotton or linen clothing and two blankets. The best class of work hands got $8 a month and the common ones $3 to $4 a month. All of our shoes and clothing were hand-made and yet those were our happiness days, even if we did have biscuits only once a week and that on Sunday morning. Venison and wild turkey, with old-fashioned cornbread Johnny cake and trimmings were good enough for us and made life worth the living."

GOT SOMETHING FOR NOTHING

When a person gets something for nothing, said something usually contains a joker or has a string attached to it. For instance, a certain preacher received from a patent medicine company an offer to provide his church with song books free of any charge. It was explained that there would be a few ads in the front and back of the books, but that these ads would not be offensive to the members of the congregation, since the books were being secured for nothing. The preacher gave the order and the books arrived. He found the ads to be mildly worded and decided to use the books. He explained from the pulpit how the books had been secured, and announced that they would sing No. 274. Imagine the people's surprise when on reaching the second verse they found themselves singing "Hark the Heavenly angels sing, Johnson's pills are just the thing; Angelic voices sweet and mild—two for man and one for child."

"A fellow in a neighboring town recently gave notice that unless a buggy whip was returned to a certain place, the name of the person who took it would be published in the paper. The following morning he found seventeen buggy whips in the place designated.

BE A BOOSTER

The American Lumberman has some timely advice on this subject that is as applicable in our town as anywhere else. It says that if you want to see this town grow you should remember that you are a part of it and that its growth depends as much on you as on your neighbors. Don't get the idea that the future prosperity of this town rests with a few, for it is the business of the many. Above ally, don't criticize those who are building up the community and do nothing yourself. They at least have the proper spirit and just as long as you deny them your support, just that much harder their work will be. Be a booster for the town and lend your co-operation to those who had the nerve to start first. It is never too early, to start and it is never too late to begin.

How many persons know what is liable to happen when a pint of gasoline is left open in a room? If the temperature is normal the liquid will entirely evaporate in twenty-four hours. The vapor is heavier than air and therefore sinks to the floor. Unless distributed it will remain for hours and by mixing with the air, forms an explosive compound seven times as powerful as powder. One pint of gasoline will make two hundred cubic feet of this compound. It is not necessary that a lighted match come in contact with it. A spark struck by a nail in a shoe will explode it, or a gas jet, or even the enclosed fire of a kitchen stove.

When you go to a boarding house to eat you select what you want and don't kick because a man eats everything on the table and pays the same as you do. Still you make a roar if something in the newspapers doesn't suit you. It always pleases somebody. Don't be a philosopher about your stomach and a fool about your head.

He is now rated "missing" and supposed to be a wounded prisoner in the enemy's hands.

Nugget Starts Rush to Old Ground.

The finding of a $27 nugget recently on Leech river, 25 miles out of Victoria, B.C., has started a new rush to the placer diggings there, where $500,000 was washed up within three months in the early sixties. Platinum is also being found in the abandoned camp, once the scene of government in the colony of Vancouver Island, and now sells at $105 an ounce.

Ebert Says Berlin Will Continue as the Capital.

(United Press.)

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—Chancellor Ebert declared to-day that Berlin will continue as the capital of Germany "to save the German cause." Considerable opposition has developed recently against a retention of Berlin as the seat of the German government. Practically all the States outside Prussia appeared to favour removal of the capital, with the majority of opinion evidently in favour of Weimar, where the National Assemly will meet.

Nothing Like Internal Bathing For Constipation

If people only knew what Internal Bathing is doing for thousands of others there would be fewer Pills and Laxatives swallowed and very much less suffering from Constipation and the accompanying Stomach and Nervous troubles resulting from it.

Mrs. C. G. M. of Strathroy, Ont., writes: "I am pleased to have this opportunity of testifying to the merits of the 'J. B. L. Cascade.' I have been using it now for a year with satisfactory results. I am an old woman but my health is so improved that I have a renewed lease of life. You are at liberty to give my address to any one privately who may desire to write to me regarding the Cascade."

By the proper application of Nature's cure, warm water, by means of the "J.B.L. Cascade" the lower intestines are kept free from all poisonous waste. Drugs force Nature. Internal Bathing assists her.

Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, a specialist on Internal Bathing, invented and perfected the "J. B. L. Cascade," which has done more during the past 20 years in restoring health and lessening disease than all other means combined. Ask the Warne Drug Co., Peterboro, for Booklet, "Why Man of To-day is Only 50 Per Cent. Efficient." They will also be pleased to show and explain the J. B. L. Cascade to you.

SOLDIER WANTS MARRIAGE ANNULLED

The right to annul marriages is reserved for the Dominion Parliament, was a declaration by Mr. Justice Sutherland at Osgoode Hall yesterday, which gave Reginald Muir-Barlow, of Havelock, Peterboro County, a young man, to hope that his marriage to a young woman on the eve of his going overseas could be set aside in Ontario, but his lordship reserved judgment on the motion to set aside an agreement under which Barlow pays his wife $25 per month. C. W. Kerr, who appeared for Barlow stated that the marriage had not been consumated, and it did not seem right to him that the stigma of the word divorce should be attached to any case of the kind, or that the expense of securing an annulment of such a marriage should be considerable when a change of the law could make procedure by court so much cheaper.

SOURCES OF PLATINUM.

Ninety-five Per Cent. Came From Russian Before the War.

The state of affairs in Russia makes the discovery of platinum in the Serrania de Ronda, in the south of Spain, announced in a special memoir issued by the Geological Institute of Spain, specially interesting. The rocks in this region were studied because of their similarity to the platinum-bearing rocks in the Ural Mountains. The Ural deposits yielded in pre-war days about 300,000 ounces (troy) per annum—about 95 per cent. of the world's yearly output. In 1916 this figure had fallen to 86,000 ounces. Platinum has also been found in some quarts deposits in the Ober Rosbeck district of the Taunus Mountains, Germany, and these deposits are being worked. The chief source of the Entente supplies is now presumably the mines in Columbia, where the metal was first discovered in 1735. Their output is comparatively small; in 1916 it was 25,000 ounces, rather more than double what it was before the war. Other possible sources of supply are the river gravels in Southeast Borneo, where further prospecting is required, and various districts in North America, more especially Sudbury, Ontario, and the stream placers in Alaska, which are being investigated by the United States Geological Survey. Considerable activity is also reported in the Similkameen and Tulameen districts in British Columbia, which are the chief localities of platinum production in Canada. New South Wales has produced some 2,000 ounces in the course of the last five years.—Science Progress.

Meat From Far North.

The prudent and economical citizen whom war has deprived of his sirloin steak will be interested in the statement that in another year or two Alaskan reindeer meat will be coming into the market in sufficient quantities to give the public a chance to partake of choice cuts at reasonable prices.

Inspired by the example of Uncle Sam, Canada is now encouraging reindeer breeding in its northwest territories, and on the crown lands of the western provinces. An Indiana company has recently applied for and been granted a permit for the use of certain territorial grazing lands for thirty years. Private capital is invited to invest in the industry, which is regarded as an important feature of Canada's future development.

The western ranges long ago ceased to furnish any important source of beef supply in the United States, due to the settlement of these districts by farmers and the utilizing of the ranges for growing crops. Canada and Alaska have vast tracks of land suitable for the reindeer industry, but too far north for cattle to do well. In this situation reindeer ranches promise profitable earnings, as well as some relief to the public in market prices.

Tank's Crew Active.

A tank crew's activity is not necessarily terminated if their ship is put out of commission, as was proved several times. One sergeant got out of a disabled tank, took command of an infantry platoon, and fought for two days. The crew of a second tank, when their unnatural means of locomotion went out of commission, detached their machine guns and went forward as an improvised machine gun squad. An another occasion an officer, seeing an American tank stalled, asked for two volunteers to replace two gunners who had been wounded. Everybody volunteered, but the officer would take only two. A dispute followed which was settled in a military manner. There were two lieutenants in the tank. They issued an order to themselves to go and then instructed all the enlisted men to stand by the tank.

The Tanks.

The tanks usually line up and start from a tape very much like foot racers at a track meet. The tape is laid by reconnaissance men. It is usually a little distance behind the front line. On one occasion, so it seemed to the tank men, it wasn't very far behind the front line, however. On the other hand it seemed to be in front of it. The tanks got under way all right, but they had gone only a few yards when they found themselves in the thick of it with German machine-gun nests on all sides. The men that laid that tape," observed the sergeant, "was the greatest optimist I ever saw."

Institution of Masonic Lodge Was Followed By Banquet Last Evening

Two Hundred and Sixty Members of the Masonic Fraternity Participated—A Presentation.

THE ADDRESSES

Following the conclusion of the Institution Ceremony in connection with the dedication of the new lodge, the brethren assembled at the Empress Hotel, to attend the banquet and fraternal conference. As provision had to be made to entertain as many as two hundred and sixty, not only was the large dining room set with its usual ample number of tables, but additional service was provided in the main rotunda, by two long tables. When all had been seated it was found that no more than the accommodation provided would be necessary. It was the largest gathering held under Craft auspices for many years.

The banquet was most excellent and the service notably and conspicuously good. At such gatherings it is often the case that the service is retarded by the throng and by need of sufficient skilled help. So well had the host arranged matters that the viands were served with promptitude and decorum. This feature elicited general approval. The handsome room was profusely decorated and everything done for the comfort of the brethren.

Guests of the Evening.

At the head table, extending across the room were seated the guests of the evening, grouped on each hand of the chairman, Rgt. W. Bro. Kenner. These included M. M. Bro W. H. Wardrope, K.G., Grand Master, Rgt. W. Bro. W. M. Logan, Grand Secretary, Rgt. W. Bro. Pearson, Act. Dir. of Cer., and many of the local brethren, including Rgt. W. Bros. D. Walker, E. H. D. Hall, Benj. Shortly, R. Thorndyke, (Millbrook), Dr. S. P. Ford, (Norwood), H. C. Winch, H. Rush, D. Burritt, (Toronto), and several others.

The chairman, in a brief address of welcome, referred to the occasion of the day, and to the satisfaction of the local ladies at the completion of an important work, the housing of the Craft.

Opening Toast.

"The Grand Lodge of A. F. & A. M. of Canada in the Province of Ontario," the first toast, was proposed by Rgt. W. Bro. D. Walker, and in so doing said that the Craft in the city having gone through the ordeal of fire, and risen pheonix like from the ashes, was some evidence that some virtue had triumphed over trials. There was ample evidence that the local Craft had been governed wisely and well by a long succession of rulers well chosen and faithful to the trust. In a larger sense this applied to the Grand Lodge, and these things were well exemplified in the person of the present incumbent who would address the gathering, the immediate Grand Master.

Then Rgt. W. Bro. J. L. Goodwill rose, and stating that a pleasant duty was to be performed, handed with expressions of good will and appreciation, a handsome club bag to the Grand Master, adding that it was a most pleasing thing that so busy a professional man should take the time to come and dedicate the new home of the local Craft.

M. W. Bro. Wardrope, on rising, expressed his thanks for the gift, which was acceptable and would be useful, and in carrying it he would also carry his remembrance of the kindness of brethren in making the gift. He followed this by saying that he agreed most heartily with the statement of Rgt. W. Bro. Walker that Masonry brought to the front the best of men, both in an administrative and in a personal sense. His own elevation to the governing chair had been a personal gratification, realizing that the jurisdiction over which the Grand Lodge presided was one of the most important on the continent.

A New Country.

Then departing from the generally accepted tradition that the Grand Master should talk about Grand Lodge only, he gave a most interesting relation of his experiences when on official visits to the Masonic districts in the north country, which has been newly developed, from a Masonic point of view. He had gone for two hundred miles beyond Haileybury, in the comparatively unsettled mining district, into the pulp wood and paper territory of Timmins and Cochrane and he was delighted with the class of men he met and who were of the lodges in Masonry. He had a royal welcome. On every hand he found loyalty to the Craft and an earnest progress. At Iroquois Falls, and all along the difficult route the spirit developed was most surprising, and the progress remarkable. Many instances were related of the fraternal benefits accruing to men from their connection with the Craft. It was a great leavening influence in the lives of the people who were hewing out their subsistence in that unsettled territory.

True Citizens.

He found the same spirit at Cobalt.

PETERBORO' VILLAGES WANT HYDRO LINE FROM HEALEY'S FALLS

Representatives of the County Council, City Council and Board of Trade arranged last night to send a deputation to Toronto in the near future to urge upon the Hydro-Electric commission the desirability of stringing the new power line from Healey's Falls through or adjacent to the villages of Hastings, Norwood and Havelock. These communities will take at the outset 700 h.p. for lighting and manufacturing, and it is hoped that some effort may be made to supply the farmers along the proposed route

The rural deputation was composed of Reeve Matheson and T. P. Lancaster of Havelock, Reeve Squire of Norwood, Dr. S. H. Hess of Hastings, Reeve Griffith of Belmont, Reeve Moore of Lakefield and Warden McIntosh.

The city's representatives assured their neighbours of their fullest cooperation in supporting their petition. This new line will connect with Peterboro and will form a loop giving the city two direct routes from the Healey Fall's and Campbellford generators.

The villages to the east intend to impress Sir Adam Beck as strongly as possible with the reasons why the loop should follow the route they have mapped out.

Workmen Have Revolted in Bremen

Hard Fighting is Expected When Government Troops Arrive.

(United Press.)

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 1.—Workmen have revolted in Bremen and have decided to defend the city against Government troops, which are marching from Berlin, according to despatches received here to-day. Hard fighting is expected.

THE STRIKE SITUATION

Half a Million Railway Workers Threaten to Strike Unless Government Intervenes — Troops Patrol Streets.

THE DEMANDS

(United Press Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Nearly half a million railway workers will strike next week unless the Government intervenes, the United Press was informed by labour leaders to-day. Such a strike would completely paralize transportation in Great Britain and Ireland.

The walk-out would affect more than four hundred thousand manual workers including trainmen, engineers and switchmen, and over seventy thousand clerks, including telegraphers. The manuel workers demand equal representation with employees on all railway managing boards and a wage advance of ten shillings ($2.50) a week. The clerks want joint control of all promotions and shorter hours, the day workers asking a thirty-six-hour week and the night workers a thirty-four-hour week. The manual workers, who are now controlled by the "shop stewards," which are generally regarded as constituting a soviet form of management, already have issued an ultimatum that they will strike February 9th, unless their demands are granted. The clerks, who are still represented by their regular union officials are said to be prepared to walk out next week, however. If the clerks walk out it seemed certain that the manual workers would take advantage of this opportunity to set the date of their own strike ahead, and would quit simultaneously with the clerks.

Will Not Intervene.

(United Press Service.)

BELFAST, Feb. 1.—Premier Lloyd George, telegraphing from Paris, today informed Arthur Devlin, Irish leader, that he would decline to intervene in the Belfast strikes.

"I am in complete agreement with Chancellor Bonar Law, that the same considerations which apply to Glasgow apply equally to Belfast," the Premier declared.

The attitude of the Government as previously announced, is that the strikers and employees should settle their differences at a joint conference.

Strikers' Police Force.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The administration of Belfast from the Artisan's Hall by self-constituted rulers, continues, the organization of a police force of 300 special constables by the strike committee having been effected. This force is co-operating in perfect harmony with the city police, and window smashing and other disorders have virtually ceased. The entire city has accepted the rule of the committee, which prohibits extreme agitators and Sinn Feiners from speaking. Football matches, dances and concerts at which strike leaders will be star performers have been arranged for the week-end. The wives of some of the workers, however, grumble because they are obliged to continue working in textile factories while their husbands are idling.

Troops Patrol Streets.

(United Press Service.)

GLASGOW, Feb. 1—Troops were patrolling the streets to-day as the result of a clash between the Clyde shipyard strikers and the police yesterday. Chiswell, who became leader of the strikers after the arrest of Kirkwood, also has been taken in custody.

Quiet This Morning.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

GLASGOW, Feb. 1.—Everything is quiet this morning. Thousands of troops have arrived and sentries with fixed bayonets are stationed at strategic points. Councillor Shinwell, a strike leader in the Clyde district, has been arrested.

THE WEATHER

The month of January had but five zero days, as far as Peterboro was concerned. The lowest temperature was on the 12th, with 19 degrees below zero. January of last year had 20 zero days. The most marked feature of the month was the long spell of mild weather from the 13th to the end of the month. The rainfall and snowfall were light. Combined they amounted to but 1.23 of an inch. The coldest weather of last winter was during the first week of February. On the 5th the thermometer went down to 29 degrees below zero. This was the lowest of a cold winter. This Saturday morning showed the lowest for a number of weeks, namely 2 degrees above zero. To-morrow will be Candlemas Day, when Brain comes out of his hole to make his usual spring forecast.—W.P.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE

This Will Not be Disturbed, as it Fits in With the League of Nations.

WARRING FACTIONS

(By Fred S. Ferguson.)
(United Press Service.)

PARIS, Feb. 1.—The usual plenary session was postponed to-day to permit the Peace Bureau to speed up action on the frame work for the League of Nations.

The belief was expressed in certain quarters that a demonstration of the practicability of the League, as evidenced in several recent decisions by the Bureau, would hasten agreement on the details of its make up. The German colonial question was virtually settled in accordance with the principles of the League. Previously, the Bureau had acted in the capacity of an association of nations in warning Central and Eastern European countries to cease warring over disputed territories.

Sent Delegates.

The Bureau assumed a similar capacity yesterday when it decided to send delegates to straighten out the argument between the Czechs and the Poles over the possession of that rich industrial district. A queer tangle has developed in the relations of the Czechs and Poles in that their representatives are sitting at the same Peace Conference to arrange a treaty with a common enemy, yet there are outbursts of fighting between their own troops over the question of readjustments of their new boundaries. A temporary settlement by the Allied Commission will be followed by final settlement by the League of Nations, when the latter institution is formerally established.

Speculation as to whether the Philippines and the Panama Canal will be considered in the internationalization of colonial possessions and waterways was ended to-day when it was authoritatively stated that neither would be brought up, as both are strictly American and free from any dispute, it was pointed out that the Monroe Doctrine will not be disturbed as it will fit in automatically with the League of Nations.

PERFECTLY CLEAN AND NEW STOCK

"No Disappointment" is the Reason for a Full Sweep.

"It is not true, as I heard hinted in one quarter that my stock was smoke-damaged by the fire in the cigar store adjoining my shop," said Frank L. Jenne. I was away from home on the day in question, and so was spared the worry of watching a blaze so close and so dangerous to anyone's peace of mind.

"My stock of both Semi-ready clothing is all new and all purchased from manufacturers who have earned a reputation in their respective lines. I carefully avoid the second-class, and the makers who are striving always to see how cheap they can make a thing without being found out.

"I recall the story told of a Toronto department store which was specializing on silverware—or silver-plated spoons. They wanted to get a cheap price still cheaper so they could make a bigger profit.

"Put more lead in those spoons," they order the makers.

"Can't; the last lot was all lead," was the response.

"Look over my stock during my Peace Benefit Sale. You will see the names of manufacturers who are known where quality is asked for.

"This Peace Benefit Sale of mine is an opportunity to stock up for a year on men's wearing essentials," concluded Mr. Jenne.

Lindsay's Chinatown Wrecked by a Mob

Ire of Citizens, Aroused by Story of Abuse of Woman by Chinese, Results in Spectacular Raid Upon Laundries and Dominion Chinese Cafe.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE

Last night was one at the most exciting in Lindsay's history—not because the midget defeated the Peterboro Juniors and tied up are group race. Although that in itself was a notable event, but on account of a series of raids by a mob of several hundred men and boys upon the property of the Chinese residents of the city, during the course of which two Chinese laundries and the Dominion Chinese cafe were completely wrecked.

The cause of the rioting was the alleged persecution of a Chinese woman by a number of Chinese connected with the Woo Chang laundry on William street. It is stated that for the past month she has been practically a prisoner and has been most inhumanly used by her fellow country men. At all events the woman escaped from her captors by smashing window yesterday morning and the news of the manner in which she is said to have been treated aroused the ire of the people of Lindsay and they determined to show the celestial offenders that women cannot be ill-treated in Canada with impunity. It was decided to "clean out" the William street Laundry and the attack was first planned for 7 o'clock but eventually was postponed until after the hockey match.

The trouble started about 11 o'clock and the Lindsay police consisting of Chief Short and Constable Parks although they did their best were powerless to stop the rioting. For a short time they succeeded in keeping the mob away from the front of the laundry but some future Currie among the rioters led flank attack and succeeded in breaking in the back door. Then the excitement started in earnest. Bricks and stones began to fly and the fusilade soon smashed the glass out of the front windows and the crowd surged inside. In a few minutes, laundry was completely wrecked. The furniture was destroyed and everything that could be broken up was smashed when parcels of laundry were scattered every where until the air was full of collars and shirts. In the midst of the excitement the stove was overturned and the fire department had to be called out. Chief Short staged a counter-attack and using his big stick clubbed down one of the rioters who received a deep gash in his head. A moment after a large piece of ice flung by somebody with a marksman's eye and an arm like Walter Johnson's caught the chief on the side of the

BEATTY WILL VISIT CANADA.

(United Press Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Admiral Beatty, commander-in-chief of the British Navy, will visit America after the Grand Fleet is demobilized, according to the Paris correspondent of the London Times.

He is expected to command a fleet of several types of British warships.

Increase in Railway Fares

New Rates Become Effective To-day —Peterboro Offices Notified.

Commencing to-day the railway rates on return tickets on all Canadian railways take a jump. Formerly the reduction on all return tickets was 16 2-3 per cent., but it has now been reduced to 10 per cent. A return ticket from Peterborough to Toronto, which formerly cost $4.50, will now cost $4.90.

The tariffs providing for this adjustment have been filed with the Railway Commission, but no approval of that body is necessary, because what is proposed is less than the standard rate of 3.45 cents per mile. To increase this would need the concurrence of the board.

The new tariff provides that in place of 16 2-3 per cent. off for return tickets the reduction will be only 10 per cent.

The price of mileage books, heretofore $25 per thousand miles, is increased to $31.

AN INCREASE IN THE BIRTH RATE

PLUNKETT ARRIVES

Sir Horace Wants to Learn Something About Agriculture.

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 1. — Sir Horace C. Plunkett, the Irish leader, started on a tour of the United States today to gain first hand information "on a number of things," as he said.

Sir Horace arrived last night on the White Star Liner Adriatic.

Asked if he had come to the United States to agitate the Irish question, he said he did not think that that would be necessary, as everybody understood the situation.

"I am simply going out west to study the agricultural conditions. You know I have always been interested in agriculture, particularly that of the United States."

Noticing a newspaper heading reading, "Self-determination of Small Nations Debated by the Supreme Council,' Plunkett said with a smile, "I wonder if Ireland is one of those small nations."

Farmers Want Tariff Reduction

Western Minister Sees Little Hope of Future Prosperity.

Special to The Examiner:

WINNIPEG, Feb. 1.— Hon. Val. Winkler, Minister of Agriculture, referring to uncertainty prevailing in the market prices of foodstuffs, declared that unless the demands of the western farmers are met by a reduction of tariff he could see little hope of future prosperity.

"Our farmers certainly cannot continue to make headway under their present handicap," said the Minister, "and it was absolutely essential that speedy relief in the way of tariff reduction be given."

Mr. Winkler operates farms in Manitoba on a large scale.

COUNTY COUNCIL AND MR. HATTON EXCHANGE NEW OLIVE BRANCHES

The County Council and Crown Attorney Hatton ironed out some of their differences or at least misunderstandings yesterday afternoon, but they failed to reach a definite agreement upon the "suitable" rooms which Mr. Justice Latchford has ordered the county to provide at the court house for the Crown Attorney. Both sides were flying the white flag of truce, and it transpired that disputes between the two parties had arisen out of the typewriter incident for which Mr. Hatton, carefully reviewing the affair, declared he was not responsible.

Mr. Hatton stated that it was repugnant to him to have any contentions with anybody, and to strain relations where only friendship was desired. This sentiment was echoed by Reeve Anderson and others, and in that spirit the conference approached the question of rooms.

Mr. Hatton declined the three rooms on the east side of the north wing. The law library suite was acceptable, but he refused to seek them from the Law Association.

"It is not for me to pick out the rooms, gentlemen, but I will consider anything you offer."

A committee was appointed by the Council to meet the Law Association in the hope that the lawyers may be persuaded to accept the rooms on the east side, and vacate their present quarters for Mr. Hatton's office, and the returning "bonne entente."

Aim at the Socialization of All Industries, Says Member of Shop Stewards

Strikers in Great Britain Admit Sympathy With Bolshevist Philosophy—Hope to Attend Congress to be Called by Lenine.

STRIKE CONTINUES

(By Edwin Hullinger.)
(Copyright 1919, by the United Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 3. — The present strikes in Great Britain and Ireland, are the first step toward Socialization of all industries and the establishment of revolutionary committees like those in Russia, William S. Watson, a member of the Shop Stewards National Administrative Council, declared to-day.

Watson frankly admitted the shop stewards sympathise with Bolshevist philosophy, and declared that they hope to participate in the international revolutionary congress to be called by Premier Lenine.

"The shop stewards hope to establish revolutionary committees like those in Russia," said Watson. "The present strikes are the first step toward socialization of British industries and their control by the workers. We sympathise with Bolshevist philosophy and hope to enter the international revolutionary congress to be called by Lenine."

A NEW STRIKE.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 3. — The employees of five electric tube lines struck this morning to enforce a demand for a half hour lunch period in an eight hour day. The electric train service on the Brighton line is also affected. Threats are being made to extend the strike if any troops are brought into the strike district. Hundreds of thousands are being inconvenienced being unable to reach their work.

Lloyd George in Paris.

Canadian Press:

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The Cabinet has the strike situation always in mind, but the fact that Premier Lloyd George remains in Paris leads to the conclusion in many quarters that Cabinet members do not consider the situation as serious as it looks on its face.

The presence of large bodies of troops in Glasgow is believed to insure continuance of the present state of order there, but at Belfast the second week of the strike begins, according to reports received here, with increased uneasiness. For eight days Belfast has been using candle for lighting at night.

SINN FEINERS ARE TRYING TO FORCE A GENERAL STRIKE.

(United Press.)

LONDON, Fe. 3, — Sinn Feiners are co-operating with the workers to force a general strike throughout Ireland, according to a Dublin despatch published in the Daily News to-day.

By combining forces with the strikers the Sinn Feiners hope to force release of their members now in jail, in addition to obtaining concessions for the workers. Placards were being posted throughout the country bearing the slogan, "Release prisoners; grant forty-four hour week."

Thousands of people are reported to be storing food and candles in anticipation of the threatened strike.

GENERAL JOHN J. PERSHING, the American commander-in-chief, who has been called to Paris, and will be the military member of the American representation of the joint commission.

A MOVEMENT TO CREATE SYMPATHY FOR FORMER KAISER

Petitions Circulated Throughout Germany Lead to Discovery of Plot.

(By Lowell Mellet.)
(United Press.)

American Headquarters in Germany, Feb. 3. — A plot to line up sentiment in Germany behind the former Kaiser, has been unearthed by the American secret service, it was announced to-day.

A number of supporters of the old regime was discovered circulating petitions, assuring Wilhelm that his people still maintain confidence in him. Many signatures had been obtained in various parts of the region occupied by the Third Army. The American authorities are investigating to determine who is back of the movement, which apparently is widespread, and probably originated in Berlin.

American military officials have ascertained that the present strength of the Germany army shows that the of the German army shows that the war regiments is being maintained, except those of Alsace and Lorraine, although some of these regiments have been reduced to a thousand men.

Prevention of Armed Conflict

Plan Recommended by Charles J. Doherty, Canadian Minister of Justice.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

PARIS, Feb. 3.—Charles J. Doherty, Canadian Minister of Justice, who has proposed to the Peace Conference that an international peoples' house of representatives be established, said to-day in discussing the subject:

"Prevention of war is not the concern of governmental power alone. It is in the interest of humanity itself. A sovereign state is not organized with a view to exerting any restraining influence over its own action toward other states. If war is to be prevented, or its likelihood diminished, success can be attained only by the existence somewhere, of a power that will control, or at least an influence which will restrain the sovereignty of organized states in dealing with each other. The most important function of a suggested representative body would be to exercise in times of peace constant influence upon states in their relations with others, tending to keep them from those differences which give rise to conflict and make war imminent. It would perform that work of investigation, discussion, deliberation and legislation which would take form of adoption of recommendations addressed to individual states.

SIX JOY RIDERS AT LARGE IN THE NIAGARA DISTRICT

Canadian Press

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 3.—After ripping off the platforms of two trolley cars, an automobile, containing six joy riders, plunged down a 35-foot embankment near Welland. None of the six were hurt, but Coroner Dr. Vanderburg, passenger on the trolley car, was badly hurt in the smash-up.

SOLDIERS REVOLTED

Reports Say Premier Lenine is Preparing to Surrender to the Entente.

RUSSIAN SITUATION

(United Press Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 3.—An unconfirmed despatch from Petrograd to-day reported that soldiers had revolted there and that there was considerable machine-gun fighting going on in the streets. Troops from Kronstadt were said to be bombarding Petrograd. Rumours were current in the latter city that Premier Lenine is preparing to surrender to the Entente.

The Stockholm correspondent of the London Telegraph reported that Bolsheviki troops are withdrawing in the Baltic provinces, particularly in Esthonia.

The Bolshevik official communique, received by wireless from Petrograd to-day said: "In the Archangel region we occupied fortified positions near Tarasevo, capturing three machine guns, a large quantity of provisions and considerable military material."

KIEV CAPTURED BY BOLSHEVISTS

WARSAW, Feb. 3.—Kiev has been taken by Bolshevist troops, General Petlura's troops partially going over to the enemy.

The Ukraine government has been moved from Kiev to Winnitza. To the southwest railway communication with Kiev is cut off at Kovel, where there is a body of German troops attempting to keep order among disorderly Germans who are retiring from the Ukraine. The cold wave here has resulted in the deaths of hundreds, especially babies who were frozen to death while being transported on railways. This probably refers to refugees fleeing to Warsaw to escape from advancing Bolshevists. Telegraph lines and railways in the direction of Vienna were cut by Czecho-Slovaks last Thursday.

WILL CRUSH SPARTACANS

German Government Will Concentrate a Large Body of Troops For this Purpose.

(United Press.)

BERLIN, Feb. 3. — The Staatsrat of German-Austria, has unanimously passed a bill providing for the unification of that country with Germany, it was announced to-day.

BERLIN, Feb. 3. — The German government was preparing to-day to crush the Spartacan revolt in Bremen by the greatest concentration of troops since the recent uprising in Berlin. The Spartacans were reported to be preparing for a stubborn defence of Bremen, protecting all the strategic points with machine guns.

After putting down the Bremen revolt, the government intends to send the troops against Shamburg and Wilhelmshaven, where the Spartacans are still quite active.

An official statement was made today that the damage resulting from the Spartacan uprising in Berlin totalled 10 million dollars.

The German railway workers in Cologne were reported to be threatening a strike against the entente order for a ten hour day. They want shorter hours.

Several Peterboro Soldiers Reached St. John Yesterday

Names of Six Local Men Who Crossed on the "Grampion"—Had An Uneventful Trip—Two of the Men Receive Military Awards.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 3.—The S. S. Grampian arrived here this afternoon with 1,200 returned soldiers from Liverpool. The trip across was uneventful, being made in good time. The troops were perfectly satisfied with the treatment on the way across, there being no complaints. The trip was brought to a sad ending here yesterday, for just as the liner was docking, one of the soldiers, Private McCabe, who had been ill during the voyage with influenza, from which pneumonia developed, passed away. He was a member of the 38th Battalion from Ottawa and was forty-eight years of age. He leaves a family in Ottawa.

Following were the Peterborough soldiers who crossed on the Grampian: Edward Brasendale, Joseph Rogers, James E. Weese, Henry Wyatt, M.M., formerly of the 93rd, James Robertson, D.C.M., 2nd Battalion.

German General Staff Prepared For Germany's Annexation of Belgium

Documents Were Captured by the Belgians—Papers Filled An Entire Freight Car—Systematic Destruction

(United Press Service.)

PARIS, Feb. 3. — The Belgian Government has in its possession what are believed to be the complete documents of the German General Staff relating to Belgium, including the details for Germany's annexation of the country and instructions for carrying off and destroying machinery. The story of the capture of the documents—one of the most unique of the war—together with what their examination revealed so far, reached the United Press to-day from authoritative Belgian sources.

A FREIGHT CAR.

The papers fill an entire freight car. In the rush of evacuation after the armistice was signed, this particular car was run on a side track by mistake. As soon as its absence was discovered, the General Staff naturally ordered a quick and complete search for it. They chose to direct the search, a lowly civilian official, in the person of the head of the "Barley Department." His most exciting work heretofore, had been to get the last grain of barley from the Belgian fields. The persistence and anxiety displayed in his search led Belgian officials to assign a secret service operative to trail him. When the car was finally located on an isolated siding the Belgians arrested the German and seized the car.

SIGNED BY HOLLWEG.

Examination of the papers is not completed, but it is declared they show the annexation plans provided for splitting Belgium into two provinces, in an effort to line up the Flemish and the Walloons against each other. The plan, which even went into administrative details, were signed by former Chancellor Von Bethmann Hollweg at a time when he was assuring the world that Germany had no intention of annexing Belgium.

According to the documents Germany ordered systematic destrurtion of Belgian machinery last spring. At first, instructions were issued to carry off the machineryq. Later, as transportation became taxed, orders were issued to smash all machinery that could not be moved readily.

The Belgians are in a quandry as to where to begin reconstruction work. They want to reopen their mills and factories but lack machinery, and their railways and canals are so badly damaged as to effect transportation.

Huns Were Arrested

Offences Committed Within The Zone of American Occupation

(United Press.)

AMERICAN HEADQUARTERS IN GERMANY, Feb. 3.— Two hundred and nineteen Germans have been arrested and tried by American courts martial during the two months of American occupation, according to figures made public to-day. There were 206 convictions. Imprisonments ranged from 1 to 90 days and fines of from one mark (25 cents) to 500 marks ($125.)

Offences included violation of liquor relations, wearing German military uniforms and holding unauthorized meetings. There was on arrest for failure to salute an American officer.

A Soccer Game.

Army officials are investigating a soccer game which was played at Esrenbreitsein to-day between a team composed of men from a New York and Kentucky pioneer regiment and one made up of German soldiers, many of whom wore parts of their uniforms. The players were good natured throughout, the Germans submitting willingly to the decisions of the American umpire. The game was not scheduled and probably was started on the spur of the moment, but apparently it violated both the regulation against fraternising and that of wearing German uniforms.

Peterboro Men Of "Princess Pats"

A Call For the Names and Ranks of the Men Who Took Service in This Famous Regt. From Peterborough City and District.

It is proposed to make to the Princess Patricia, the so to speak, Patron Saint of the famous regiment, the best that Canada sent overseas, a wedding present and attached to the present will be a scroll having entered on its pages the names of the men who served in the regiment, and also it is proposed that they have a chance to donate to the funds of the gift.

Names and addresses of all the men are desired, and if these be communicated to the Patriotic Fund Office, 'Phone 281W, will be forwarded at once. Kindly oblige. The request is put forward by Major R. J. Buchanan, late of the Princess aPs' Regt., now in Toronto.

Mill Workers Out On Strike

Strikers Want Shorter Hours—Big Silk Mills Close Down.

(United Press Service.)

PATERSON, N.J., Feb. 3.—More than twenty-five thousand silk mill workers went on strike here to-day, according to an unofficial estimate, following the refusal of the employers to meet the demands for a forty-seven-hour week. It is believed thousands of others will follow the example of those already out, as the mill owners say they will close the plants rather than grant the demands.

The strikers' original request was for a forty-four-hour week, but they decided to arbitrate with the employers and an agreement was reached on the forty-seven-hour weekly basis.

Are Foreigners.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Feb. 3.—Not more than half of the 30,000 textile operatives here went on strike to-day to enforce their demands for fifty-four hours' wages for a forty-four-hour week.

The majority of those who struck are foreigners.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Striking garment workers to-day threw a cordon of pickets around the clothing factory area in downtown Manhattan, and greeted with cries of "scab" non-union employees on their way to work.

Strong forces of police were called to preserve order.

Returned Prisoner Thanks Red Cross

Private Tom Casey, who returned to his home in Douro recently, after being held a prisoner of war in Germany since June, 1916, desires to thank the Red Cross Society and the citizens of Peterborough generally, for the regular supply of parcels which he received during those years. Private Casey stated that he could not express his feelings of gratitude for the unfailing pains and thoughtfulness with which these supplies were prepared and forwarded. They had not only provided food that actually kept him alive, but they also brought the comfort of realizing that the people at home had not forgotten the prisoners of war, but had helped them continuously and in a most practical manner.

K. OF C. NOTICE.

REGULAR MEETING KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS TUESDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 4TH, AT 8.15 SHARP. 2d-2

BOLSHEVIK DOCTRINES

Russians Are Led to Believe That Land Will be Taken From Them If Bolshevists Are Beaten.

ALLIED TROOPS

(United Press.)

PARIS, Feb. 3. — The Special Committees to which details of the peace settlement are referred, are doing their work efficiently and rapidly, according to Foreign Minister Pichon.

"Some people may take it for granted that little work is being done because the plenary sessions are infrequent," he said, "but the special committes are now at work. Soon results will begin to show with greater continuity and the work of the conference as a body will be maintained on a schedule of greater regularity."

Regarding the Russian situation, Pichon said the position of the allied troops on the Archangel front is not desperate. He declared that while the Bolsheviki are strengthening their army in that region, they are being defeated in other parts of the country and that this condition must soon have an affect on the northern front.

"The greatest hold of the Bolsheviki on the people is that the people are led to believe that if they were beaten their land will be taken away from them," said Pichon. "If we could show the people that their land will remain in their own hands, three-fourths of Russia would be against the Bolsheviki."

Believes Former Russian Emperor Is Still Living

Dowager Empress Refuses to Leave Russia Until Death of Former Ruler is Confirmed.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

PARIS, Feb. 3.—Dowager Empress Marie Feodorovna, of Russia, has clung so firmly to her belief that her son, former Russian Emperor and Grand Duke Michael are not dead that many of her friends have been won over to that view and rumours in the European press concerning Nicholas Romanoff's alleged whereabouts are attracting much attention.

The aged Empress resolutely refused to leave Russia until she learned positively of the fate of her son. She continues to live simply at Yalta, Crimea, declining the invitation to visit the King and Queen of Roumania, and even her sister, Queen Mother Alexandria of Great Britain. Lieut.-Col. J. W. Boyle, formerly of the Canadian Militia, who was commissioned by King Ferdinand of Roumania to induce the Dowager Empress to seek safety in Roumania, recently arrived in Paris and told the Associatel Press that the Dowager Empress' declination was most affecting.

Conflicting Reports Come From Portugal

Both Republican and Monarchist Parties Claim Victories.

(Special to Examiner.)

MADRID, Feb. 3.—Both Monarchists and Republicans claimed victories in despatches received here from various Portuguese sources to-day.

An official statement issued by the Republican Government in Lisbon, said the Monarchists fled after a nine hour fight near Agueza in which they sustained great losses, including their commander. The statement also denied the Royalist claims of the capture of Aveiro and Chaves.

A Monarchist wireless statement said Royalist troops were advancing southward and that a monarchy had been proclaimed throughout the country.

THE PEACE CONFERENCE

Balkan Situation Was Discussed a This Morning's Session—A Special Committee.

HOUSE RECOVERING

(By Fred S. Ferguson.)
(United Press.)

PARIS, Feb. 3.—President Wilson to-day began his drive for the consummation of the League of Nations programme before the end of the week.

Refreshed by a day of complete rest the President, following his address on the subject of the League before the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon, was to confer with the special committee which is working on details of the League's outline. In this meeting, to be held at the Hotel Crillon, work was to be taken up on the definite constitution of the League upon which several tentative agreements have already been reached.

The President is working in the closest unanimity with Lord Cecil and Gen. Smuts on the draft for the constitution, which provides for a permanent organization to meet regularly and to have machinery for arbitration and economic punishments. Complete agreement on the framework is generally anticipated before Premier Lloyd George leaves for London at the end of the week.

Balkan Situation.

President Wilson met with the Peace Bureau this morning. The Balkan situation was discussed with particular reference to Greece's political and territorial claims Premier Venizelos was the principal speaker.

The President has under consideration plans for reporting progress of the peace conference parley to the Congress in future. Reports from the United States indicate that there is need of explaining details of various problems being worked out, as a misunderstanding is obvious.

The tone of the Congressional debate is liable to result in misapprehension by the other delegates here.

When Wilson arrives in the United States three weeks hence—he is scheduled to sail February 14—he expects sufficient progress to have been made for a comprehensive report to Congress. After that, important negotiations will be reported to the American Legislative body as they transpire.

Col. House is recovering rapidly and is expected to take a full part in the peace work this week.

German Extremists Lay Down Arms

Tait was formerly a resident of this city and managed the Tait Optical Parlours on George street. He removed to Hamilton and at the beginning of the war enlisted with the 173rd Highlanders.

Lieut. Tait crossed a 400 yard area, in the face of heavy fire for the purpose of locating enemy machine guns. Lieut. Tait went on active service in December 1916 and has seen all the heavy fighting since that date.

THE HEALTH ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Health Association, called for tomorrow afternoon in the Bank of Montreal chambers, should be largely attended. No organization in Peterborough is doing a better or finer work than the Health Association which, in spite of circumscribed funds and a deplorable lack of general public support, has "carried on" faithfully through the distressful war years and which, with the coming of peace, is looking forward to a future of useful and extensive service. It is an Association which should have the whole-hearted support of the citizens of Peterborough because its only motive is to be of assistance. That it has realized this aim will be readily affirmed by those who have occasion to realize what the work of the Health Association really means. Public-spirited citizens who are looking for an opportunity to serve the community could not do better than to attend tomorrow afternoon's meeting in order to acquaint themselves with the story of what the Association has been able to carry out and what it hopes to accomplish during the ensuing year.

THE VALUE OF PUBLICITY.

One feature of Mr. Justice Hodgins' report in connection with the "Northland" inquiry that should not escape notice was the Judge's statement that he had investigated carefully the stories published in the newspapers in regard to conditions on the ... and that he had found that ... been honestly written and published in good faith. Judge Hodgins expressed his belief that publicity of this kind was of benefit in drawing attention to grievances and giving an opportunity for things to be righted. This point should be noted by some of the slavish press supporters of the government who have a habit of criticising every newspaper that ventures to print anything that smacks of faultfinding in regard to the work of the government. These government organs, or some of them at least, have persisted in blaming the British Admiralty for the conditions about which the soldiers have complained, but Judge Hodgins' report, with its condemnation of the lack of efficiency of the military conducting system on board the Northland cannot by any journalistic ingenuity be twisted into censure of the Admiralty.

Publicity that leads to the correction of the grievances complained of, and to an official inquiry into why such conditions should be allowed to exist, is beneficial. There is no doubt in the world that it was the stories printed by the newspapers that forced the investigation in the case of the Northland, and if there are any good results from that investigation, the credit must go to the newspapers. Already it is reported that more attention is being paid to the food served on the transports and that other reforms are being undertaken. If the newspapers had kept silent on this question the old conditions would still be in existence.

WELCOMING THE SOLDIERS.

The announcement that returning soldiers are not to be given leave until they have reached their proper destination may not be pleasing to the soldiers themselves, but it will be received with satisfaction by those who are in charge of the arrangements for the reception of veterans in their home towns. Up to the present the difficulty of securing any authentic information as to the arrival of the men from overseas has interfered considerably with the desire to give them a proper reception. Even when a list of men was sent in advance there was trouble, for the soldiers were dropping off the train all along the line visiting friends, and often did not reach the city until several days after they were officially supposed to be here. The new system will make this impossible and will be of great assistance to the Reception committees in the different centres.

THE LINDSAY RIOTS.

The wrecking of Chinese business places by a mob of Lindsay citizens the other night, furnishes rich food for investigation by the physiologists. Why should men who would usually hesitate a long time before they would carry off five cents' worth of anything that did not belong to them, coolly help themselves to boxes of cigars or anything else they took a fancy to from a damaged store? Why should they deliberately wreak a place like the Dominion Cafe, the proprietor of which had no connection whatever with the outrage that was said to be responsible for the rioting? Why should they run the risk of arrest or being injured by a policeman's baton? Was it because of a deep appreciation of the wrong done to a woman? Or was it simply that our civilization is but thinly veneered and that we welcome an opportunity to get back to the primitive? That is the average man's heart, however deeply it may be buried there exists an instinct inherited from the old days that leads him to destroy and mutilate when opportunity offers.

These questions presented themselves to a spectator of Friday night's rioting. There did not seem to be any strong indignation on the part of those who were responsible for the damage. Rather they went about the business of wrecking everything they could lay their hands on with a schoolboy-like joy. Are we, in spite of our boasted superiority, only savages after all?

WAS CANADA HOOVERIZED?

Hoover claims to have Hooverized us out of our foreign trade. When Herbert C. Hoover started overseas some weeks ago to organize the feeding of the continental nations, he was in reality the biggest, smartest, commercial traveller the world has ever seen. We in our innocence thought of the big orders for foodstuffs that would shortly be coming Canada's way. The packers, for instance, got busy figuring ways and means whereby they could meet the demand. In the country districts the farmers and drovers were studying how best to move their hogs cheaply and quickly to points where they could be more readily turned into exportable meat products. Everything was lovely, and the goose hung high. And then we were awakened with a jolt. The train had stopped. Orders began pouring in—yes, ... the United States—but devil an order did we get. Hoover is looking out for "his," and "his" happens to be the United States of America. Hoover says: "Give me your orders. How many million dollars worth of food do you want? Never mind the money, just sign here. We will finance it for you." And he does. No one may blame Hoover for confining his trade trade to his own country when that country is finding the money. Out in the West they tried to get around this difficulty by shipping ... from a Canadian to an American ... But at the border they were told ... Hoover had sold all the hogs there were in the United States, it would be time enough for the Canadian hogs to come into the market via the United States. So if was that the ... turned sadly on their heels and took their hogs back home with them.

It might be timely to inquire what our "bright young men," as Sir Joseph Flavelle would say, are doing over in Europe. Goodness knows, enough of them went over. If I recollect rightly, there must have been pretty nearly a shipload, headed by Sir Robert Borden and Sir George Foster, erstwhile Minister of Trade and Commerce, but now gently taken with the idea of sitting on the steps at Versailles, or possibly walking up and down in the orangery, while matters of State are being discussed by those who have a real interest in the topic. Anyhow, Sir George is not interested in such vulgar things as the price of bacon, or wheat products, and as to whether there is an opportunity to sell some to the hungry Roumanians or starving Poles, Hoover is a real—I was going to say a live—delegate to a Peace Conference, so what does it matter if Hoover does have shipped from the United States everything there is to sell, and we ship nothing? However, this would probably appear to be but a mere detail to such statesmen as Sir Robert and Sir George. And, besides, Sir Robert has taken occasion to warn the fellow members of his Cabinet—that is, the precious few who remained at home—that he must not be bothered with any such details. It took, he said, his mind off the real work at the Peace Conference.

An interesting point in connection with the Hoover idea of trade and commerce is that which deals with the maintenance of prices in the United States. Some time ago a huge deputation of United States packers visited Washington with the idea of having that Government take a hand in reducing meat prices. The packers were not making this request from any philanthropic motive. Their principal object was to stimulate trade. That country, like Canada, was simply flooded with swine and beef cattle for which there was no market. They went on the principle that a reduction in prices would mean larger consumption, which it no doubt would. However, Hoover set his foot down. Not a cent decrease in price. The packers wanted to buy hogs at fifteen and one-half or sixteen cents, and then gradually reduce the price month by month until a reasonable figure was reached. Hoover's orders were: "Nail the price at 17 1-2 cents and keep it there." Long-headed Hoover. He and his "bright young men" knew what they were about. What is the use of going out to feed the world on a scant margin of profit when you can get a big one just as well? If Europe was to get its food on "tick," then Europe must pay the piper; in other words, the long price. What is the use of an American farmer selling a 200-pound hog at $17.75, or 8 3-4 cents per pound, when he can just as well get $35.50 for it? Of course, this all means that the folks at home will continue to pay high prices for their food; but it also means an augmented trade balance that promises to pay the war debt of the United States in a precious short time. Smart man that Hoover. However, as to the morals of a transaction whereby impoverished countries are made to pay through the nose for the right to survive, the less said the better.—Toronto Saturday Night.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The wrecking of the Chinese laundries the other night furnished many a Lindsay citizen with a perfectly new excuse for not going to church yesterday.

The drop in the temperature is appreciated alike by the coal man and the ice man.

The more the county council talks about good roads the less chance there will be for the travelling public to talk about bad ones.

The city and county should get together and consider the question of looking after Victoria Park.

LITERARY NEWS NOTES

The publication of Col. John McCrae's "In Flanders' Fields," which was announced for fall, but owing to several unavoidable reasons was delayed, is now announced by William Briggs for spring. Not a great many Canadians are aware that beside the title poem, whose popularity has swept around the world, Col. McCrae wrote considerable other verse. This has been collected from several sources, and with a somewhat comprehensive biography from the pen of a literary friend, will make up a book which a good many Canadians should be interested in.

From a sales standpoint, "Dere Mable," which brought so much healthy, hearty laughter into so many homes at the Christmas season, is quite within sight of the record set by "David Harum," "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," and three or four other books of the last decade. This book, too, illustrates remarkably how very uncertain the publishing business is. The American firm who discovered the "Dere Mable" manuscript, it is reported, took hold of it with some little misgiving, and printed first a comparatively small edition. Something in the infectiousness of the humour of the book, however, seemed to catch the public spirit in a wonderful way, and at one time in October and November, three big manufacturing houses in New York had large sections of their plants engaged in the production of the book, and then could not fill the demand. That the sales went forward similarly in Canada is illustrated by a story from the Canadian Publisher. One day in December, 15,000 copies were on hand in the firm's warehouse. Next day, not a single copy was to be purchased. Those who like the ridiculousness of "Dere Mable" will be interested in the fact that Leacock, Streeter's unique letters have been continued in another similar volume, "That's Me All Over, Mable," and that lanceole "Bill" writes further of his life on shipboard and experiences on landing in France. The second book is said to be just as laughable as the first.

Stories of prisoners and their experiences have been very much to the fore within the last few months. While some of these may be more thrilling, none of them can present more human interest than that of Hon. Hazel S. Beland, M.P., formerly Postmaster-General of Canada, which will be issued by William Briggs in book form this spring. Although Dr. Beland was promised immunity from arrest, when he was found ministering to wounded Belgians, on the German entry into Belgium, he was given but a few minutes to say good-bye to his wife, whom he never saw again, and was hurried to Berlin, where he was imprisoned. Appeals that he might visit Mrs. Beland on her deathbed, and the strongest representations which could be made by Canadian and British authorities were of no avail. A fact not generally known is that Dr. Beland finally obtained his release in exchange for Von Buelow, secretary of the Krupps in England, and a nephew of the German statesman of the same name. Dr. Beland tells his story under the title, "My Three Years in a German Prison," frankly and comprehensively, and it throws light on German political conditions which has not hitherto been made public.

Most of us in our earlier years read "King Solomon's Mines," "She," and others of Sir Rider Haggard's romantic Eastern stories. Possibly we have not kept very closely in touch with his later productions, and do not know that he is regarded as one of the most prolific of English writers. Although he has reached the hale age of sixty-three, he still keeps on writing, as witnessed by the fact that another characteristic novel, "Moon of Israel," is announced by William Briggs for publication this spring. The book gives colourful pictures of life in ancient Egypt, as it was known to the high-born, presenting among other things, the betrothal of proud Usarti, an Egyptian princess, and is made up of the usual procession of picturesque and thrilling events. The title comes from the heroine, a Hebrew maiden named Marabi—"Moon of Israel."

The fact, well-known among publishers, that an author's first book seldom makes any profit, and that his subsequent writing must be counted on to carry matters through, is well illustrated in the case of V. Belasco Ibanez, author of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," published last fall. This, the first book, was hailed as a "different" type of novel, and while its sales were exceedingly good for a "first" novel, they served more particularly to introduce the author. The same United States publisher announces the second book, "The Cabin," for spring publication, which is considered to be quite as characteristic, and even better, than the original. "The Cabin" will be published in Canada by William Briggs.

HAD WEAK and FAINTING SPELLS

Those feelings of faintness, those weak, "all gone" sinking sensations, which come over most people from time to time, are warnings that must not go unheeded.

They mean an extremely weakened condition of the heart and a disordered nervous system.

When the system is in this condition there's no time for delay. One fainting spell may be recovered from—will the next? One dizzy spell may pass off, but the next may be more serious.

Those who are wise will start taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, before their case becomes deep rooted and perhaps hopeless.

They will act directly on the disordered heart and weakened nervous system and restore them to full strength and vigor.

Miss Mary McCoy, Algoma Mills, Ont., writes:—"I was awfully troubled with fainting and weak spells, and I could never get any doctor's medicines to help me. One day a friend of mine was at the house when I took one of those spells, and she got me a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. That was six years ago, and from that day to this I have never had any of those spells. I would not be without your pills for any money and can highly recommend them to any one."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Beautiful things are everyday things now—

Look around you. See the large number of dainty silk blouses in beautiful tints that are being worn. And the quantities of dainty underwear the stores are showing—sheerest, most beautiful things you have ever seen. It was not so a few years ago. What has caused the difference?

Certainly and surely—one factor has been Lux. Women would not buy these things right along unless there was a gentle, sure way of washing them—without discoloring, warping or fading.

There is—it's the Lux way. Won't turn silks yellow—won't hurt chiffons—won't shrink woollens. Lux won't hurt anything that pure water itself may touch.

JUDGE HUYCKE WAS IN LINDSAY

Medals Presented to Thirty-seven Lindsay Boys.

His Honour Judge Huycke was the speaker of the evening at Lindsay on Thursday evening at the armouries, when, before eighteen hundred people, medals were presented to thirty-seven Lindsay boys. Rev. Mr. F. H. McIntosh presided.

In opening his address, Judge Huycke, who was greeted with loud and prolonged cheers at rising, said he brought the greetings of the people of Peterborough, who rejoiced over the successful conclusion of the war and sorrowed with them who sorrowed. Continuing he referred to the past four years of sorrow, sadness and suspense from which, happily, victory had at last been dearly bought. In bringing about the victory the Canadians had won undying glory for themselves and their country. He referred particularly to the fame achieved by the boys at the capture of Vimy Ridge and at Passchendaele. The latter battle, he said, meant a tremendous number of deaths besides glory.

Preserve Peace.

In referring to the glory and fame brought to Canada by the boys who fought, he said: The whole fabric of civilization was attacked and if the fight had not been won life would not be worth living. All do well in honouring the record of the boys in preserving peace and liberty for those at home. Honour must also be paid those who have fallen. We have a corps of the immortals he said, the brave lads who sleep overseas and who brought imperishable fame and glory to Canada, and whose memories will be forever enshrined in the hearts of a gratifying people. Too much honour could not be paid to those who had gone forth to fight for liberty, and lay down their lives for others.

Warm Tribute.

He concluded by paying a warm tribute to the boys who, in meriting the presentation of medals, had brought exceptional honour to Canada.

PRESENTATION TO MISS B. ELCOME

Has a Perfect Record for Attendance At Sunday School

At Murray Street Baptist Sunday School yesterday the pianist, Miss Bessie Elcome, was presented with a gold wrist watch on behalf of the officers, teachers, and pupils on the event of her completing at the end of 1918 fifteen consecutive years during which she attended Sunday School every Sunday and was always on time. The following letter was read by the Superintendent.

To Miss Bessie Elcome,
Pianist, Murray Street Baptist Sunday School.

Dear Miss Elcome:—

The Officers, Teachers, and Pupils of the Sunday School wish you to know that they esteem it a proud priyilege to have in their midst one who probably holds the first place in the Dominion for faithfulness in Sunday School service. The end of 1918 marked the fifteenth year that as pupil and pianist you have obtained a perfect record for consecutive, punctuality and attendance, something perhaps unparalleled in any other Sunday School. At the same time they also wish you to know that your devotion and sweetness of character has endeared you to the hearts of all and as a token of their love and esteem they ask you to accept this wrist watch which has engraved upon it your name and the one word "Fidelity" the keynote of your Christian Service.

Joseph Wearing
Superintendent
Wilmot Browette,
Secretary

Miss Elcome who was completely taken by surprise expressed her thanks and stated she had never received more pleasure out of anything than her Sunday School work. A former teacher, Miss Emma Aldridge who has been absent for sometime through illness gave a short but forcible address taking as her subject the word inscribed on the watch presented to Miss Elcome.

War Service Gratuity Is Not For War Widows

Answer to Enquiries Made by Local Patriotic Fund Office

Following enquiries made at the Peterborough Patriotic Fund Office by several of the widows of men failed information in papers that such wive information in papers that such widows would be entitled to a share of the War Gratuity that would have applied in the cases of men killed, up to the time of the casualty, the office has made enquiry from the Paymaster-General, and the reply is printed below:

"There is absolutely no truth in the statement appearing in certain newspapers that the war service gratuity payable to the men of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, on retirement or discharge, will also be paid to war widows, dependents and next-of-kin of soldiers killed in action or who died of wounds. An official denial of this statement was issued to-day, (31st Jan.) by the Militia Department, and at the same time it was pointed out that the Order-in-Council makes no provision of this nature. The next-of-kin of deceased soldiers are provided for under the pension regulations.

"The Order-in-Council does make provision for payment of the gratuity to the dependents of a soldier who dies subsequent to his discharge or retirement, and before he or his dependents have received any part of the whole of the gratuity. It states that if there survive him dependents who would have been entitled to a portion of the gratuity equal to the Separation Allowance the portion of the gratuity unpaid at the time of his death shall be payable to such dependents.

"In the case of a soldier who has no dependents entitled to Separation Allowance, and who dies subsequent to his discharge, before receiving any or all of the gratuity, the portion of the gratuity unpaid at the time of his death shall not be payable."

How One Returned Man Made Good

"Does it pay the returned soldier to look into the re-education courses offered by the Government," says F. Hopkinson, a returned man?—"Well I should say so," and the happy smile with which it is said proclaims the truth of the sentiment more than any amount of speech. Nevertheless this man's story is full of interest.

Hopkinson, who is an Englishman by birth, has travelled over many parts of the globe and like the adventurous ones beloved of Bob Service, has done his share of "grubbing for gold," as he had a shot at gold mining in South Africa, took a hand in the building of the Hudson River tunnels, and in his own pre-war trade—that of bricklayer—has been engaged upon some of the finest buildings erected.

A good tale of bricks which added to the erection of the "World" building in Vancouver, claimed to be the largest skyscraper in the British Empire, go to the credit of this man. (By the way he had a partiality for skyscrapers, which may account for his determination to strike skywards after his disability instead of remaining in a rut. But this is to precipitate the story.)

Well at the outbreak of war Hopkinson was down in Texas and it did not take him long to make up his mind that in khaki he would be. He arrived in Toronto one evening at 9:30, having taken the old steamer Antilles from New Orleans to New York, which boat was the first American transport to be sunk. By ten a.m. the next morning Hopkinson had enlisted. He recounts with glee the story of how eight doughty comrades in Texas, who volunteered to come East with him, all funked at the last minute and a few months later were scooped up by the draft.

Two Years At Front.

After two years at the front, during which time he had been through Belgium with the Imperials, Hopkinson was invalided home with pneumonia and bad feet, due to the constant state of mud over there. He has left one brother with the Imperial Army and a third lost his life while fighting at the front.

"I was feeling pretty sick," says Hopkinson, "when I arrived back to be told that I could not engage in my former occupation nor enjoy my old globe trotting habits, as the doctors here have prescribed for me sedentary occupation. I must say that I did not place much faith in the promises held out by the Government for returned men, but I went to the Central Technical School in Toronto to have a look into the thing and afterwards decided to try out a course in drafting. I received a letter from the Government that a cheque would be sent every month. I thought to myself—'well this seems O.K., so I guess it is up to me to do my bit.' The drafting course was suggested to me as the one most closely allied to my past work in the building trade, and it was suggested that I might afterwards be able to take a position as inspector of building plans. My own notion of it was that I would take it with the idea of working on my own—at designing or carrying out small plans for interior work. The pay I received while in training amounted to $46.00 a month. Not a great deal, but I found it sufficient to pay my board and laundry, and take a girl to a show once in a while. There were fifteen other fellows taking the course with me. Their previous occupations included the trades of boiler-maker, carpenter and farmer. About the time I was through with my course the Canadian Aeroplanes applied for some one to do drafting, offering three weeks work at $25.00 a week. I was taken on and stayed for four months, where I earned a steady wage with some overtime until peace was proclaimed. The Government offered one month's post discharge pay to all re-educated soldiers who came through their course successfully. This, added to the money I earned at the Aeroplanes, gave me a nice little sum to start with. My work at the Aeroplanes factory was making comparative charts. It was absolutely new to me and the nature of it, by comparison with my previous occupations, was very fine work, but I found it interesting and was commended by the Canadian engineer there."

Serious Handicap.

Comparative charting being one of the most up-to-date methods of tracing business progress, the Business Department of the Repatriation Committee made search for a man to undertake this work, and the good record of Mr. Hopkinson coupled to the fact that he is a returned man, at once assured him the job.

This would some of the more brilliant chance to go up to the un[illegible] if they so wished. I am sure would be hundreds who would at such an advantage."

Mr. Hopkinson is very about his own achievements, that dozens of the fellows d[illegible] better work than he, but the of his professional work, which lying around, showed his work exceedingly neat and accurate. deed it is marvellous to think short a time this man made g[illegible] is an instance where a returned whose entire environment, [illegible] look on life has been elevated higher plane, changed from a [illegible] anical hand worker to one [illegible] ating the work of brain and [illegible] a position which gives him [illegible] ation equal to that earned by [illegible] pre-war days.

WOULD GO FROM HOUSE TO HOUSE

Mrs. Harrington Feels Like Going Out and Telling Everybody About Tanlac.

"I would just like to go from house to house and tell the people about Tanlac," said Mrs. Mollie Harrington, of 111 Third street, Peoria, in a recent statement which she requested published for the benefit of others.

"My health gave way years ago," Mrs. Harrington continued, "and I had long since despaired of ever getting any better. I was very weak and pale—hardly had the colour of blood in my face—suffered terribly from stomach trouble and was extremely nervous. I was really in a brokendown condition and being past fifty-eight years of age, which I thought was against me, I had no hope of getting well and nothing to look forward to but the end, which I often felt was drawing near.

"Then I got to reading about the wonderful results others were getting from Tanlac and yet I could not make up my mind at first to try it, as I had little idea it could help a person of my age, especially, one in such a low state of health. But somehow I was influenced to buy a bottle and that was about the luckiest day of my life, for when I finished taking it there was a wonderful improvement in my condition.

"I got something to look forward to—hope of complete recovery—so I bought a few more bottles of Tanlac and now I don't have to tell my friends I am well again, for they can see that from my looks an often speak of it. I am more thankful to Tanlac than I can express for now I am enjoying life and good health, which I never expected to enjoy any more, and I want this testimonial published in all the papers in Illinois that everybody may know what Tanlac will do, for I feel that I ought to tell all suffering people about this wonderful medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. H. Warne Drug Co. Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co. Ltd., in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Gilbert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

Rev. C. E. Manning Issues a Call For Christian Workers

The Mission Fields of the East and West Present Wonderful Opportunities for Those Who Wish to Serve—Address in George St. Church.

The Rev. C. E. Manning of Toronto, the General Secretary of Home Missions for the Methodist Church, preached twice yesterday at the George street Methodist church.

In the evening Mr. Manning delivered a very interesting address, based on the text, "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature."

The speaker very fittingly compared the difficulties of the missionary to work that the disciples of Christ had to perform, to the dimculty of the missionary work at the present time.

For the disciples to accomplish their work it was necessary that they overcome two very difficult tasks: First, they had to change the mental attitude of all mankind to that of a Christian; and secondly, change the customs and habits of all the people. While doing this, the disciples had to oppose all other classes who were very bitter against them. The Jews in particular endeavoured with all their power, even resorting to murder, to stop the Christian missionary work. The missionary work of to-day is just as difficult. To illustrate his point, Mr. Manning asked the audience: Suppose that some foreign missionary should come to Peterboro with a new religion, and attempt to change the mental attitude, customs and habits of all the citizens of Peterboro, to that of his new religion. Would he have a difficult task? The same hard task faces some of our missionaries in the East, when they attempt to teach Christianity. At first the Chinese were very superstitious, but at last some have learned to trust and believe the Christian missionary.

Effects of the War.

Mr. Manning spoke of the effects that the war had on many Christians. When the war started people were amazed and wondered what was the use of preaching the Gospel. Germany was considered to be one of the leading Christian nations. This country to which our young men and women went to finish their education and that was the foremost in science, planned for this Great War, and inflicted such cruelties upon innocent Christians. But Mr. Manning stated that it had been a wrong Christianity that has been taught or preached to the German people. The great leaders of the country have committed the wrong of teaching the people that war is righteous. The hope of the world, he said, is in preaching the Gospel. Christianity must win its way in Japan, China, India and every other country, until Jesus is King of all. If no gospel were taught in the East for the next four or five years, so that Christianity would lose its hold, and if China were to rise against the world as Germany had done, with her 400,000,000 people united with that enterprising nation, Japan, and India probably, they could build the largest fleet in the world and organize the largest army in the world. The world would soon be dominated by the heathen.

Higher Education.

To-day the Methodist Missions in China are the best, strongest, and most successful there. The Methodist church of Canada, together with three other denominations, are planning to build a great university in China, which will give an education not only along the line of preaching the Gospel, but also of medicine, science, and all other modern courses. As many missionaries will be sent from the continent to China as will be needed until the Universities in China, can graduate enough students for their own need. The same is the case wi 1 Japan.

But, at the same time, Mr. Manning pointed out, we must not let the missionary work in our own land be neglected. On the Pacific Coast there are thousands of miners and canners, mostly foreigners, that receive no Christian preaching.

The Methodist Church owns a large ship, the "Thomas Crosby," which plies up and down the Pacific Coast periodically, visiting as many settlements as possible. But far more boats are needed. The Methodist Church is planning to outfit a number of motor boats that may be able to take missionaries up and down the coast on certain circuits. All over Canada there is a lack of missionaries. In the Prairie Provinces there are about 60 unsupplied missions, due to the enlistment of missionaries in the war. In the Peace River district there are no missionaries.

The Presbyterian and Methodist Churches are organizing committees in the west to prevent overlapping of missionary work and to avoid competition.

Lady Teachers.

Mr. Manning in conclusion, emphasized the lack of efficient lady teachers in the public schools of the West, and said that they could do a greater work there than in the East, but also stated that the inducements were not as good. He pointed out that it was a good opportunity for young ladies to help Christianity, and also for young men who were willing to make sacrifices, not for wealth, but for a better contribution to their fellow men and women.

Mr. Manning also spoke of the help that young ladies could renrer in serving as nurses in hospitals in China. In making an appeal for young men and women to go west to teach, he appealed to their higher motives. He said that he thought that young ladies could render in to teach in a foreign settlement has a harder task to perform than a man who goes to the trenches, mainly from the standpoint of solitude.

PETERBORO SOLDIER GATHERED BANANAS ON HIS WAY HOME

Two Peterboro boys, Corporal J. L. Johnston and Private Clayton Martin returned home on the "Empress of Asia," from Liverpool to Vancouver by way of the Panama canal. They sailed on January 2nd and arrived at Vancouver on January 25th. At Colon the Atlantic station at the mouth of the canal, the men were given a day on shore, and Corp. Johnston enjoyed the unexpected experience of picking bananas in the tropical groves about the town. It was exceedingly warm, but this phase of the journey was well worth the trip. It was a case of the longest way round being the sweetest way home. The Empress entered the canal at 8 a.m. and steamed into the Pacific ocean at 5 p.m. on the same day.

The forty mile passage across the isthmus was made in the stretches of the canal 10 feet above the sea level.

Corp. Johnston said that 1,500 men returned on the Empress of Asia. In the first and second class sections there was accommodation for 1,050 men, but it was monopolized by just 350 officers. The 1,050 privates were crowded below decks in the quarters fomerly occupied by Chinese, who had been transported to France. Much feeling was stirred up in Vancouver when this condition became known. Corp. Johnston intimated that he had fared well enough. He had no complaints to make of the treatment he received. He had expected to pay his railway fare from Vancouver to Peterboro, in fact had left Liverpool with that understanding, but was agreeably surprised when he was given first class railway transportation, meals included, from Vancouver east.

Illness Prevented Pte. A. E. Naish From Reaching Germany

Mr. Alfred Naish, 311 McDonnel street, formerly of the 93rd Battalion, has received the following letter from his brother, Private A. E. Naish, who went over with the 39th Battalion and saw three years of fighting:

No. 4 Canadian Hospital, Basingstoke, England, Hants.

Dear Brother and Sister,—Just a few lines in answer to your letter. I am in hospital in England, and just got over a very bad sickness of broncho-pneumonia and hemorrhage of the lungs and dropsy in my left leg. So you see it was pretty rough. I am expecting to come back to Canada for my discharge in a very short while, for I have to come back to draw my $700 that is coming to me for my three years' service in France. Then I am coming back to England again, for I do not think I shall make my home there any more. I did not have a very merry Christmas for I was on my last legs about that time. You ought to see my German revolver that I took from a German officer. It is a beauty. I was through Mons and only three days' march from the Rhine when I was taken sick, and I was made because I could not see Germany after going through three years of hard fighting. I have done my bit and I am proud of it. Remember me to all I know. I hope to spend a few days in Peterborough before long.

Your affectionate brother,
BERT.

GOVERNMENT TO TAKE ACTION

Severe Repressive Measures Promised and Hard Fighting is Looked For.

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—The new Spartacan outbreak is gaining strength in various parts of the country it was revealed in despatches received here to-day. The government has decided upon severe repressive measures and hard fighting is looked for.

Government troops were reported to be marching against the Spartacan forces which are entrenched around Dusseldorf. The government has obtained consent from the Entente to take this action since Dusseldorf is in the neutral zone.

At Eisenach, workmen and soldiers held a Spartacan uprising yesterday. They seized the telegraphs and decided to oppose the government.

Has Resigned.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

BREMEN, Feb. 3.—The Spartacan government in Bremen has resigned. Workmen have agreed to deliver their arms to the Ninth Army Corps. Majority Socialists here joined with the workmen in asking Military Governor Noske to withdraw his troops. So far the Berlin government has not accepted the proposition for mediation.

The government is sending picked troops to prevent disorders in Weimar. Any one boarding a train for Weimar must have a special permit, and all undesirables are being weeded out in that city. Breman was reported to be practically a great Spartacan camp. It is cut off from all telegraph and telephone communication with the outside world. Spartacan leaders have threatened to mobilize their entire strength and fight to the finish unless Military Governor Noske recalls the troops he has sent to restore order. In the meantime he is attempting to persuade the Spartacans to evacuate peacefully to save historic public buildings from destruction, as Noske has announced he will bombard the city.

Hamburg and Wilhelmshaven, where Spartacan uprisings were reported, are said to be quiet.

Cash With Order When Huns Import

Plenty of Markets for Canadian Crops, But Bacon Not So Satisfactory.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—As a matter of international policy to prevent the spread of anarchy, the blockade will have to be raised to this extent. Germany will be allowed to import food in exchange for a considerable amount of the gold available for this purpose, together with exports of potash to an amount to be fixed. Private German credits in Germany, and in other parts of the world, may also be available for these food purchases. It is believed that the demand from all these sources will absorb all supplies now offering. There does not appear to be ground for any apprehension that Canada will not be able to dispose of this year's surplus at fixed prices. As to what will happen with respect to next year's crop only inference can be drawn, but there is much to indicate that there will be a return virtually to the pre-war conditions of trading.

With respect to meat products the prospects for Canada are not so good. Huge quantities of bacon, much of it of an indifferent brand, is in storage in England, is being sold under Government control at prices fixed by its cost, thus restricting the consumption. London papers report a strong movement that the Government should accept a loss and put bacon on the market at lower prices, but, in any event, the market is likely to be overstocked for at least six months.

Advertising Talks
By P. E. HAYES

An Ideal Attainment

The ideal attainment of a local merchant is to make every possible customer say of him: "He is honest, his goods are honest and his methods and principles are of the highest character; it is as safe to send a child to his store as to go yourself."

Many a store which by square dealing has earned this reputation has really attained it among only a comparatively few people. Advertising, persistent advertising, would spread the news and bring the full measure of success that is deserved.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., Accuses the Government With Being Dilatory

Parliament Should Have Been Called December the First and Not February the Twentieth—Deplores Lack of Understanding of Economic Principles.

Regarding the Independent Labour Party resolution appearing below Mr. J. H. Burnham M.P. said:

"I think that I am entirely in accord with the sentiment expressed in this resolution. Parliament should have been called on Dec. 1 and not on February 20th. One troublt in our national education is in our lack of understanding of economic principles even at Ottawa. If the C.P.R. were handled the way Canada is, it would be on the rocks in a week. It is the fault of the system of government. The business of 8,000,000 of people is treated by 90 per cent. of the members as a mere sideshow to their own business and many constituencies think that the member's duties outside their own constituencies are nil.

The Resolution

The resolution referred to and forwarded to Mr. Burnham, contains the following:

J. H. Burnham Esq., M.P.

Sir, —At a public meeting of the Independent Labour Party of Peterboro, Ontario, the following resolution was carried unanimously, that this public meeting of the Independent Labour Party, Peterboro' do respectfully call upon the Federal Government to proceed at once with public works in this locality, as the present condition of unemployment has already reached a very strenuous point, owing to factories dismissing thier men to go hungry, while their establishments are packed from floor to ceiling with foodstuffs and no market.

Every week's delay means more families on the point of starvation and immediate action is necessary. The public patience will be greatly strained to have to wait until Parliament meets and the general routine methods followed; immediate action is most essential for the well being of the community.

We wish also to bring your attention to the high cost of living and the greatly reduced wage of the worker, which also calls for immediate action to help the toiler face the strenuous times under which we are now existing.

We would suggest that a "Peace Loan" be floated for industrial reconstruction and that a clause be provided for the larger concerns who received war contracts during the past four and a half years to be able to subscribe to the loan without interest, as a patriotic endeavour to adjust the industrial situation.

This we respectfully submit on behalf of the meeting held January 30, 1919, Labour Hall, Peterboro.

Peter McArthur,
President.
Thomas Tooms,
Secretary.

Peterboro, Ontario.

Palm Beach Modes Forecast the Summer Favourites

Simple Lines in the New Suit Dress

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.— The warm breezes of the southland beckon and the chilled mortals of the north heed. Every train brings to the sunny south those who would be comfortable during the cold wave. And as comfort is largely a matter of clothes, the trip affords for the woman an excellent opportunity to rebuild her wardrobe which, perhaps, has been neglected during the war. What is worn at Palm Beach is always a forecast of what will be worn in New York for the late spring and early summer. All the pretty light things that are now shown for southern wear will be the very same in design and line that those who remain at home will don as soon as the temperature permits. Wise, indeed, is she who takes advantage of the sales at the shops of this flimsy material now, for she has a wider selection and the quantity being more abundant will make the material cheaper in price.

8719
Overdress for Ladies.

It is safe to say that any design which is copied from the models now will be very smart next summer. Therefore, to stock up now would be far more discreet than rushing, as the majority will be, in the hot summer days. Many novel styles, of course, that could not be worn about town are shown, but the discretion of the average woman may be relied on sufficiently to warrant her correct choice.

Extreme But Charming.

One of the shops is showing a dainty little hat developed in raspberry-dotted dimity with a parasol to match. The crown of the hat is slightly shirred and a coy little rose of raspberry-coloured satin rests confidently on the brim over the right eye. The handle of the parasol is ivory and the mate of the satin rose on the hat is vainly pursuing its companion, for it is stopped abruptly about two-thirds of the way up the handle by a hand-painted ring of ivory. This attractive set can well be imagined shading the hot rays from some pretty thing who was just made for raspberry-dotted dimity.

Georgette dresses seem to be favoured. Pale shades, such as flesh and robin's egg blue with white in the lead, are most numerous. Many of these frocks are embroidered elaborately with beads of contrasting colours. The lines are simple and the unsophisticated appearance of the soft mass of material is fascinating.

The Successor of Khaki-Kool.

A new novelty weave is on the market which resembles very strongly the khaki-kool of last season. The material is silky in its composition, but has a surface which is made rough by the irregular lines of silk of various thickness running through it. This is used for the new suit dress. This ultra smart mode is extensively in view, and there is no doubt that the woman of refined taste will admire it for it is simple and service able.

For Velvet or Satin.

Then there is the lingerie to be considered. Point d'Esprit, which is hand embroidered with silk floss and sometimes combined with Georgette, is popular. The craze for embroidery extends from the tip-top of the parasol to the alluring envelope chemise. Sometimes it is silk, sometimes worsted, and many times wooden beads.

Rose Point and Venetian lace.

For breakfast coats and boudoir use, lace is in demand. A gorgeous thing of heavy Venetian, with bits of Georgette of a flesh tint slipped in, makes a breakfast jacket fit for a queen, but worn by the queenly American woman.

The vest of the satin dress illustrated could be made of lace if desired or the guimpe of the overdress might show bits of flesh through the screen-like mesh of some delicate lace. The satin frock features the one-sided drapery and rather extreme narrowness at the lower edge.

'LAME DUCK' TOURISTS FLOCKING TO COBLENZ

American Bridgehead is Fast Becoming Resort for Weirdly Attired Congressmen.

COBLENZ, Germany, Feb. 3.—Coblenz is rapidly becoming a winter tourist resort. It is the goal of visiting lame duck Congressmen and others who have managed to wheedle official Washington into giving them a free trip across the ocean. Delegations of Congressmen, in weird attire, and most of them in the twilight of public life, have been arriving daily during the past week.

A regular sightseeing trip, including an officer in the role of "barker," has been arranged through the American bridgehead. Among the sights exhibited is Krupp's castle with its unique devices; Kolsberg castle with living countesses and the Prince of Wierd's castle with afternoon tea. There is also a shopping excursion in which German souvenirs and post cards for the home folks are the chief purchases.

Bringing Back the Wives of Soldiers From Overseas

Free Transportation for Soldiers' Dependents—Definition of Who Shall Be Given Transportation.

Enquiry having been made as to the reason why, when soldiers are being brought home at the country's expense, why the wives and children of these soldiers should not share in the free transportation. The answer to this inquiry is given in the following pronouncement, which may be accepted as authoritive.

In view of the many inquiries which you will doubtless receive, I beg to advise that the Federal Government has decided to return all soldier's dependents to Canada, free, and at the public expense, from the United Kingdom, irrespective whether or not such dependents were previously resident in Canada.

The term dependents being interpreted as covering a soldier's wife, or a soldier's child under the age of eighteen years.

Third-class accommodation to the port of embarkation in England, on board ship and by rail to destination in Canada will be furnished by the Dominion Government. Should commissioned or warrant ranks desire that their dependents should travel first or second class, they will be required to pay the difference in cost of transportation. This arrangement is to take effect immediately.

A further question of interest that will open up is with regard to the status of those who have already paid passage to Canada. In many cases those coming across pledged the separation allowance and assigned pay for one or more months to raise the funds for passage. It is not stated that the order as above is to be retroactive, but it would seem reasonable that if in the future the dependents are to travel free that those who have paid for passage should be refunded the amounts.

Bernard Daly

Here Next Friday with Special Performance.

The sweet singing Irish star, Bernard Daly, will appear at The Grand Theatre, next Friday February 7 with special matinee in his greatest success "Sweet Innisfallen". Through the plays runs a sweet love story, with the beautiful lakes of Killarney for a setting. The scenery is beautiful and appropriate; the costumes well designed and harmonize with the period represented in the play.

Bernard Daly, as Larry O'Connell keeps the audience in good humor with his songs and brilliant display of Irish wit. "Mavis," "Hide and Seek," "Song of the Wind," "Believe Me if all Those Endearing Young Charms" and "Sweet Innisfallen" are a few of the hits this noted star will render during the performance.

STATEMENT OF POLICY DOMINION PROHIBITION

Following is a statement of policy as adopted by the Dominion Prohibition committee:

In view of the benefits now generally recognized by the people of Canada as having resulted from Prohibition, as provided by means of Order-in-Council, limiting the trade in intoxicating liquor to sacramental, industrial, artistic, mechanical, scientific and medicinal purposes, thereby greatly reducing drunkenness, crime, and waste of money and manhood; and

In view of the general desire that every precaution shall be taken to reduce to a minimum the social, industrial, and political unrest incident to the restoration of the affairs of the nation to normal peace conditions; and

In view of the status of the Order-in-Council of March 11, 1918 (P. C. 589), when the articles of peace shall have been signed; and

In view of the impossibility of submitting at this time the question of making Prohibition permanent to a vote of the people of Canada without a manifest disregard of the right of soldiers overseas to a vote thereon;

Therefore, we recommend:

(1) That the Prime Minister and Government of Canada be requested to take the steps necessary to continue in effect the provisions of the Order-in-Council of March 11, 1918 (P.C. 589), by having the same embodied in Legislation to be enacted by the Parliament of Canada.

(2) That the Legislation so enacted be continued in effect until such time as a vote of the electors of the Dominion of Canada shall have been taken on the question of its continuance or discontinuance.

(3) That the vote on this question be taken at a date to be fixed by the Government of Canada at least six months prior to the day of voting, and with due regard to the restoration to civil life in Canada of the Canadian soldiers now overseas.

WILL NOT MEET THE BOLSHEVIKI

(United Press Service.)

Returned Hero Taxed $8 a Call

That is Charge a War Veteran Makes Against Hamilton Physician.

HAMILTON, Feb. 1.—Another case of alleged exorbitant charges made by a Hamilton physician for professional services has been reported, and the matter has been placed in the hands of a lawyer. A returned soldier employed at an east end plant lost his wife during the recent "flu" epidemic. His four children became ill with the same malady a few days later. A physician was called to attend them. They required quite regular attention, these four sick little kiddies, all fighting the dreaded "flu" together in one room, and their father thought that he had his full share of worry and care. However, when he received the doctor's bill he thought again, very hard. The bill totalled $230, and among the items on the itemized account were quite a number of "calls" which were charged for at the rate of $8 each.

THE CHINAMEN.

The Rev. Dr. S. Banks Nelson intends to personally interview the doctors he had in mind when he said that local Chinamen were being grossly overcharged for medical services. The Knox Church pastor so announced. He further stated that a certain doctor had called him up and asked him if he (Dr. Nelson) had him (the speaker) in mind when he made the statement about overcharging.

"Well, is that doctor one of those you had in mind?" Dr. Nelson was asked.

"I won't say, because I have more than one doctor in mind, and it wouldn't be fair to announce the name of one without giving them all. I told the Medical Society I would give it the names whenever it was ready to investigate the cases," replied Dr. Nelson.

"But the society does not seem to be ready."

"Well, there's a detective from Toronto investigating the matter. He called on me for information."

Improvement in Business Conditions

Better Demand for Metal Products —The Steel Market.

There are some signs of an improvement in business conditions in so far as they have to do with the machine tool trade, but these are rather local, and can hardly be interpreted as forerunners of a general revival in this line of business. However, there are lines that are buying quite heavily, viz., some of the agricultural implement shops, rubber goods works, knitting mills, planing mills and furniture factories.

It is interesting to note as an aftermath of the war that British lines are making their appearance once more on the Canadian market. This week a good sized tube order went to a British house. They are also in the market now for furnaces, chains, anchors, and kindred lines. Exportation of these was prohibited during the war, but it is possible now, and there are increasing possibilities for transportation as well.

NEED REPAIRS.

Warehouse interests report that there is a lot of business moving in their lines. It is not coming from any particular section, but from shipyards, mines and repaid requirements to existing plants. Some of the latter have been run at top speed 24 hours a day for the last three years, and it is easy to see that they need repairs.

The Canadian National Railways are out this week with specifications for satisfactory orders for tubes, plate, etc., for boiler work. In fact, their buying of this material and of supplies for the machine shops has been about the best business offering.

Prices of steel are standing at the marks that has been passing for some weeks. Indications are that they will not move to any lower levels. There is talk of labour trouble breaking out in the Pittsburgh district, and it will be largely through prices that such trouble will come. The trade feels that it cannot keep prices up to levels and get trade, nor can prices drop until production costs are cut. In such circumstances it is not a hard matter to create trouble.—Canadian Machinery and Manufacturing News.

Voice of The People

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir: I noticed in The Examiner that there are being called in question my motives in publishing certain matters lately relative to Labour. Surely, trying to get the community to take an interest in Labour and Labour's condition at the time of a municipal election, when Labour men were standing for the Council, can not be criticized, and not less certainly trying to get Labour in touch with Parliament cannot.

Labour wants fair play; not special privileges. It wants the fair play that every decent man and woman and child and animal is entitled to and any man who measures up to that standard of understanding is fit to represent Labour or anybody else.

The bane of Parliament has been the representation of special classes and interests, and see what it has brought us to. If we cannot get rid of class strife, but are to have more of it, there is no end to it but class war, and no such thing as the common brotherhood and the common interest of mankind.

Labour was viewed as a curse in the Bible, and to make it stronger humanity was further condemned to be fruitful and to multiply. We have all been trying to get out from under that curse ever since. But let me tell my critic that I am running after no man and no class. If it is better to bring out a Labour man, bring him out. It is easy no doubt to get a better man than I am. But sitting still in Parliament won't do Labour or anything else much good. One must be prepared to jump in at the right time and to know something more of Labour or Capital and of the people than merely to be able to "raise hell" at local meetings, or to sit in a corner and to look wise. I have given all my time to public work and have had no private interests of any kind to serve. No man should represent the people who can give but part of his attention to this the greatest of all human duties. He will do little more than represent his own interests. I am thousands of dollars behind where I was when I entered politics. My Parliamentary record is in Hansard, which is at the Public Library. There was but one Labour man in the last House, Verveille, M.P. of Montreal, and he was a supporter of Laurier. I will even leave my record to him. But I am asking no favors and have not yet even made up my mind to stand again. The way is clear for anybody who feels called to enrol himself in the great cause of Peace and Industry. But let us keep the anonymous vilifier and hedge-hunter out of it. I am obliged to my critic, for coming out in the open,

J. H. BURNHAM.

DERNBURG REPUDIATES NOTE.

Says Message to von Papen Before Senate Committee Was Spurious

BERLIN, Feb. 1.—In the recent investigation by the United States Senate Judiciary Committee into German propaganda, a letter, said to have been signed by Dr. Bernard Dernburg, former German agent in the United States, addressed to Capt. von Papen, former German military attache in Washington, and said to have been found by the British when they captured German headquarters in Palestine, was read into the record. A copy of the published letter was sent to Dr. Dernburg and he authorized the following statement today:

"The letter ascribed to me is a pure fake from first to last. I never wrote von Papen either this or any other letter. As bearing on the reliability of material placed before the Senatorial committee, I would consider it of importance that this, my categorical denial, be transmitted to the other side."

On Dec. 18 last papers of Captain von Papen were placed on the record of the Senate Judiciary Committee. They included a letter of Dr. Dernburg to von Papen, dated at Berlin, Oct. 18, 1916, in which veiled reference was made regarding German submarine activity against Holland and the Scandinavian countries. What the plan was not disclosed fully.

A PINT OF OYSTERS ENOUGH MEAT FOR A FAMILY OF FIVE.

Oysters are a good food. Oysters come nearer in composition to cow's milk than do most other meats, as all the four kinds of nutrients needed are present in good degree. Oysters have a larger excess of the flesh building substance relative to the other constituents than milk, so we "balance the ration" by addition of starchy food and fats when eating oysters, thus securing a good meal at a cost that compares favorably with that when other meats are chosen. The sea salts that they contain are useful in regulating and stimulating nutritional processes.

CAN TRANSPORT LIQUOR.

Justice Bigelow Quashes Saskatchewan Conviction on Dominion Order-in-Council.

REGINA, Sask., Jan. 28.—By the decision of Justice Bigelow, of the court of King's bench, it is now legal to transport liquor from one point to another in this province, contrary to the general impression that the law prevented this. The decision was in an appeal case from the conviction of a justice of the peace who sent accused to jail for transporting a quantity of liquor into the town of Shaunovon, contrary to Dominion Order-in-Council No. 589, Section 4.

The judgment says that the Order-in-Council never intended to cover transportation from one point in a province to another point in the same province and the conviction was quashed without immunity being granted to the convicting justice of the peace.

Ruth Argues With Brian

Chapter CIX.

When Brian said that he was going to enlist with the Canadians Ruth simply stood still and stared at him. But every vestige of color had left her face and after a moment she swayed slightly. Brian thought that she was going to fall and put his arms about her. She shivered and drew slightly away.

"Will you say that again—the whole of it?"

"I said that you would not have to pay rent for me much longer—that I was going to enlist with the Canadians."

"You mean that?"

"Yes."

"And it is because I paid the rent? Oh, Brian!"

"Not—not entirely—though—if you hadn't—perhaps I wouldn't have gone unless Uncle Sam got into the scrap. But you can take care of yourself, better than I can of you. You don't need me, and the army does."

"I don't—need you?"

"No. You never really have. From the very first you have been able to earn more than I did; to provide yourself with things I could not have hoped to give you for years—if ever. I realize that I am not, never shall be a success—as far as making big money goes. I thought when I married you that I was going to become a big lawyer," his tone was contemptuous and bitter, "but you took all necessity for pushing myself away from me. I could have braced up for you—not for yourself. You earn about three times what I do. You don't need me."

The tone of finality in the last words struck Ruth like a blow. He was going and because she had made him think she did not need him. Not need his love! His companionship! What was he thinking about? No woman ever needed her husband more. But could she make him believe it? Could she make him understand that he meant more to her than all the world beside?

Ruth had forgotten Mandel, and that she had really, seriously, wondered if she cared for him. She thought of nothing no one, but Brian—her husband.

"Brian—I want you to believe me when I tell you that I do need you. Need your love, your dear companionship. Money isn't all, dear, even though it may have seemed to you at times that I thought it was. I happened to have a gift for a particular kind of work. Work which is always highly paid. It was congenial work, too. That it has occasionally taken you from me for a little while, has been a drawback—the only one. Yet, dear we have been very comfortable, and it has given you opportunity to feel that you could better equip yourself. You see we have not needed all we both earned."

"Study—equip myself—what for?" To sit alone while you are working for Mandel? Not on your life! A man has to have a motive to do these things—and I have had none. Perhaps my pride should have been spur enough—my ambition. Well, my pride wasn't and you have killed all the ambition that I ever possessed. Not intentionally, perhaps"—the look on Ruth's face caused him to soften his words, "but killed it just the same. I have a home which you provide. A servant whom you pay. Food which you often pay for and so on. Nice position for a man to be in, isn't it? Do you wonder that I cannot bring myself to let more people know that my wife supports me in a style in which I could not support her? It is unbearable that it should go on. Unthinkable that I should not take the first opportunity that offers to escape from such an humiliating position."

"But Brian—"

"There is no use talking any longer. My mind is made up. We have talked of, quarrelled over this money question until I am tired and sick of this very word 'money.' I would rather live in one room and cook the meals myself than go on."

"As Mollie King does?"

Ruth never could have explained what made her ask that question. She had not thought of Molly while Brian had been talking; she had not in any way connected her with Brian's decision. The question had slipped out.

"Yes, if you will, just like Mollie King does. She at least spoils no one's life by aspiring to things beyond her reach. Just why you should bring her into this I can't see."

"I didn't mean anything. I spoke without thinking."

"Since you have referred to her, I may as well tell you that Mollie is going over too—she is going as a nurse. For six months she has been training."

"Mollie King is going, too?" once more Ruth seemed unable to grasp what she had been told.

"Yes, Mollie is going—too."

To-morrow—Ruth Spends Unhappy Hours.

YOUNGSTER HAD RIGHT SPIRIT

Newsboy's Appreciation of Work of "Our Boys" a Valuable Object Lesson in Patriotism.

Here is a story told by an Indianapolis woman:

"The other evening as I was walking over the long bridge that extends back of the Union station in Baltimore, my eye, searching for something interesting, caught sight of a small newsboy—just a little, dirty-faced chap but one does not look at twice. What especially drew my attention to him, however, was something unusual in the way he drew out one of his papers, folded it into very small compass, and tossed it over the railing into the freight yard below. My eyes involuntarily followed the direction of the paper, and as I peered over the balustrade I saw a stirring scene. Numbers of big army trucks and scores of 'doughboys' bustling round busily and cheerily unloading and reloading them. One of the soldiers was in the act of waving his hand in thanks to the boy whose paper he had just picked up.

"Much interested, I leaned over to the little fellow. Under cover of buying a paper and getting change, I put a casual question: 'How do you expect to get your money from that soldier down there?' My little friend looked disgusted. 'I gave it to him!' he instantly retorted. Then he turned to gaze again on the fascinating scene below, and added very softly: 'He's doin' more'n a cent's worth for us.'"—Indianapolis News.

Pimples Broke Out All Over Face, Arms and Neck

Pimples are sure sign that the blood is not in its proper shape.

While the skin is the seat of the irritating, unsightly pimples, the real disease is in the blood.

Medicated lotions and powders may allay the itching and the irritation, but never cure, no matter how long and faithfully continued, and the condition is often aggravated, and the skin permanently injured by their use. The disease is more than skin deep; the entire circulation is poisoned.

Burdock Blood Bitters quickly and effectually cures blood and skin troubles because it goes direct to the root of the disease and eliminates and restores normal, healthy action to the different organs, cleanses and enriches the blood, and thus relieves the system of all poisonous secretions.

B. B. B. cures permanently because it leaves none of the original poison to ferment in the blood and cause a fresh attack.

Miss E. M. Davidson, Daysland, Alta., writes: "Last summer I was greatly troubled with pimples breaking out all over my face, arms and neck. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters and after taking two bottles the pimples had almost all disappeared. I shall always recommend this remedy to anyone afflicted with skin troubles."

HAD MODIFIED HIS DESIRE

After Experience in Airplane Man Decided He Would Prefer to Travel to Heaven on Foot.

"Does it ever fail?" finally quivered the novice as the airplane climbed higher and still higher.

"Only when I let it do so," answered the airman. "Now and then I drop her backward. Here we go!"

On the backward descent, a mile or more, the passenger clung to the pilot with both arms and never breathed. At last the machine resumed its horizontal traveling.

"Great heavens!" gasped the novice with relief.

"Say, look here; didn't you say you wished to die on high like a gliding gunbearer?" complained the airman.

"Now?" admitted the passenger.

"Then shut up. You're going to get your wish."

Suddenly the airplane dived and looped the loop, then traveled upside down.

"Hold fast."

"Wh-what?"

"We are going to land."

Quickly the airplane glided to earth. Released from his seat, the passenger knelt and lifted both hands solemnly.

"Once I grasped to be an angel," he said. "But it doesn't go any more unless on foot."

Held No Grudge.

Time brings many changes. Take for instance the fellows who volunteered their services when war was declared and who have since been promoted to be commissioned officers. Some of these men toiled in shops and offices and had to see the mark for clerks or foremen to get fired. Then came the draft and these same clerks and foremen became doughboys and may take orders from their former office boys and employees. Some humorous stories have come to light from the nearby cantonments, but let it be said to the credit of the former office boys, they have not made life uncomfortable for their superiors, although they have had fine opportunities to do so. An illustration of this the other day when a doughboy was serving mess to his top sergeant. As he did so he spilled some dressing from the salad. The sergeant noticed this and snarled. "Just about a year ago I was serving you this soup," said the sergeant, at the same time mentioning the hotel where he had worked as serving man, "and you gave me the devil because it was cold. I'm not going to kick because you spilled the dressing. Trespassing to your right." And that is the general spirit throughout the camps.

KEEP URIC ACID OUT OF JOINTS

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Eat Less Meat and Take Salts.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly; keep the feet dry; avoid exposure; eat less meat, but drink plenty of good water.

Rheumatism is a direct result of eating too much meat and other rich foods that produce uric acid which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which helps overcome uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

Lakefield Men Return Home

Lakefield Happenings—Visitors to the Village.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 3.—Another soldier who returned to Lakefield on Friday from overseas was Pte. Fred. Graham. Though Pte. Graham resided in Peterborough for some time before joining the army, he was a Lakefield boy, and his friends are glad to have him back. ## L. F. Swift Urges Control of Food Prices be Kept Up

Decline of Cent on Pork Would Cause His Concern $2,500,000 Loss, He Says.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31.—Louis F. Swift, president of Swift & Co., told the House Interstate Commerce Committee that the Food Administration in stablizing the live stock market had accomplished "wonderful things, both for the producer and the consumer," and that its control was needed now as much as ever.

"This is a critical time and everybody is loaded up with meat," said Mr. Swift. "We haven't had many shipments. The only possible way to have made shipments abroad as we did was through Food Administration control."

The witness declared that a decline of one cent a pound in the pork market would mean a loss of $2,500,000 to his firm on the great amount of meat it had prepared for the world market. He expressed a belief that with government control continued prices would be high for some months, but then probably would decline.

The bill before the committee to license packing plants and permit the government to take over adjuncts, such as stockyards, newspapers and refrigerator cars, was opposed by Mr. Swift as class legislation and certain to be hurtful to the general public by crippling industry.

"Government supervision through full access to the packers books was advocated by him as a "less dangerous" method of procedure. The primary desire of Swift & Co. was declared, to be efficient service in the stockyards and readiness was expressed to sell the firm's interests in various yards, if present standards of operation could be maintained.

Regarding the Federal Trade Commission's allegation that packer ownership of refrigerator cars prevents the small packers from competing with the big firms, Mr. Swift suggested that instead of taking the cars away from the big firms the government or railroads should build five thousand cars and let the small packers use them. He said refrigerator cars were a losing investment to his firm, which maintained them only to assure efficient service.

Charges of collusion by the Federal Trade Commission were denied by Mr. Swift. He said there were 25,000 stockholders in Swift & Co., and that his family did not own a majority of the stock. The witness said his salary was $50,000 a year, and that his four brothers all practical meat packers, drew $35,000 to $35,000 each.

Competition between the five big packers was declared to exist, and Mr. Swift said this apparently was a good time for new firms to enter the business. He said he never before knew of so many new plants under construction, and told the committee the Anheuser-Busch brewing interests of St. Louis were starting a new packing company.

Old Rivals Meet at Brock St. Rink in To-night's Battle

Manager Bradley and Childs, Rowden Jacobi and the rest of his stars of the Oshawa team last year's runners up for the intermediate championship arrive on the 5.35 G. T. R. train this evening to meet the Peterboro intermediates in the first game of the big series that will decide which team will have the honour of going into the second round.

There promises to be a grand crowd at Brock street rink when the puck is faced at 8:15 o'clock to-night and with the best ice of the season available there is every reason to expect a memorable game. The Oshawa team contains no new stars but is a fast well balanced collection of seasoned performers. Peterboro fans have reason to remember "Kip" Rowden the clever centre player of the Oshawa gang because of his sensational playing as a junior for the Oshawa outfit. On one occasion in a junior game here Rowden not only pulled the game out of the fire for Oshawa by tying it up with a couple of minutes to play by a spectacular rush but eventually won in the overtime period by an equally cever play. He is the ace of the Oshawa scoring section and will need to be watched all the way. Childs the former Woodstock goal-keeper who was a member of the Western All-Stars on several occasions is still with the Oshawa squad. He is a clever net guardian but not entirely unbeatable for the local fans still have recollections of Bobby Armstrong and Co-driving seven counters past him two years ago. The Oshawa fans also remember this occasion which put a crimp in many a bank-roll.

The Petes are in good shape for to-nights battle and hope to surprise the visitors, who according to reports regard the Peterboro series as a mere formality before meeting the Kingston squad in the next round. The Petes, however, may be able to upset these calculations and judging by the pace they have been setting in practice. The fast ice to-night is thoroughly to the taste of every member of the local squad and they should be at their best to-night.

The Peterboro team will line-up as follows:—
Goal—Legros.
Defence—Halpin, Evans.
Centre—Murphy.
Right Wing—Laundrault.
Subs—Rose, Jackson.

CURLING

Peterboro's two district cup rinks skipped by J. W. McDermid and Ray Best went to Lindsay to-day for the District Cup games. The rinks were as follows: Herb. Hair, J. Metheral, Percy Fitzgerald and J. W. McDermid; and Ross Dobbin, Alex. Archibald, W. D. Campbell and R. P. Best

Tankard Games To-morrow

The tankard games will be played here to-morrow, with Lindsay probably the only competitor with Peterboro. R. M. Waddell has called these games which are already two weeks overdue.

The Vice-Skips' Bonspiel.

Chis. Graham's rink is the only one of the vice-skips that have reached the fours in their bonspiel. The others are in the eights round, but it is expected that the bonspiel will be concluded on Wednesday night. There will be a draw at seven o'clock and it is the intention to continue the play until the bonspiel is decided no matter how late the games may run. The ice is in splendid condition, and the Club realizes that full advantage must be taken of the frost to make up for the time that was lost during the January thaw.

Graham's rink went into the fours by defeating R. F. Downey in a hard fought game that ended with the score of 9-8.

The other games in the eights that have yet to be decided are as follows:
W. H. Taylor vs. George Hill.
Sam Ray vs. F. Brownscombe
R. L. Dobbin vs. Grant Copping.

Fast Junior Teams Clash Here Wednesday in Decisive Battle

While the Lindsay Midgets and Peterborough Juniors clash at Brock Street Rink on Wednesday night in the first game of the home and home series to decide the group title, the fans will see the most exciting junior battle of many a season. The first game between the two teams at the beginning of the season was a corker, but both teams have improved since then, and they will set a faster pace than ever when they are set at each other on Wednesday night.

Size it up for yourself.

The first game played here was won by the Petes, 7 to 4. The second game in Lindsay was captured by the Midgets, 12 to 10. That makes the score on the round, after two hours of fighting hockey, 17 to 16, and the closeness of the score shows how well matched are the two teams. In Friday's game in Lindsay no one could predict the final result with certainty until the last minute of play, and Wednesday's contest promises to be of the same calibre. No on who saw that game or the first one her between the two teams could be kept ou of the rink for Wednesday's clash. A though no special train can be secured there will be a big bunch of Lindse fans down for the game. They ar raving about the Midgets up in Lindsay claiming this to be the best outfit tha has represented the town since the ol Midgets won a championship. They hav some reason for their elation too, for th Midgets are a hustling, clever outfit. Th Peterborough fans, however, feel the the local gang has the edge on the Mid gets, and will prove it in this week' series. There are still other people tha say it is a toss up, and the team tha gets the breaks in the two games wil go into the next round.

Any way you look at it, however, Wed nesday's game promises to be a thrille from the first face-off.

Biggest Week of O.H.A. Season For Two Peterboro Teams

After waiting patiently for over three weeks for a chance to see a hockey game the Peterboro fans are at last given an opportunity of seeing two great battles in three days.

To-night the all-important intermediate series between Oshawa and Peterboro opens with a game at the Brock street rink, while on Wednesday night the Lindsay Midgets will be here for the first game of the home and home series with the Peterboro Juniors that will decide the championship of the group. The return game in each case will be played on Friday night, so that this is the biggest week of the season for the two Peterboro teams.

The fans should understand that in the Oshawa-Peterboro series it is games and not goals that count and that to win the group one or other of the teams will have to win both here and in Oshawa.

On the other hand, as the Lindsay and Peterboro Juniors have already completed their group schedule, and are tied with three wins and one loss each, the series that starts Wednesday is a play-off and the team that wins the majority of goals in the two games will go on into the next round.

The standing in the two groups is as follows:

Intermediate—

| | Won | Lost | Goals For | Goals Agst. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Peterboro | 4 | 0 | 27 | 19 |
| Oshawa | 4 | 0 | 28 | 10 |
| Whitby | 2 | 4 | 17 | 31 |
| Lindsay* | 0 | 6 | 12 | 24 |

*Defaulted.

Junior—

| | Won | Lost | Goals For | Goals Agst. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Peterboro | 3 | 1 | 25 | 16 |
| Lindsay | 3 | 1 | 23 | 20 |
| Port Hope* | 0 | 4 | 5 | 15 |

*Defaulted.

"Home Run" Baker Will Stay on the Farm

It is reported that "Home Run" Baker will work his farm and play with a local team in the Maryland County league this year instead of holding down third base for the New York Americans.

It is no secret that the famous home run king is anxious to quit the game and when he says something—which isn't often—he generally means it.

If Baker is lost to the American league it will mean the passing of a great player and one of the finest characters that ever graced the national pastime. Baker's name will always live for his remarkable home run drives that won the world's championship for the Athletics against the Giants in 1911. He drove the ball over the fence on two dramatic occasions, winning games that seemed lost — and the sobriquet of "Home Run" Baker. He often led the league in home runs and extra base hits, and although never regarded as a great fielder, the records prove that he handled more chances than any other third baseman of his time.

Despite the adulation heaped upon him Baker remained unspoiled. He is all he wants to be—a simple farmer. He owns a farm in Maryland and always begrudged the time spent away from it during the baseball season. Even when with his team he kept rustic hours. He went to bed at 8 o'clock and was up with the sun. He has no bad habits—nobody ever heard him swear. His only vice was checkers.

Four Handsome Trophies and a Wealth of Prizes For Peterboro's Open Bonspiel

Three of the Silver Cups Are New Ones, Presented to the Peterboro Club for Annual Competition by G. W. Morrow, the Matthews-Blackwell Co. and R. M. Waddell.

BIG ENTRY LIST EXPECTED

Peterborough's open bonspiel, the draw for which will be made here on Tuesday, February 11th at 9 a.m. promises to be the biggest curling event in the province this winter if the weather and other affecting conditions facilitate the plans that have been prepared by the committee.

Four handsome silver trophies, three of them new ones that are offered for the first time, together with rich prizes donated by the Curling Club should attract the large number of rinks that are expected for this bonspiel. The silverware and prizes may be briefly enumerated as follows:

The W. G. Morrow Trophy.

Mr. W. G. Morrow, chairman of the bonspiel committee, has presented for annual competition at the bonspiel, a large and beautifully designed sterling silver trophy valued at $200, and with it the Club offers a first prize of four mahogany cabinets of silver worth $80, and a second prize of four cut glass bowls worth $32. These prize become the permanent possession of the winners, but the Morrow cup shall be held for only one year.

The Matthews-Blackwell Trophy.

Another new trophy has been presented by the Matthews-Blackwell Co., and with the Morrow trophy is a splendid addition to the Peterboro company. It is a silver cup of chaste design, and will be added to the Peterborough Club's list of prizes for the bonspiel. With this trophy the club offers as first prize, four oak cabinets of pearl-handled knives and forks valued at $80, and as second prize four silver casseroles worth $28.

The Peterborough Curling Club Trophy.

The Curling Club's old silver cup which up to this year has been the only trophy offered at the bonspiel must not be overlooked. It is valued at $100, and with it goes the associations of past contests. It is open to the losers in the Morrow and Matthews-Blackwell events, and with it are given as first prize four mahogany clocks worth $48 and four silver plates worth $24. The number of rinks entering this competition shall be decided by three skips from the visiting clubs and the Bonspiel committee.

The R. M. Waddell Trophy.

R. M. Waddell has donated for annual competition between visiting curlers at the bonspiel and curlers of the Peterborough club, a beautiful silver trophy with which the Club offers four silver tea sets valued at $80 and four thermos bottles worth $24, as first and second prizes respectively. It shall be open to twelve rinks from the local club and to an equal number of rinks from all visiting clubs at the bonspiel. Other rules have been drawn up by Mr. Waddell with a view to making this competition one of the features of the bonspiel.

Both the Charlotte and Brock street rinks will be utilized by the curlers for this big event, the success of which depends solely upon favourable —that is cold—weather. Mr. Morrow and his committee have sent out a special booklet to many clubs and everything is ready for an entry list of one hundred or more rinks that, because you have tried and found to be ineffective many kinds of remedies for Gastritis, Hyperacidity, or imperfect Digestion of Food accompanied by pain or gas after eating, that you cannot be relieved and be cured.

Moncur's Digestive Tonic

is slightly laxative and acts upon the liver as well. It is especially suited for those suffering from Bilious Indigestion. It corrects at once the formation of Gas. It assists in the assimilation of food and protects the Inflamed Lining of the stomach in Gastritis.

It strengthens and relieves the whole Digestive Tract. This preparation used in connection with proper diet and nerve sedatives, gives the most satisfying results in Nervous Dyspepsia and Hyperacidity.

Even the old chronic cases show a decided improvement under treatment with this remedy.

It is proving as successful in the treatment of the above weaknesses as MONCUR'S DOUBLE STRENGTH LUNG SYRUP has proven in the treatment of OBSTINATE AND RACKING COUGHS, COLDS AND BRONCHITIS.

100th Anniversary Of Cobourg Church

Rev. F. J. Sawers is Present Rector of St. Peters Church.

St. Peter's Anglican Church, Cobourg, celebrated its 100th anniversary on Sunday, January 26th. The present rector is Rev. F. J. Sawers, formerly rector of St. Luke's Anglican Church of this city. For the past hundred years there has been but five ministers in charge of St. Peter's. Rev. William McCauley from 818 to 1827; Rev. A. N. Bethune from 1827 to 1866, he afterwards becoming Archdeacon of York and Bishop of Toronto; Canon A. W. Spragge from 1899 to 1914. The present rector, Rev. F. J. Sawers, entered on his fifth year of service at St. Peter's on Monday, January 27th.

During this time there have been important changes in the church and its membership. The first church was commenced in the spring of 1820 and opened on Christmas Day of that year. Up to October, 1854, various additions were made to the building, and in that year the present handsome edifice was built, being constructed over the old church which was used for service until the present building was opened.

At the fiftieth anniversary of the present church in 1905, the spire of the old tower was removed and a memorial chime of bells was placed in the tower. As a permanent memorial of the hundredth anniversary it has been proposed to join the church and the parish hall which is alongside the church and make one large building.

CROWLEY—McMARTIN.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, Jan. 29th at the Church of the Sacred Heart, Peterborough, when Albert Edward Crowley, was united in holy bonds o matrimony to Miss Teresa Josephine McMartin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Patrick McMartin, both of Otonabee. The ceremony was performed by Rev J. J. O'Brien.

The bride was very becomingly attired in a suit of blue garbardine and a taupe hat and wore a set of furs, the gift of the groom. Miss Katherin McMartin assisted the bride, and wore a suit of Burgandy broadcloth with hat to match, while Mr. Frank O'Connor assisted the groom.

As the bride entered the church, Mr. Armstrong played Mendelssohn's wedding march, and during the offertory Miss Minnie Allen sang 'Ave Maria.'

The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a gold brooch, to the groomsman a gold tie pin.

After the ceremony they returned to the home of the bride's parents, where breakfast was served, after which they left on the noon train for points west amid showers of confetti and best wishes.

THE TREASURE OF GOOD HEALTH

Easily Maintained Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

There is not a nook or corner in Canada, in the cities, the towns, the villages, on the farms and in the mines and lumber camps, where Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have not been used, and from one end of the country to the other they have brought back to bread-winners, their wives and families the splendid treasure of new health and strength.

You have only to ask your neighbours, and they can tell you of some rheumatic or nerve-shattered man, some suffering woman, ailing youth or anaemic girl who owes present health and strength to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. For more than a quarter of a century these pills have been known not only in Canada, but throughout all the world, as a reliable tonic, blood-making medicine.

The wonderful success of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is due to the fact that they go right to the root of the disease in the blood, and by making the vital fluid rich and red strengthen every organ and every nerve, thus driving out disease and pain, and making weak, despondent people bright, active and strong. Mr. W. T. Johnson, one of the best known and most highly esteemed men in Lunenburg county, N.S., says:—"I am a Provincial Land Surveyor, and am exposed for the greater part of the year to very hard work travelling through the forests by day and camping out by night, and I find the only thing that will keep me up to the mark is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When I leave home for a trip in the woods I am as interested in having my supply of pills as provisions, and on such occasions, I take them regularly. The result is I am always fit. I never take cold, and can digest all kinds of food such as we have to put up with hastily cooked in the woods. Having proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as a tonic and health builder, I am never without them, and I lose no opportunity in recommending them to weak people whom I meet."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be kept in every home, and their occasional use will keep the blood pure and ward off illness. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GOOD ROADS WOULD PAY BIG DIVIDENDS

Mr. S. L. Squire, of Toronto, Warden Anderson and Others Address Mass Meeting in Norwood—Government Does Not Desire to Coerce the County Into Provincial System.

NORWOOD, February 1.—A platform discussion of the Good Roads problem as advocated by certain writers to the local press during the past few weeks culminated in a public meeting in the Norwood town hall last Friday evening. That much interest is taken in the question was evidenced by the large attendance, and the speeches proved very instructive.

The credit of securing the speakers is due to two of our progressive farmers, County President E. N. McDonald, of the U.F.O. and Mr. G. A. Brethen, while the village council granted the use of the hall in the public interest.

Mr. S. L. Squire, formerly of the Highways Dept. of the Ontario Government, defended the Good Roads policy of the Government; and in the absence of Mr. Ed. M. Elliott, county clerk, of Peterborough, who had been invited to be present, Warden W. A. Anderson of Otonabee and Ex-Warden Max. Brown of Asphodel ably defended their actions in the County Council in refusing to accept the project under the present act.

Mr. E. P. Cuffe, who kindly consented to act as chairman, referred to the great importance of good roads both to the village and country. He thought the development of good roads in Peterboro County was as important as water fronts were to other counties.

Mr. S. L. Squire said he was not a stranger to the discussion of the Good Roads question in Peterboro County. There were three great means of transportation, waterways railways and highways. Waterways were only of service to a few; the use of railways was limited to a ticket purchase; but highways were free to all, and the most important of the three. Originally there were only forest paths, but as civilization advanced the demands grew for better roads. Was it fair that the people's money should be expended in the construction of railways, etc., while they were left to construct and maintain their own highways? This question led to the introduction of the Good Roads system. In 1901 the Government passed Highway Act providing ten millions of dollars assistance towards good roads.

Commission Appointed

It was made compulsory that the smallest unit to enter into compliance with the act should be a county. Proper roads could not be built without the purchase of machinery that would prove a burden to the township, the average cost of an outfit being $25,000.

The Act of 1901 admitted counties on a basis of 33 1-3% government grant for construction. Fifteen counties immediately took advantage of it.

One argument heard is that motorists are forcing the hands of the government. This is baseless as when the act was introduced in 1901 there were not a half-dozen autos in the whole province.

A commission was appointed to study the question. They advised that the Government also help to maintain the roads constructed, and divide them into three classes, township, county and provincial. Later the McDermid bill was passed providing an increased grant to County Roads of 40% construction and 20% maintenance.

There were three important principles in road construction: grades, drainage and top dressing of which the government pays 40% of the cost, and also the same percentage for culverts, machinery and gravel pits.

Under the act the County Council may select the roads but they must appoint a superintendent [His selection is left with the County Council. The government pays 40% of his salary and requires such a responsible person to vouch for expenditures. The Government further supplies engineers free of cost.

Counties Organize.

The government desired that all counties in the province be organized to give an increased impetus to road building at the conclusion of the war. All the counties in the province have accepted the government's system but Peterboro county. The speaker said that sometimes the crowd is wrong and the individual right. Were the 36 other counties wrong and Peterboro right? One argument used is why should 100% of the people pay for 20% of the roads. Mr. Squire said you might just as well ask why a tree should be all branches and no trunk. Every part of highway must be built to accommodate the traffic thereon. When 15% of the roads are built properly they will accommodate 80% of the traffic. This was clearly illustrated in the case of the Toronto-Hamilton highway, there being frequently a traffic of 5,000 vehicles upon it in one day.

Mr. John Rorabeck at this juncture interposed with a question as to the freedom of traffic on this highway, asking if cattle could be driven on it. Mr. Squire replied that the road was absolutely free. The right of precedence went first to a man walking, then to man on horseback, horse and buggy, and auto last.

The speaker continued that if Peterboro County had fallen in with the other counties on the governments project, it would have received at least $72,000 assistance in building its roads, but it hasn't received a cent.

License Money.

The argument is advanced that the auto license money should be returned directly to the counties. More than half of the license money, however, comes from the cities. Under the government system it goes to road needs. Peterboro County is the only one raising this argument. The other 36 counties are satisfied and the speaker said the government was not likely to change its policy to suit the 37th. The government is prepared to deal even more generously with the counties. Will it be generous with those who have accepted the system or those opposed?

The speaker dwelt on the responsibility of providing employment for returning heroes. He advocated putting our money into something most useful as roads which will pay dividends.

At present Peterboro County is building and maintaining its roads and has its roads. Under the Good Roads System the Government helps the county to build and maintain its roads and the county has its roads.

In reply to a question from Mr. W. A. Richardson the speaker pointed out that the cost of road construction in Peterboro County should compare as favorably as any as the county has material close at hand, while some other counties have to bring it in.

Mr. Squire concluded his remarks by reading letters from the officials in Hastings County, Northumberland and Durham, and Lincoln, signifying their satisfaction with the

ALLIES TO GARRISON TURKEY, BUT THE YANKS WILL BE ABSENT

Reason for This, as Given in Paris Cable, Is That United States Has Not Been at War With Turkey.

PARIS, Feb. 1.—Whatever forces may be sent to Turkey for garrisoning purposes, there will be no American troops among them, it developed here. It is pointed out that their use for this purpose would be inappropriate, as the United States has never been at war with Turkey.

The Military Committee of the Supreme Council expects within two days to report a plan for the allotment among the various nations of the troops to be retained on the western front. From the data available it appears that by April 1 there will be 15 American divisions remaining on the lines, with five divisions ready for embarkation homeward.

A month later it is expected this aggregate will be reduced by five divisons, of which ten will be on the lines and five ready to return.

The length of the stay in France of these ten divisions depends upon time of the signing of the general peace treaty. It is said that as soon as that occurs all the American troops probably will be withdrawn.

SPARTACANS SURRENDER.

(Special to Examiner.)

BERLIN, January 31. — The Spartacans, after completely dominating Wilhelmshaven for several days, have completely surrendered, according to advices that were received here today.

Reports received Wednesday describing the street fighting in Wilhelmshaven, said that the Spartacans had surrendered in Cuxhaven and Bremerhaven.

WANT DEBT RECOGNIZED.

PARIS, Jan. 28. — Recognition of Russia's pre-war national debt to France by the Lenine-Trotsky Government will be one of the first subjects discussed at Princes Islands, should the Bolsheviki leaders accept the invitations of the Peace Conference to meet there.

While Russia is a debtor to all the Allies except Italy, there is a feeling in France's official circles that the French debt should receive priority, as it was contracted much earlier—during the times of peace — while the English and American claims only date back to the war period. Russian bonds are widely scattered throughout France and there are more than two million holders, among them many workingmen, small proprietors and tradesmen, whose savings of a whole life-time are invested.

CATTLE MARKET

The sudden falling off in the demand for butcher cattle for the local trade has been the feature of this week's cattle markets. The result has been a further decline of about one dollar per cwt. in an already declining market for butcher steers, heifers and cows of the class usually most in demand for the local butcher trade. Monday's market opened with a fairly large run of cattle offering, but, somewhat to the surprise of the shippers and commission men, there was practically no demand, except for heavy steers and medium-weight steers of export quality. For the latter classes there was a fairly good demand, Mr. H. P. Kennedy being in the market for apparently all the choice weighty steers in sight, and for which he was paying good stiff prices, going as high as $16 and over for a few extra choice bunches. These purchases were to fill orders from New York and other points in the States. During the week 20 to 30 cars of steers have been shipped over the border to supply this export demand. But the demand for the local trade has been quite another story, the market remaining dull and inactive throughout the week. The local beef trade has been very dull throughout the present mild weather, and the packing houses found themselves loaded up with beef for which there was no immediate outlet.

The sheep and lambs trade has been equally dull, with prices on the down grade until the end of the week, when there was a little firming up.

The hog situation still remains very unsettled, a weaker tone generally pervading the market, though price changes have not been very material.

Cattle Receipts.

Specks Floating Before His Eyes

When specks start to float before the eyes, when everything turns black for a few seconds and you feel as if you were going to faint, you may rest assured that your liver is not working properly.

The essential thing to do in all cases where the liver is slow, lazy or torpid, is to stir it up by the use of a medicine that will clear away all the waste and poisonous matter from the system, and prevent as well as cure all the troubles arising from this accumulated mass which has collected in the system.

Keep the bowels open by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and you will have no liver trouble of any kind. They will clear away all the waste and effete matter which has collected and make the liver active and working properly.

Mr. John R. Morrison, Grand River Falls, N.S., writes: "Several months ago I was troubled with a sour stomach, and had specks floating before my eyes. I told my friends about it and they got some, and they, too, find themselves different since they took them. I recommend your pills very highly."

Brian Declares His Intention

CHAPTER CVIII

Brian did have something to conceal. At least he thought he had, which amounted to the same thing. He had dined the night before with the two khaki-clad Englishmen, then had taken them to Mollie King's studio— first calling her and asking her permission. They had remained until late, but had all left together. Which last would have excused his going, in Ruth's eyes.

Even tho Ruth was jealous of Mollie King, there was nothing mean by small about her. Had Brian stayed at her studio so late alone, she would have been both hurt and suspicious. But three of them—why, surely, no sensible woman could object to a man going with a party to call upon a girl, especially when his wife was out of town.

But because Brian was so uncommunictive, Ruth imagined things. And in that her immagination was grossly exaggerated, she was no different from most jealous wives.

But because she was suspicious she took the greater pains to hide her feeling, instead of doing as most young wives are prone to do, and "spilling over" as Brian expressed it one day when talking of a woman he knew. It would perhaps have made for her peace of mind had she "spilled" a little in lieu of holding back all her emotion, and her thoughts.

Brian was an enigma to her at this time. After her Washington trip, more so than ever. Scarcely ever did he find fault. Yet all the time he made her feel that he was about to do something; and that, no matter how it turned out she was to blame. It was a peculiar feeling; one that ade her uneasy without giving her anything tangible to which to object.

Mandel seemed to understand that Ruth was passing thru some sort of experience which might react to his advantage if he could keep from making the mistake of showing his feeling for her. So he avoided being alone with her, and while he was just as thoughtful, just as kind, was not so obviously so as he had been.

Without making it appear that he was endeavoring to save her, he lightened Ruth's work, and in everything made her comfort a consideration. That he did all this without in any way approaching Ruth, or without letting her feel his thoughtfulness obtrusive, proved the strength of his love for her.

"He is trying to make me forget what he said to me, that day his wealthy patron tried to make love to me," she said to herself. Then: "He didn't mean, really mean, what he said. He was sorry for me, my humiliation, and said more than he intended."

Yet, strangely, this reasoning did not bring quite the comfort to Ruth it should have done. Not that she wanted Arthur Mandel or any other man than her husband to make love to her, but "the ways of woman are past finding out" and Ruth was a woman. She felt piqued—just a little, that Mandel should so soon have found out his mistake. And she resented his ability to dismiss her from his thoughts— as she judged by his action he had.

That night the rent was due. Ruth stopped on the way home to pay it, and found Brian waiting for her when she reached the apartment.

"I stopped to pay the rent, dear. Put away the receipt while I take off my things. I wont be a moment."

"I wish the landlord would take his old apartment!"

"Why, Brian Hackett. You are so sorry for the soldiers, all the time talking of how hard it is for them, and all, that I should think you would be glad you had the money to pay instead of being in those horrid trenches with them, fighting for your life." Ruth had purposely said: "glad you had the money to pay.'

"A man doesn't have to pay rent in the trenches, neither does his wife have to throw it in his face if she does pay it for him—he's too far away from her."

Ruth stood still, very still. It had not been Brian's words, as much as his manner, which caused her heart to almost stop beating, and that suffocating feeling to make her put her hand to her throat. It was as it Brian were seeking an excuse. More than once their clash on the eternally sickening subject of money had led to a hot quarrel. This quiet, caustic Brian was a new species to her. She scarcely recognized him as her husband.

"What is the matter, Brian? You are so unlike yourself, lately. Tell me what makes you talk and act so differently?"

"Nothing is the matter with me, only—you won't have to pay rent for me much longer! I'm going to enlist with the Canadians."

HER FIVE CHILDREN

Had Whooping Cough At the Same Time

Whooping cough is one of the most dangerous diseases of children, especially to those under five years of age. It first starts with a fever and cough, sneezing, watering of the eyes and an irritation of the throat. Later the coughing increases, the child becomes livid in the face, the eyes appear as if they would burst from their sockets and suffocation seems imminent till relief is brought by the "whoop."

On the first sign of whooping cough we would advise the use of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. This famous remedy will clear the bronchial tubes of the collected mucous and phlegm, and in this way ease the racking cough and in a short time make it disappear entirely.

Mrs. Walter McGaughey, North Battleford, Sask., writes:—"I have five children, the eldest thirteen and the baby two years old. They all had the whooping cough at the same time. I tried two or three cough remedies, but none gave the same satisfaction as Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. A home where there are young children should never be without it. I will highly recommend it to those who want a quick cure."

There are many imitations of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, so be sure you get the genuine by insisting that the package is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 25c. and 50c. and manufactured by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Says France Plans For War-Zone Trips

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—France plans to handle systematically the great influx of war sightseers who are expected when conditions permit, according to Lieutenant John M. Steel of the American Red Cross, who arrived Saturday on the Rochambeau after four months abroad. Lieutenant Steele, who served under Funston in the Philippines, said the Americans in France were surprised by the matter of fact way in which the National Touring Club of France is setting about with traditional French thriftiness to make the war pay for the war, or, at any rate, help out.

"I heard about the scheme to regulate the points of interest of the war," said Lieutenant Steele, "and I dropped into the Paris office of National Touring Club to find out what was what. The club was organized two years before the war to catch the American tourist young and see that he left a fair share of his spending money in France before he left. Along came the war, and, of course, the club went to the front in horizon blue. Eighteen months ago, though it was reborn with old points of interest to the Americans and hundreds of new historic places added.

"I learned that the club has cut the battle part of France up into twenty sectors' and the teach will be mapped out and a guide book printed showing where such and such an incident of the war happened—a sort of thumbnail account. I heard that the guides are already rehearsing descriptions of the war's battles and that every time a guide relates a battle the number of German casualties goes up surprisingly. The club, according to the main office, plans to establish an information office in this city and in other American ports.

Plan Monuments for Americans

"One of the plans of the organization is to erect monuments in the villages where Americans fought. It was reported in Paris, but I was unable to verify it, that the company had obtained a lease of part of the Marne battlefield. Already the company has sent circulars to the villages and towns requesting the mayors to tell the folk not to remove signs of the war and to keep them bright for the expected tourists.

"One of the points that is expected to prove a gold mine is in the Argonne, near Varennes. It was captured by the Germans early in 1914, and on two hill-sides and in the intervening valley the Germans erected permanent barracks for two divisions of troops. The piece de resistance of this spot is the 'Prince's Eitel Frederich and is a two-storey frame building, with electric lights, tiled bathrooms, and mighty well furnished. Down in the valley the Germans put up a theatre, and the whole settlement was left untouched. The see-the-war-personally-conducted lads are thinking of turning the troop barracks into sleeping quarters for American tourists—they think it ought to be 'big'—and charge couple of francs to inspect the Prince's habitat and a couple more to see movies of the German retreat in the theatre.

"As for the famous Hindenburg line—the club is going to get revenue out of that, too. The scheme, as I got it, is to make the sightseeing trips fit in with the nationality of the visitor. Some sector will be entirely for the British, points where the British forces fought; others will be for the American, like Chateau-Thierry, Cantigny, and the Verdun-Toul stretch."

"ARCHIES" BAG 200 PLANES.

First Official Statement Shows Result of Work in France During 1918.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—The first statement issued officially emphasizes the great value and high standard of work performed by the anti-aircraft guns, searchlights and machine guns in France. The anti-aircraft's total bag in France in 1918 was as follows:

Hostile planes crashed or forced down in our lines, 174.

Hostile planes forced down out of control, 73.

During the same period special anti-aircraft machine guns used by the infantry accounted for for 27 hostile planes, making a grand total for ten and a half months 274 hostile planes.

CATCHING A SPY.

The curtain is now lifted in regard to at least one of the dozen spies shot at the Tower of London during the war. He was tracked by the alertness of a woman postal censor.

"One letter," she says, "made me suspicious from the first time I saw it. The writing was in lines half an inch apart. I could discover nothing wrong, however, until I noticed a peculiar little mark, almost indistinguishable, at the bottom of a page. I could not explain it. Experiment proved that it had been made by invisible ink. The visible writing was innocence itself, but the invisible writing told of the movements of ships and soldiers, of fortifications and docks. The letter wound up with, "To-morrow Dublin."

"To Dublin the Hun went, and his letter from Ireland was further evidence of his guilt. He was caught on arrival in London and execution followed."

FIND MAN DEAD, SEARCH FOR MYSTERIOUS BLONDE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—August Cella, thirty-five years old, was found dead in bed by Policeman John Wilkesman, of the Morrisania Station, who had been called in by tenants of the house to investigate a water leak.

The policeman found water overflowing the bath tub and a gas stove that had been burning in the bathroom threatened to set fire to the house. The body of Cella was found in an adjoining room. Dr. Karl Kennedy said that death was caused by pulmonary congestion.

Detectives Philip Murphy and Michael Mooney were informed by neighbours that a "mysterious blonde woman" had been seen in the apartment since Cella moved in on December 19 last. A search for the woman has been begun.

Royalty's Thanks to Canada.

Just before embarkation in England a letter from the King and Queen was presented to each soldier leaving for Canada on the Aquitania. It reads:

"Buckingham Palace, 1918.

"The Queen and I wish you God-speed, a safe return to the happiness and joy of home life, with an early restoration to health.

"A grateful mother country thanks you for faithful services.

(Signed) "GEORGE R.I."

At the camp Y.M.C.A. a lonesome and pathetic-looking soldier sat playing the phonograph. His mouth was drawn and he appeared homesick. The tune he was playing was "There's No Place Like Home." He played the record again and again. Finally a sympathetic "Y" secretary asked him if he was blue and thinking of the folks at home. "Naw," replied the soldier. "I ain't thinkin' of nothin'. All the other records are busted."

Expert Testimony.

In Centreville Police Court recently, a resident of the district was charged with a violation of the O.T.A., the case resting upon the "hardness" or "softness" of certain cider. A local clergyman was of the opinion that it at least had "a stick" in it. The defendant denied either stick or kick. Representatives of the local press were asked by the court to sample the exhibit and give their expert opinion. "Sweet," they ruled forthwith!

CHINESE IN AMERICA

ORIENTALS WERE HERE BEFORE COLUMBUS.

The Name Given to British Columbia By Them Was "Great Han," and Their Records Preserve Queer Tales of the Races That They Found on This Continent.

CHINA, which has claimed the invention of gunpowder and printing and roast pig and the compass, is said to have discovered America long before the time of Columbus. According to documents of another era, Chinese voyagers discovered Mexico and landed there, some time in 499 A.D.

The Chinese annals record that the Kingdom of Fu-Sang (which is thought to be Mexico) was situated to the east of the Middle Kinguom, twenty thousand Chinese miles to the southward of the Great Han (British Columbia). It took its name from the tree, fu-sang, from which its inhabitants obtained food, cloth, fibre and wood. In the same annals is described the Kingdom of the Woman, situated about one thousand Chinese miles south of Fu-Sang. And some seven thousand Chinese miles northeast of Japan was the land of the Marked Bodies, inhabited by men who were tatooed, and the Men with Dogs' Heads.

That the ancient Chinese had some knowledge of the American continent has been believed for a long time. In 1753 Philippe Bauche, a French writer, published a treatise in which he stated that the Chinese had established a colony on the Gulf of California in 458, calling the land Fu-Sang. In 1761 an eminent French scholar, M. de Guignes, published another treatise, in which he also referred to the Chinese discovery of America. Since that time scholars and investigators have argued the question pro and con. In 1885 a further word was said by Edward P. Vining in his "An Inglorious Columbus," in which he seems to have proved that the Land of Marked Bodies is the Aleutian Islands; the country of the Great Han, British Columbia; Fu-Sang, Mexico, and the Kingdom of Women, Central America.

Huei-Sen, a Chinese traveller, has left behind him the story of his fellow countryman's voyage to America. In the annals it is written:

"In the first year of the reign of the Tsi dynasty a shamahi (travelling priest) named Huei-Sen came to King-Chen from the land of Fu-Sang, relating the following narrative:

"Fu-Sang is situated twenty thousand li (Chinese miles) or more to the east of the country of the great Han (which also is situated east of the country of the middle Kingdom). It produced many fu-sang trees, whence comes its name. The leaves of the fu-sang are like those of the tree that the Chinese call tong. Its first shoots look like those of the bamboo. The inhabitants of the country eat them, as also the fruit, which is in the form of a pear, although of red color. From its bark thread is made, which they weave to make their clothing. They also make from it fine clothes and brocades. The houses in which they live are made of grass. They have neither fortress nor walled cities. They had a kind of writing, and they make paper from the bark of the fu-sang. They have no weapons, nor do they make war.

"The laws of the country ordain that there shall be two prisons, one of them in the north, and the other in the south. Those who commit offenses of little importance are confined in the prison of the south, but those who commit grave crimes are confined in the prison of the north. Those who are confined in the prison of the south may be pardoned while those in the prison of the north may not. The men and women in the prison of the north may marry, but their children become slaves, the boys at the age of eight and the girls at the age of nine.

"When a person of high rank commits a crime, the inhabitants of the country gather in a great assembly and judge him while seated at the bottom of an excavation. They hold a feast and a banquet in his presence, and may take leave of him as a dying man. If he is sentenced to death, they cover him with ashes. If his crime is of the first degree, only the criminal is punished. If of the second degree, his children and grandchildren are punished. If it is of the third degree, six generations are punished.

"The King of the country bears the title of chief of the multitude. The nobles of the first category are the tuilu; those of the second category, the little tui-lu; those of the third category, the na-to-oba. When the king leaves his palace he moves preceded and followed by drums and trumpets. The color of his vestments changes according to the course of the years. The first and second year (of a cycle of ten), they are blue; the third and fourth, they are red; the fifth and sixth, they are yellow; the seventh and eighth, they are white; and the ninth and tenth, they are black.

"The oxen of Fu-Sang have enormous horns and can endure great burdens. The inhabitants keep their wealth in empty horns, some of which are twenty times as large as the common ones. Oxen, horses and deer are employed to draw the vehicles. The inhabitants of the country have herds of deer, just as the Chinese have herds of cattle. They make cheese from milk. They have a kind of red pear that keeps a year without rotting, and they also have tomatoes. In the country iron is not found, but copper is. Gold and silver have no value. In their markets there are neither taxes nor fixed prices.

"As to marriage, he who desires to marry a young woman constructs a house in front of the house in which she lives. For the period of a year, in the morning and afternoon, he cleans and waters the front of his house. If the maiden does not accept him then, he goes somewhere else, but if they please each other mutually the wedding is celebrated. The ceremonies are almost the same as those in the Middle Kingdom. When the father, the mother, the wife or the son dies, the relatives fast seven days; when the older brother dies the younger brother, the older brother of the father, the younger brother of the father, an older sister or a younger sister, three days. They place on a pedestal an image that represents the person who has died, and they reverence and offer libations morning and evening. They do not wear mourning.

"The prince who inherits the throne does not occupy himself with affairs of government until three years after his accession. In ancient times they were ignorant and they did not know the religion of Buddha, but in the reign of the dynasty of Sung, in the second year of the period called Taming, five men of the country of Ki-Pin, who were pi-q'iu, paid a visit to the people already mentioned and made known to them the laws of Buddha, his sacred books and his images. They taught the people the rules of the monastic life, and at last caused the redness of their customs to disappear."

The Kingdom of the Women was inhabited by a strange race, mostly of the gentler sex. They were very straight, pure white in color and covered with long hair. The women ruled the land. In the year 507 Chinese mariners were swept to the shore of the Land of the Women and were received hospitably. The women resembled those of the Middle Kingdom, but their language was unintelligible. Their clothes were of cotton and the houses of baked clay and circular in form, with very small doors.

The land of the Marked Bodies was inhabited by the tattooed beings, who lived in walled cities. They were hospitable. The king's residence was surrounded by "silver water" (quicksilver), over which water flowed when it rained.

The country of the Great Han was peopled by a gentle race, which carried no weapons and made no war. They enforced their laws by giving criminals over to the wild beasts.

That there is truth in the assertion of the Chinese chronicler is indicated by his description of the inhabitants and by the fact that the descendants of the peoples of whom he wrote bear strong evidence of having Chinese blood in their veins. Eskimos are of Mongolian origin. Mexican Indians, too, bear the stamp of the Chinese race.

Canada's Great Record.

Canada's contribution to the Red Cross is the greatest per capita in the world. The total contribution is $12,000,000 in cash and $15,000,000 in supplies. Of the cash contributions $7,000,000 was spent by the British Red Cross and $5,000,000 by the Canadian Red Cross. The total cash contribution of the British Red Cross is £11,250,000 from all sources. Of this amount Great Britain contributed £5,000,000, while the overseas Dominions, India, United States, and neutral countries contributed £6,250,000. Great Britain's contribution to the Red Cross is £5,000,000, compared with Canada's £2,500,000. Canada's contribution in supplies shows an even more favorable comparative record.

ECZEMA ON BABY'S EAR

Mrs. F. Clarke, Belmont, Man., writes: "My baby had eczema on her ear. The sore was very bad and nothing seemed to do her very much good. Hearing of the remarkable cure Dr. Chase's Ointment was making, we sent for some, and after the third application the sore began to heal. I am glad to say that it is quite well now. Ointment. We cannot recommend this and we give the credit to Dr. Chase's preparation too highly."

Company Farming Succeeds.

"Is it possible for groups of people in many of our cities, towns, and even villages to undertake some form of company-farming?" This question is being asked in a circular letter just issued by the Organization of Resources Committee of Ontario. The idea is to enlarge the activities from community gardening schemes to grain production on farm lands. Groups of business men and others in urban centres are urged to organize now in order to take over good vacant land in the neighborhood and get it ready for cultivation so that it may produce a 1919 crop. Company-farming operations are now being carried out with a great deal of success at St. Catharines, Sarnia, Windsor, Owen Sound, Weston and Oshawa. Citizens of every town are asked to get together and talk it over.

Also Saves Money.

Scott—How is it you never go away during your summer vacation?

Mott—I don't need to. Most of the bores leave town and in their absence I have a nice, restful time.—Boston Evening Transcript.

The Kind.

"Mrs. Smith prides herself on always giving appropriate entertainments."

"What is she doing just now?"

"Giving teas to golf players."

That Depends.

"Few people ever view philosophically a black outlook in their lives."

"Oh, yes they can, if it is a load of coal coming.

MEAT AND POTATO PIE.

Slice into a greased baking dish two good sized onions and six big potatoes, add one teaspoon salt, cover with water, set over fire and bring to a boil. Then add one to two cups meat stock or some gravy and about one cup meat (any kind), cut in small pieces. Cover dish and cook until potatoes begin to grow tender, then stir in carefully one tablespoon flour until smooth in a little water. Next make a batter, using one cup flour, half teaspoon salt and one teaspoon baking powder, and enough milk to make a stiff batter. Drop by spoonfuls over the top of the meat mixture and bake in oven until crust is brown.

POTATO BISCUITS.

To one cup mashed potatoes add one cup flour, sifted with four teaspoons baking powder and half teaspoon salt. Then add two tablespoons fat, melted, and half cup milk, or less. Add milk very slowly. The moisture in the potatoes will vary, so that sometimes very little milk will be required. Should be like baking powder biscuits. Roll one inch thick and bake 12 to 15 minutes in hot oven. Makes six biscuits.

SALMON LOAF.

Remove skin and bone from one can salmon and divide into small flakes, add three-fourths cup milk, one or two well beaten eggs, one tablespoon butter or shortening, melted, one teaspoon salt, pepper to taste, and about two cups mashed potatoes. You may use one cup each of mashed potatoes and bread crumbs. Put in well-greased baking tin and bake about half hour.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

TAKE A GLASS OF SALTS BEFORE BREAKFAST IF YOUR BACK HURTS OR BLADDER IS TROUBLING YOU.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver troubles, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat, and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

GOOD ROADS WOULD PAY BIG DIVIDENDS

Warden Anderson in speaking said he should always remember that he was the servant of the people he represented and when the people said they wanted it he was prepared to vote for it. Warden Anderson took exception to the statement that the county could withdraw any time from the act, as such would not prove feasible, and he read the Act to the audience. He believed the county was going in but when it did the council wanted to go as nearly right as they knew how. Up until the beginning of the war about half of the counties in the province were in and half out. He found dissatisfaction in some places where the roads had been constructed, due to making the roads too light, mentioning Wentworth county.

He thought that possibly this county would pay money towards the Good Roads System now since the people have been educated to paying larger taxes for war purposes.

Decreasing Population.

Speaking for Otonabee township he claimed that there was a decreasing population which was not encouraging to entering the scheme. The County Council too were authorized by by-law to refrain from spending any large amount of money during the war.

He believed the leading roads placed under a competent man would show as marked improvement as the 20% maintenance would admit of, and felt the Government would be justified in paying 40% for maintenance. With the percentage of roads as at present marked out on the system many would have to go farther than he would like them to go to reach the county roads. He believed the biggest drawback to the county adopting the system was the opposition by the people.

He believed that the county would have a system of county roads in the near future but he would ask the automobile men not to expect too much and on the other hand he did not expect good roads would prove as expensive as those opposed now feared.

Warden Anderson stated that about $5.00 per year per 100 acres was now expended on roads in the county. He put the question that with an additional $10.00 we could have good roads. When we have a measure satisfactory to ourselves the County Council will adopt it.

Reeve Brown of Asphodel said he was ready to support the Good Roads System if the people he represented wanted it. He thought that 20 to 1 were against the adoption of it in his township.

Chairman E. McDonald of the U.F.O. said he would like to see a system of good roads along the lines spoken of by Warden Anderson.

Reeve. B. W. Squire of Norwood said that as Otonabee paid one-quarter of the taxes he did not feel like forcing his opinion upon those who pay the taxes.

The first speaker of the evening, Mr. S. L. Squire, then replied. He said that he and Mr. Anderson merely differed on maintenance. There was no such thing as permanence of roads. Grades and drainage could be made permanent but the top dressing required maintenance like the shingling of a barn.

He believed that a great deal of the benefit lost by the county would be made up in the lessons learned from the experience of other counties.

In conclusion he thought it was a mistake for the county to isolate itself by poor roads and people would be inclined to leave for other parts.

This department also supplies free "orthopaedic" appliances to correct as far as possible injuries to the feet, legs and arms; also special boots, splints, braces, etc. To those who need them, it also gives free surgical appliances such as trusses, spectacles, spinal supports, glass eyes, abdominal supports.

A Government factory has been established at Toronto to make artificial limbs. Here standard patterns, embodying the best ideas known, are manufactured.

In this work expert advice is given by surgeons who have seen overseas service, and who are in constant touch with similar work in other countries.

An experimental department is maintained for developing practical applications of new ideas, and for testing out all new appliances that become available in Canada or foreign countries.

Repair parts for standard patterns are kept in stock at fitting depots in the following centres: Halifax, Fredericton, St. John, Montreal, Ottawa, Kingston, Hamilton, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton, Vancouver, Victoria.

At these depots there are experienced fitters who make repairs and adjustments under the supervision of surgeons. They also fit to individual patients appliances received in the rough from the factory.

These depots are so located that those requiring renewals, repairs or adjustments can get them free without travelling long distances. If there is no fitting depot in the patient's town, he is instructed by the Department's Medical Officer to travel to the nearest depot. He is furnished with free first class railway tickets, an allowance to cover meals and other expense, and an allowance to apply against loss of time from his work. If he must remain there for longer than a week he is maintained at the Department's expense, and he and his dependents receive the same allowances as if he were in hospital.

Artificial limbs, orthopaedic and surgical appliances are furnished free only when their issue is authorized by a Medical Officer of the Department. These representatives are listed alongside.

Lunatic Amuck With Revolvers Takes 3 Lives

Religious Fanatic Calls Himself "Son of Jesus Christ."

Two Victims Policemen— Reader of Anarchist German Books—Power House His Amusement.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—With a loaded revolver in each hand, a man aged about 30, who gave his name as "Omega, son of Jesus Christ," ran amuck through the streets near the centre of the city, shooting in every direction, as a big crowd tried to capture him. Before he was finally overtaken and beaten into insensibility by a motorcycle policeman he had shot and killed three men and wounded five others, two of them seriously.

The dead are: Thomas Holloran, an employee of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company, and John Knox and George Dingall, policemen.

According to the police, the man is a religious fanatic, and had become obsessed with the idea that the spirit of his father was being tortured in the powerhouse of the transit company where he shot his first two victims.

Shoots Policemen.

Rushing out of the powerhouse before employees realized what had happened, the crazed man fled through the streets with a crowd of civilians and policemen in pursuit. Two blocks away he came directly upon Policeman Dingall, who was standing in the centre of the street directing traffic. With a wild cry he dashed at the policeman, firing as he ran. Dingall fell mortally wounded.

All the time the pursuing crowd was growing in numbers, and after a chase of about a mile Motorcycle Policemen Knox and Heron overtook him. Finding that he was trapped, the man wheeled around and thrust the revolvers against the bodies of both policemen and pulled the triggers. The one pointed at Knox went off and killed him instantly, but that directed against Heron missed fire and the officer shot the maniac in the leg and beat him unconscious.

Rescued From Mob.

The crowd leaped upon him, but he was finally rescued and taken to a hospital.

A note book found in the man's clothing contains a list of all powerhouses in Philadelphia, and in his room were found quantities of religious and anarchistic literature printed in Italian and German. At his rooming-house he was known as George Lombo, but beyond this no information was obtainable.

HARD SAUCE.

One cup of powdered sugar, one-third cup of butter, one-quarter cup of cream and two tablespoonfuls of boiling water. Work the butter and sugar together. Add boiling water and beat. Then add cream and beat until foamy. Add a teaspoonful of lemon extract.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

Two British Statesmen

FOR those whose memory of the British House of Commons goes back over a period of 28 years, there is something almost incredible in the history of the obscure Welsh solicitor who, coming to town from an unpronounceable Welsh village, whose name is a confusion of consonants (his postal address was Mynddedny-dif Criccieth), has risen to the highest position open to a British citizen. For such an one to become Prime Minister would be a supreme achievement. Mr. Lloyd George is something beyond the status of a Prime Minister. He became an autocrat in degree never reached by Peel or Palmerstone, Gladstone or Disraeli.

There is a unique condition connected with his eminence. The statesmen named were raised to power as the result of winning the esteem and confidence of the home population. These Lloyd George possesses in full measure. Beyond it he was supported by the confidence, the enthusiastic admiration of Britain's allies. He was as fully trusted by the Governments of the United States and France, as popular with their people, as he is within the border of the British Isles, and of the colonies that have played so splendid a part in the fighting line. This unparalleled circumstance adds immeasurably to his personal predominance in Parliament, in Cabinet Council, in London and throughout the provinces.

Not least of his triumph is the ascendancy obtained and maintained over his colleagues in the Cabinet. It would be difficult to exaggerate the delicacy of his task. Among those of Liberal faith he is leader of only a section. More than half of the party remain faithful to its old leader, whose deposition, though condoned in view of exigencies of the war, has never been forgiven. The rest belongs to the Tory aristocrats whom Lloyd George at the outset of his career fought with a fierce tenacity. Mr. Balfour, Lord Curson, Mr. Walter Long and the rest have hitherto loyally suffered his leadership.

The House was chuckling the other day over a story about Mr. Balfour and his esteemed chief. "What I do not like about Lloyd George," the Foreign Secretary is reported to have said to an old friend, "is his inaccuracy." With the privilege of ancient intimacy his interlocutor pointed out that Mr. Balfour himself had during his term of office, occasionally, in ordered speech, bungled over names and figures. "Oh, yes," he airily replied, "but that was ignorance." The wit of the innuendo delighted the House.

Amongst rumors that have intermittently fluttered the clubs and lonby of the British House within recent months, one has pointed to the return of Mr. Asquith to official life in conjunction with the present Ministry. Always improbable it was never less likely than it is to-day. It is sufficiently strange to see Mr. Balfour working in subordinate office under Mr. Lloyd George, whom in times past he condescendingly encountered in frequent combat. The case of Mr. Asquith is altogether different. For an exceptionally lengthy period he was the head of an administration in whose formation he, amid cries of anquished indignation from some of the Premier's present Cabinet colleagues, made Mr. Lloyd George Chancellor of the Exchequer. Since his retirement from the Premiership he has studiously abstained from the attitude of personal recrimination in which a man of less magnanimity would, in the circumstances, have been tempted to indulge. To go back and occupy a position in a Cabinet presided over by his former protege, is more than might reasonably be expected, even from one of his highmindedness.

Apart from fantastic rumor, Mr. Asquith's future continues to be a matter of keen interest and frequent conjecture in political circles. His speech at the recent unveiling of his portrait, now hanging on the walls of the dining-room at the Reform Club, was not reported in the newspapers. Being addressed to fellow members of a private club, it was regarded as outside the range of public information. There was one significant passage to which reference may be made without breach of confidence, since it sets forth a fact Mr. Asquith himself is desirous of having made known as widely as possible to whom it may concern. Acknowledging the honor done to him in having his portrait added to the gallery of modern British statesmen who adorn the walls of the club, he said his acknowledgment might be accepted as a valedictory speech. "Nothing could be remoter from the fact," he said. "I have no intention," he continued, with the tightening of the lips and movement of the shoulders that accompany the more important passages of his speech, "of withdrawing from the political arena to watch from the stalls or the boxes what is going on." A prolonged burst of cheering from the crowded room of the historic Liberal quarter indicated quick apprehension of the meaning of this notification and hearty approval of it.

Not a Hungry Crocodile.

In the Edinburgh, Scotland, zoo there is a crocodile that is content with a rat or a piece of horseflesh every fortnight. There is an anaconda which arrived more than a year ago and has since steadily refused to take food of any kind, an example of abstention surpassed, however, by an Indian python which during its thirteen months' stay has not voluntarily taken food.

The Atlantic Record.

The Mauretania of the Cunard Line holds the record for the Atlantic passage, having made the trip from Queenstown to New York on Sept. 11-16, 1910, in four days, ten hours and forty-one minutes.

Frederick the Great.

On the seventeenth of August, 1786, died the most remarkable sovereign Prussia has yet produced. Carlyle describes him as a king without the happenings; no crown but an old military hat and not godlike in physiognomy; close-shut mouth with thin lips, prominent jaws, with a head of long form. His face bore the evidence of many sorrows and much hard labor, and seemed to anticipate nothing but much more to come; a snuffy nose rather flung into the air under its old cocked hat—like an old snuffy lion on the watch; and a pair of eyes as no man, lion or lynx of that century bore. He presented himself in Spartan simplicity. This was Frederick II at home; among the common people who loved him, he was Father Fred—a name of familiarity which had not bred contempt in that instance. This portrait strongly reminds one of Kaiser Wilhelm—because it is so diametrically opposite.

Julius Caesar Timid.

To find Julius Caesar applying for and getting exemption from military service, as he has done at Spalding, is something of a shock. But this is one of the names which prove that names are not everything.

The most famous bearer of it—at a long interval from the great Roman—Julius Caesar, the old all-England cricketer, was of an extraordinarily nervous temperament. His colleague, Calbyn, has told how he was always afraid to sleep by himself at a strange hotel for fear somebody might have died there at some time.

"Julie" was also in nightly terror of fire, would never sleep in a room above the first floor, and often roused Calbyn at night with a cry that the fire had come at last.—London Chronicle.

Hospital Base at New York.

A number of large structures in New York city, including the old Greenhut department store in Sixth avenue, which has 23 acres of floor space, have been taken over by the army medical department for the purpose of creating a hospital base of at least 50,000 beds.

Making Tin Plate in Australia.

The supplies of tin plate for Australasia, the value of which amounts to over $12,000,000 per year, are drawn from Great Britain and America; but recently the lack of shipping and other difficulties have led to a serious shortage in deliveries. A leading Australian producer of steel has accordingly arranged to establish tin-plate works which will eventually supply the whole of the antipodal demand. Plenty of tin is available in Australia, as well as the necessary steel. The company in question, in addition to supplying steel for Australia, has sent considerable quantities of munitions steel to Great Britain and has also opened up trade with South Africa by supplying 20,000,000 tons of steel rails.—Scientific American.

Candy a Splendid Food

One of the most attractive forms in which food can be eaten —is candy.

Candy is composed principally of sugar, nuts, fruits, some fats, such as butter, and chocolate.

All these ingredients are recognized by eminent medical authorities as food products, which the system craves and demands.

Let us examine their food values separately.

We all know that sugar is a body-building essential; about one-quarter pound of sugar being required by an adult every twenty-four hours.

Nuts and fruits yield a high percentage of nutritious materials.

Fats supply the bodily fuel and should be used in every dietary.

Chocolate is a delightful stimulant, especially valuable in restoring energy.

Combine these ingredients and are they not still food?—satisfying, nutritious, essential, and in a most delightful and properly balanced form.

Eat more candy. Candy is beneficial to all and harmful to none.

CALGARY MUST ACT

Veteran Says Comrades Will see That Aliens Do Not Get All Jobs

Calgary, Jan. 31.—Before a meeting of city officials and representatives of a number of organizations in the city, President A. Hazeldon, of the G.W.V.A., declared that if, Calgary wishes to avoid the recent experiences of Winnipeg with returned soldiers, something would have to be done. "A little more Bolshevism and waving of the red flag will put the spark into the magazine," he said. "The men who fought for democracy are not going to go hungry while aliens and slackers get all the jobs."

SUBURBAN HOMERS WIN WITH FLIGHTS OF 1,000 MILES

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Homers from Manhattan and those who sojourn forty-five minutes from Broadway, at New Rochelle, tied at the poultry show in the Garden for first honours for birds with attested records. Four victories were recorded for each of these concourses, but the suburban birds were given the top honours through the victory of Oscar W. Ospann's adult male in the class for birds with a record of 1,000 miles or better. The winner was a blue Sheppard, which flew from Florida to its home loft last autumn. The winner in the 1,000 mile class for hens was a blue, entered by C. Mentze, of Newark, N.J.

Doctor Tells How To Strengthen Eyesight 50 per cent In One Week's Time in Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home

Philadelphia, Pa. Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eye two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note: Another prominent Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for popular use in almost every family." It is sold in Lindsay by Warne Drug Co. and Others.

Fish Getting Favorite Food

So great has been the demand for Ontario government fish that the sales branch of the Fisheries Department is confronted with a shortage at the time when the demand is the heaviest. Last fall 200 tons of choice fish were put into storage, and it was expected that this quantity, together with what was caught during the winter, would provide sufficient to fill all the orders. Instead of falling off, however, the demand for these appetizing fresh water fish has increased.

Already, it is understood, orders have been received which would more than take all the fish in storage to fill. Consequently, the department has had to adopt a rationing system and fill the orders piecemeal. During the Lenten season, which is now but a few weeks' distant, the demand is usually the greatest, and this year the government will be unable to meet it. In fact it is expected that all the fish in storage will have been sold about the time Lent begins.

While the department cannot meet the demands this year, it is preparing to do business on a bigger scale during the coming season. Indications are, from the number of fishermen's licenses applied for, that there will be approximately three times as many fishermen operating this year as last. With the Government permitted to take 20 per cent. of the season's catch, and with so many more fishermen operating, the supply available for sale by the department will be greatly increased. Then, too, half a dozen more lakes are being opened up for fishing this season.

B. C. DESERTERS ARE TO LOSE FRANCHISE

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 31.—According to an announcement made by Premier Oliver an amendment to the Provincial Elections Act is to be introduced to the Legislature at the forthcoming session and will be designed to disfranchise all deserters in the province of British Columbia. In other words, all those males who came within the operation of the Military Service Act who failed to get exemption at the hands of the tribunals and absented themselves from military duty against the law will lose their privilege of the ballot.

The Quick Way to Stop a Cough

This home-made syrup does the work in a hurry. Easily prepared, and saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a 16-oz. bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make 16 ounces—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

A Deceptive Word.

A French soldier, with a slight knowledge of English, always carried a pocket dictionary, so that he could look up familiar words, relates Judge. He had an excellent voice, and often sang French songs for his English and American comrades. One day a Canadian charmed with the Frenchman's voice, said to him: "You have a fine, mellow voice." Mellow was a new word to the Frenchman, so he pulled out his dictionary, and found: "Mellow. Overripe, rotten, soft, friable, tipsy."

.. A HUNDRED YEARS AGO ..

An old settler, R. E. Scanland, of Minneola Springs, remembers when he and his brother were chased out of a field by deer because they ventured too near the fawns. In his boyhood he built traps to catch quail which he sold for fifteen cents a dozen at a hatter's shop.

"I recall in those days we killed our hogs in the woods, where they were fattened on acorns, and we could have all the honey we wanted by going into the timber and chopping down a bee tree. And just think of it! There was a rise in the price of wheat, and it got to be worth three bits (37½ cents) a bushel struck measure. Good horses were worth $20 to $24 and oxen $15 to $20 a yoke. Milk cows from $7 to $13 each. The kind of rails Abe Lincoln made cost thirty-seven and one half cents per 100—that is the price for making them. A negro would hire by the year for $40 for the twelve months and two suits of cotton or linen clothing and two blankets. The best class of work hands got $8 a month and the common ones $3 to $4 a month. All of our shoes and clothing were hand-made and yet those were our happiness days, even if we did have biscuits only once a week and that on Sunday morning. Venison and wild turkey, with old-fashioned cornbread Johnny cake and trimmings were good enough for us and made life worth the living."

GOT SOMETHING FOR NOTHING

When a person gets something for nothing, said something usually contains a joker or has a string attached to it. F'instance, a certain preacher received from a patent medicine company an offer to provide his church with song books free of any charge. It was explained that there would be a few ads in the front and back of the books, but that these ads would not be offensive to the members of the congregation, since the books were being secured for nothing. The preacher gave the order and the books arrived. He found the ads to be mildly worded and decided to use the books. He explained from the pulpit how the books had been secured, and announced that they would sing No. 274. Imagine the people's surprise when on reaching the second verse they found themselves singing "Hark the Heavenly angels sing, Johnson's pills are just the thing; Angelic voices meek and mild—two for man and one for child."

"A fellow in a neighboring town recently gave notice that unless a buggy whip was returned to a certain place, the name of the person who took it would be published in the paper. The following morning he found seventeen buggy whips in the place designated.

BE A BOOSTER

The American Lumberman has some timely advice on this subject that is as applicable in our town as anywhere else. It says that if you want to see this town grow you should remember that you are a part of it and that its growth depends as much on you as on your neighbors. Don't get the idea that the future prosperity of this town rests with a few, for it is the business of the many. Above ally, don't criticize those who are building up the community and do nothing yourself. They at least have the proper spirit and just as long as you deny them your support, just that much harder their work will be. Be a booster for the town and lend your co-operation to those who had the nerve to start first. It is never too early to start and it is never too late to begin.

How many persons know what is liable to happen when a pint of gasoline is left open in a room? If the temperature is normal the liquid will entirely evaporate in twenty-four hours. The vapor is heavier than air and therefore sinks to the floor. Unless distributed it will remain for hours and by mixing with the air, forms an explosive compound seven times as powerful as powder. One pint of gasoline will make two hundred cubic feet of this compound. It is not necessary that a lighted match come in contact with it. A spark struck by a nail in a shoe will explode it, or a gas jet, or even the enclosed fire of a kitchen stove.

When you go to a boarding house to eat you select what you want and don't kick because a man eats everything on the table and pays the same as you do. Still you make a roar if something in the newspapers doesn't suit you. It always pleases somebody. Don't be a philosopher about your stomach and a fool about your head.

V.C. for ex-Torontonian.

Lieut. George A. Trorey, a son of George E. Trorey, manager of Birks, Ltd., at Vancouver, who with his brother, J. J. Trorey, formerly lived in Toronto, has been recommended for the Victoria Cross, for valiantly refusing to abandon his men while severely wounded. He is now rated "missing" and supposed to be a wounded prisoner in the enemy's hands.

Nugget Starts Rush to Old Ground.

The finding of a $27 nugget recently on Leech river, 35 miles out of Victoria, B.C., has started a new rush to the placer diggings there, where $500,000 was washed up within three months in the early sixties. Platinum is also being found in the abandoned camp, once the scene of government in the colony of Vancouver Island, and now sells at $1v5 an ounce.

Board of Control Rule Unpopular.

A mass meeting of Halifax citizens has expressed its opinion in favor of the abolition of the Board of Control now governing that city and the restoration of the aldermanic board discarded some years ago.

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—Chancellor Ebert declared to-day that Berlin will continue as the capital of Germany "to save the German cause." Considerable opposition has developed recently against a retention of Berlin as the seat of the German government. Practically all the States outside Prussia appeared to favour removal of the capital, with the majority of opinion evidently in favour of Weimar, where the National Assemly will meet.

Nothing Like Internal Bathing For Constipation

If people only knew what Internal Bathing is doing for thousands of others there would be fewer Pills and Laxatives swallowed and very much less suffering from Constipation and the accompanying Stomach and Nervous troubles resulting from it.

Mrs. C. G. M. of Strathroy, Ont., writes: "I am pleased to have this opportunity of testifying to the merits of the 'J. B. L. Cascade.' I have been using it now for a year with satisfactory results. I am an old woman but my health is so improved that I have a renewed lease of life. You are at liberty to give my address to any one privately who may desire to write to me regarding the Cascade."

By the proper application of Nature's cure, warm water, by means of the "J.B.L. Cascade" the lower intestines are kept free from all poisonous waste. Drugs force Nature. Internal Bathing assists her.
